It was decided to recommend that the Bell Telephone Co. be notified that their franchise expires in September next, and to ask them if they want it renewed.

Also to recommend that a grant of $250 be made to the Fire Brigade Band and of $100 to the Horse of Mayland Band, on condition that they play in the park as directed by the mayor.

Also, that a committee of three be appointed to consult with Mr. H. Owens to see what arrangements could be made to purchase his property at Whyte's dam, or secure the removal of the dam.

Also, that the payment of $7.05 to R. W. Erwin, for inspecting the market scales, be confirmed.

THE FULL DETAILS.

How Hobson and His Crew Got the Merrimac Into the Neck of the Santiago Bottle.

Santiago, June 3.—(7 a.m., via Port Antonio, Jamaica, June 4, per the Associated Press boat Dauntless.)—The following is a detailed story of the brave act of Lieut. Richmond P. Hobson and his seven companions in sinking the collier Merrimac across the channel leading into the harbor of Santiago de Cuba.

This result was accomplished through the heroism of Lieut. Richmond P. Hobson, assistant naval constructor, and Daniel Montague, George Charlotte, J. C. Murphy, Oscar Deignan, John P. Phillips, John Kelly and H. Clausen. The latter, a coxswain of the New York, took part in the expedition against orders. They were all captured by the Spaniards; but, the Spanish Admiral, in recognition of their bravery, sent word to the American Admiral, under a flag of truce, that he was willing to exchange the prisoners, and assuring the American commander that they would be treated with the greatest kindness. Money and provisions have been sent to them, and the necessary steps are being taken to bring about their exchange. The Merrimac had on board 600 tons of coal when she was scuttled across the channel.

The Perilous Trip Started.

Lieut. Hobson started on his daring errand at 3 o'clock this morning. The Merrimac was lying to the westward Under cover of the clouds over the moon she stole in towards the coast and made her way to the eastward, followed by a steam launch from the New York, with the following crew on board: Naval Cadets J. W. Powell, P. K. Peterson, H. Handford, J. Mulling and G. L. Russell. In the launch were bandages and appliances for the wounded.

From the crowded decks of the New York nothing could be seen of the Merrimac after she had got under the shadow of the hills. For half an hour officers and men strained their eyes peering into the gloom, when, suddenly, the flash of a gun streamed out from Morro Castle, and then all on board the New York knew the Merrimac was nearing the end. The guns from the Spanish battery opposite Morro Castle answered quickly with more flashes, and for about 20 minutes flashes of fire seemed to leap across the harbor entrance. The flagship was too far away to hear the reports, and when the firing ceased it was judged that Hobson had blown up the Merrimac.

At 6.15 a.m. the launch came alongside the flagship, but she did not have on board any of the crew of the Merrimac. Cadet Powell reported that he had been unable to see any sign of the Merrimac's crew. It developed that, with great bravery, the cadet had gone right under the batteries and only returned when all hope of taking on board the crew of the Merrimac had to be abandoned.

Cadet Powell also reported that he had clearly seen the Merrimac's masts sticking up just where Hobson hoped to sink her, north of the Estrella battery, and well out the guns of Morro Castle. But, of the heroes who had penned the Spaniards in, there was not a sound or a sign.

What Sampson Said.

Rear-Admiral Sampson said: "I am pretty sure the attempt was quite successful. I hope all those brave fellows are not captured."

Cadet Powell believes the torpedoes previously fixed about the Merrimac were exploded as planned, as Lieut. Hobson was well up the harbor before the Spaniards opened fire on the Merrimac.

What actually happened on board the Merrimac can be best judged from what Lieut. Hobson said just before leaving the flagship. Sitting in his cabin, his face browned by the sun and his eyes flashing with excitement, he remarked: "I shall go right into the harbor until about 400 yards past the Estrella battery, which is behind Morro Castle. I do not think they can sink me before I reach somewhere near that point. The Merrimac has 7,000 tons of buoyancy, and I shall keep her full speed ahead. She can make about ten knots. When the narrowest part of the channel is reached I shall put her helm hard aport, stop the engines, drop the anchors, open the sea connections, touch off the torpedoes and leave the Merrimac a wreck, lying athwart the channel, which is not as broad as the Merrimac is long. There are ten eighteen inch improvised torpedoes below the waterline on the Merrimac's port side. They are placed on her side against the bulk heads and vital spots, connected with each other by a wire under the ship's keel. Each torpedo contains 82 pounds of gunpowder. Each torpedo is also connected with the bridge and they should do their work in a minute, and it will be quick work even one in a minute and a quarter.

"On deck there will be four men and myself. In the engine room there will be two other men. This is the total crew and all of us will be in our undercloth ing, with revolvers and ammunition in watertight packing strapped around our waists. Forward there will be a man on deck and around his waist will be a line, the other end of the line being made fast to the bridge, where I shall stand. By that man's side will be an ax. When I stop the engines I shall jerk this cord and he will thus get the signal to cut the lashing which will be holding the forward anchor. He will then jump overboard and swim to the four oared dingy, which we shall tow astern. The dingy is full of life buoys and is unsinkable. It is to be held by two ropes, one made fast at her bow and one at her stern. The first man to reach her will haul in the tow-line and pull the dingy out to starboard. The next to leave the ship are the rest of the crew. The quartermaster at the wheel will not leave until after having put it hard aport and lashed it so; he will then jump overboard.

The Engines to Be Stopped.

"Down below, the man at the reversing gear will stop the engines, scramble up on deck and get over the side as quickly as possible. The men in the engine room will break open the sea connections with a sledge hammer and will follow the leader into the water. This last step insures the sinking of the Merrimac, whether the torpedoes work or not.

"By this time, I calculate, the six men will be in the dingy, the Merrimac will have swung athwart the channel, to the full length of her 300 yards of cable which will have been paid out before the anchors were cut.

"Then all that is left for me to do is to touch the button. I shall stand on the starboard of the bridge. The explosion will throw the Merrimac on her starboard side."

"And do you expect to come out of this alive?" asked a companion of the lieutenant.

"Ah, that is another thing," said the lieutenant. He was so interested in the mechanical details of the scheme that he scarcely stopped to talk of life and death.

Lieut. Hobson might have been lecturing to a class of cadets on the theory of how to build ships, so deliberate was his manner.

A Desperate Strain.

The preliminary work of this desperate undertaking was a strain upon the officers and men. All Wednesday night the crews worked on board the Merrimac, which then lay close to the New York, and the other ships, as they passed the collier, before sundown, cheered her with the same spirit that British men-of-warsmen cheered the American sailors' heroism at Samoa.

Win Cervera's Admiration.

One can imagine the immense feeling of satisfaction experienced when it became known that Hobson and the crew of the Merrimac were safe. Later in the day a boat with a white flag put out from the harbor, and Captain Oviedo, the chief of staff of Admiral Cervera, boarded the New York and informed the admiral that the whole party had been captured and that only two of the heroes were injured. Lieut. Hobson was not hurt. It appears that the Spanish admiral was so struck with the courage of the Merrimac's crew that he decided to inform Admiral Sampson that they had not lost their lives, but were prisoners of war and could be exchanged. The dingy portion of the programme does not appear to have been carried out, which led to the belief that she may have been smashed by a shot, for it seems Hobson and his men drifted ashore on an old catamaran, which had been slung over the Merrimac's side at the last moment, as an extra precaution. They were captured and sent to Santiago under guard, previous to being transferred to Morro Castle, where they are now understood to be confined. Money and provisions were sent to the prisoners through Captain Oviedo, and it is believed Rear-Admiral Sampson is taking the steps necessary to bring about their exchange.

No Further News.

St. Thomas, Danish West Indies, June 6.—Up to an early hour this morning there had been no news received here from the American fleet, or from any point where hostilities are believed to be impending.

M'KENZIE AND MANN

Have a Slice of the Contract for Boundary Creek Railway.

WORK TO GO ON WITH A RUSH.

Two Other Firms Are in It Also—The Road Will Cost $3,000,000 and Will Include a Tunnel 2,000 Feet Long—The C.P.R. and Fast Atlantic Line.

Montreal, June 6.—The contract for the C.P.R. into the Boundary Creek country has been signed, and the contractors will go to work without delay. The work, which comprises 100 miles of road from Robson to Midway, will be undertaken by three firms, Messrs. McKenzie & Mann, Messrs. Foley Bros. and Mr. Peter Larson. The names are a sufficient guarantee that the contract will be successfully pushed to completion, the time given being to Dec. 31 next. McKenzie & Mann are well known all over Canada; Foley Bros. are St. Paul people, who have done work on the Crow's Nest line, while Mr. Peter Larson constructed the whole of the Nelson & Fort Sheppard Railway for Mr. Corbin, so there need be little doubt that the great ore deposits of the Boundary Creek district will be brought into close communication with the railway system of Canada by the end of the present year. It is stated that the 100 miles of road will cost at least $3,000,000. There will be four tunnels on the line, one of which will be 2,000 feet long.

Fast Line and C.P.R.

There are important rumors afloat here to the effect that the Canadian Pacific Railway has been called upon to take a hand in the fast line negotiations, and that the matter will be settled during the presence of Sir William Van Horne and Mr. R. B. Angus in London. Rumor does not say, however, whether the C. P. R. will assist Petersen, Tait & Co. to float the scheme, or will secure the transfer of the contract. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal has all along interested himself in the undertaking, and if these reports are true it is quite probable that the big railway company have been brought into the scheme through the High Commissioner's office. An uninterrupted line of railway and steamship communication from Britain to the Orient under one management may look like a monopoly, but it has always been the impression here that only the C.P.R. could successfully float such an enterprise as the Canadian fast line steamship company. Time will tell, but there is certainly a good deal in the wind.

THE ANDREE SEARCH.

Dr. Terwagne and Party Are at Vancouver, B.C., and Will Soon Start—Andree's Inexperience.

Vancouver, B.C., June 6.—Dr. A. J. Terwagne, Edward Feret and Louis Nioclas, who are to look for Andree by balloon, are here. Dr. Terwagne says their leader, M. Vericle, is in Paris for the purpose of bringing out balloons for the United States Navy Department. Terwagne says he is a personal friend of Andree, and saw him start at Spitzenbergen. Andree was only a professor in the college, and had not the experience necessary for a successful trip. His companions were of no assistance to him. Andree had too many drag ropes. When he started they got tangled and all were cut but one, consequently he rose to an enormous height and lost control of his balloon. He could only live in the air a certain time. Providing winds would land Andree in Alaska he had guns and ammunition and could live easily, once safely landed. Our balloon will be similar to Andree's, but we will drag over the surface of the ground with a heavy hemp rope 150 yards long. As we descend the rope becomes lighter and vice versa. Prof. Terwagne is an experienced balloonist, and claims to have recently traveled from New York to Havana and return and to be in possession of valuable information regarding the coast defences of Cuba, he having taken ample notes as he drifted over the fortifications.

War Tax on Sleepers.

Washington, June 6.—The Senate on Saturday adopted an amendment to the War Revenue bill providing for a tax of one cent for every berth in a sleeping car and seat in a palace car sold, as a substitute for White's amendment levying a tax of one-fourth of one per cent. on gross receipts of sleeping-car companies.

War Tax on Tea.

Washington, D.C., June 6.—The Senate has, by a vote of 38 to 3, placed a tax of ten cents a pound on tea after July 1, 1898.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Some Reasons Why the Toronto Board of Trade Favours no Further Expenditure on the Project.

Mr. C. A. Willis, Secretary of the Toronto Board of Trade, has addressed the following letter to Mr. H. S. Macdonald, Secretary of the Peterborough Board of Trade, under date of June 3rd:

Your letter of April 27th, enclosing copy of a resolution of your board re Trent Canal was received, and in due course came to the attention of the council of this board, and the same was fully considered.

"I am directed to say that the council of the Board of Trade concur in the view expressed by your board relative to the desirability of reducing in every practical manner the cost of transportation of grain in transit to the seaboard, due consideration of which has occupied the attention of the board for many years past.

"The council regret that they are unable to agree with the views expressed by your board that the Trent Canal, if completed, would be an important factor in regulating freight rates.

"I may say that it has been the policy of the Toronto Board of Trade for many years past to urge upon the Government the development of the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals route, in order that a depth of fourteen feet might be had for vessels passing through; they cannot, therefore, see how a competitive route of such limited capacity will be of benefit.

"More especially it is thought by the council that their action in regard to the Trent Canal is consistent, in view of their position regarding the Georgian Bay Ship Canal, a scheme which has been advocated for many years. This canal, as you are doubtless aware, is a project to connect the waters of the Georgian Bay with those of Lake Ontario, via Lake Simcoe and Toronto, it being claimed by its advocates that it would be the shortest and most practicable route. Your Board cannot but recognise that, having given little or no encouragement to this project, their position under the circumstances in criticising other routes which examination has led them to the belief are impracticable, is warranted.

"I would, therefore, express the hope that the position of this board regarding the Trent Canal may be considered in harmony with past action respecting its attitude to the several projects for creating by Government aid competitive routes to the Welland Canal route, to all of which public attention has been drawn for some years past."

[The Toronto Board of Trade has developed a very sudden and violent affection for the Welland Canal, or are afraid its value will be destroyed by a "six foot ditch." The above letter shows how little the Board has to justify its opposition to the Trent Valley Canal. The chief plea, indeed, is that that far-seeing Board justifies denouncing a feasible and almost completed route simply because they did not favour that companion project to the Chignecto Ship Canal, the Georgian Bay Canal. In the face of all precedent it is denied that the Trent Valley Canal will be "an important factor in regulating freight rates. The whole history of the relations of canals and railways shows that the tendency of canals is to bring down freight rates on railways. This fact is too well known to need any further reference. The fondness of the Toronto Board for the Welland Canal seems to be born of the circumstance that that canal is likely to be operated in the interests of Toronto; for it is a well known fact that the city of Toronto jumps with both feet on any project, no matter of how great national or commercial importance, that does not bring grist to its mill. This is a narrow, sectional and parochial attitude for a great city to assume. Trunk railway lines practice the policy of maintaining and operating auxiliary or feeding lines and it must be borne in mind that the Trent Valley Canal will act as a feeder to the St. Lawrence canals and will have an important effect in diverting from expensive railway routes a large portion of the grain carrying trade of the great Northwest to the seaboard and furnish a cheaper outlet for the forest or other products of the newer Ontario which is now just coming into development. The Trent Canal must be regarded in relation to internal development of the great and rich district, tributary to it along its whole route, as well with regard to the Northwest carrying trade. The size of the canal seems to be an objection to the Toronto opposition. It must not be forgotten that the Erie Canal, which is little, if any, larger than the Trent, has been a most effective agent in competing with railways and reducing freight rates. There is no use, however, of arguing points that all well informed persons concede.

If Toronto cannot subordinate its selfish aspirations to the general good, Montreal will be able to see the important advantages it will derive from the traffic resulting from the operation of the completed Trent Valley Canal. However, in spite of the opposition of the Toronto Board of Trade, whose animus is patent, the friends of the canal—and they are legion outside of the Ontario capital—do not mean to rest till its completion adds another great link to the chain of trade routes contributing to the development of this great Dominion. Two millions have been spent on the canal already, and this will be largely lost unless the other million required to complete it is expended. The policy of the Government is to reduce the freight rates in the interests of the farmers, especially of the Northwest; an arrangement with the C.P.R. in the Northwest, involving several millions, has been a boon to the farmers of the that region. Another boon will be the spending of a million to cheapen transportation rates through the medium of the completed Trent Valley Canal.

It is claimed by partizans of the Senate that its existence, as at present constituted, is justified by its usefulness in preventing wrong doing by the present Liberal Government, but the fact that its function is to help a Conservative Government to do wrong, fully and effectively neutralizes such justification. The Senate did not stay the hand of the late Conservative Government when the latter perpetrated the greatest legislative outrage ever committed against the integrity of the franchise. Now a Liberal Government has furnished a fair and workable act, and simply, it would seem, because a Liberal Government is concerned, it must be obstructed.

SIR LOUIS DAVIES' SUCCESS.

The country will be certain to regard with gratification the exceedingly satisfactory statement in Parliament by Sir Louis Davies on his return from Washington. This gratification will be increased by reason of Mr. Foster's graceful speech on that occasion. That he should, after the failures of Conservative ministers to arrive at any understanding with the American authorities on matters of international difficulty, have given Sir Louis Davies the credit that is due him for having brought to a successful issue a mission that was beset by many difficulties, was an extension of amenity which too seldom marks political intercourse. In other days it has been a complaint that the Conservative leaders have manifested a disposition to exploit the differences existing between Canada and the United States, as well as national prejudices for party purposes, as, for instance, in the famous reciprocity negotiations with Mr. Blaine, the result of which was provocative of resentment on both sides of the line. Unhappily, this appears to have been done with a full realization of the consequences certain to ensue. And if we have been met from time to time by neighbourly and unfriendly legislation at Washington, it is to be feared that some responsibility for the spirit of hostility which at times has arisen between the two countries must be chargeable to the Canadian Government. The politicians have not been all on one side of the boundary who have found profit in fanning national prejudices.

The difficulties Sir Louis Davies had to surmount in order to secure the nomination of a commission to discuss the questions at issue were by no means inconsiderable. It is well known that President McKinley and those of his following who believe in a frank and full discussion of all the questions at issue have been blocked in more than one direction. Even Mr. Dingley, whose position lends importance to his opinions, baulked at the proposition when, a little time ago, it came before Congress. Some of the millionaire lumbermen of Michigan, who want duty-free Canadian logs but not duty-free Canadian lumber, were afraid of what might happen if the question were dispassionately discussed. The Gloucester fishermen, who are interested in the Canadian Atlantic fisheries dispute, represented that disadvantage might come to them through their grievance being considered as one of a number. So numerous, in fact, were the objections that a couple of weeks ago it looked as though a commission could not be arranged. That, despite the difficulties, Sir Louis Davies has been able to effect the object of his visit may lead us to hope that both sides are entering upon a consideration of existing grievances in a spirit which will make for a permanent betterment of the relations between ourselves and our neighbours.

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 61 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

LETTER FROM MANITOBA.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Prairie Grove, Man., May 23, 1898.

Dear Sir,—On leaving Ontario for the Northwest, I was requested to report to a number of your readers of what I thought of Manitoba, and to let them know what chance there is for a poor man. I cannot fully report at present as I have not been long enough in the country. As far as I have learned I do not see a very good chance for any man to start farming without some means; in fact, as far as I can see there is very little farming done except raising cattle. I am at present twelve miles south of Winnipeg, and I have been in every direction from the city about the same distance. The country here is too low and wet for growing grain. There are thousands of acres of prairie that have never been broken. The greater part is covered with willows, with strips of open prairie between them. Land of this description can be bought from $6 to $10 per acre. I like the climate well. The days are long and quite hot, while the nights are cool—some frost nearly every night since the 11th of May. There is plenty of work about the city and country, on railroads, for the labouring class, but, as elsewhere, there are obstacles in the way. If you obtain labour in the city, you have to contend with the labour union; if on railroads you must sign an agreement to stay certain periods—from one to six months. If you do not fulfil the agreement you are liable to forfeit your wages. The agreement so reads that the foreman may dismiss you at any time without notice, and reduce your pay 25 cents a day, while you must pay $3 50 per week for your board, Sunday excluded. So you see when they advertise for men, offering from $1 50 to $1.75 per day, that it does not mean what it says, only on the above conditions. There are any amount of poor men here, as well as there is in Chandos, Methuen, Belmont and other places, all trying for something better. If you talk to them about the prospects for better wages they will tell you that this is no place for work, but will refer you to some other place a thousand miles farther on. So your readers must not expect to come here and find money on the bushes. You must come prepared to pay for what you get, or else work for it. Now, Mr. Editor, I will close for this time. I am going west in a few day, and then, with your permission, I will again report.

Yours truly,
Aaron Post.

Pain Around the Heart,

AND ALL OTHER SYMPTOMS OF HEART DISEASE ARE TOO DANGEROUS TO NEGLECT.

An Ingersoll, Ont., Man tells how Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Restored his Heart to Healthy Action.

Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it will burst. Once and a while you have a dizzy or faint spell, feel weak, nervous, irritable and depressed. There is no other remedy will do you so much good, restore your heart to a natural condition, build up your strength and give you back vigor and vitality as Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Here's what Mr. Hugh Moore, Ingersoll, Ont., says about them: "Last year I was sick with Malaria. Since then I have had serious heart trouble, such as sharp pains beneath the heart, violent palpitation, shortness of breath, smothering spells on going to bed, etc. My rest was broken and disturbed, and I often woke up gasping for breath, while my heart beat so violently as to make me fear sudden death.

"I heard that Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills were a good remedy for heart troubles and therefore got a box from Mr. G. A. Ionson's Drug Store, and to my surprise and delight obtained almost instant relief. My heart is now all right, the pain is gone, the heart beat is natural, the shortness of breath has vanished, and I have had no attack of smothering since beginning their use. I now get unbroken, restful sleep, so that I am feeling strong and well. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have wrought this gratifying change, and I heartily recommend them to all sufferers."

Price 50c. a box, or 3 for $1.25, at all druggists. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS are purely vegetable. Never gripe, sicken nor weaken. Cure Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and Dyspepsia. Price 25c.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

Dear Sir,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,201.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

TALK! TALK!! TALK!!!

The Costly Variety That Obtains in Our Parliament.

WHY HON. G. E. FOSTER IS THIN.

In 1897 the Ex-Finance Minister Made 1,453 Speeches, or 25 a Day—Davin and Sproule Have Also Great Mouth Records — These Are Statistics From Hansard.

Ottawa, June 6.—The House was treated Saturday morning in supply to a diversity of opinion as to the use and abuses of Hansard. It was occasioned by a supplementary estimate of $20,000 for that institution. Mr. Ellis of St. John warned the members that if they persisted in making long and superfluous harangues to Hansard and to writing speeches they would augment the feeling in favor of its abolition.

Mr. LaRiviere followed, and Dr. Landerkin raked the Opposition decks with a broadside of banter about their verbosity. For instance, Mr. Foster, in the session of 1897, had made 1,453 speeches, or an average of 25 a day. (Laughter.) "I don't wonder he's thin," he added, and both sides laughed again. He had filled 360 pages of Hansard, or as much as 30 3-7 members. (Laughter and calls of "Who's the fractional member?") Then there was Mr. N. F. Davin, a good second, with 1,023 speeches, filling 250 pages. He would be eligible for the Queen's Plate in a year or so. (Laughter.) Dr. Sproule has filled 100 pages with 290 speeches, and in that year the three had filled about 1-8 of Hansard. Dr. Landerkin thought it was a shame that three members should be allowed to monopolise the records of the House in that way. Mr. Foster, besides, had occasioned an extra cost of $10,000 by his speechmaking.

Mr. Clancy of Bothwell felt that Hansard might well be done away with.

Dr. Montague earned Sir Richard Cartwright's fervent "hear, hear," by suggesting the appointment of a committee to enquire into the whole matter next session.

Mr. Talbot supported the view, especially in view of the fact that members having said something they were sorry for could have their speeches revised.

Mr. McMullen wanted the system cheapened.

Mr. Casey had no sympathy with the cry for abolition. He believed Hansard necessary and worth the money, because the daily press only published what was of interest to readers.

Mr. Richardson of Winnipeg objected to Hansard only because its tendency was to prolong the session. The debate ended with the passing of the item and with a unanimity of expression on one thing, the efficiency of the Hansard staff.

The next kick from the Opposition came on account of the item of $1,518 for leather trunks to members. They will be done away with.

The Vacancies.

In the afternoon Dr. Sproule asked Sir Wilfrid if he had made ample provision for bye-elections in North Simcoe and West Huron, the seats respectively rendered vacant by the death of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy and by the appointment of Mr. Cameron to be Lieut.-Governor of the Northwest Territories.

The Premier intimated that the Government had not done so, because they had not been formally notified of the vacancies.

"Then," said Dr. Sproule, "I beg to give notice that the seats mentioned are vacant."

Mr. E. F. Clarke asked what the Postmaster-General was doing towards accelerating the service for drop-letters paying special postage.

Mr. Mulock intimated that after July 1, an accelerated service would be put in force on letters from outside places.

In reply to a further question as to drop-letters, the Minister stated that all letters bearing immediate delivery stamps would have the benefit of a fast service.

Will Get Their Increases.

In the morning Mr. Clarke was assured that junior post-office clerks receiving $480 annual salary should receive the $30 increase this year.

Militia for the Yukon.

Upon reaching the item in the supplementaries, "To provide for supplies, transport and expenses of military force sent to the Yukon, $100,000," Mr. Clarke wanted to know whether an all-American route had been traversed by the force.

Dr. Borden assured him that everything had gone by the C.P.R. to the coast, thence from Glenora to Lake Teslin and up the Stikine.

In answer to a question the Minister of Militia stated that because of the haste in which the Yukon militia force had to leave for their destination there had been no time to advertise for tenders for supplies. The discussion on the item was allowed to stand until the particulars were brought down.

There Was Another Chicago Drop on Saturday—Ontario Red Is 11c. Less Than a Week Ago—Prices.

Saturday Evening, June 4.

This week has been distinguished by the breaking of Leiter's great May wheat deal, and at Chicago the June delivery is 63c per bushel lower than a week ago, while July is 11c, September 4½c and December 2⅝c per bushel below last Saturday's figures. At Toronto, Ontario red has fallen about 11c, and Manitoba hard about 10c per bushel. Liverpool and Continental markets have also slumped heavily. The decline was brought about by the immense world's shipments, which the high prices brought out to fill Europe's needs, and by the approach of what promises to be a bountiful harvest.

At Chicago to-day a further decline of 1¼c to 1⅝c per bushel occurred in futures, and the June delivery eased off ½c. Foreigners sold September wheat, and the demand from abroad seems to have dropped off.

Toronto red and Manitoba hard remained weak at 96c to 97c, high freights, and $1.22 to $1.25 afloat at Fort William, respectively.

At Liverpool, July wheat was up 2¼d and September 2⅝d per cental.

FEMALE CRIMINALS.

One Convicted of Manslaughter, and Another Charged With Killing Her Paramour.

Victoria, B.C., June 6.—At the Assizes Martha Wolf, the girl charged with the murder of Mrs. Marsden, by throwing a lighted lamp at her and igniting her clothing, was found guilty of manslaughter.

Bella Adams, a white woman, who has been living here since last January with a colored musician named Charles Kincaide, locally known as Charles Brown, cut his throat Saturday night with a razor. The dead was committed in the room at the Empire Hotel, whence Kincaide staggered into the street, only to fall dead. The woman followed, and was hysterically embracing the body when arrested. Jealousy and a report that Kincaide was about to leave her caused the deed.

Get Your Job Printing Done at The Examiner.

WHEN a dealer states to you that his wheel is the easiest running wheel on top of clay, you naturally put the query, "Why?"

Sometimes he will give you a reason that to you does not seem very plain, and again he will answer, "Because"

Red Bird agents have never been charged with being too modest in telling how easy the Red Bird runs, but they are more aggressive and emphatic than ever this year.

If you put the inevitable query "Why?" and watch for them to look wise and answer "Because," you will be appointed.

They will take out the crank axle or the axle of one of the wheels and show you how all friction is reduced to a minimum by the ball retaining cage.

They will show you that with other wheels the makers place the balls in a cup on the shaft and the balls are allowed to find their own position during the period of momentum.

The consequence is that the balls fall one upon the other, each acting as a retarder for the others with the result that there is a sliding friction manifestly opposing.

With Red Bird Special bearings every ball runs in a separate cage, the balls never touching each other

The action of the ball retaining cage offers no resistance to the balls other than that due to its weight, which is too light to be taken into account.

With this retainiug cage the balls in the bearing are loaded equally, while in bearings where it is not used, it is well known that at the top of the bearings the balls are loose and there is no contact between the bearing and balls at that point.

After an unretained ball crosses the top centre of a bearing, the weight of a ball itself is conveyed to enough of its fellows in front to throw their combined weight against the ball that is locked between the cup and cone

Such a condition is not possible when the ball retaining cage is used the revolution of each ball being regular and without any more friction at one point than another.

Another advantage in using this ball retaining cage is that fewer balls are required, another reason for less friction.

Actual experiments and calculations made by experts have shown that in the working of a bearing equipped with this retaining cage, the avoidance or saving of friction reaches a maximum of 40 per cent

When the Red Bird agent has explained this to you (and he will do it if you ask him), you will understand why there is nothing apologetic about his claim of easy running qualities.

He rides a Red Bird Special every day, and knows that it runs wonderfully easy, but best of all, he knows exactly why it runs easier than other wheels.

When you have a moment to spare, call at the nearest Brantford Red Bird agency and see what superb wheels we are turning out this year, or write us for our handsome '98 catalogue. A post card will bring it.

The Cricket Club and both teams are greatly indebted to their lady patrons for the elaborate and excellent luncheon provided. Mrs. J. E. Hammond entertained the teams after the match at her residence.

The team desires to extend thanks to the young ladies who so kindly looked after the ice cream.

The colts were very much in evidence in the field looking after the tents, etc.

Frank Bradburn, a colt, was put on to take the place of one of the Peterboroughs who had to leave the grounds and acquitted himself with credit, making two good catches.

Mr Watson accompanied the T. C. S. boys to Peterborough as usual and was welcomed by his many old friends amongst the players. Without Watson cricket wouldn't amount to much at the T. C. S., as he seems to have the interests of the game most thoroughly at heart.

A LAKEFIELD DROWNING.

The Nine-Year-Old Son of William Kennedy Falls from the Lakefield Wharf.

The drowning is reported from Lakefield of little Willie Kennedy, the nine-year-old son of Mr. William Kennedy, of that village.

It appears that the lad was playing on the wharf during the evening with a number of his companions, when he accidentally fell in. The other boys were so terrified by the accident that they had not sufficient presence of mind to shout for help when a rescue might possibly have been effected. When the body was recovered some fifteen or twenty minutes afterwards life was quite extinct and all efforts to resuscitate the body proved unavailing.

It's not the cough, but what it may end in, that makes it so serious. The cough may be cured, the serious consequence prevented by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Price, 25 cents, at all druggists.

CANADIAN FORESTES HEAR REV. S. J. SHOREY.

THE LOCAL COURTS ATTENDED DIVINE SERVICE YESTERDAY.

The Pastor of the George Street Methodist Church Delivers a Timely Sermon to the Members—A Vote of Thanks Passed.

About two hundred members of the local courts of Canadian Order of Foresters attended divine service last evening in the George street Methodist church, when a most appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. S. J. Shorey, who took his text from Romans xv ch, 1st v.: "We that are strong ught to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves." Such, began Mr. Shorey, is the moral constitution of man and the moral organisation of society that the ignoring of the claims of the unfortunate in this connection is a sin against God and a crime against humanity. Society is prosperous to the exact extent to which it realizes that the command of the

is also the law for humanity. Society has begun to realise that if one member is in sickness or need all the members directly or indirectly are affected thereby and that what is an advantage or benefit to one is an advantage and benefit to all.

The true thought of the relation between man and man is becoming more generally entertained. In the remoter times man undertook to stand by himself. He endeavored to supply all his own needs. Families lived to themselves, communities by themselves and nations by themselves, but we now look back to that period as a time of semi or total barbarism. When a man became crippled or infirm he was abandoned by his friends and the aged men often taken out in the desert and left to perish. Only when we come to Christian times man began to recognize the responsibility that rests upon him to care for all. A man's energies in the olden days were often crippled by the haunting dread of being cast aside should he become aged or infirm, but now the dread of old age is not of the some nature.

A large number of societies are in existence to-day whose members are pledged to the support of the family when the bread-winner is taken from them or becoming infirm. Many are banded together in this manner to assist their fellowmen.

IN HEATHEN TIMES

there were no hospitals or asylums provided as at present and no provision made to care for the aged and infirm. It was when our Saviour came to the earth and instilled Divine sympathy into the hearts of men that these efforts for the assistance of the needy sprang into existence.

It is becoming the habit of societies to select a text for a motto, such a text, for instance, as "We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak."

While the society may not be formed originally for religious purposes, yet it becomes the living embodiment of the injunction of the text.

The Foresters' Society was not originally formed to put into practice the intent of the text, but men began to see the pressing needs of humanity and to realise that it was a becoming thing it care for each other.

Let us stand side by side, so if one man fall the others can bear him up, and our actions will be in perfect harmony with the word of God.

The well-being of man requires the existence of such societies as the Foresters, and the word of God is their authority.

A society cannot be selfish, for the reason that more money must always come into a society than goes out. The payments must always be of management before they are paid out again. None can get more than they put in. Some get more than others, but so they ought to as the society was founded to help the weak and the strong are willing to make the sacrifice.

Why ought the strong to bear the burdens of the weak? Scripture calls for it. We have the authority of God for the formation of these societies. Every strong man has been weak at some stage in life. If he is strong now it is because some other strong hand stood by him when he was weak.

If a man would now start out to live alone how soon would he find out his need for the assistance of others. It would result in worse everything and better nothing. But man stands side by side with his fellows and society rises to a height which it would be otherwise impossible to attain.

Because man is strong in health and intellectually it is no guarantee that he will continue in possession of his endowments forever.

A man should never go out of this world with the fear that those he loves better than life are to be left in poverty. That the members of this society are provident will be realized when it is stated that no less than $110,000 was paid out during the last year in the ASSISTANCE OF THE NEEDY.

This relieving of distress has not resulted in making the strong weak, but has gone a long way towards making the weak strong. In relieving the infirm we should do it in such a way as not to create offence and make them feel that they are being given the bread of pauperism. This is a most difficult and delicate thing to do. In such a society as the Foresters such a difficulty is averted. Those receiving aid are entitled to it. It is theirs by right and their spirit is not broken by receiving it.

The strong, morally and intellectually, should bear the infirmities of the weak. How are we, that are morally strong, to do this? Here society is sadly defective. We punish, we incarcerate, but no successful effort has ever been made in Christian lands to reform the morally weak. These men who have violated the law and have to be imprisoned—is there no way of saving them?

In closing his sermon Mr. Shorey dwelt on the fraternal side of society life and eulogised the bonds which bound men together in liberty, benevolence and concord.

On the return of the members to the Foresters' Hall on Simcoe stree, the D. D. G. M. called the meeting to order, when the following resolution was unanimously passed:

Moved by Bro. W H. Robinson, seconded by Bro. A. D. Russell, and resolved: "That the members of the local courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters here assembled desire to express their thanks to Rev. S. J. Shorey for the very able, instructive and forceful address delivered to the members of the Order on the occasion of our annual church service in the George street Methodist church;

Resolved, that the thanks of the members of the Order are due, and are hereby tendered, to the Board of Managers for the use of their church; and to the members of the choir for the excellent and appropriate music provided for the occasion.

After singing "God Save the Queen," the members dispersed.

THE BURGLARY OF KELLS AND FAIRWEATHER

THE PREMISES OF TWO TOWN MERCHANTS ENTERED YESTERDAY.

The Till of the Cash Registers Were Tapped and Looted—Two Young Boys Strongly Suspected—One Arrest Has Been Made.

Two daring daylight burglaries were executed on Sunday last about noon and as it is strongly suspected that the perpetrators are two young boys named Legier, aged 8 and 12 years old respectively. It will puzzle the magistrate to know what disposition to make of the case.

Leo. Legier, the younger of the two boys, was placed under arrest at school this morning and the police are still looking for Joe, the elder.

The manner in which the burglary was was planned and carried out would reflect credit, or rather discredit, on older heads.

The stores which were entered were those of J. W. T. Fairweather & Co. and R. H. Kells & Co. and entrance into each was gained in the same manner, viz. by piling up crates and packing boxes beneath the second story windows in the rear to such a height as would enable one of the boys to raise a window and get in.

IT IS NOT KNOWN

yet which store was entered first. The first intimation that was received of the robbery was when Mr. Robert Fairweather on Sunday afternoon at about three o'clock, when passing the cash register in the store, noticed 11 cents marked up in the indicator. As he had been the last one to leave the store on Saturday night, and had left no such figures standing, this surprised him, and he opened the till beneath the register to discover that it had been relieved of about two dollars and a half, or three dollars, in small change. The buttons marking the 11 cents had been pressed to open the till. On examining the premises it was discovered how an entrance had been obtained, and the police, who were informed of the circumstance, advised keeping the affair quiet for the time in the hope that the burglars would return again at night for a bigger haul.

This morning when Mr. R. H. Kells store was opened up, the rear doors and as seven dollars was missing from the till of the cash register, it was quickly surmised that this also was the work of the same parties. Entrance had been obtained in exactly the same manner as in the case of the Fairweather robbery, but the parties had gone out by opening the back doors.

Mr. Kells' till had been opened by the pressing of the row of buttons forming the lower tier, and $1.11 was marked upon the indicator. He generally leaves ten dollars in the till at night for change, but on Saturday evening, when just closing up, took out three dollars, leaving seven in the till. Not a cent was there this morning.

As Fairweather's was not entered again at night inquiries were set on foot this morning and citizens were found who actually knew the boys were in the store, but said nothing about it. They were seen, it appears, through the front windows and also in the rear. When the younger, who was standing outside on the top of a pile of crates, was questioned as to where Joe was, he said he did not know, whilst all the time the elder lad lad was inside.

A sister of the boys was before the magistrate only a short time ago for stealing boots from in front of Gough Bros.

That is the date of Danny Simons' great vaudeville show in the Opera House. It will be a big treat to see Dan in his own original tramp act—"Dusty Roads"—and a dozen other great specialties. Dan brought down the house with these great hits during the past season in the Eastern States. On the 29th he will be assisted by his clever sister, Miss Lily Simons, in her own original comedietta, "Stage-struck, or Cora the Frivolous." He will also be assisted by the best local talent, including little Carrie White, Miss Ellis (Toronto), Miss McCabe and others, in presenting a splendid bill of vaudeville fun. Tie together the date, June 29 and Danny Simons. Popular prices—15c and 25c. 1d

MRS. R. A. HOWSON.

Sketch of the Organist and Choir Leader of the George Street Methodist Church—A Tribute to her Musical Abilities.

In Saturday's Globe there appears a portrait and the following sketch of Mrs. R. A. Howson, the organist and choir leader of the George street Methodist church:

Mrs. R. A. Howson, in a quiet and unpretentious way, has helped on the good cause of music in Toronto and elsewhere. She is a Canadian and received her musical training principally in Toronto, having studied under the direction of Mr. John Cartar, the organist of St. James' cathedral, in piano, singing, organ and harmony, subsequently with Mr. Torrington on the organ, and Mrs. Garrick, then organist and choir directress of St. Andrew's church, King street, in piano and voice culture.

In 1875 Mrs. Howson was appointed organist and choir directress of the Richmond Street Methodist Church, where the Wesley buildings now stand, which position she retained for eight years, during which time she continued her studies and gained much experience in teaching and choir training. In 1883 she removed to the city of Brantford, being appointed organist and choir directress of the Brant avenue Methodist Church. This choir Mrs. Howson raised to a high state of efficiency, quite taking a leading position in rendering the best hymns and anthems and provoking emulation in the other choirs of the city, thereby raising the standard of music among the people. During the second year of her residence in Brantford she was given full charge of vocal classes at the institute for educating the blind, a position which she held for six and one half years, until until her removal back to Toronto. The classes at the Institute for the Blind, under her leadership, became very popular, and deservedly so, for they were able to render at their Christmas and June closing concerts such choruses as "The Heavens are Telling", from Hayden's "Creation"; "The Pilgrim's Chorus," Tannhauser," and the "Spinning Song" and "Bridal Chorus," also, from Wagner's operas, besides several of Mendelssohn's part songs, altogether raising and cultivating the taste of the pupils for good music.

Through her interest in the public welfare she urged the teaching of singing in the Public Schools of the city, and to get it started undertook the supervision for some months. Since then it has continued and does good service.

The Brant Avenue choir under her baton gave Handel's "Messiah," Sterndale Bennett's "Woman of Samaria," Weber's "Jubilee Cantata," and Rossini's "Stabat Mater." Mrs. Howson is probably the only woman in Canada who has rendered the "Messiah," and it was well and creditably rendered. She has been also successful in teaching voice culture. The greater number of the churches in Brantford have salaried soloists, nearly all of whom owe their positions to the training of Mrs. Howson.

In 1890 she was appointed organist and choir directress of the Broadway Tabernacle, and in consequence returned to Toronto. The same year she was accounted worthy by the then organized Canadian College of Organists to receive the degree of Associate of said college, having submitted certain papers to Mr. Warren, of New York, who recommended her reception of the degree. At the same time Mr. Torrington invited her to become one of his staff of teachers at the Toronto College of Music, where she has continued until the present time. Mrs. Howson occupied her position at Broadway Tabernacle for three years, during part of which time Mile. Toronta was one of the choir's soloists, Mrs. Howson being the very first to recognize her talent and bring her before the public. A good deal of her inspiration to good work Mrs. Howson ascribes to the influence of the Philharmonic Society, under the directorship of Mr. Torrington, of which she was a member for nine years.

LACROSSE.

Mr. Lionel King was in St. Catharines on Saturday and refereed the game between the Athletics of that place and the Tecumseh-Elms of Toronto. The latter team were not in it for a minute, being beaten by 8 goals to 0.

Midland lacrosse club have adopted cerise jerseys and white pants as their uniform this season.

There is some talk of the lacrosse club running an excursion to Orillia on the 16th. A large number of their supporters are most anxious to go up and see the game. The Peterboroughs to win the district championship this year will have to win from the Orillias on their own grounds, and therefore the match will be a fast one.

A meeting of the Lacrosse Club Executive will be held in the EXAMINER office on Wednesday evening.

WRESTLING.

The wrestling match in the Opera House to-morrow evening between Thos. Doyle and an "unknown" brought out by "Bob" Harrison, of Toronto, promises to be most interesting. The match is for $200 a side, catch-as-catch-can, and the men weigh in at 150 pounds.

MEETING OF WHEELMEN.

A meeting of wheelmen is called for Monday evening, June 6th, at the rooms of the Victoria Bicycle Club, to receive reports from the chairmen of the several committees appointed to take charge of the different features of the meet. A full attendance is requested, as the assistance of as many as possible is needed out in the parade and on several committees.

WOMAN.

THE HEALTH OF A NATION DEPENDS ON THE HEALTH OF ITS WOMEN.

22 POUNDS GAINED.

I had been a sufferer like a great many other women with a disease peculiar to my sex. I tried every thing I could read or think about to help me, but was getting worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color, and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and I now have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did.

Sincerely yours,
MAY COLE, Simcoe, Ont.

BORN TO BE AN ARTIST.

Aubrey Beardsley Drew Pictures Because He Couldn't Help It.

As a growing boy Aubrey Beardsley was anxious to write. He drew pictures for fun and never thought to be an artist. His parents were terribly poor, but he always managed in some way to get books. At 19 he could read ancient French and even Spanish black letters. After he had been some time in an architect's office his wages were increased 2 shillings a week, and he went to an artist of note and took lessons in drawing.

One night after he had gone home he sat down and made a sketch. It was not meant for anything in particular, not even for a Japanese prince, as has been said. It was a picture of a man in strange robes, with a big sword, standing on a curved line. The background was broken by a queer blotch of dead black, which represented nothing, but which was of unusual and pleasing design. Later he turned out many more, all equally absurd and attractive.

He took them to Oscar Wilde, who gave him his book, "Salome," to illustrate. There were more than 100 pictures in this book, and they brought more notoriety to Beardsley than the book did to Wilde. With John Lane, Beardsley got out The Yellow Book, a magazine bound in cloth of a startling yellow, filled for the most part with Beardsley's strange drawings. Copies of the first number were mailed to all the principal newspapers in the world, and the advertisement which it got was never before equaled. The book struck the popular fancy, for Beardsley drawings had become a fad. The young artist found that he who had been reared in poverty now had plenty of money at his disposal.

Beardsley's studio in London was a queer place. The walls were a dead yellow, while the woodwork and the bookshelves, the wainscoting, the floor, the tables and the chairs were a smooth, glossy black. The upholstery, what there was of it, was a dull blue.—Boston Transcript.

The old man who looks out at the world with clear and healthy eyes cannot help feeling great gratification at the thought that his children have inherited from him no weakness nor tendency to disease. The healthy old man is the man that has throughout his life kept his digestion good and his blood pure. Not one in a thousand does do it. Germs go through the healthy body without effect. Let them once find lodgment or let them find a weak spot, the will develop by the million and the blood will be full of them. Instead of giving strength to the tissues it will force upon them innutritious matter, and the man will lose flesh and the more susceptible he is to disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is he only medicine that absolutely and infallibly cures all blood diseases, and almost all diseases are blood diseases. It isn't a medicine for some one particular so-called disease. It is a medicine for the whole body. It forces out all the germs of disease and replaces impurities with rich, red blood.

Power Exerted on a Bicycle.

Some recent results of tests made by Professor Carpenter of Cornell to determine the power required to drive bicycles may be of more interest to electrical engineers if reduced to their familiar unit of power, the watt. These tests show that for a speed of five miles an hour on a good level road the rider works at the rate of about 19 watts, which is about one-third the power used in an ordinary 16 candle power incandescent lamp. At ten miles an hour the power applied by the rider is about 80 watts, and for hard, continuous riding 100. For a short period a good rider can work at the rate of about 250 watts. Every lighted incandescent lamp therefore consumes about the same amount of power as that developed by three bicycle riders under the ordinary conditions, while it is possible for a rider to expend about as much power as is required for about five of these lamps. —Electrical Engineer.

FLAG OF THE FUTURE

Union Jack and Stars and Stripes Surmounting Canadian Beaver.

THE ANGLO-AMERICAN BANQUET

Remarkable Gathering of Men Who Ar Recognized Forces in the World—Sentiments of Kinship Which Are the Forerunners of Formal Alliance—Hands Across the Sea.

London, June 4.—A most unique and significant as well as one of the most enthusiastic banquets ever given in London, was the Anglo-American banquet, given this evening at the Hotel Cecil. Six hundred Britons and Americans assembled fraternally, the purpose of the entertainment being the promotion of good fellowship between kindred races. Englishmen, many of whom had experienced American hospitality, were the hosts, while resident Americans were the guests. Political, business and literary circles were well represented, but the purpose of making the affair spontaneous and a wholly unofficial celebration excluded the embassy.

American and British flags were draped over the tables, at which were both men and women, with "the flag of the future," the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes blended, on coats of arms. All wore buttons with the two flags surmounting the Canadian beaver.

Among the banqueters were the Earl of Carlisle, Viscount Powerscourt, Sir Norman Lockyer, Sir Frederick Pollock, Sir Richard Temple, Lord Beresford, the Dean of Hereford the Rev. Newman Hall, Mr. Hiram Maxim, and Mr. George G. Ward, manager of the Commercial Cable Company.

Lord Bernard Coleridge presided. Toasts to the Queen and President of the United States were honored, accompanied by the strains of "God Save the Queen" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lord Coleridge, in proposing the health of President McKinley, said: "Where can the Old World show such a line of rulers of men as have been the free choice of the American people?"

"Fraternity and the future alliance," pervaded all the speeches. The speakers were: The Bishop of Ripon (the Right Rev. William Boyd Carpenter), Lord Brassey, Col. Taylor, President of the American Society in London; Sir George William Des Voeux, Mr. Newton Crane, former president of the American Society in London; Earl Gray, Professor Albert Von Dicey, Mr. George W. Cable, and Sir Frederick Pollock, Corpus Professor of Jurisprudence at Oxford. Lord Coleridge prayed that victory might perch upon the American banner, "in the interest of America, in the interest of Spain and in the interest of common humanity."

Twice America has fought with all her might, he said. The first fight was forced by the imbecility of the King and she was right (cheering); the second time she fought for the freedom of the slaves and the same spirit is with her yet. (Tremendous cheering.)

He advocated a permanent tribunal for the settlement of international differences.

Col. Taylor raised a hurricane of cheering by saying: "As you have stood by us in our day of trial, when your day of trial comes count upon us."

Sir Frederick Pollock replied, predicting that there would be "one fleet under two flags to keep the peace of the world."

ANOTHER AWFUL AVALANCHE.

Thirty People Buried and Two of the Bodies Taken Out.

Vancouver, B.C., June 4.—The Copper River gold discoveries are a myth. Dr. S. E. Koltright of New York says 4,000 people are trying to overcome insurmountable obstacles. There is no gold in the country; thousands have been cruelly deceived. On May 1 a second terrible avalanche occurred on the summit of Valdes Glacier, which buried 30 people, and caused the death of two. Five hundred people, camped on the summit, who escaped, started at once to dig out the unfortunates. Twenty were taken out, two of them dead. Ten are still buried. Their names could not be ascertained. The names of those whose bodies were recovered are Joseph Fournier, Chicago, and B. Vananthrupe, address unknown. The two men dug up were in sleeping bags, and had no time or chance to escape Dr. Koltright says many of the 4,000 there will never be seen again, as the country is full of death traps.

Captain Ambororomble, who took a contingent of United States troops into the Copper River district to attempt to discover a summer trail which would be the shortest route to the Klondike, is having great hardships. His lieutenant, Brockville, is completely snow blind, and many of his men deserted on learning of the outbreak of hostilities with Spain, in the hope of enlisting for United States active service.

MOTORMAN O'REILLY CASE.

He was Cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills' Everything Else Failed.

Toronto, May 30—(By telegraph) With reference to his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Diabetes, Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, Toronto Street Railway motorman No. 624, writes corroborating the report of his cures.

Mr. O'Reilly says: "For three years I suffered horribly, in spite of all the medicines I tried. Not one of them gave the least relief. I endured the torture of scalding pains while urinating, and all the other agonies of Diabetes.

"Finally I was induced to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The first dose did me good and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

Nothing else did any good, but the baby improved from the first dose of the Wild Strawberry."

CARDINAL VAUGHAN ON UNITY.

Prince of Catholic Church in England Favors Anglo-Saxon Alliance.

New York, June 4.—A despatch to the World from London says: Cardinal Vaughan, in a letter to Mr. W. T. Stead on Anglo-American relations, rejoices at the prospect of a closer friendship of those who are one with Englishmen in blood, language and ideas. The letter closes: "Personally, I deplore the fact that the United States has chosen war with a weak power like Spain, instead of arbitration, which was the alternative. But I would not allow such disapproval to stand in the way of the great benefits that may result from an entente cordiale between England and America.

"If the two peoples combine and encourage each other to make justice and the moral law international and universal so far as their influence shall extend they will end by reinstating in the world the standard which the dechristianized civilization of modern Europe has laid low."

TITLE FOR MRS. GLADSTONE.

Proposal That the Aged Lady Be Made Countess of Liverpool.

London, June 4.—The St. James' Gazette yesterday said it learned that a proposal made in influential circles and backed by the Liberal leaders is afoot with the object of conferring a title on the widow of the late William E. Gladstone. It is suggested that Mrs. Gladstone be created Countess of Liverpool, and that another member of the family be created Viscount Hawarden.

The Amen! of marriage is always a baby. Without it, wedlock is a summer field that never blooms, a flower that never buds, a night without stars, a sermon without a benediction, a prayer without an Amen.

There never was a husband worthy of the name, who did not aspire to be the father and the grandfather of healthy, capable children to hand down his name and the fortune accumulated by the sweat of his brow, from generation to generation. There never was a wife fit to bear that noble title, who did not wish to wear womanhood's most glorious crown, the sceptre of motherhood. Thousands of wedded couples, otherwise happy, fall short of wedlock's greatest happiness because they are childless. In the majority of cases, this is because the wife, through ignorance or neglect, suffers from weakness and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. For women who suffer in this way there is one great medicine that does not fail to accomplish its purpose. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned and makes them strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and tones the shattered nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It quickens and vitalizes the distinctly feminine organism. It banishes the maladies of the expectant months and makes baby's introduction to the world easy and almost painless. It insures the little new-comer's health and nourishment in plenty. It is the best supportive tonic for nursing mothers.

Mrs. Jennie Parks, of Marshall, Spokane Co., Wash., writes: "I am glad to tell of the good results of your great medicine.—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was benefited by your medicine in confinement. It gives me strength. I have no tired feeling and my baby is the picture of health. I feel better than I have in ten years."

In cases of constipation Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used as an adjunct to the "Favorite Prescription," they are extremely simple, perfectly natural and insure prompt and permanent relief.

ONTARIO LOWER.

The Wheat Markets Fluctuated Somewhat, Chicago Being Higher While Ontario Was Lower - Quotations.

Friday Evening, June 3.

The regulation wheat crop scares have begun to come in. As if to offset the general promise of unusually bountiful harvests, two of these bull rumors got abroad yesterday. One was to the effect that bad weather is injuring some European crops, and the other that "rust" has appeared in Kansas. However this may be, futures armed up on the Chicago Board to-day on reported buying orders from St. Louis and New York. The September delivery closed 1⅝c higher than yesterday, and the December option 1⅜c higher. Early in the day the June and July deliveries declined about 1c, but later recovered. June closed ⅝c higher than yesterday's close, and July 2c higher. Other American centres reported sympathetic advances in all deliveries.

At Liverpool to-day spot wheat fell 4d per cental, but the July delivery rose 2¼d and the December option 1¼d. Paris was irregular. Antwerp unchanged.

At Toronto Manitoba hard sold at $1.22 afloat, Fort William, equal to $1.28 on track here. Ontario red was traded in rather freely at 96c to 97c high freights.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

Receipts of grain to-day were fair—2400 bushels all told.

Wheat easier; 800 bushels sold as follows: Wheat 88c to 92c, red 96c to $1, goose 92c to 94c per bush.

Barley steady, 200 bushels sold at 36c to 38c.

Oats steady; 1200 bushels sold at 35c to 37c.

Peas easier, 200 bushels selling at 56c to 58c.

Hay plentiful and easier, 50 loads selling at $8 to $8.50 per ton.

Straw steady, 8 loads selling at $6 to $7 per ton.

Dressed hogs easier, selling at $6 to $6.25 per cwt.

Potatoes plentiful and slow of sale at 60c to 70c per bag.

Toronto Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day were large—70 carloads—composed of 1000 cattle, 200 sheep, 2000 hogs and 75 calves.

Exporters were firmer, selling from $4 to $4.40, with one or two choice lots at $4.50, the bulk selling at $4.25 to $4.35.

Butchers' cattle were in good demand and not too plentiful. Prices were firmer. Choice picked lots sold at $4.15 to $4.25; loads of mixed butchers and exporters, containing cows, sold at $3.90 to $4.12½; loads of good butchers, composed of heifers and steers, sold at $4 to $4.15; medium, $3.70 to $3.90; common, $3.50 to $3.70; inferior light cows and bulls sold at $3.25 to $3.35 per cwt.

Milk cows plentiful, but only of medium quality; 40 of these sold at $25 to $45 each. Only one reached the latter figure, the general run going at about $35 each.

Stockers plentiful and in good demand, selling at $3.75 to $3.95, bulk selling at $3.85 to $3.90.

Heavy feeders sold at $4 to $4.12½.

Calves sold at $3 to $6 each for general run; choice veals were worth from $7.50 to $8 each.

Sheep plentiful and prices easier, ewes selling at $3 to $3.25 per cwt.; $2.75 to $3 for bucks; yearlings $4 to $5 per cwt. The latter price was for those unclipped.

Spring lambs sold at $3 to $4 each for general run, $4.50 being paid for something choice.

Hogs—Deliveries fair, prices unchanged, choice selections selling at $4.90 to $5.10; thick light fats $4.75.

Too many light hogs are coming forward. This, if continued, will cause prices to decline, as packers must have proper weights and quality for the English market.

Farmers and dealers should make it a point to study the requirements of the trade if they wish to retain the present high standing of Canadian bacon as well as the good prices they have been and are receiving at the present time.

East Buffalo Live Stock.

East Buffalo, June 3. Cattle—Receipts, only one carload sale stock. The market ruled slow.

Hogs—Receipts fair. Fair demand, but prices were lower on all grades. Good to choice Yorkers, $4.20 to $4.25; light to good Yorkers, $4.10 to $4.15; mixed packers' grades, $4.35 to $4.45; medium weights, $4.40 to $4.45; heavy hogs, $4.45; roughs, $3.85 to $4; stags, $3 to $3.50; pigs, $3.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts were fair, and a few cars held over from yesterday's market, slow for lambs, with handy sheep about steady at former prices, and heavy grades dull and draggy. Native lambs, choice to extra, 5.25 to $5.35; fair to good, $5 to $5.15; culls to common, $4.50 to $5. Native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4.60 to $4.70; good to choice mixed sheep, $4.30 to $4.50; common to fair, $3.50 to $3.90; culls to common sheep, $1.25 to $3.50.

Impure Blood in Spring.

This is the almost universal experience. Diminished prespiratson during winter, rich foods and close confinement indoors are some of the causes. A good Spring Medicine, like Hood's Sarsadarilla, is absolutely necessary to purify the blood and put the system in a healthy condition at this season.

Hood's Pills are the best family cathartic and liver tonic. Gentle, reliable, sure.

A Disgusted Hero.

The story of Sergeant Walker, who was kept prisoner for six weeks by the Afridis and was court martialed for being "absent without leave," reminds me of an Indian tale of 1757, when a man-o'-war's man, Strahan by name, captured almost single handed one of the forts on the Hoogly. The fort, which was strongly situated, was invested by the admiral, and Strahan, during the time of midday repose, wandered off "on his own" in its direction. Gaining the walls without discovery, he took it into his head to scale a breach made by the cannon of the ships, and on reaching the platform he flourished his cutlass and fired his pistol at "the niggurs," shouting, "The place is mine!"

The native soldiers attacked him, and he held his own with indomitable pluck till re-enforced by one or two other tars who had straggled out of camp and heard his huzzas. The enemy, unprepared from this ill timed attack and fearing further invaders, fled from the fort upon the opposite side, leaving 20 cannon and a large store of ammunition. Much to Strahan's surprise, he was lectured by the admiral for his breach of discipline, and he was dismissed with hints of future punishment. "Well," said Strahan, "if I'm flogged for this here action, I'm d——d if I ever takes another fort as long as I lives!"—London Sketch.

Horsepower.

Watt, the great improver of the steam engine, introduced into the vocabulary of machinists the term horsepower. When he first began the manufacture of steam engines, he experienced much difficulty in ascertaining from his distant customers what sized engine they required, and they were not less puzzled how to communicate to him the information. He was frequently guided, however, by their mentioning the number of horses which the engine ordered was designed to replace. Acting upon this hint, he ascertained by experiment that the very strongest of the London brewers' horses (animals of wonderful size and strength) could exert a force equivalent to raising 33,000 pounds one foot in a minute. This force he called one horsepower, and adopted it as the standard in regulating the size of steam engines. Now, not one horse in 100 is able to exert that degree of strength. A steam engine of ten horsepower can, in reality, do the work of about 20 horses. —New York Ledger.

The Clever Burglar.

The burglar who does several "jobs" and eludes the officers of the law is a keen observer, a man of forethought, and one whose executive ability is unquestioned. Houses are not entered because they have brownstone fronts, nor are stores broken into by the professional thief without an investigation. When the skillful burglar is to do a "job," he studies the habits of the resident or proprietor. In a case in Troy a few years ago a jewelry store was robbed. Apparently there was not a clew. Detectives were placed on the case and named the thieves by the method employed in getting into the store, and subsequently the thieves were convicted. Certain burglars always enter a cellar and come up through stairs, floor or trapdoors. Others have skeleton keys. Others go above and come down stairs. Some break in rear and others front doors. In the robbery above referred to the two thieves had been in Troy three successive Saturday nights. They had fastened a silk thread on all entrances in such a way that if any one entered or left the store the thread would be broken. Thus the burglars learned that the proprietor and clerks did not visit the store after closing Saturday night until Sunday. The fourth Saturday night they "cracked" the safe. Except for their methodical way of entering (by the cellar) no suspicion would have attached itself to them.—Troy Times.

General Rosecrans' Autograph.

Carefully treasured by a Columbia man who has an interesting collection of autographs is a note written some 15 years ago and signed "W. S. Rosecrans, Brevet Major General, U. S. A.," which says: "Your application for autographs should contain an envelope, stamped and addressed to yourself. This is the rule of right and is worth far more than a quotation from some well known poet."—Kansas City Journal.

The Gentle Barber.

"The operation of shaving," said the thin man, "is a constant source of wonder to me. Just to think of a man running a keen instrument over your face and taking nothing off but the beard!"

There was a pause, and then the thick faced man asked earnestly:

"Would you kindly tell me the name of your gifted barber?"—London Fun.

In a Good Cause.

"Ethel, I was shocked to learn that you permitted a young man to kiss you at the church fair the other evening."

"Mamma, he picked out $5 worth of goods at my table and said he'd buy them if I would throw in a kiss, and if I didn't he wouldn't buy one, it's worth and what else could I do?"—Chicago Tribune.

Our Cosmopolitan Capital.

"I am just finding out the charm of Washington society, which lies in the great variety of people one meets and the interesting topics discussed when there is time to talk," writes "A Cabinet Member's Wife," in giving her observations and experiences in Washington in The Ladies' Home Journal. "At home everybody had known everybody else in society from the cradle, and we did not have much but each other to talk about, but as I get to know people here and go to entertainments outside of the official round of duties I begin to understand why so many come to Washington for residence who have no business, official or domestic ties in the place. It's rather nice not to have people know just how much you pay your servants and when you bought your last piece of furniture."

Legend of the Tea Plant.

Dharma, the ascetic priest, was the son of a king of India. He went into China, and for the space of nine years he remained in contemplation in a temple. Later he went to Japan, and he died on Mount Katavira. He imposed upon himself, as the first rule of his life, privation from sleep. One day, indignant at falling asleep, he cut off his eyelids and threw them away as miserable sinners. From the spot where the eyelids had fallen sprang up a bush which is the tea plant, affording the perfumed beverage which chases away sleep.—Vick's Magazine.

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093.05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3,066, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $531,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,360 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5,291,636, under 2,609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $138,846.92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481.29 for profits, $145,411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $3,963,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1,272,486.05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18,678,915.67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company, I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies." One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, he prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compilation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.

To the Widow and Family of the Late Alexander Smith, of the Township of Dummer:

The brethren of Hiet Peterborough County Orange Lodge most respectfully beg to convey to you our sympathy and the great sorrow that prevails not only in this Lodge but throughout the Order at large at the sudden and sad death of one who for so many years occupied a foremost position in our Order as our lamented brother, Alex. Smith, who has occupied every office of our Lodge, with marked ability, and faithful attendance, imbued with the principles and purposes so noble and lofty, the aims of our Order that he so devotedly served, that on no assembly of a meeting of the County Lodge was he seen recording absent during the past twenty-five years. No wonder that his brethren have on no less than three occasions elected him to the highest office in their gift—that of County Master. It is no exaggeration whatever to say that he has raised the standard of our Order by his consistent brotherly life as no other member in our County, as he alone stood foremost in every demonstration of our Order. His death is mourned as one of the most sad and sudden in our community for many years. It must be a solace and a great consolation to you, the sorrowing widow, daughter and friends, as it most assuredly is to his faithful brethren, that this community is undoubtedly better for both precept and example of his life, which leaves no doubt that so sad and sudden a death did not find him unprepared to meet the summons from our Great and Supreme Grand Master, who, we humbly pray, will grant unto you that consolation which He alone can give to you in this the hour of your great bereavement and soothe the broken hearts of his bereaved associates that you, so faithful in walking in his footsteps, and we, his sorrowing brothers live the life taught us by his worthy example and the solemn obligation of the Orange Order, we one and all shall meet him in that lodge above where sorrow and grief are unknown and parting shall be no more.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The weather has been very warm here this week, but there is always an invigorating breeze off the water.

The Olympic Club, of Peterborough, passed through on their annual excursion Thursday, June 2nd, and made things ring with their fine orchestra. They are a fine crowd of jolly fellows and always have a good time. The Majestic was chartered for the day and took the club to Hastings and Buckhorn, returning to meet the Lakefield train.

Mr. Forward, who is representing Geo. A. McGowan, of Kingston, visited the Point this week.

Miss Jennie Kearney is visiting her cousin at Otonabee.

The Rev. Mr. Hartley, of Toronto, paid us a visit this week. We were pleased to see his smiling countenance.

Mr. Austin Dunn has returned to Campbellford for the summer in the interests of the Rathbun Co.

Young's Point is looking its best at this season of the year and a great many steamboats are passing up and down.

The crops are looking fine this spring, also the vegetables and the flowers and the farmers are all well pleased with the prospects.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, (for without health there is no beauty) without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fulness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health puts charm into a woman and makes a woman is really a woman. That she is stronger and perfect in a natural way, as well as in every other. She is capable of performing perfectly the function of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness," and many more follow the improper precautions and make false the proper precautions and fail to find the proper remedy to become healthy, well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism.

Every lady in the land is one cent stronger to [illegible] Dispensary Medical Association, [illegible] and receive Dr. Pierce's [illegible] Common Sense Medical Adviser, [illegible]

COMPOSED FOR THE FIFE PICNIC, 1897.

One hundred years ago to-day,
On fair Old Scotia's soil
Was born a wee bit laddie,
To be a son of toil.

His mother, then a proud woman,
With all a mother's pride,
Called him Johnnie, after the man
Who'd ta'en her for his bride.

Now as the ever rolling years
Were creeping on apace,
Six other little brothers
Were added to their race.

But when this family grew up.
And John was twenty-three
They thought they'd leave old Scotland's
Fair,
For Canada as free.

They talked this plan with neighbour near,
And Rosses was their name,
They asked them for to join their plan,
And help them share their fame.

So in eighteen hundred and twenty,
When the days were bright and warm,
They boarded a good ship called the Hope,
And braved the ocean's storms.

For six long tedious weeks they sailed,
Ere they reached the land they sought,
Then by the Indian River,
Their new-found homes they bought.

Now 'twas here their family flourished,
And ever proved to be
An honest, he vered company,
And unto, hen family.

'Till John, with his six young brothers,
Got married all but one—
Then to the Fifes that now were left
He was known as "Uncle John."

And when his duty here on earth
He'd done as he knew best,
His loving Master sade him come
And enter into rest.

His loving friends around him wept
As they gazed upon his face,
Then bore him to the grave-yard hill,
To be his resting place.

Now all the Fifes that are alive
Have formed one Scottish clan,
And meet to-day in honour of
That loved tho' long lost man.

Oh! weep not for the friends who're gone
To yonder hill to rest—
They now with spirits freed from strife
Are roaming with the blest.

But let us each true pleasure seek,
Enjoy the meeting here.
Say, is! the promise is not given
That all may meet next year.

But still we hope that God will spare
Our little Scottish band,
And may it ever prove to be
An honour to the land.

Oh! could old Scotia only know
The loyal hearts so true,
That gather here from year to year,
She'd be rejoicing too.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE

ORDINATION OF YOUNG MEN FOR THE MINISTRY.

The Logical Union—Annual Lecture and Election of Officers—Motion Calling for a Radical Change in the Stationing of Ministers—Epworth League Programme Adopted.

Lindsay, June 4.—After the opening and some routine work at the morning session, a communication was received from the Hamilton Conference expressing greetings. The secretary was ordered to prepare a reply. Rev. N. A. McDiarmid gave notice of motion relative to the Stationing Committee as follows:

Moved by Rev. N. A. McDiarmid, seconded by Rev. S. T. Bartlett, that this conference memorialise the General Conference to pass legislation to the following effect:

1. That the pastoral term of a minister on each circuit or mission be four years (such legislation, however, not to prohibit the right as now enjoyed of each minister to change his location at the end of any year of such term).

2. That the Stationing Committee of each annual conference, as at present constituted, shall station any minister whom it may be found desirable to move at the end of any year of such term.

3. That the Stationing Committee of the annual conference shall not meet in the year following the regular session of the General Conference, but that in place or stead thereof the annual Conferences shall be divided for stationing purposes into three groups: (a) the Maritime Provinces; (b) Ontario and Quebec; (c) Manitoba, Northwest Territories and British Columbia.

4. That a central Stationing Committee be authorized and provided for each group, which committee shall be composed of an equal number of ministers and laymen who shall be elected by ballot in general session by the annual conferences within each group at the session next preceding the regular session of the General Conference, on a basis of representation of one minister and one layman for each fifty ministers, in full connexion in the active work in each conference, but in no case shall there be more than eight representatives from each annual conference.

5. That the Central Stationing Committee shall meet in the month of May not less than eight days before the meeting of any of the annual Conferences within such group, and shall station all ministers and probationers within such group, and shall report in writing to the president of each annual Conference the result of their labours not later than the first day of the session of the annual Conference first in session assembled.

6. The report of the Central Stationing Committee shall be final and shall in no case be modified, set aside, altered or amended in any way, either by themselves or by any Conference, or officer, or committee, thereof, or by any court of the church, and after giving its report as aforesaid the said committee shall cease to exist.

7. If, however, any minister shall not at the time of the meeting of the said committee have been in charge upon a circuit or mission for a term of four years, and the said committee does not move him therefrom, then it shall be the duty of the annual Conference Stationing Committee to move him to another circuit or mission when he has remained on the same circuit or mission for the full term of four years.

8. That each Conference shall pay the expenses of its own delegation to the Central Stationing Committee out of its Contingent Fund.

9. That this legislation shall not apply to the Japan Conference.

The notice was received, and consideration of it will be the first order of business on Monday morning. Recommendations from the districts to the several committees of Conference passed rapidly into the secretaries' hands after being located by Conference. The Statistical Committee's report was presented by Rev. N. D. Drew; another report is to follow recommending that a district Auditing Committee be struck the first day of the district meeting. The Journal Secretary was allowed $25 for his services. Rev. J. G. Lawis presented a resolution saying that at the last day of the Quinte Conference Epworth League Convention, the programme as outlined by the S. S. and E. L. Board for the forward evangelistic work and Bible study during next October was unanimously accepted, and it was resolved that the convention respectfully request the Bay of Quinte Conference to accept the said programme and insure its general adoption in all our churches and leagues. This was referred to the E. L. committee for action.

On Saturday evening the annual lecture under the auspices of the Conference Theological Union was given by Rev. Dr. Crothers. His subject was "Methodism and the Nineteenth Century." After the lecture the union met. Rev. Dr. Crothers was elected president for the coming year. Rev. J. G. Lewis, B. A., was re-elected secretary, and Rev. T. Manning lecturer for the next Conference. A hearty vote of thanks, spoken to by many visitors, was unanimously tendered Dr. Crothers. No condensed report could do justice to his clear, strong and finished words.

The ordination service was held in the Cambridge street church, following the annual love feast. It was ordered in the Conference on Saturday that the platform should not be taken down for the Sunday services, and the wisdom of this was apparent when it was noticed how easily every one upon this elevation was seen. It has been impossible frequently for all to view the ordination of the young man. This year much of the inevitable inconvenience connected with the greatest congregation and service of the sessions was obviated by this happy arrangement. It is perhaps somewhat uncommon to refer to the prayer of any service, but it is quite certain that the comprehensive, simple, clear and fervent petitions of Dr. Crother lifted the devotion of the hearers, and following the singing of those majestic lines beginning with "Jesus shall reign where'er the sun" with it, this prayer made a key which opened up an influence all persuasive and unbroken to the end. Rev. N. A. McDiarmid preached from Mark xvi, 13.

THEY WILL FIGHT ON.

Despite Many Trials at Manila Spanish Remain Undaunted.

NO DISPOSITION TO GIVE IN.

One Regiment Mutinied and Shot Its Officers—The Insurgents Constantly Fighting With Their Spanish Conquerors—One Thousand Prisoners Brought to Cavite—A Price for Aguinaldo.

Hong-Kong, June 7.—The British gunboat Swift, which has just arrived from Manila, reports that the insurgents have cut the railways outside the town and advanced to within four miles of the city. A Spanish regiment mutinied and shot its officers. Fighting between the insurgents and the Spanish troops is frequent, and the former brought a thousand prisoners to Cavite. The Americans, it is reported at Manila, assist the insurgents with boats and machine guns.

The Swift repeats a rumor that the insurgents had captured and tortured a number of priests. The British residents, at the time the Swift left, still remained in Manila, but the other foreigners were taking refuge on the foreign shipping.

For the Price on His Head.

Manila, May 29, via Hong-Kong, June 7.—Many natives will try to secure the large reward the Government has offered for the capture of the insurgent chief, Aguinaldo, dead or alive. Already several of the insurgent officers have been assassinated.

It is officially declared that four armored cruisers, with colliers, torpedo boats and transports, carrying 10,000 troops, have left Spain for Eastern waters. The Spaniards are utterly unimpressed by the naval defeat here.

The insurgents raided a railway station 10 miles to the north of Manila and killed three priests and an officer. There has also been a pitched battle at a Spanish port south of Manila, near Cavite, the result being that the insurgents retired. The Spanish casualties were 150.

Meanwhile the insurgents are steadily advancing along the coast, supported by the United States gunboat Petrel, and are driving the Spaniards into Manila. They have captured five important positions nine miles from the city, and over 400 Spaniards have been killed. Four thousand Spanish reinforcements have been sent, but it is asserted that Aguinaldo will enter the city by June 1. A bombardment will be avoided if possible.

CLAIM BREACH OF NEUTRALITY.

Ambassador Hay Wants Spanish Officials Out of Canada.

London, June 7.—The United States Ambassador, Col. John Hay, called at the Foreign Office yesterday and presented evidence of Spanish officials making Canada the base of operations, and protested against a continuance of the practice. The protest is based on the fact that it would be a breach of neutrality for Great Britain to permit her territory to be used for such hostile purposes.

Col. Hay also recently drew the attention of the Foreign Office to small exportations from Great Britain of war munitions for Spain.

Why the Spaniards Remain.

Washington, D.C., June 7.—Lieut. Carranza and Senor Du Bosc, who are conducting their Spanish operations from Montreal, have succeeded in obtaining a brief respite from expulsion, through the denial by Carranza of the accuracy of certain features of the letter attributed to him. When the accuracy of the translation is established the British authorities will act promptly.

HONORS FOR HOBSON.

The Washington Authorities Will Give Him Whatever He Wants.

Washington, D.C., June 7.—The promotion in store for Lieut. Hobson, the hero of Santiago, is under consideration by the Navy Department. Acting Secretary Allen and Commodore Hickborn, chief of the Bureau of Naval Construction, talked it over in a general way yesterday, but no conclusions were reached. The department is desirous of knowing what would be most acceptable to Hobson himself, and when this is learned a recommendation will be made to Congress, which that body will doubtless carry into effect, without delay. The present indications are that Hobson will be taken out of the staff and be made a line officer, as that ensures not only an increase of pay, but an opportunity to rise to the more conspicuous line position of admiral. At present Hobson is an assistant constructor, with the relative rank of lieutenant, junior grade.

Matters at Havana.

Key West, June 7.—Advices from the Havana blockade yesterday say that three Spanish gunboats, besides the cruiser Alfonso XIII., are yet in Havana harbor, and within the last ten days additional artillery, brought from the shore, has been mounted on the Alfonso.

Much tobacco from Vuelto Alsajo districts of Cuba is being smuggled out from Isle of Pines, Batabano, Colima, and other Pinar del Rio ports, by German, as well as Mexican blockade runners.

Harbor Not Blocked.

Port Antonio, June 7.—There is some doubt among naval officers whether the sunken Merrimac effectually blocks the Santiago channel. The wreck lies in about seven fathoms of water. It is said she does not lie directly across the channel, and there is still room enough for large ships to pass. It would be easy for the Spanish to blow up the wreck and clear the channel, but they will probably not do so, as the wreck prevents ingress as well as egress, and increases their security. The Merrimac's men are not in Morro, but on the Cristobal Colon.

Camara Returned to Cadiz.

Gibraltar, June 7.—It was reported here yesterday that the Spanish fleet, commanded by Admiral Camara, has returned to Cadiz, after completing the series of manoeuvres which formed the programme of the cruise.

SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD.

An Illustrious Son of Canada Remembered in the Cities of Kingston and Toronto—The Proceedings.

Toronto, June 7.—The fine monument of the "Chieftain" in Queen's Park was surrounded by large crowds yesterday afternoon, assembled to pay admiring tribute to the memory of a most illustrious son of Canada. The day was an ideal one, and contributed much to making the demonstration the perfect success as it was.

Almost covering the statue in beautiful lilies and roses were tributes from clubs and individuals.

Of course there was nothing mournful or suggestive of a funeral march about the afternoon's proceedings, but all was as bright and radiant as befitting the career of one upon whose fame the sun shall never set nor the twilight gather about it. Only when the speaker lingered in the course of his glowing panegoric to touch upon some tender act of kindness done by the departed statesman, of which his life was full, did the throat choke or the eyes of the listeners become filled with mist

Shortly after 4 o'clock Chairman Dumas opened the proceedings with a few well-chosen words.

Mr. C. C. Robinson, Mayor Shaw, Rev. Father Ryan, Mr. J. P. Whitney, M.P.P., Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin, M. P., Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, M.P., Mr E. B. Osler, M.P., and Rev. Dr. Potts spoke in strong, eloquent and glowing terms of the great dead.

The last strains of "God Save the Queen" had died upon the air; the big crowd eagerly discussing the speeches as they went have melted away; the occupants of the smart carriages have been whirled homewards down the avenue, and on the campus nursemaids are gathering up their tired charges. The grand face of the chieftain looks serene and calm, as of one who has solved all the problems of the future, and, in his left hand, emblematic of his heart, a wreath of evergreens and lilies swings in the evening breeze.

IN HIS NATIVE CITY.

The Kingston Macdonald Club Arranged the Programme.

Kingston, June 7.—Favorable weather greeted the anniversary of the death of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. The annual decoration ceremonies at Cataraqui cemetery began at 3 o'clock. The programme, arranged by the Macdonald Club, was as follows: Prayer by Rev. John MacKie; address by J. Donnelly, jr., president of the local Macdonald Club; addresses by the representatives of the distant clubs, which included addresses by Dr. Herald, representing the Macdonald-Cartier Club, Ottawa; by John McIntyre, Q.C., representing the members of the Federal Government; by E. J. Ponse, President local Reform Association; by Dr. Ryan, representing Kingston Conservative Association; by Mayor Livingston. The floral display was beautiful, including a handsome wreath, contributed by the local Macdonald Club; a large cross, contributed by the Macdonald-Cartier Club, Ottawa; a wreath, contributed by the members of the Federal Government, Ottawa. Mrs. Taylor, wife of George Taylor, M. P., Conservative whip, placed the members' wreath on the grave. John McIntyre, Q.C., delivered an address as representative of the donors. Flags were flying at half mast on the City Hall, the Whig and other buildings in honor of the memory of the dead statesman.

Child Burned to Death.

London, Ont., June 7.—The four-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cameron McDonald of London West, set fire to her clothes, while playing with matches Saturday evening, and was so badly burned that she died at 9 o'clock Sunday evening.

Two Negroes Lynched.

St. Louis, Mo., June 7.—A special from Clarksville, Mo., says that two negroes have been lynched and two more are likely to be, for the murder of City Marshal Walter Meiran yesterday.

Killed on the Tracks.

Ottawa, June 7.—While walking on the C.P.R. tracks last evening, Alphonse Charlebois, son of Alderman Charlebois of Papineauville, was run over by a train and killed.

AN ALL DAY BATTLE.

Troops Landed by the Americans at Aguadores, Near Santiago.

JUNCTION WITH INSURGENTS.

The Allied Army Moving on Santiago de Cuba Under the Protection of Admiral Sampson's Guns—Artillery, Infantry and Big Guns Put Ashore—General War News.

Havana, June 7.—At 8 o'clock yesterday morning 24 vessels of the American fleet opened fire upon the fortifications at the entrance to Santiago harbor and along the coast line. The firing ceased about 11 o'clock. Further details are not yet known here.

Col. Alden, with a Spanish force, sustained a fire near Punta Cabrosa from the insurgents on the land side and from the American warships. The Spanish forces are well entrenched on the line from Siboney to Aguadores, and yesterday they checked an attempt of the American forces to land, and repelled them.

It is understood here that the members of the Merrimac crew, who are imprisoned at Santiago, are well treated by the Spanish commander.

A LANDING EFFECTED.

Three Batteries of Artillery, Three Regiments of Infantry and Some Big Guns Put Ashore.

New York, June 7.—The ticker service at 2.55 yesterday afternoon sent out the following:

"Mole St. Nicholas, June 6.—The United States cruiser St. Louis arrived here this morning with despatches for Washington. She brought news that troops were successfully landed west of Santiago de Cuba on Saturday. The troops were one battalion of engineers, three batteries of artillery, three regiments of infantry and heavy siege guns, which were easily disembarked by use of pontoons."

AN ALL DAY BATTLE.

Began at Daybreak and Was Still on at 1.30 in the Afternoon—Junction With Insurgents.

New York, June 7.—A Cape Haytien, Havti, special to the Journal last night says: "A fierce battle has been raging all day off Santiago. Advices report that the American troops under the protection of Sampson's guns have succeeded in effecting a landing at Aguadores, a few miles east of Santiago Harbor. The battle began at daybreak, and at 1.30 in the afternoon the battle was still on. The insurgents have made a junction with the American troops and are moving on the city.

ENTICED INTO CANADA.

An Old Offender Cleverly Caught by Dominion Officers.

Vancouver, B.C., June 7.—The police are to be congratulated over the capture of Hoyle, briefly mentioned in Saturday's despatches. Hoyle is suspected of being connected with the two men who first robbed and then set fire to the general store of Mr. Ashwell at Chilliwack, recently. His capture was surrounded with difficulties, but with the aid of United States police officers, the man was located at Whatcom, and before he knew where he was he was on Canadian soil, and in charge of Indian officers at Huntingdon. The United States officers brought Hoyle by train to Sumas City, and by design or accident the train was run just over the boundary into Huntingdon before stopping it, and when the prisoner alighted he was at once nabbed by Acting Police Officer Lister. The prisoner was furious at being thus tricked, and gave all parties concerned a terrible tongue lashing. Hoyle was arraigned in the District Court and remanded for eight days.

THE FARMERS' LOAN COMPANY.

Master-in-Ordinary Orders the Liquidators to Produce Information.

Toronto, June 7.—The Master-in-Ordinary yesterday at Osgoode Hall issued an order obliging the liquidators of the defunct Farmers' Loan to produce particulars by to-day regarding their claims in their attempt to make the directors liable for the defalcations of Pinkney and Scott, the cashiers, and also to make them responsible for the dividends paid out of the capital. A similar order was granted about two weeks ago, but the particulars furnished did not meet with the approval of the counsel for the directors, who claimed that they were inadequate. Mr. Douglas, who appeared for the liquidators, objected to furnishing any further particulars, arguing that to do so would be a matter of discovery. The Master, however, thought differently.

Charged With Manslaughter.

Toronto, June 7.—The inquest touching the death of John C. Berryman, who died early Sunday morning, at the home of his employer, John Buchanan, on the third concession, West York, was commenced yesterday afternoon at Cherry's Hotel. After hearing the evidence the jury retired and at 12.15 last night brought in a verdict that "deceased came to his death from the result of kick inflicted by one Fred. Pratt, and that his brothers Henry and Edward were accessories."

The prisoners will come up on the charge of assault to-morrow afternoon, when the charge will be enlarged to one of manslaughter.

I was told that my lungs were affected, and my heart and kidneys were in a bad condition. In fact, it seemed as though every organ was out of order. I felt that something must be done and my brother advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I procured a bottle and began taking it. Before it was half gone I felt that it was helping me. MINISTERS AND POLITICS.

The question of the propriety of ministers of the Gospel entering politics seems to have some connection with the modern plaint from both pulpit and press of the corruption of politics. In order to convert the heathen, the Christian missionary employs no indirect methods. He goes straight to the heathen, mingles with them, and, in many cases, adopts their national habits and costumes. He does all this to be in position to influence their lives and gain opportunities of pressing the truth upon them. If practical politics are corrupt, in the thick of the fight is the place of the aggressive minister with a mission for the purification of politics. In the Montreal Conference of the Methodist church a motion came up to prohibit Methodist ministers from becoming candidates for either legislative or parliamentary honours. Of course a lively debate ensued, and, as inevitably, there was a difference of opinion. One speaker, using Rev. Dr. Dewart as a "terrible example," said that his being superannuated and entering politics had caused many to refuse contributions to the superannuation fund. The reply was that a superannuated minister was a good man to vote for, and if the country wanted him the country should have him. One speaker said he had been in Ottawa, and had seen decrepit senators wheeled into the chamber, and that the church had a lot of worn-out ministers who would be a credit to the Senate. Of course the resolution was mercilessly slaughtered, the report of the discussion reading as if it were a joke. But there is a serious side to the question, involving the responsibility of ministers as citizens. They enjoy the rights of citizenship in regard to voting, and if their inclination and sense of duty indicate to them that they can serve their country and improve the tone of political life by entering politics as parliamentary representatives, one would think that they should be allowed to do so, especially if they are incapacited from the active work of the ministry. Because a minister is unable to continue preaching, it need not disqualify him as a parliamentary representative—there is, it is said, too much speaking in Parliament already—a minister can vote right and exercise an influence in purifying political morals. The question seems to be not so much whether ministers should abstain from politics, as whether they should not cultivate them more. Our Saviour when on earth set an example of the Christian's duty to the state by paying taxes like an ordinary citizen. A minister is are not supposed to be exempt from the duties that confront the average citizen, and if he feels it his duty to enter politics he should not be prevented one would think, from responding to what he regards as the call of duty.

INSURANCE AND THE CIGARETTE.

It has been made to appear from the reports of the doctors conducting the examinations of volunteers for the United States army that the man who habitually surrounds himself with a cloud of cigarette smoke is thereby ensuring his freedom from envelopment in the smoke clouds hovering over the field of battle. The comment aroused by the large number of rejections has been followed by the astounding statement that the examining surgeons of the cigarette-smoking applicants for service against the enemies of their country rejected ninety per cent. of them. A Dr. Benjamin King, of Philadelphia, who is said to have been examining surgeon during the years of the civil war, is reported as saying that the average rejections during 1861 to 1865 did not exceed thirteen per cent. The average is now almost forty per cent. and habitual smokers of the deadly insidious cigarette are credited with furnishing the increase. Weak hearts and impaired vitality are given as the reasons for the cigarette smoker's failure to qualify for military duty. The war has revealed nothing more regrettable (if true) that this impairment of the health and strength of the vigourous athletic American youth by excessive cigarette smoking. Some of the insurance companies could not do better than conduct a campaign against the injurious habit by inducing the army medical department to use their influence with the young men most concerned. The recently published statement of the examining physicians is calculated to do much towards checking the consumption of cigarettes. Ninety per cent.! This startling statement (if it was verified by certificate of the army surgeons) of a basis for promulgated belief in the injurious effect of cigarette smoking ought to be published far and wide. Canada is equally interested with the United States in the good work of inducing her stalwart sons to abandon the practice of swallowing the smoke and nocotian impurities of the dust filled cigarette, and of inducing them if they must use the soothing weed, to take to contemplative puffing from a well-kept pipe.—Insurance and Finance Chronicle.

A STARTLING CASE

A Woman's Condition, Physical and Mental, Completely Changed.

By the Use of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets—She Had Catarrh of the Stomach—She Was Tortured Till Cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"I can't imagine what's wrong with me. My food doesn't agree with me, and I feel sick and wretched after eating. I have a sensation of being bloated after each meal, a sour, watery liquid rises from my stomach to my mouth, and gas belches up constantly. I find it difficult to breathe, my head aches fearfully, my appetite is changeable, my nerves are utterly unstrung, and I feel weak, played out, and entirely unfit to do anything but lie down and quarrel with myself and everyone about me."

Such is the way a Toronto lady described her condition a couple of weeks ago.

She looked miserable. She was sallow, thin, and feeble. Her face was covered with pimples. She was a living picture of of ill-health.

A friend advised her to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. She did so. To day she is another woman. Her complexion is pure and clear, she is plump and healthy-looking, strong, energetic, her head is clear, her eyes bright, she eats and sleeps well, and is as happy as the day is long.

She was suffering from Catarrh of the Stomach. Her food did not digest, but lay, a putrid mass, in the stomach, fermenting and creating offensive gas and poisonous matter.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digested her food, giving her stomach a rest and a chance to gain strength. They regulated the bowels, which carried off the foul, poisonous matter that formerly rose from stomach to mouth. They cured her.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Canada's New Capital.

Toronto, June 7.—In an interview last night Premier Greenway of Manitoba, after advising young men to take Horace Greeley's advice and "Go West," said of the proposed Anglo-American alliance: "It would be an excellent thing. It would work for universal peace, for Great Britain, her colonies and United States, in friendly compact, could compel peace the world over. There is every probability that the alliance will soon be made." Later in the interview Mr. Greenway said of the possibility of Winnipeg becoming the capital of Canada: "I would not be surprised. Our central inland position is a good reason. It is not at all unlikely."

A Bonus to Reserve Men.

Halifax, June 7.—A number of army reserve men in Halifax yesterday received notification from England that all reserve men in Canada wishing to do so, either married or single, could attach themselves to the First Leinsters, now in this garrison, immediately and finish their terms of service with the colors. This service is voluntary and a bonus of $100 to be given at the completion of service is offered as an inducement to re-enter the army at once.

The Babes in the Wood.

St. Catharines, June 7.—While Bailiff Boyle was searching in a bush a few miles from here for a tramp who had escaped from the county jail, he came across a young couple who had eloped from Berlin. The girl said her name was Blair, a daughter of the man who was arrested in connection with the murder of Mrs. Orr at Galt.

Lieut.-Col. Neilson Injured.

Kingston, Ont., June 7.—While en route from Ottawa to this city aboard the steamer James Swift, the director of the general medical staff of the Canadian militia, Lieut.-Col. Neilson, fell into the steamer's hold and was severely bruised and shaken up.

Rothschild's Generosity.

Paris, June 7.—Baron Rothschild, on account of his first victory in a race for the Grand Prix de Paris, with Leroi Soleil, at Longchamps yesterday, has given his winnings, 200,000 francs, to the poor of Paris.

Plenty of people lose their appetite, get weak and feel miserable during the summer season. Nothing will so quickly restore the natural desire for food, renew the energies and build up the health as Burdock Blood Bitters.

"For a long time I was troubled with weakness and pain in my sides, and had no appetite. I had great soreness through me and was confined to my bed a good deal. Doctors' medicine failed to cure me. I got a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and it did me so much good that I used 5 bottles more and am now entirely well." LUCRETIA HADLEY, Bury's Green, Ont.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,261.85, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $2510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.20, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

OPPOSED THE GRANT

To the Russell and Prescott County Fire Sufferers.

HON. G. E. FOSTER'S CRITICISM.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Reply—The Sawdust Nuisance Again—A Number of Questions Asked and Answered—Interesting Report of the Standing Committee on Agriculture—The House Proceedings.

Ottawa, June 7.—There are not wanting signs that the Senate is already weakening upon its highhanded and really untenable position respecting the Franchise bill. It is now said upon pretty good authority that, in view of the fact that the Conservatives in the chamber are not at all united in this policy of amending the Franchise bill, the Senate will be content with its protest against it. Upon the refusal of the House of Commons to accept the amendment making judicial revision in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba the Upper Chamber will recede from its position. However, time will tell if it will be so wise.

Proceedings in the House.

There was a bare quorum of the House when the Speaker took the chair at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, and but little interest was manifested in the proceedings, the public being conspicuous by their absence.

The Speaker announced that he had issued his warrants for the vacancies caused by the death of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy in North Simcoe, and the acceptance of office by Mr. M. C. Cameron, West Huron.

The House went into supply, the supplementary estimates on current expenditure being taken up. Amongst those carried was one of $3,501 for the expenses of the reference of the fisheries appeal to the Privy Council.

Mr. Foster challenged the action of the Government in granting $10,000 to the Casselman fire relief fund, saying the vote was an unusual one.

Mr. Fielding replied that the fire was an unusual one.

Mr. Foster said that the vote was a tremendous precedent. Every one would sympathise with the poor people who suffered from the fire, but the Dominion Parliament was setting a bad precedent, and would have numerous requests of this kind to deal with. The friends of the Government would also be considered in making such grants, because it would help them politically. Every now and again villages would be burned down. The Government would not meet the cases. Applications would also be made from cities for grants when they had suffered from fire.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier appreciated the remarks of Mr. Foster, but pointed out that no new precedent had been set, as the late Government had done the same thing ten years ago in the case of the Hull fire. The reason given then for the grant was that a great many laboring people had lost all that they had. In the case of Prescott and Russell the fires burned out what was practically a new community. The fire raged for some days, and everything the settlers owned was swept away. There were applications from other places for assistance and had to be refused, but in the case of the Russell and Prescott fires the circumstances were such that the Government had consented to assist.

Sir Louis Davies agreed with much of what Mr. Foster said.

Mr. Fielding said it would have been better if the Provincial Government had given all the assistance required. It was only when Provincial and other grants had been expended that the Dominion found it necessary to give assistance.

In reply to Mr. Foster, Sir Louis Davies said that the entire cost of the Hudson Bay expedition was $37,000.

An item of $27,520 to Hugh Ryan & Co., for Sault Ste. Marie canal, being a difference of $4.50 paid for masonry and $7.50 which the Government may now have to pay for the revetment wall, was attacked by Mr. McMullen and Mr. Haggart, and was, therefore, dropped by Mr. Blair.

Sir Louis Davies introduced the regular sessional bill to extend the time given to lumber mill owners in which to adopt some method of consuming their sawdust. The Marine Minister explained that he was allowing further extension at the request of lumbermen, who had represented to him that the process of consumption they had been experimenting with had failed, and that they were now starting on a new tack.

Finishing off some twenty questions by members, mostly relating to post-office and other dismissals, was a question by Mr. McDougall (Cape Breton) with reference to the letter purported to have been written by the Premier to Cardinal Rampolla at Rome. Sir Wilfrid declined to answer "private or confidential letters, especially those not referring to public questions."

In reply to Mr. McNeill the Premier intimated that there was as yet no matured agreement respecting the apportionment of the cost of the Pacific cable. In reply to Mr. E. F. Clarke he stated that no decision had been arrived at by the Privy Council in reference to the application of the Bell Telephone Company for leave to raise their rates.

The motion to confer a pension on county judges forced to retire when 75 years of age, whether they were otherwise entitled to it or not, was taken up in committee. Mr. Borden of Halifax reminded the Government that one of its members was 74 years of age, another 71 and a third 69; that Sir Oliver became Minister of Justice at 77, and Lieutenant-Governor at 79; that the vigorous Opposition leaders in the Commons and Senate were respectively 73 and 74 years of age.

The Premier contended that county judges had more onerous and unhealthful duties than the above, and the English judges were quoted. The bill was discussed for another hour, and the resolution involving the financial aspect of the judiciary bill was adopted.

The report of the Standing Committee on Agriculture and Colonization was laid on the table of the House yesterday. Prof. James W. Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, was amongst the witnesses examined. Upon the subject of cold storage he told of a case where 267 barrels of fall apples sent in cold storage sold at 16 shillings per barrel, while another lot of 325 barrels, sent in the usual way, brought only eight shillings. He also announced that 69 creameries had availed themselves of the Government bonus to cold storage creameries, and that the bonus would be continued for 1898. The commissioner made a brief statement of his observations in the markets of Great Britain during his visit last year, stating that Canadian products are now being more generally sold under their own name, but that beef from Canadian-fed cattle is still often sold in the retail shops as "Best English," or "Best Scotch."

The House again went into committee on the bill to grant by way of a loan $3,000,000 to Montreal to improve the harbor of the city.

Mr. Foster led off with the opposition, and among others Mr. Chauvin, Dr. Sproule and the Premier addressed the House.

The bill finally passed the committee and on resuming the House adjourned.

THE SENATE.

Ottawa, June 7.—In the Senate yesterday Senator McDonald, B.C., gave notice of a motion declaring that it was in the public interest that a line of railway should be constructed into the Yukon country from an ocean port on the Pacific in British Columbia; that it was inadvisable to make large grants of public land to secure the construction of the road, and expressing the belief that such a railway could be constructed for a subsidy of $15,000 per mile for 400 miles of line; that the Province of British Columbia had expressed its willingness to contribute $1,600,000 of the amount required, and that the remaining $4,400,000 needed to complete the road would be opened up in the development of the vast mineral wealth of the Yukon district.

Yesterday afternoon, on motion of Senator Landry, a return was ordered of a statement of the cost of the voyages undertaken last year by the Premier and the Solicitor-General to Europe and the United States, together with the traveling expenses of their secretaries.

When the Franchise bill came up for a third reading Hon. David Mills moved the House into committee for the purpose of proposing an amendment empowering the Governor-General-in-Council to prepare a schedule of oaths to be taken at elections in conformity with the Act. The amendment was adopted and the bill read a third time.

A motion proposed by Senator Boulton declaring the amendments made to the bill ultra vires, was declared out of order by the Speaker.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fulness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only take the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organisms.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page "Common Sense Medical Adviser," illustrated.

THE ONLY HOPE!

For Victims of Bright's Disease is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Not a day passes on which the newspapers do not record the death of one or more persons from Bright's Disease. Already its victims number hundreds of thousands. Day by day the awful total grows larger. No class is safe from this destroyer.

War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

NOTE-SHAVERS CAUGHT, TOO.

The War Revenue Bill Makes Bankers of a Good Many People.

Washington, D.C., June 7.—The following is the text of the bank tax provision of the war revenue bill as passed by the Senate:

Bankers using or employing a capital not exceeding $25,000 shall pay $50; when using or employing a capital exceeding $25,000 for every additional $1,000 in excess of $25,000 two dollars, and in estimating capital, surplus shall be included. The amount of such annual tax shall in all cases be computed on the basis of the capital and surplus for the preceding fiscal year. Every person, firm or company, and every incorporated or other bank, having a place of business where credits are opened by the deposit of money or currency, subject to be paid or remitted upon draft, check, or order, or where money is advanced or loaned on stocks, bonds, bullion, bills of exchange or promissory notes are received for discount or sale, shall be a banker under this Act.

PEKIN SIDE-TRACKED.

Chinese Capital to Be Transferred to Sian-Fu, in Shen-Si.

London, June 7.—The Globe yesterday says it learns from a most reliable source that the Chinese Foreign Office has decided to make Sian-Fu (capital of the Province of Shen-Si) the capital of the Chinese Empire, in place of Pekin.

General Tung Fu Ching, it is added, now commands a picked force stationed in a town halfway between Pekin and Sian-Fu, for the purpose of protecting the Emperor and his court on their journey to the new capital, and troops, it appears, are already stationed at intervals along the route.

A Wonderful Letter

From a Grateful Man.

Paine's Celery Compound Saved His Life.

Physicians, Medicines and Mineral Springs Failed Him in His Time of Need.

A Prominent Doctor Vouches for the Truth of Every Statement.

Wells & Richardson Co.:

Gentlemen:—I think it my duty, without solicitation from anyone, to write in the interests of other sufferers, and give you a testimonial in favour of your (to me) almost miraculous remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. For more than a year I was suffering from the agonizing pains of sciatica, and after trying all that medical skill could devise, and using many remedies, patent and otherwise, I concluded to try the hot springs at Banff. I took the treatment thoroughly and carefully for six weeks, and came home at the end of that time racked with pain and weighing 43 pounds less. At this juncture, when hope had almost fled, I heard of Paine's Celery Compound. It seemed suited to my case, and I sent to my druggist, Mr. J. W. Higginbotham, of this place, and asked about it. He recommended it to me, and I took a bottle. I soon began to feel better, and after taking the second bottle I was a cured man and threw away my crutches.

I keep a bottle on hand in case of any return of the complaint. I am now 58 years old, and I feel as spry and healthy and free from pain as I ever did in my life. I was born in Norfolk, England, and came to Canada when only 3 years old. I was brought up in the township of Cornwall, Ontario, and came to Manitoba eight years ago. Have always been a farmer, and am as able to do hard work now as ever I was.

With a heart full of gratitude for the benefits derived from the use of your remedy, and a wish to influence others who may suffer, I gladly and freely indite this letter.

Yours gratefully,
James Leverington,
Virden, Man.

Mr. J. W. Higginbotham, the successful and extremely popular druggist of Virden, vouches for Mr Leverington's statements, as follows:

I have known Mr. Leverington for two years or more, and can confirm what he says in regard to his cure by Paine's Celery Compound. Ever since his cure he has been sounding its praises, and he is a perfect enthusiast on the subject of Paine's Celery Compound. I believe him to be thoroughly reliable.

Carranza and Du Bosc Arrested.

Montreal, June 7.—Lieut. Carranza and Senor du Bosc were arrested yesterday afternoon on a capias taken out at the instance of Detective Kellert, who charged that they were about to leave the country, and that he would not be able to obtain satisfaction in a suit for $25,000 damages for false arrest, which he is taking against them. Kellert, it will be remembered, was acquitted of the charge of stealing Lieut. Carranza's letter, the publication of which at Washington created such a sensation. The accused were brought before a judge and bail was given in $1,000 for their appearance in court. An attempt will be made to quash the capias. A seizure before judgment has also been placed in the hands of the Bank of Montreal on the Spanish bank account.

MOTORMAN O'REILLY CASE.

He was Cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills: Everything Else Failed.

Toronto, May 30—(By telegraph) With reference to his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Diabetes, Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, Toronto Street Railway motorman No. 624, writes corroborating the report of his cures.

Mr. O'Reilly says: "For three years I suffered horribly, in spite of all the medicines I tried. Not one of them gave the least relief. I endured the torture of scalding pains while urinating, and all the other agonies of Diabetes.

"Finally I was induced to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The first dose did me good and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

Clarke & Gibson's Sale.

The public have seldom had such an opportunity of buying reliable jewelry, watches, clocks, etc., as that now presented by the dissolution sale at Clarke & Gibson's Jewelry Store, which has been going on for the past two weeks. The important change which has taken place in this well-known firm of jewellers, by which the long existing partnership has been wound up by Mr. Clarke's retirement, has decided Mr. Gibson to inaugurate a special reduction sale of every line of goods in the store. The attractions in this store, as may be readily conjectured, are of the most genuine character. Every article has been reduced from the original price marks. The high grade character of this stock, and the unusually low prices which prevail, should give everyone interested in jewelry, a rare chance of procuring what the ywish. Everything, from the simple to the elaborate, from the trifles to the precious stone—all that is newest—all that is in demand, whether for personal use or for presentations—may be procured now at prices very much below regular values. It will pay you to visit the store and look at the stock, which is excelled by no other in the business.

Big Fighting in the Philippines Reported.

ABOUT A THOUSAND KILLED.

Reported Sinking of a Spanish Steamer.

ALSO A LAND ENGAGEMENT.

Spanish Government Adrift—Something About the Santiago Bombardment—Americans Reported Victorious by Sea and by Land.

Big Fight in the Phillipines.

Manilla, May 31, via. Hong Kong, June 7.—The Spanish outposts have been driven in all along the line simultaneously by the insurgents with great slaughter, over 1,000 having been killed. There has been fierce hand to hand fighting for seventy hours despite the typhoon which is raging. The torrents of rain rendered the Spaniards' rifles unavailing. The natives easily won at every point with their slashing knives.

Spanish Government Drifting.

London, June 7.—Madrid correspondence says:—Senor Moret, former Secretary of the Colonies, in an interview said:—The Government does not know where it is going and I consider the situation far more grave that is generally confessed. The government has no fixed purpose. It allows matters to follow their own course, regardless of ultimate consequences. The ship is drifting, and the cabinet is no longer solid, despite its reconstruction. To-day the confusion is complete. A campaign in favour of peace has begun in the press and is progressing among the populace. I am convinced that if a plebiscite were held peace would be unanimously voted, even by the soldiers. The affairs of Spain are in complete disorder.

The Santiago Bombardment.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 7, 9.05 a.m.—The fighting before and in the vicinity of Santiago de Cuba continued together part of yesterday from 7.45 a.m. until nearly 10 o'clock. Ten of the American war ships maintained steady and carefully directed fire against the Morro Castle and the batteries of Punta, Gordo, Socapa and Cincoreales. In addition to bombarding the Spanish fleet in the harbour, the percentage of effective projects was very large. The best information obtainable states that immense damage was inflicted on the enemy. The Spaniards admit that the the bombardment from the American fleet was most destructive. It seems that the responsive fire from the Spanish forts and ships was scarcely felt at all by the Americans.

Spanish Steamer Reported Sunk.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 7—It is reported here that the first-class armoured Spanish cruiser Maria Teresa, was sunk yesterday by the fire of the American fleet.

U. S. Troops Reported Landed.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 7th—A landing of American troops is reported to have taken place near Daiquire. Later—There was severe fighting with Spanish force, in which the Americans were victorious.

GAOL-BREAKERS REMANDED.

They Will not Receive Their Preliminary Hearing Until Friday.

James McDonald alias Mart Marshall and Frank Fobes, the two gaol-breakers whose escape created so much excitement in town last week, were before Magistrate Dumble this morning charged with breaking gaol.

Court was held in the County Court room and the two prisoners appeared in the box shackled hand and foot and chained together.

After Magistrate Dumble had read the charge County Crown Attorney Wood asked for a remand until Friday, as he was not ready to go on. Mr. D. O'Connell, counsel for the defense, having no objections, the request was granted for the remand.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Magistrate Dumble Decides That the Evidence Against Ross is of Weight.

Harry Ross was, this morning, committed for trial on the charge of robbing the till of the gas register in W. H. Robertson's bookstore.

The evidence showed that on the night of the robbery Ross was in possession of $5.50 in quarters, which was the exact amount taken from the till, in money of the same denomination. Previously during the day he had no money. On being seen late at night, when under the influence of liquor, he was persuaded to hand his money over to a friend for safe keeping and expressed surprise at having so much. The next day, when a warrant was issued for his arrest, he fled and was not seen again until he was arrested at his old home in Montreal.

County Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution this morning and Messrs. E. B. Stone and Roland McWilliams appeared for the defence.

GROCERS' EARLY CLOSING.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—For some weeks past I have been watching with great interest the progress of the early closing movement among the grocers of the town, but was sorry to see that it did not meet with the success such a movement deserves. Now, I am a workingman and a member of a labour union of this town and intend giving my patronage to those grocers who have been humane enough to give their employers an additional hour or so for four evenings each week during the hot summer months. It may possibly be a trifling inconvenience to be obliged to buy my groceries before seven o'clock, but I have some consideration for my fellow workers in town, whether they be mechanics, clerks or labourers, and think that those grocers who are possessed of the same feeling and close their stores early are deserving of the support of every workingman. We have our hours of labour, but have the evenings to ourselves, and I don't think we appreciate them any more than do the clerks who have been confined in a store all day. If some merchants are so avaricious as to be devoid of all regard for the feelings of their employees, then I say that these are the ones we should not patronize, but deal with business men whose actions toward those in their employ indicate that they are equally just and honourable in their dealings with their patrons. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

A MEMBER OF A LABOUR UNION.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE PICNIC.

A Pleasant Trip Down the River and Picnic at Idyl Wyld.

The West Riding Farmers' Institute tenth annual picnic took place at Idyl Wyld yesterday. The steamer North Star took down about 100 delighted passengers who, after a most pleasant sail down the river, arrived at Idyl Wyld at 12 o'clock. Here the party spent the afternoon a la mode picnic. On the return a short stop was made at Jubilee, and the party arrived home at a seasonable hour, well pleased with the day's enjoyment, which was greatly increased by the presence of Butcher's Orchestra on board and by the impromptu concert participated in by the musical members of the excursion party.

THE POPULAR VOICE SHALL PRONOUNCE

Upon the Ward Abolition Proposition.

SHALL THE WARD SYSTEM GO?

And Every Elector to Vote for Every Member of the Council?—The Matter Threshed Out in Council—The Bylaw to be Submitted on June 20th—Grants to the Bands—A Slate of Routine Business Cleared.

The town council held its regular monthly meeting last night, with Mayor Davis in the chair. The councillors present were Messrs. Henry Best, J. H. White, C. B. Robertson, T. H. G. Denne, W. L. Allen, T. H. Hamilton, Adam Dawson, J. H. Cobb, J. B. McWilliams, W. H. Maldrum, Wm. Langford and J. M. White.

GRAND LODGE, I.O.G.T.

On motion of Councillors J. M. White and Denne, a deputation which was present in support of a petition from the local lodges of Good Templars, asking for a grant of $35 towards defraying the expenses of the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the I.O.G.T. here next week, was given a hearing.

Mr. G. W. Powell addressed the council, stating that the Grand Lodge met in session in Peterborough on the 14th, 15th and 16th of June, and as the council had given grants to other societies, the local Good Templars asked to be treated in the same manner. The wheelmen and Foresters had received money, and he thought the organization which he represented should receive the same consideration. About 125 delegates would be present. They were not to be billeted, but would pay their own way, and, therefore, be a benefit to the town. The sum asked for was only $35, and the council should therefore look with favour on so small a grant. In connection with the Grand Lodge meeting there would be a mass meeting at which he would like to see some of the members of the council extend a civic welcome to the visitors, and offer them the freedom of the town.

Councillors McWilliams and J. M. White moved that the grant be given as requested.

Councillor Langford stated that $1,750 had been set aside in the estimates for special grants. This amount has already been exceeded by $125. If the estimates were exceeded in the same manner in every other item he would like to know where the council "would be at."

Councillor Dawson said that although he was a good temperance man he also was against giving a grant.

Councillor McWilliams replied that every society which induced its Grand Lodge to meet in Peterborough was entitled to recognition. It was on account of the narrow-mindedness of previous councillors that he had consented to run for a seat at the Board. If the council would not vote for the grant, the members should the amount amongst themselves. He was prepared to lead the subscription list with five dollars.

Councillor Cobb, Dawson, Denne, Langford and Meldrum signified their willingness to subscribe in this manner.

Councillors Meldrum and Allen moved that Councillor Hamilton, as a temperance representative, be instructed to welcome the delegates.

On motion of Councillors Dawson and Allen, the question was referred to the Finance Committee with power to act.

Mr. J. W. Stubbs pointed out that the members of the Grand Lodge were being brought to Peterborough to advertise the town. The grant was asked for on the ground that similar requests had been granted to other societies. The Good Templars were not begging, but as ratepayers were entitled to this consideration.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and referred as follows:

From Jerome Lagounesse and others, asking to have Louis street watered.—Referred to Street and Bridge Committee.

From W. Madill and 150 others, asking to have June 23th appointed a public holiday from the hour of 5 p.m., it being the date set apart for Oddfellows' decoration day purposes.—Granted on motion of Councillors J. M. White and W. H. Meldrum.

From Wm. Lloyd and twenty-six others, asking for the construction of a drain on Parnell street.—On motion of Councillors Robertson and Denne the town engineer will report on the matter.

From Geo. Schneider, claiming damages for water backed up into his cellar through sewer construction on George and McDonell streets.—Referred to the Sewer Committee.

From a firm of glass manufacturers in the United States asking inducement to locate in a branch in Peterborough.—Referred to the Manufacturers Committee.

From the Little Lake Cemetery, stating that Crescent street is out of repair—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

HOMEWOOD AVENUE DRAIN.

Messrs. H. Rush and A. Mercer addressed the council stating that although they paid frontage tax on their Homewood properties for a drain they received no benefit whatever from it as the water lay on the land until it evaporated. This rendered the land unsaleable. They expressed their willingness to contribute towards the proper draining of the properties referred to.

On motion of Councillor Langford, the matter was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report to the council. In the meantime the Street Inspector will be instructed to deepen the present surface drain, as formerly recommended.

Councillor Denne in explaining the reason for granting the Sons of England Band $100 instead of $50, as mentioned in the estimates and ignoring the Salvation Army Band was that the former had placed the town under an obligation in remaining in Peterborough to furnish music on Jubilee Day, when the Fire Brigade Band was away.

Councillor Langford moved that the report be only received for the present. He objected to the payment of $100 to the S.O.E. band, stating the town was under no obligation to them, having paid the organization for their services on Jubilee Day. He thought if a grant was made at all the hundred dollars should be divided between the two bands mentioned.

Councillor McWilliams was in favour of giving the S.O.E. band $100. It had been offered a larger some of money to go out of town on Jubilee Day but had remained in Peterborough at the request of the committee. It was understood at the time that the band was to be liberally treated by the council for so doing.

Mr. Mark Spenciey, on behalf of the Army, stated that not five cents worth of goods was purchased for the Army out of town if they could be got in Peterborough. He wished to contradict the rumour to this effect.

Councillor W. H. White moved that the Fire Brigade Band be reduced to $200, that the S.O.E. band get $100, and the Salvation Army $50.

Councillor Langford raised a point of order, claiming that this would be an expenditure of money not authorized by the estimates.

Councillor Denne was in favour of Councillor White's suggestion.

The Mayor ruled Councillor Langford's point of order sustained.

Councillor McWilliams thought it would be a shame to cut down the grant of the Fire Brigade Band. It was an organization of which the council might well be proud.

On motion of Councillors Denne and Langford, the clause was amended to give the Army and S.O.E. bands $50 each.

THE LEGAL COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor McWilliams, reported as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Your Legal Committee beg leave to report that they instructed the clerk to write to the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Company, and enclose a copy of Robert Gibbs' bill for damage to his hack, and ask them to pay it. Since then Mr. Gibbs has sued the town for the amount in the Division Court, and the Town solicitor has been instructed to take the necessary action in the matter and make the Street Railway Company a party to the suit.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. B. McWILLIAMS, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

THE FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT

Committee reported as follows through its chairman, Councillor J. M. White:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

GENTLEMEN:—Your Fire, Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That the Peterborough Light & Power Co. be instructed to place a street light at the corner of Park and Gilmour streets, one on Wescott street at the railway crossing, and one at the east end of Smith street bridge to be used for six months in each year, namely during the summer months, and to be paid for at a proportionate rate. Also to move the light on Gilmour street fifty feet east of its present location.

2. That 300 feet of hose be purchased from the Gutta Percha Rubber and Manufacturing Co. of the Paragon brand at 50c per foot and that the Mayor and Clerk be authorized to execute the agreement for the purchase of the hose, with the guarantees from the Company.

3. That the chairman be authorized to accept the offer of Mr. McKibbon of the use of a horse for the fire department and that the grey horse be put out to pasture.

4. That John Montgomery's salary be increased to $375 a year from the first of this month.

5. That the drinking fountain at the Central Park (the Brown Memorial) be repaired and the Water Co asked to turn the water on.

6. That 75 feet of one inch hose be purchased.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

J. M. WHITE, Chairman.

Councillor White spoke favourably of the manner in which the lights were disposed of and complimented Mr. Flake on his management of the same. He moved the adoption of the report.

Councillor McWilliams asked about the light on Donegal street.

Councillor Denne objected to the light being placed on the corner of Park and Gilmour streets. It had not been asked for. He raised a point of order as to the expenditure of money and wanted to know who was going to shoulder the responsibility for the big deficit which was almost assured.

The clause calling for an increase in John Montgomery's salary caused considerable discussion, as a petition for a like increase was also received from E. Lawrence.

The question was referred to a Committee of the Whole Council, as was the clause affecting the placing of the new lights suggested. The Fire, Water and Light Committee will deal with the matter of the light spoken of for the east end of the Smith street bridge, being instructed to confer with the Ashburnham council in the matter.

The report was adopted as amended.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE

through its chairman, Councillor Dawson, reported as appended:

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen.—Your Street and Bridge Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the question of enforcing the use of wide tires on wagons, which was referred to this committee, be referred to the Joint Committee to confer with the County Council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ADAM DAWSON, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

Councillor Best introduced a bylaw concerning the making of sewer connections with those properties effected, and the closing of cesspools, etc. The bylaw received its several readings and was passed.

TO ABOLISH THE WARD SYSTEM.

Councillor Langford introduced a bylaw which, if adopted by the ratepayers, will change the mode of the election of the councillors of the town, abolishing the ward system, and electing them by each elector having a vote for each councillor. In presenting the bylaw, Mr. Langford said that since legislation had been adopted which enabled councils to abolish the wards, and more particularly since the discussion had taken place in Peterborough in regard to the matter, the ratepayers generally have approved of this bylaw. At present the whole system was a grab of wards, and if a man voted against anything in his own ward, the other members for that ward and the electors made it warm for him, as his constituency was small, yet his vote may have been a most righteous vote, and in the interest of the whole town. He would prefer to be elected one year by the whole town, and consider it mere honour, than to be elected ten years by a ward. He hoped the bylaw would be adopted. At any rate it could do no harm for the ratepayers to be allowed to express an opinion on the matter. The expense would be trifling as it could be submitted at the same time as the money bylaws for bridges. The property owners would be voting upon this bylaw and they could vote upon the other at the same time. But this bylaw would have the vote of the whole of the ratepayers upon it and, if accepted, could be put into force in January next.

The council then went into Committee of the Whole on the bylaw, with Councillor J. M. White in the chair.

Councillor Dawson said that he was opposed to the bylaw. The present system worked well. If the ward was not satisfied with its representative it could turn him out. The county council reduction was not working satisfactorily and he did not think this would be more so. He was opposed to the election of councillors by the whole town and he would move that the bylaw be given the six months' hoist.

Councillor Best interjected that the question was one for the ratepayers to decide upon. It was only intended to submit the proposition to the ratepayers. If they approved of the principle he was satisfied, as they had the right to the say.

Mr. McWilliams said that a great many citizens wanted the bylaw submitted. It was the proper manner to accept the voice of the people. He refuted Councillor Dawnson's statement that the County Councils Bill was unsatisfactory as a whole. There may be an occasional county where circumstances were such as to dissatisfy a portion of that community, but there was no such general dissatisfaction as Mr. Dawson had stated. On the other hand, he believed from all he could gather that the bill was satisfactory and had reduced the expense of the county councils. He had no reason to complain. He had always been elected at the head of the poll and it was easier for him, if he desired to be a candidate, to contest the ward rather than the town. But it would hardly come with good grace for the council to refuse to submit a proposition to the ratepayers which might possibly effect its personnel. A change might not be convenient to the councillors while it might be advantageous to the whole town. In other parts of the Province municipalities are preparing to take advantage of the reduction in number. It would elect men with the general interests of the whole town at heart. It would enable them to deal with questions affecting the town on a broader basis than ward politics and it would be the means of creating a deeper interest in municipal matters and might create a public rivalry amongst our public men.

Mr. W. H. White said he did not object to the bylaw. He would propose, however, to have it submitted in January at the municipal elections.

Repartee In Congress.

In the Fifty-first congress there was a tilt between General Spinola and Elijah Adams Morse that was entertaining. The general always wore an enormous standing collar. It was so large that it is said that Tim Campbell approached him one day and tapped the collar with the ferrule of his cane, apologetically asking, "Is General Spinola within?" Mr. Morse was making a sort of a prohibition speech against the sale of intoxicating liquors in army canteens. General Spinola had interrupted him several times, and in reply the Massachusetts statesman finally twitted him upon the size of his collar. It stung the general to the quick. Taking the floor some minutes afterward, he called attention to Mr. Morse's language. "My collar," said he, "unlike the gentleman from Massachusetts, is immaculately clean, and if it was twice as high as it is and was placed around the neck of the gentleman from Massachusetts it would not serve to hide his ears."

The general was a political curio. He had a striking face and a martial air. In the Fifty-first congress he threw the house into convulsions by pointing to the painting representing a scene at the siege of Yorktown and gravely accusing Speaker Reed of counting the Hessians therein to make up a quorum.—Boston Herald.

WOMAN.

22 POUNDS GAINED.

I had been a sufferer like a great many other women with a disease peculiar to my sex. I tried every thing I could read or think about to help me, but was getting worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color, and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and I now have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did. Sincerely yours,

FATHER AND DAUGHTER.

Facts Which Former Brings Forward to Show Latter's Extravagance.

Ottawa, June 6.—The evidence brought forward in the case of Bessey v. Eddy for alimentary alimony, in the Superior Court, Hull, Saturday, before Judge Lavergne, throws some interesting light on the case of Mr. E. B. Eddy and his daughter. Mrs. Bessey claims $400 per month alimony from her father for her support. When Mrs. Bessey's mother died Mrs. Bessey came into possession of her mother's bank stocks in the Merchants' Bank, Bank of Ottawa and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and since that time she has received as her profits on the shares and other income $22,000. Mr. Eddy could not see where this large amount of money had gone to in the short time. A list was presented to the court, giving a lot of Ottawa merchants in whose debt she was to an amount within a few dollars of $5,000. Amongst the amounts are items for a piano at $900, and milliner's bill at $200, and other amounts for drygoods, etc. These expenditures, the defence wishes to show, were extravagant, and in most cases uncalled for. In her house a piano was already installed, which cost over $550. The amount of income and the bill of debts make up a sum of $27,000.

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 81 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

Berryman Is Dead.

Toronto, June 6.—John Berryman, the York Township farm laborer who suffered dreadfully as the result of injuries alleged to have been inflicted by the three Pratt brothers of the same locality on May 9, died at the home of his employer, John Buchanan, concession 3, York Township, at 6 o'clock on Sunday morning. Fred. Henry and Edward Pratt will now be charged with manslaughter. At present they have their liberty on bail.

James Fox Drowned.

Parry Sound, Ont., June 6.—The body of James Fox was found Sunday morning, drowned off Parry Harbor dock in 7 feet of water. It is supposed the man fell off the dock in the dark and was unable to swim. The relatives have not been notified, as it is not yet known where they live. It is said he had a son a druggist, who lived in Kingston.

Outrages at Kleinburg.

Kleinburg, June 6.—A fiendish trick has been perpetrated upon horses and cattle in this vicinity during the past few days, for which no cause can be assigned, and for which a reward is now offered for the conviction of the guilty parties. First, they entered the stable of John Duggan and blistered his horse on both sides with carbolic acid, from the hips to the hock. Then they visited Mr. Hollingshead's stable and treated his colt similarly. A visit was next made to Mr. Thomas White's stable, where they varied their fiendishness by cutting off his cow's tail. Mr. Simpson's, the carriage maker, was the next place visited, and here they blistered his horse in the same manner that the other horses were blistered.

THE STAPLE CEREAL.

The World's Shipments Immense—Further Declines—Decrease in Both English and American Visible—Prices.

Monday Evening, June 6.

The decline in wheat continued to-day on both sides of the Atlantic. The statistical news for the week was mostly bearish in character. Russia, India and the Danube combined exported sufficient to meet Western Europe's requirements for the week, while the amount of wheat and flour afloat for the United Kingdom and the Continent is unusually large. There is a decrease in both the American and the English visible supply since a week ago, but this was offset by further excellent growing crop reports. On the Chicago market to-day May wheat closed 4c, July 4½c, September 2⅝c and December 2⅝c per bushel below Saturday's last figures. Other American markets retrograded in sympathy, and at Toronto, Ontario red sold down to 94c, middle freights.

At Liverpool, the July delivery to-day declined 5d, September 3d and December 2¾d per cental. At Paris, wheat closed 3 to 40 centimes lower for the day, with flour down 40 centimes to 1f 25c. Antwerp wheat fell 25c to 50c.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 1,085,000 bushels; that of corn has increased 1,044,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 672,000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 60,467,000 bushels, against 60,272,000 bushels a week ago and 43,910,000 bushels a year ago.

ORILLIA STABBING CASE.

Young Ord Is Now in a Very Critical Condition.

Orillia, Ont., June 6.—The ante-mortem statement of William Henry Ord (or Lawrence) was taken by Police Magistrate Lafferty of Orillia, in the presence of the accused, Joseph Ord, who is an old man of 86, and of Mr. McCosh, his solicitor.

It appears there has been a good deal of quarrelling between the accused and young Ord, who is his stepson. The farm where the stabbing took place in North Orillia was bought by the old man and put in his wife's name, who some time ago made it over to her son, young Ord. On the day of the stabbing, young Ord had a neighbor in to help plant some potatoes. The old man claimed them as his and got in a rage over it and followed the young man when he went to the barn. There they had a scuffle, the younger throwing the elder down and dragging him along on the ground for some distance, and telling him to go home and keep quiet. The elder man followed him back again to the barn, where they had another encounter at the door, during which old Ord plunged his clasp knife into the other's abdomen. To-day Joseph Ord was sent to Barrie by the magistrate.

The young man is in a very precarious condition. Old Ord had threatened to use a knife on the other on several occasions. The lad's mother and a neighbor, Jones, witnessed the affair.

If you are not feeling well, why don't you take Hood's Sarsaparilla? It will purify and enrich your blood and do you wonderful good.

The wolf of starvation howls at the doors of thousands of men who are well to do and surrounded by plenty. Ill-health, in the majority of cases, is starvation, pure and simple. It means that body, brain, nerve, bone and sinew are improperly or insufficiently nourished. Improper, insufficient nourishment is starvation.

When a man's head aches it is because the tissues of the brain do not receive sufficient nourishment from the blood, or receive impure and unhealthy nourishment. When a man gets nervous and sleepless, it means that the blood is not properly nourishing the nerves. When his skin breaks out with blotches and pimples and eruptions, it means that the skin is being fed upon the impurities of the blood. Almost every known disease is primarily due to improper nourishment through the blood, which is the life-stream. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the greatest of all blood-makers and purifiers. It gives edge to the appetite, corrects all disorders of the digestion, makes the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food perfect, invigorates the liver, promotes secretion and excretion, and vitalizes the whole body. It makes firm, muscular flesh, but does not make corpulent people more corpulent. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and kindred affections, which, if neglected, lead up to consumption. It is the best of all nerve tonics and restoratives. Kept by all medicine dealers.

"I was taken ill in February, 1892, with headache and pain in my back," writes H. Gaddis, Esq., of 313 South J Street, Tacoma, Wash. "I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious but I kept getting worse; I took a cough so that I could not sleep, only by being propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me, and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it made me sound and well. It saved my life."

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectively as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe.

THE CHILD SPY.

Every one knew Pere Stenne and loved him too. And how Stenne loved his little boy! When the siege of Paris came, there was no school, and the child was permitted to play at games with other children.

One day as little Stenne was stooping down to pick up a piece of money which had rolled under his feet a big fellow said in a low tone:

"That makes you squint, hey? Well, if you want me to, I will tell you where to get plenty of them."

The offer was accepted, and, leading Stenne aside, he asked the boy to go with him to sell French newspapers to the Prussians, adding that they could make 20 francs a trip. Stenne indignantly refused, and for three days he remained away from the place. Three dreadful days! He could neither eat nor sleep. At night he seemed to see the pile of galoches at the foot of his bed, and the 100 sous pieces gleaming in the faint light. The temptation proved too strong. The fourth day he returned to the gaming place, saw the big fellow and agreed to go with him.

They set out one snowy morning with sacks on their shoulders, and the papers hidden under their jackets. When they reached the Flanders gate, it was scarcely daylight. The large boy took little Stenne's hand and, approaching the guard, who had a red nose and a kindly manner, he said in a whining tone: "Please let us pass, kind sir. Our mother is sick and our father is dead. We are going to see if we can find some potatoes in the field outside."

He even shed tears. Stenne, much ashamed, hung his head. The sentinel looked at them a moment, then, glancing at the dreary, white road, he said, "Pass on quickly," and there they were on the way to Aubervilliers. How the big fellow laughed!

Confusedly as in a dream little Stenne saw the factories transformed into barracks, the tall chimneys, piercing the fog, partially broken off. From time to time they came upon sentinels, officers who were scouring the horizon with field-glasses and little tents wet with snow, standing before dying fires. The large boy knew the way and went across the fields, being careful to avoid the military outposts. Notwithstanding his precautions, they suddenly came upon a squad of riflemen. The troops were partly hidden in a ditch which bordered the Soissons railroad. This time they were not allowed to pass so readily, though the large boy told his story in the most pathetic manner. While he was weeping an old white haired sergeant came out of one of the little tents and said:

"Don't cry, little fellow. We will let you go to hunt for your potatoes. But come in first and warm yourselves a bit. The little one looks frozen."

Alas, it was not the cold that made little Stenne shiver so; it was fear and shame. Inside the tent they found soldiers huddled together around a little fire, baking biscuits on the points of their bayonets. They made room for the children and gave them a drop of their warm coffee. While they were drinking it an officer appeared at the door, called the sergeant and after a few words with him in a low tone went quickly away.

"Boys," said the sergeant on re-entering, "there will be fun tonight. We have found out the Prussian countersign. I believe at last we are to capture that cursed Bourget!"

Then followed an explosion of bravos and shouts. The soldiers danced and flourished their bayonets. Taking advantage of the tumult, the boys slipped away. On leaving the trench they saw before them a plain, bordered one side by a long white wall, defaced by bullets. It was toward this that they directed their footsteps, stopping often, as if picking up potatoes.

"Let us go back when we get to the wall," said Stenne.

The other boy only shrugged his shoulders and went steadily forward. All at once they heard a click and saw a gun pointed at them.

"Crouch down!" whispered the large boy, throwing himself on the ground.

Once down, he whistled. Another whistle answered. They then rose and went up to the fortification. Over the wall they saw two yellow mustaches under dirty military caps. The large boy jumped down beside the Prussian.

"This is my brother," he said, pointing to his companion. Stenne was so little that on seeing him the Prussian began to laugh, and he was obliged to take him by the arm to help him over the rampart.

Behind the wall were earthworks, fallen trees and great black ditches. In each ditch were the same yellow mustaches, which laughed as the little fellows went past. In one corner was a house protected by trunks of trees. The lower story was filled with soldiers playing cards, while soup was cooking over a roaring fire. How good it smelled, and what a contrast to the camp of the French riflemen! In the upper story were the officers. They had champagne to drink and a piano to play on.

When the little Parisians entered, they were greeted with shouts of joy. They delivered their papers to the enemy. They were given wine to drink, that their tongues might be loosened. The large boy amused them by his odd language and his low wit. They laughed boisterously, repeating his expressions, fairly rolling in the Parisian mire that was thus brought to them.

Little Stenne would have liked to talk, too, to show that he was not stupid, but something seemed to choke him. In front of him, standing apart from the others, was an old Prussian who seemed to be trying to read his thoughts, as the soldier's eyes never left his face. There were tenderness and reproach in the gaze, as if the man had a boy about Stenne's age, and as if he would have said:

"I would rather die than see my son in such business!"

The poor boy felt as if a hand clutched his heart so that it would no longer beat. To escape from his torture, he drank a great deal of wine. Soon everything seemed to be going round and round. In the distance he heard his companion ridiculing the national guard, mimicking their drill and going through other drollery. At last the boy lowered his voice, the officers clustered around him, and their faces became serious. The wretch was about to forewarn them of the attack to be made that night. Stenne suddenly realized what was going on and called out:

"Not that! Not that!"

The large boy replied with a loud laugh and went on. Before he had finished all the officers were on their feet. One of them showed the door to the boys and exclaimed:

"Leave at once!"

Then they began talking rapidly among themselves in German, while the large boy walked out as proudly as a Dode, jingling his money in his pockets. Stenne followed with bent head, and as he passed the old Prussian whose glance had hurt him so he heard a sad voice say: "A bad business, this. A bad business!"

Once outside, the boys began to run to get back as soon as possible. Their sacks were filled with potatoes which the Prussians had given them. They passed the French post without being molested. There everything was being got in readiness for the night attack. Troops arrived silently and massed themselves behind the bank. How happy the old sergeant seemed as he placed his men! When the boys passed, he recognized them and smiled kindly at them.

Oh, how that smile hurt little Stenne! He wanted to cry out:

"Don't go down there! You have been betrayed."

The older boy had said to him, "If you tell, we will be shot." So he was afraid. On reaching the city they went into a deserted house to divide their money. This was honestly done, and when little Stenne heard his goldpieces rattling in his blouse and thought of the games and galoches in store for him his crime did not seem so very serious.

But when he was alone, poor child, when the large boy had left him outside his door, then his pockets began to feel heavy, and the hand which held his heart tightened its grasp. Paris no longer seemed the same place. People passing looked hard at him, as if they knew where he had been. He heard the word "spy" in the noises of the street, in the beating of the drums along the canal. He entered the house and was glad that his father had not yet returned. He went at once to his room and hid the crowns which were so heavy under his pillow.

His father had never seemed so kind and so cheerful as on this particular evening.

Encouraging news from the provinces had been received. Things looked brighter. While eating his supper the old soldier looked at his gun hanging on the wall and said to Stenne, with his honest laugh, "Hey, my boy, how you would fight the Prussians if you were only big enough!"

About 8 o'clock they were startled by the sound of a cannon. "That is at Aubervilliers! They are fighting at Bourget!" said the good man, who knew the names of all the forts. Little Stenne grew pale, and, pretending to be tired, went to bed, but not to sleep. The cannonade continued. The boy pictured to himself the French soldiers going at night to surprise the Prussians and falling into an ambuscade. He thought of the sergeant who had smiled upon him and saw him stretched out dead in the snow, and many, many others with him. The price of all this blood was hidden there under his pillow, and it was he, the son of a soldier, who—He stifled his sobs. He heard his father walking about in the next room and at last open a window. Down below in the square the call to arms was sounded, and a regiment was forming to march to the scene of the firing. It was a battle, then. The miserable boy could no longer restrain his sobs.

"What is the matter?" asked Pere Stenne, going into the room. The child slid out of bed and threw himself at his father's feet. At the motion the crowns rolled out on the floor.

"What is this? Have you been stealing?" said the old man in a trembling voice.

Then in a breath little Stenne told him that he had been to the Prussian camp, and that they had given him the money. As he talked his heart grew lighter, and he felt comforted. His father listened with an expression of terror. When the boy had finished, the old man hid his face in his hands and wept aloud.

"Father! Father!" exclaimed the child.

The old man pushed the boy aside and picked up the gold.

"Is this all?" he asked.

Little Stenne nodded his head. His father then took down his gun, and, putting the money in his pocket, said:

"I am going to return it to the givers."

Without another word, without even a look behind, he went out and joined the troops who were marching past. He was never seen again!—Alphonse Daudet.

Earliest Japanese Sculpture.

Professor Ernest F. Fenollosa contributes to The Century "An Outline of Japanese Art," with unique and unpublished examples. Professor Fenollosa says:

By the year 600 of our era not only had the Japanese empress Suiko become the devoted patron of Buddhism, but Shotoku, the imperial prince, himself a priest, was expounding the new religion at court and sending to Korea for architects, bronze casters, weavers and scholars, with whose help he designed to erect and maintain Japan's first great monastery, Horiuji. Still in existence, it is her finest art museum today, though few parts of its architecture date further back than the end of the seventh century. Japanese artists were associated with their Korean teachers in this work of years, and the temple's bronze altar piece, a trinity of small statues on the Korean model, is said to have been designed and cast by Japan's first professional sculptor, Tori.

But the first great original Japanese statue was carved, nearly life size, out of hard, dark wood, by Prince Shotoku himself. It represents the Spirit of Providence, seated in thoughtful attitude. Severe and unornamented, without losing Chinese dignity, it adds to Korean spirituality a more human proportion and a more human charm of naive sweetness. Nude from the waist up, its abstract beauty disdains without offense all suggestion of muscular detail, and, though it is almost clumsy in parts, its presence at the nunnery Chuguji is so powerful as almost to compel the obeisance of the beholder.

A RELIABLE OFFER.

Honest Help Free to Men.

The (Peterborough Examiner) is authorized to state by Mr. D. Graham, Box 133, Hagersville, Ont., that any man who is nervous and debilitated or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from overwork, excesses or abuse, such as nervous debility, exhausted vitality, lost vigor, unnatural drains and losses, lack of development, etc., can write to him in strict confidence and receive free of charge full instructions how to be thoroughly cured.

Mr. Graham himself was for a long time a sufferer from above troubles and after trying in vain many advertised remedies, electric belts, etc., became almost entirely discouraged and hopeless. Finally he confided in an old clergyman, whose kind and honest advice enabled him to speedily obtain a perfect and permanent cure. Knowing to his own sorrow, that so many poor sufferers are being imposed upon by unscrupulous quacks, Mr. Graham considers it his duty as an honest man and a firm believer in Christian sympathy and kindness, to give his fellow-men the benefit of his experience and assist them to a cure. Having nothing to sell, he asks for no money, the proud satisfaction of having done a great service to one in need, he rightly considers an ample reward for his trouble. If you write to Mr. Graham you can rely upon being cured and upon absolute secrecy as well.

Address as above, enclosing a stamp, and refer to the (PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER). No attention, however, will be given to those writing out of mere curiosity, therefore state that you really need a cure.

Arithmetic and Medicine.

It is an honest quackery that confesses its own blunders, still ignorant that they are nothing worse.

A whaling skipper, in the old days, carried a medicine chest and a table of directions. One of the rules ran, "For sore throat with fever, give a tablespoonful of No. 15."

"Well, it so happened," explained the captain, "that No. 15 was all used up, so I gave the man a dessertspoonful of No. 5 and another of No. 10, and I don't think the chap that drew up the table could have been good at figures; or else, what's just as likely, the medicines were all shams. Either way, it was hard on poor Bill. He died in half an hour, with a dreadful pain in his inside."—Exchange.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? IN DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

CANADA LIFE
Assurance Company.

ANOTHER PROSPEROUS YEAR.

Large Increase in Surplus.

The fifty-first annual report of the Canada Life shows this old established Company to be in a most flourishing condition. The annual meeting was held yesterday. Following is a synopsis of the report:—

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

In presenting to the Shareholders their 51st Annual Report, the Directors are gratified in announcing that the Company has fairly shared in the somewhat improved condition of the business of the country, as will be seen by the Statements and Accounts now submitted. By these it will be observed that the Company has transacted a larger business than during the previous year, and has increased its clear surplus by no less than $497,093.05.

NEW BUSINESS.

The applications for new assurances during 1897 numbered 3,066, for the sum of $6,185,996, of which, however, 266 for $521,000 were declined, the lives not appearing up to that standard which it is in the interest of the company's other assurers should be maintained, and as 191 applications for $373,360 were not carried out, the issue of the year was for $5,291,636, under 2,609 policies, exceeding 1896 by 573 policies for $798,980.

The total business in force at the close of 1897 was $72,719,555 29 of Assurances, under 33,407 policies, upon 24,469 lives.

POLICY CLAIMS.

The claims by deaths paid during 1897 amounted to $770,168 45, and Endowment policies for $128,646.92, having matured, these sums, as well as $218,481.29 for profits, $145,411.18 for surrenders, and an annuity of $400, making in all $1,263,307.84, were paid to policyholders during the year.

INCREASE IN ASSETS.

The Income receipts of the year were $2,953,272.83, and deducting therefrom all payments to policy-holders for claims by death, for profits, and for matured Endowment policies, as well as other outlay, including expenses of management, there was left the sum of $1,272,486.05, which increased the Company's Assets to $18,678,915.67.

SURPLUS.

As appears by the Abstract of Assets and Liabilities, after providing fully for the necessary reserve for all policies of the Company, and for all its other Liabilities, there is shown a Surplus of $1,564,082 05.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:

The Directors' Report and the usual accounts and statements have for some days been in your hands, and have now been taken as read. While the report is brief, it contains, I think, along with the various published accounts, all that is required to enable those interested in the Company to judge of its progress and success in the past year. The addition during 1897 of nearly half a million dollars to the surplus or profits fund is a large and satisfactory one, and without invidiously comparing it with the figures of any other particular Company. I may say that it is more than was attained by all the other Canadian companies combined. The new business of the year was, you will observe, of satisfactory and gratifying amount, and in excess of the previous year, and you will be pleased to know that it is of that desirable class which will result more to the profit of the Company than would a larger amount obtained at heavier expense, or from less desirable regions than the healthful climate of Canada, and the four Northern States to which we have thus far deemed it judicious to confine the operations of the Company. The existing assurances are $72,719,555 or nearly twice as much as they were 12 years ago. The death claims of the year continued of very favourable amount, and being well within what was calculated upon, that fact testifies to the care observed in the selection of the lives, and to the judicious limitation of the business to the healthful climates already alluded to.

The recent lamentable failures of some of the companies doing business on the assessment system, and the anxiety felt as to the others which are based upon the same fallacious principles lead me to point out that these occurrences are only the inevitable results, which were from the first predicted by those whose knowledge and experience enabled them to judge of what the future of companies of the kind must be. At our meeting in 1887, when concerns of the kind were making strenuous efforts to establish themselves in Canada, I alluded to the miserable failures they had been in England and in America, and I said that their "ephemeral existence indicates how useless the assessment system of assurance is as a family provision. It can only offer the uncertain hope of a cheap assurance for a few years, till the company breaks down. It cannot afford any guarantee that a definite amount of assurance will certainly be paid to a widow or children after an assurer's death, whether that occurs at an early day or a distant one, and without such a guarantee as that, which our own and other sound companies offer, life assurance must be a fraud and a delusion." I added that "I was aware that agents and managers of companies of the kind pointed to the names of prominent business and professional men who have joined them, or who act as their directors, but as some of them at all events allow their names to be employed in that way, simply because policies have been gratuitously given to them, one can judge how little weight should attach to the names of the gentlemen thus used to decoy others to join such companies" One cannot envy the feelings of the prominent gentlemen alluded to, who induced persons to take policies in companies of the kind, from which they are now driven out by their failure, or by the levy of such high payments as they are unable to meet.

As the accounts show, the year's income was within a trifle of three million dollars, and the assets of the company were increased to the very considerable amount of nearly nineteen million dollars, and yielding, after deducting liabilities of every kind, a net surplus or profit of $1,564,082 for allocation at the end of next year, along with whatever addition there may be made to it between now and that time, and as the management and other expenses by which the profits to policy-holders are very largely influenced continue to be on a more moderate percentage than that of other Canadian or American companies, the prospects for our assurers are of a favourable character.

It is anticipated that legislation will be introduced by the Government, modifying the present 4½ per cent. rate of interest prescribed by law as the basis for Life Assurance Reserves, and adopting the new mortality Tables based upon the observations and large experience of the British Insurance Companies, in course of compilation by the Institute of Actuaries of Great Britain, and I may say on behalf of the Board in reference to the amendment to the charter, alluded to in the Directors report of last year, that the Directors purpose to avail themselves of the occasion of that legislation to seek such amendments to the law as may meet the Board's requirements.

The motion was seconded by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, and unanimously carried. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the company, Mr. Adam Brown speaking in eloquent terms of their services rendered to the Company.

Mr. Leggat moved and Lieut.-Col. McLaren seconded a hearty vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the past year. Brief and interesting addresses were also made by Sir George Kirkpatrick and Sir George Burton, the latter of whom was heartily congratulated upon the recent honour conferred upon him by the Queen.

The retiring Directors, Chief Justice Sir George Burton, Col. Sir Casimer Gzowski, K.C.M.G., and Mr. N. Merritt, were re-elected. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay was re-elected President and Mr. F. W. Gates Vice-President.

The meeting passed off very harmoniously, every one present being gratified with the progress and continued prosperity of the Canada Life, which, as Sir George Kirkpatrick remarked, was easily leader of all Companies in the Dominion.

THE DEAF HEAR.

DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE

Working Wonders in Toronto.

Gave MRS. BINDON her hearing when Specialists failed.

About 3 years ago, Mrs. Bindon, of 11 Maitland St., Toronto, was attacked with la Grippe, which affected her hearing to such an extent that she was completely deaf. It was a serious affliction and she tried many remedies and consulted a prominent specialist on ear diseases, but derived no benefit. By a happy circumstance she was led to use Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, and before she had completed 3 boxes her hearing had partially returned.

She persisted in the application of the remedy, so confident was she of ultimate cure, and by the time 12 boxes had been used her hearing was completely restored. For 3 months now she has been free from deafness, and no emancipated sufferer was ever more delighted than Mrs. Bindon. On Sunday she goes to church and enjoys the service, a thing she was unable to do before Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure gave her back her hearing.

PETERBOROUGH - - - TORONTO.

THE POPULAR VOICE SHALL PRONOUNCE.

Councillor Robertson objected to the proposed change, stating that as the councillors were not paid there would be no benefit from reducing the representation. He quoted from the Review that the personnel of the council would be improved by the change and took that to mean that no workman need apply. Under the proposed system the council would all be elected from No. 2 Ward where all the bloods live. He was not afraid of not being elected under the new system, as he did not intend running for the council again. He contended that the proper time to take the vote would be in January. He insinuated that there was something behind it all which he supposed would come out later on. He thought the ward system was the best, giving better satisfaction.

Councillor Dawson stated that anyone he met on the street was opposed to the bylaw. He was not afraid of being defeated by any new system as he was out of municipal politics from the close of this year.

Councillor Denne—"That being the case you should not be afraid to let the people vote on it."

Councillor Meldrum stated that he believed Mr. Dawson had intended this year to retire. He had got his property drained at the town's expense and a sidewalk placed around his own home. Some of the ratepayers had said he was going to retire. However, the bylaw should be carried by the ratepayers. It would abolish the log rolling system of the wards. The change would give to the workingmen and the ratepayers generally of having a voice in the election, not of three, but of ten. The council were merely the directors of the corporation for the ratepayers and each ratepayer should have a voice in the election of the whole Board of Directors.

Clear as a crystal and delightful in its invigorating and aromatic odor is the coffee that comes to you in pound and two-pound tin cans from the famous tea and coffee importers, of Boston, its purity and its strength being guaranteed by their seal.

Chase & Sanborn

Its supreme merit has been proved and is acknowledged by thousands of the most fastidious coffee consumers throughout the land. Grocers everywhere sell it.

At present no matter how much a man worked in the interests of the town, generally, if he neglected some trifling matter in his own ward, as if he refused to saddle the town with additional expense in his ward which in rejecting for his own ward saved the town large sums for other wards, he was defeated in his own ward, whilst his course of action was in the interest of the general ratepayers. Ward favouritism by ward cranks would be abolished, and the freedom of the councillor would be enlarged in the general interest.

Councillor Best asked Mr. Stratton, who was in the room, who had introduced the legislation.

Mr. Stratton—"A private member!"

Councillor Best—"Under what conditions was it brought in?"

Mr. Stratton—"Representations were made to the House on various occasions that the people were ripe for a measure of this kind. It was introduced, received the approval of the government and was adopted."

Councillor Dawson said: "With regard to Mr. Meldrum's insinuations, he had never been afraid to face the people. He had never declined to run for fear he would be defeated. Councillor Meldrum would not be sitting in the council had he not opened his purse strings."

Councillor Meldrum—"The statement that my election is due to my purse strings is absolutely false." He had never put a cent in an election in his life, and he challenged Councillor Dawson to back up the charge. He stated that any man who occupied the chairmanship of an important public committee, and who used his position to build a drain for his own benefit and a sidewalk around his house at the expense of the corporation, when others cannot get a plank, is a disgrace to the position he occupies.

Chairman White called the members to order, when the bylaw was adopted on the following division:

For the six months hoist—Messrs. Dawson, Cobb, Robertson, W. H. White.—4.

For submitting the bylaw—Messrs. Davis, Langford, Meldrum, McWilliams, Hamilton, Allen, Denne, Best.—8.

The vote upon this question will consequently be submitted to the ratepayers on June 29th, at the same time as the bylaws to raise money to defray the cost of building bridges and purchasing a steam roller.

MORE SEWER WORK.

A petition brought in by Councillors Meldrum and McWilliams, asking for the construction of a sewer east of Water street on McDonel street, was referred to the Sewerage Committee, with authority to call for tenders for the work.

Moved by Councillors J. M. White and McWilliams that the town is willing that the town clerk act as secretary of the Trent Valley Association, it being understood that the time given to the work of the association shall not interfere with the performance of the duties of clerk.—Carried.

A number of repairs to the streets were mentioned by different councillors and referred to Street and Bridge Committee. Rubidge street is in need of watering from Dalhousie street to Townsend, and this matter is also referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

The Water Co. will be notified to put in the stand pipe ordered for the north ward at once.

LACROSSE.

A well attended practice of the lacrosse club was held last evening, and a new player from Ottawa turned up in the person of Billy Hogarth, formerly of the home field of the Metropolitans, which team is now amalgamated with the Capitals. Hogarth will probably spend the summer in town, as will also Mooney of Ottawa, who for several years played inside home for the Young Caps. If the men are as fast as reported they will strengthen the Peterboroughs considerably if they definitely decide on remaining in town. Both intend taking a course at the Business College.

MEMORANDA OF THE WHEELMEN'S MEET.

PROSPECTS OF A BIG GATHERING OF CYCLISTS ON JULY 1ST AND 2ND.

Local Wheelmen are Busy With the Completion of Arrangements—Certainty of a Large Attendance of Visitors—The Wanderers Have Wheeled into Line—Details of Arrangements.

Last night a well attended meeting of the sub-committees having in hand the arrangement of details for the C. W. A. Meet here on July 1st and 2nd, was held in the Victoria Club rooms.

For the Reception Committee Mr. A. H Stratton reported a strong membership and satisfactory progress. Of course the functions of the Reception Committee are expressed by its name—to welcome visitors, to give them every attention and the enjoyment of the most cordial hospitality. This feature will be well looked after and the first impressions of our Meet guests will, in this respect at least, be good ones.

Mr. J. S. Knapman, for the Parade Committee, reported a good membership and considerable progress. It is on the books that the local wheel organizations will co-operate heartily. These include the Canadian General Electric Wheelmen who, it is expected, will turn out in club uniforms with finely decorated wheels, and other distinct bodies, such as the grocers and the drygoods clerks, and the employees of the several manufacturing establishments. The Colts Athletic Club, under the drilling of Sergt.-Major Rundle, will add a striking feature to the parade with their complicated and effective wheel drill en route, and their special exhibition on the market square. The Ladies' Clubs are also expected to join the parade giving it the touch of beauty and grace that their presence alone can give. It is proposed to form the line of parade at East Nicholls Park so that the route will include a large portion of the principal streets. Of coure the visiting wheelmen will join in the parade, but it is not to be expected that they will be prepared to decorate their wheels, etc. The committee has decided to donate for competition a silk banner of the value of $15—to the organization making the most effective display in the parade.

The Riders' Committee, Mr. M. S. Walker, chairman, will look after the interests of the contesting wheelmen.

The Decoration Committee has things well under way in their department also.

The prospects of a splendid attendance are good. The secretary is constantly in receipt of letters asking him to secure accommodations for 25 members, and special accommodation for eight or ten competing riders. The Waterloos want arrangements made for a trip on the boats, and in a score of other ways letters indicate the great interest taken by outside wheelmen in the Meet.

Reports and paragraphs in the Toronto papers, notwithstanding, the Wanderers, of Toronto, will be at the Meet as large as life. The secretary has received letters from President Sharkey and Secretary Norman, stating explicitly that in spite of reports to the contrary, the Wanderers will be at the Meet and make the best showing they have ever made on any similar occasion, and will make a go for the prizes on the race track. They will give the first day to the meet, and the second day they will join with other clubs in excursions to Jubilee and to Stony Lake. The City of Peterborough has been engaged and the local committees will arrange for Stony Lake steamers.

The race entries are coming in strong, and it is certain that there will be most exciting speeding contests on the track. The flyers, such as Harley Davidson, Westbrook, Axton, etc., will be on hand, and on Peterborough's fine track we may reasonably expect a curtailment of records.

Everything promises well for the Meet. The local managers are not letting any grass grow under their feet, and every mail brings intelligence of active and interested co-operation on the part of outsiders from all parts of the Province.

Idealism and Realism.

"What do you think, my dear?" exclaimed Mr. Brownjones in tones of joyful excitement. "You know the Federation of Authors is meeting in our city. Well, we are to have the honor of entertaining the celebrated novelist Godolphin Whatnot as our guest."

"Um," responded Mrs. Brownjones enigmatically. "Is Mr. Whatnot a realist or an idealist?"

"Why do you want to know?" asked Brownjones, surprised.

"Well, if he is an idealist I can just leave things as they are, but if he is a realist I must give the house a thorough cleaning from top to bottom. I may not be literary, but I've dipped into realistic novels, and I know their style: 'The right hand curtain hung slightly askew, suggesting that one of the drapery pins had lost its grip. A pendulous cobweb waved mournfully from the cornice just above the door leading into the hall, and there was a fine bloom of dust, like that of the purple grape, on the piano lid. In the left hand corner of the room, almost buried in the pile of somewhat faded carpet, was an invisible hairpin, clearly indicating the recent presence of a woman in the apartment.' Find out right away, Barrington, what Mr. Whatnot is, and then I shall know how to proceed. I have no desire to let my house afford material to a realistic observation sharp."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

INEFFECTIVE SPANISH FIRE.

The Results of the Engagement—The Insurgent Troops Attack Santiago by Land—The Result Still Unstated—The Spanish Loss in Men and Material—Bombardment Details.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 8.—It appears from the best information obtainable at this place, the cable station connecting with Santiago de Cuba, that immense damage was inflicted on the enemy. The Spaniards admit that the bombardment from the American fleet was most destructive. About 1,600 projectiles are said to have been fired by the American warships and it seems that the responsive fire from the Spanish forts and ships was scarcely felt at all by the Americans.

Effects of the Bombardment.

The fortifications near the entrance of the harbor are described as being riddled with solid shot and shattered by the explosion of the immense shells fired by the American battleships. The Spanish batteries are understood to have been virtually silenced and El Morro and the fortifications at Zocapa and Punta Gorda are reported to have been demolished by the three hours uninterrupted hammering of the American fleet.

Movement on Aguadores.

The American attack is next said to have been specially directed against Aguadores, a small coast town a little to the east of the entrance of Santiago Bay. The idea of the American Admiral, it appears, was to land troops and seize the guns there, after reducing the defences of the place, and thence make a determined and more close assault upon Santiago de Cuba, which, in view of the present condition of its fortifications, may be expected to yield very soon after the beginning of such an attack.

It is also understood here that the Cuban troops maintained throughout the greater part of yesterday an attack by land on Santiago de Cuba and the Spanish reports say the garrison lost heavily in killed and wounded.

Spanish Loss Admitted.

The military commander of Santiago de Cuba acknowledges the following casualties among the land forces: Colonel Ordonez, Captain Sanchez, Lieut. Yrizar of the artillery at Perez and Garcia, both Spanish officers. Their rank is not mentioned, however.

The Spaniards also admit the loss of 21 infantry soldiers severely wounded and say one soldier was killed. It is believed that the losses of the Spaniards were much heavier.

In the naval force the Spaniards say that the officer who was second in command of the partly dismantled Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes and five sailors and an ensign were killed. The Spanish sailors wounded, it is asserted, number 16 men.

The Spanish acknowledge that a great deal of damage was inflicted on the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes and they say Morro Castle shows great gaping breaches in its wall.

American Troops Engaged.

Later in the day, it appears the landing of American troops was effected near Daiquiri, some distance east of Aguadores and near the railroad station connecting with Santiago de Cuba. Later an engagement took place between the American force and a column of Spanish troops, which had been sent against the landing party. The accounts of the battle obtainable here being from Spanish sources, do not set forth the result. There, it is to be inferred that the Americans were victorious and that is the belief which prevails here.

Finally there is a report current at Cape Haytien that the first-class armored Spanish cruiser Maria Teresa was sunk yesterday by the fire of the American ships.

It is said that only 500 American troops were landed at Daiquiri, or possibly at Aguadores, the two places being mixed up in the reports received here. But it seems to be admitted that the fire of the American soldiers was so effective that the Spaniards were compelled to flee from the fortifications they were defending.

BOMBARDMENT OF SANTIAGO.

Detailed Description of the Engagement Which Took Place on Monday.

On Board the Associated Press boat Dandy, off Santiago de Cuba, Monday noon, via Kingston, Jamaica, Tuesday, June 7.—The American fleet this morning engaged the Spanish battery defending the entrance of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, and, after a three hours' bombardment, silenced nearly all the forts, destroying several earthworks and rendered the Estrella and Cayo batteries, the two principal fortifications, useless.

The fleet formed in double column, six miles off Morro Castle, at 6 o'clock in the morning, and steamed slowly 3,000 yards off shore, the Brooklyn leading, followed by the Marblehead, Texas and Massachusetts, and turned westward. The second line, the New York leading, with the New Orleans, Yankee, Iowa and Oregon, turned eastward. The Vixen and Suawance were far out in the left flank, watching the riflemen on shore. The Dolphin and Porter did similar duty on the right flank.

The line headed by the New York attacked the new earthworks, near Morro Castle. The Brooklyn column took up a station opposite the Estrella and Cataline batteries and the new earthworks along the shore. The Spanish batteries remained silent. It is doubtful whether the Spaniards were able to determine the character of the movement, owing to the dense fog and heavy rain, which were the weather features this morning.

The Signal Shot.

Suddenly the Iowa fired a 12-inch shell, which struck the base of the Estrella battery and tore up the works. Instantly firing began from both Rear-Admiral Sampson's and Commodore Schley's columns, and a torrent of shells from the ships fell upon the Spanish works. The Spaniards replied promptly, but their artillery work was of a very poor quality, and most of their shots were wide. Smoke settled around the ships in dense clouds, rendering accurate aiming difficult. There was no manoeuvring, the ships remaining at their original stations and firing steadily. The squadrons were so close in shore that it was difficult for the American gunners to reach the batteries on the hilltops, but their firing was excellent. Previous to the bombardment orders were issued to prevent firing on Morro Castle, as the American Admiral had been informed that Lieut. Hobson and the other prisoners of the Merrimac were confined there. In spite of this, however, several stray shots damaged Morro Castle somewhat.

Commodore Schley's Line.

Commodore Schley's line moved closer in shore, firing at shorter range. The Brooklyn and Texas caused wild havoc among the shore batteries, quickly silencing them. While the larger ships were engaging the heavy batteries, the Suawance and the Vixen closed with the small in-shore batteries opposite them, raining rapid-fire shots upon it, and quickly placing the battery out of the fight. The Brooklyn closed to 800 yards, and then the destruction caused by her guns and those of the Marblehead and Texas was really awful. In a few minutes the woodwork of the Estrella fort was burning, and the battery was silenced, firing no more during the engagement. Eastward the New Orleans silenced the Cayo battery in quick order, and then shelled the earthworks located higher up.

Later on the practice was not so accurate, owing to the elevation of the guns. Many of the shells, however, landed and the Spanish gunners retired.

"Cease Firing" Sounded.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the firing ceased, the warships turning in order to permit the use of their port batteries. The firing then became a long reverbating crash of thunder and the shells raked the Spanish batteries with terrible effect. Fire broke out in the Catalina Fort and silenced the Spanish guns there.

The firing of the fleet continued until 10 o'clock, when the Spanish forts ceased entirely and Rear-Admiral Sampson hoisted the "cease firing" signal.

Generally, the fire of the fleet was very destructive. Many of the earthworks were knocked to pieces and the Estrella and Catalina fortifications were so damaged that it is questionable whether they will ever be able to renew any effective work during the war.

After the fleet retired the Spaniards returned to their guns and sent 12 shells after the fleet, but no one was injured.

One large shell fell close to the collier Justin.

Throughout the engagement no American ship was hit and no American was injured.

If the Spanish stuck to their guns, and all evidence is to the contrary, their loss must have been heavy.

Cervera Officially Heard From.

Madrid, June 8.—Admiral Cervera cables that six American vessels bombarded Santiago and coast fortifications—6 killed, 17 wounded on board the Reina Mercedes; 3 officers killed and 17 wounded among troops. Damage inflicted on batteries La Zocapa and Morro unimportant. Morro barracks damaged. Enemy has "noticeable losses."

Her Majesty's mails were robbed on a stage route between Dorset and Maple Ridge in Muskoka, and $50 abstracted from two registered letters. D. C. Adams has been arrested on a charge of having committed the theft and has been committed for trial at Bracebridge.

Fatal Blow With a Revolver.

Winnipeg, June 8.—A Wardner, B.C., despatch to the Free Press says Edward Bawlf, aged 23, a resident of Winnipeg, died there yesterday from the effects of a blow from the butt end of a revolver on the left temple, given by a half breed named Phillips. Bawlf was a teamster engaged on the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and Phillips was also engaged in the same work. The fatality was the result of a quarrel over a horse. Phillips is in custody. He is a son of Michael Phillips, rancher and stipendiary magistrate at Tobacco Plains, B.C.

THE MANILA END OF IT

Aguinaldo, the Insurgent Leader, Captured 2,000 Spaniards.

THIS HE DID IN FOUR DAYS.

Four Men Who Were in Dewey's Battle of Manila Return and Give Some Additional Interesting Details—Dr. Kindleberger's Graphic Account of the Terrific Fight—Spanish Loss.

San Francisco, Cal., June 8.—Among the passengers who arrived on the Belgic yesterday from Hong-Kong were four men who participated in the fight at Manila on May 1. They are Paymaster G. A. Loud of the despatch boat McCulloch, Dr. Charles P. Kindleberger, surgeon of the Olympia; Ralph Phelps, secretary to the captain of the McCulloch, and J. C. Evans, gunner of the Boston. They left Manila on May 5.

Dr. Kindleberger gives a graphic account of the terrific fight. He was on the Olympia through it all. In the first assault the flagship took the lead, the other vessels following in her wake at four ships' length. The Spanish fleet was approached by laps, each turn bringing the contestants nearer.

During the first fight the Spanish Admiral's ship put bravely out of the line to meet the Olympia. The entire American fleet concentrated fire on her and she was so badly injured that she turned around to put back. At this juncture the Olympia let fly an eight-inch shell, which struck her stern and pierced through almost her entire length, exploding finally in the engine room, wrecking her machinery. This shell killed the captain and 60 men and set the vessel on fire.

In the best of the fight two torpedo boats moved out to attack the fleet. They were allowed to come within 800 yards, when a fusilade from the Olympia sent one to the bottom, with all on board, and riddled the other. The second boat was later found turned up on the beach covered with blood.

In the second fight the Baltimore was sent to silence the fort at Cavite. She plunged into a cloud of smoke and opened all her batteries on the fortifications.

In a very few minutes a shell struck the ammunition and the fort blew up with a deafening roar.

In taking possession of the land forts, several hundred wounded Spaniards fell into the hands of the Americans, and nearly 200 dead were accounted for on the spot.

The Spanish loss footed up 400 killed, 600 wounded and a property loss of anywhere from $6,000,000 to $10,000,000.

CAPTURED 2,000 SPANIARDS.

Aguinaldo's Account of the Heavy Fighting at Manila.

London, June 8.—The Hong-Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says: United States Consul Wildman has received the following letter from Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader in the Philippines:

"Before opening an attack upon any town I summoned the Spanish officers in command to surrender. In one case one of the officers so summoned replied by stating that the garrison was not quite ready to fight, and he asked if I would defer the attack for three hours. I complied. The first engagement we had with the Spanish occurred on May 28, when we captured 19, with their arms and ammunition. Toward evening we hemmed them in. One hundred and ninety Cascadores and seventy loyal natives participated. We lost four killed. The Spaniards lost 10 killed, including one officer. The result of this engagement was that fighting became general throughout the Province of Cavite. After four days' fighting, over 2,000 Spaniards were taken prisoners, including many officers and General Leopoldo Pena, Governor of Cavite, who handed me his sword, revolver and golden belt, and a formal letter of surrender."

HON. JOHN DRYDEN.

The Government Asked by a Strong Non-Partizan Deputation to Retain His Services in the Cabinet.

Toronto, June 8.—A deputation, composed of cattle, swine, horse breeders, fruit and poultry men, in fact, all classes interested in agriculture, waited on the Ontario Cabinet yesterday, to ask that Hon. John Dryden be retained as Minister of Agriculture, owing to his special knowledge and experience in matters pertaining to the office and cognizance with the needs of Ontario agricultural districts.

The Gresham Floated.

Ogdensburg, N.Y., June 8.—The bow portion of the United States revenue cutter Gresham, which sank here after being pontooned after she had been cut in two to permit her being taken through St. Lawrence canals, was raised last night, after being at the bottom of the slip for nearly two weeks. The Gresham will probably leave here in two sections at the end of the present week.

British Trade Returns.

London, June 8.—The Board of Trade returns for May show an increase in the imports of £1,860,000, and a decrease in the exports of £1,430,800.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required. In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely cures when other medicines fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

TOWN COUNCIL REFORM.

That the members of the town council acted wisely on Monday night in deciding to submit a bylaw to reduce the number of councillors to nine, and to elect councillors by the vote of the people, was wise in two senses. It permits the decision of the proposition by the parties altogether interested, the people, and at the same time indicates a step in the right direction. The people are concerned because the proposal puts them in a new position in relation to their civic representatives. Heretofore each elector has had only three votes for councillor. Now, every elector will have nine votes, that is he or she will have a voice in electing the entire council. This will give the voter a higher sense of responsibility because, his vote is a factor in deciding the character of the council that will transact the public business. Under the previous system there was room for feeling, on the part of the elector, that the three councillors he voted for did not determine the character of the council—he could exercise some personal preference in cases where his judgment might not justify his choice on the ground of the special abilities of the candidate he supported. Under the new system he will feel that he has less liberty of action in this respect, that he is helping select the whole council and his choice will be made more in view of the special fitness of the candidate for a position on the council board. At the same time the candidate will feel a larger responsibility, and feel that he occupies a new relation, that he must take a broader view of public matters, that he is called to legislate with a view to the general good of the town instead of a section. He will feel more independent, for if he does his duty by the town at large he will not be at the mercy of the vote of any particular ward. He will not be in a position to favour any particular section of the town at the expense of another, for he will have to reckon, not with the voters of a certain ward, but he will have to render an account of his stewardship to the whole body of electors. Thus, under the new system both electors and elected will have a larger field and a more important responsibility. In the one case electors will be more careful in their selection of representatives and in the other the councillor will be compelled to deal more prudently with the trust committed to him, for he has a body of electors to please who in the aggregate will not tolerate any general course that is not in the general interest.

It is to be hoped that the electors will take the interest in this matter that its importance to them deserves. A mature consideration of the matter can hardly escape the conclusion that the welfare of the town will be in every way subserved by the numerical reduction of the council, and by the electors being permitted to vote for the whole council.

Old Men and Kidney Disease.

Aged persons troubled with weak back, impaired kidneys, pain in the back and base of abdomen, scalding urine, with a small quantity of water at a time, a tendency to urinate often, especially at night, should use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. You know the Doctor's reputation, you know the value of his work, and that Dr. Chase would not risk his reputation on an unknown and untried remedy. Every druggist in Canada sells and recommends them.

Biliousness.

For the past few years I suffered a great deal from bilious attack but after using two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I consider B. B. B. an invaluable remedy." DANIEL SCHWAHN, Newdale, Man.

WARSAW COMMUNICATION.

The following letter of condolence has been passed to Mrs. Alexander Smith, whose husband recently met a sad and violent death:

To Mrs. Alexander Smith:

DEAR MRS. SMITH—We, the officers and members of Warsaw L. O. L., No. 224, and Schomberg L. T. B. Lodge, No. 46, tender to you our sympathy and heartfelt sorrow, in the sudden bereavement, which, in the Providence of God, you have been called on to endure in the sudden death of your loving and devoted partner in life. We deem it to be unnecessary to remind you that what is your loss has been his gain.

In the sudden summons which our late worthy Master received to leave this world to meet his Saviour, whom he had delighted to serve during his sojourn here, we feel that a strong link in the chain which has bound us together for years in the cause of truth and justice, has been severed, never to be re-linked on earth. Still we trust when the messenger, death, shall call us away we may be prepared to meet the call and like our late worthy Master, able to stare death in the face and exclaim:—O, death where is thy sting; O, grave where is thy victory? Thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ—then, and only then shall the link which bound us together on earth be reunited in heaven, no more to be sundered apart.

As co-workers with our late departed worthy Master we prayerfully desire to commend you and your daughter to the loving care and tender compassion of our Heavenly Father. May He comfort and strengthen you in this hour of deep affliction and sorrow. May He fill your heart with heavenly faith, which will inspire you with the hope of a happy re-union in realms of bliss, where parting shall be unknown, and where sorrow, sighing and death shall no more mar the peace, joy and blessings which God's children enjoy in their heavenly home.

May we, our late Master's co-workers, feel the intensity of his sudden death, so that we may be led "to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom" ever keeping in view the great object of our creation, and the purpose of our probation here—to glorify God on earth, that we may enjoy His presence in Heaven.

Once more we commend you and your daughter to the loving kindness and tender compassion of the dear Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, whom our late worthy Master loved and served. Truly He is the Friend that sticketh closer than a brother, who alone can comfort and strengthen as no other friend can.

LASSWADE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

We are having very hot weather at present. The crops are looking well.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Dingman have just returned from a trip to Campbellford. They report excellent crops. Mrs. Riley Dingman accompanied them. They drove through Cramahe, Myersburg, Morganston and Norham. Mrs. Riley Dingman saw the old homestead of her husband, a brick residence in Cramahe; also the brick school house where he got his schooling. She was greatly taken up with the place. The farther she travelled the more she admired the places. She said with the exception of flowers, Canada was as pretty as California, but as she has been informed that she has not seen scarcely any of the beauties of Canada, she is proud to be the wife of a Canadian.

Mr. W. R. Dingman is moving out to Percy again.

The Chandos cheese factory is doing good work again. Success to you, Bob.

Nathaniel Hawley, Aaron Post and Wilfred Rusaw have gone to the Northwest. They have written back they have employment on the railroad.

There was a picnic at Chandos for the Sunday school scholars on Saturday.

George Carrol has gone to Rochester to spend the summer.

Mr. Edward Youman attended council Saturday last at Belmont.

Daniel Carroll is sending milk to the Chandos factory.

Miss Bell McGinn is stopping with Mrs. T. Bullied at present.

Mrs. Wm. Bullied is very poorly yet we are sorry to hear. She is not able to go out yet. It seems so much worse on account of her husband being absent in the Northwest.

Mrs. C. N. Dingman brought from Campbellford some pure bred Silver Hamburg fowl, a present from her brother, Constable Robinson.

GALWAY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Your correspondent has been requested to forward the following for publication:

I desire to take this opportunity of thanking Mr. M. Boyd's men for the assistance they rendered me when I had the misfortune of getting my leg broken on the 23rd of April last, while engaged in driving logs for the above firm on the Burnt River waters; and, more especially the parties that were present when the accident occurred, who carried me on a stretcher a distance of about nine miles until we reached the railway crossing at Maxwell's, from whence they took me to Kinmount on a hand car, where I remained until next morning, when Mr. Hopkins hitched his horse to a suitable vehicle and drove me to my home, assisted by Mr. F. Dettman and Mr. A. Edger. I especially thank the latter, who went to the trouble of making the stretcher in the woods, placing me upon it and setting my leg with almost the skill of a doctor, which relieved the pain, making it more easy to endure until I reached home.

I also owe a debt of gratitude to my fellow river drivers, who showed their generosity by sending a voluntary contribution to the amount of $24 by their foreman, Mr. Wm. Cresswell, which was supplemented by Mr. M. Boyd by the liberal sum of $26, making a total of $50, which assisted me very much in disbursing my expenses.

Again thanking the parties concerned, and you, Mr. Editor, for space in your columns, I am respectfully, yours,

JOHN MCGEE.

He was Cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills Everything Else Failed.

Toronto, May 30—(By telegraph) With reference to his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Diabetes, Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, Toronto Street Railway motorman No. 624, writes corroborating the report of his cures.

Mr. O'Reilly says: "For three years I suffered horribly, in spite of all the medicines I tried. Not one of them gave the least relief. I endured the torture of scalding pains while urinating, and all the other agonies of Diabetes.

"Finally I was induced to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The first dose did me good and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

HOT ATTACK ON C.P.R.

Assailed for the Treatment of the Crow's Nest Workmen.

GREEDY, CRUEL OPPRESSORS.

Mr. J. Ross Robertson Says It Is Big Enough to Control the Country and Small Enough to Steal the Workers' Pennies—Proceedings in the House.

Ottawa, Ont., June 8.—Although the House of Commons did not adjourn its Monday's session until nearly 3 o'clock yesterday morning, sharp at 11 o'clock it was again busy at work. The attendance was not large, but both leaders, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Foster, were in their places. The routine business did not take ten minutes, after which the Montreal harbor bill was read a third time and passed.

Supply was then proceeded with, and Mr. Tarte had the balance of his items in the supplementaries for 1898 sent through with a rush.

Attacking the C.P.R.

On an item of $6,500 to provide for the expenses of the Crow's Nest Pass Commission, Mr. J. Ross Robertson made a bitter attack on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and exonerated Mr. Haney. He looked on the outrages committed not as accidents but as incidents in a conspiracy to steal the labor of hundreds of men for the Canadian Pacific Railway. Apologists for the company could talk as they liked about Haney and his understrappers, but the real authors of that conspiracy were the rulers of the Canadian Pacific at Montreal. The Government did not deal with Haney, but with Sir William Van Horne and Mr. Vice-President Shaughnessy.

Tyranny, Cruelty, Oppression.

Parliament should insist that these gentlemen and all the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway should accept responsibility for the crimes and outrages that followed their cruel misuse of the country's money. That men were starved, abused and died was not the fault of Haney, but originated in the greed of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Haney had to accept a ready-made system of tyranny, cruelty and oppression. The report showed that the Canadian Pacific Railway proposed to take the labor of human beings at wages that would only pay a man's own way. The Crow's Nest Pass bargain should have satisfied even the gluttonous greed of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a company which was big enough to take the country's millions and mean enough and despicable enough to steal the pennies of the workingman. The report showed that was part of the programme for the building of the railway. There was no limit to the grasping greed of the company, which seemed to be accumulating riches and the power to murder the people of Canada.

Mr. Robertson said that the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway ought to be made to answer at the bar of the House of Commons why the country's children should be murdered in the way they were.

Sir Richard Cartwright, a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, sat beside the hon. gentleman, and he should begin by taking him.

A British Case.

Mr. Robertson proceeded to show how the British House of Commons had dealt with a somewhat similar case. In 1891, a station master had given evidence that he had been at work 36 hours when an accident took place on the Cambria Railway. For giving such evidence he was dismissed by the company. The chairman of the committee reported to the House that the conduct of the company in dismissing the agent was a contempt of Parliament, and therefore the directors should be summoned to the bar of the House.

If it was now possible to bring the perpetrators to the criminal cells then they ought to be brought to the bar of the House. The Dominion ought to have something to say for the robbery, death and murder of these employes.

The Government Blamed.

Mr. Clarke of Toronto said that the treatment of the men was the most disgraceful in the history of the country. If any officer of the Government had prevented justice being done, then he should be dealt with.

Mr. N. Clarke Wallace blamed the Government for not acting promptly when they got the report.

Mr. McMullen agreed that the men had been treated in a barbarous way, but in justice to the Canadian Pacific Railway he thought he ought to say that he did not think the C.P.R. officials were cognizant of all the wrong done. Certainly the guilty men should be punished.

Some Sort of Penalty.

Dr. Rutherford (Macdonald) said that if there was no legal penalty the guilty persons would be held up and pilloried before all the people of Canada.

What the Government Will Do.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained how the commission came to be formed. The pressure of business incident on the closing of the session prevented the Government taking action on the report, but it would be one of the first things done in recess. The Government would carefully consider the report, and see what was best to forward the interests of justice. Unfortunately, there were wrongs which must always stand against the good name of Canada, for which there was no remedy, but if any of the guilty parties could be punished, the Government would spare no pains to take that step. If any Government officer was to blame, he could expect no mercy, he would be treated as he had treated others.

Mr. Clarke pointed out that in the case of the two young Nova Scotians, an officer of the Justice Department was blamed.

Deputy Minister Denounced.

Mr. Oliver—To set the matter at rest, he would state and he would do so with full responsibility of a member of the House, that the reason, in his opinion, that justice was not done in the case of the two men who lost their lives was because the Deputy Minister of Justice, Mr. Newcombe, refused to put the machinery of justice in motion when he was requested to do so by myself.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—The matter is too important to be dealt with now, and more especially the serious charge laid against the Deputy Minister of Justice by a member of the House. But the whole subject will be enquired into.

Compensation Proposed.

In the afternoon Mr. Bertram re-introduced the Crow's Nest Pass subject, and urged the Government to grant redress as well as remedies to prevent a recurrence of such outrages.

Mr. Jameson knew the C.P.R. too well to be at all surprised. His suggestion to retain compensation for the men and their families out of the subsidy to be paid the company was approved all over the House. The item was then passed.

Mr. Robertson, upon reaching the item, "$1,000 for classification of records," advised the Government to put up a $40,000 building to gather together and preserve the archives and records of the House and of the departments. He recalled the finding on the street of a document last year worth $500. The Premier could not promise to spend the $40,000 this year, but suggested a possible amalgamation of the Geological Survey and the archives in one building.

The House rose at 1.30 a.m., having passed the 1897-98 supplementary estimates.

More Supplementaries.

Further supplementary estimates were presented as the House was rising—$20,000 to defray expenses of the proposed joint high commission between Great Britain and the United States, to settle disputes at Quebec; $48,500 for increased Intercolonial accommodation at Levis, and $2,731 for legislation.

THE SENATE.

Ottawa, June 8.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon Hon. David Mills moved the Senate have two sessions daily until the end of the session. The motion was adopted.

The bill to authorize the Quebec harbor commissioners to borrow money was passed through committee and read a third time.

The Senate went into committee on a bill respecting the transport contract between Her Majesty and the Winnipeg & Great Northern Railway Company. The bill was passed through the committee. Senator Boulton gave notice that on the third reading he would move a six months' hoist to the bill.

Senator Clemow moved the adoption of the report of the special committee appointed to enquire into and report on the construction of a canal uniting the waters of Lake Huron with those of the St. Lawrence River via the Ottawa River. The report was favorable. Senator Boulton seconded its adoption. Senator Scott supported it and the bill passed.

The Senate then went into committee on the Plebiscite bill. The bill was passed through committee without amendment and reported for a third reading for Thursday.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fulness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only take the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism.

Fullest Rosy.

Rosy McShane was a fairly good maid of all work, but, like most of her kind, she was woefully slack in caring for her own room.

Her mistress was ill for two or three weeks, and on recovering she went up to Rosy's room and found it in a state of dirt and disorder beyond description.

Very indignant, she called Rosy, and said:

"Rosy, I don't see how you can stand it to have your room like this!"

Smiling pleasantly, Rosy made reply: "Ah, thin, ma'am, but I was iver a patient person."—Harper's Bazar.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The Messrs. Petersen Have Failed in Their Undertaking With the Canadian Government—Galician Emigration.

London, June 8.—The Messrs. Petersen have failed to satisfy the Canadian Government, as they undertook to do before May 31, of the completion of the underwriting of $6,250,000 of capital in the new company. This failure causes to lapse the supplementary contract by which the Government extended the time for building, and made other concessions. The general outside idea is that this lapse of the supplementary contract frees the Government's hands. On the contrary, Mr. Petersen now falls back on his original contract. Unless he is bought out, no fresh steps to carry out the service can be taken until he absolutely fails to place two steamers on the route in July, 1899, though every one realizes that it will be physically impossible to build the steamers in the time. Mr. Petersen has approached Sir William Van Horne here, but I understand he has received no encouragement. If the Canadian Pacific had intended to touch the project, it would have done so before the supplementary contract became necessary. It would, moreover, have avoided the heavy promotion fees reported to be attached to the Petersen scheme.

Galician emigration to the Edmonton district is again assuming large proportions. This season's numbers will be four thousand of an excellent farming class, mostly with capital. Other emigration is slack.

The Matter in the House.

Ottawa, June 8.—(Special.)—In the House yesterday the Premier, in reply to Mr. Davin, stated that the Government had no late information on the subject o the report cabled from London that Messrs. Tate and Petersen had failed to underwrite the capital required for carrying out the fast Atlantic scheme.

It's not the cough, but what it may end in, that makes it so serious. The cough may be cured, the serious consequence prevented by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Price, 25 cents, at all druggists.

When children grind the teeth it's a sure indication of worms. Give them Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup. Easy to take and never fails. Price 25c.

Warning to the Boys.

Year after year complaints are made, as the warm weather comes, of boys making a nuisance of themselves by bathing in parts naturalibus and using profane language to such an extent that ladies are deterred from enjoying the pleasures of canoeing on the river and Little Lake. This year the trouble has reappeared and THE EXAMINER, having learned of the intention of those interested to invoke the law to stop these practices, places this warning before the boys accustomed to offend, in order that they may avoid trouble.

Clarke & Gibson's Sale.

The public have seldom had such an opportunity of buying reliable jewelry, watches, clocks, etc., as that now presented by the dissolution sale at Clarke & Gibson's Jewelry Store, which has been going on for the past two weeks. The important change which has taken place in this well-known firm of jewellers, by which the long existing partnership has been wound up by Mr. Clarke's retirement, has decided Mr. Gibson to inaugurate a special reduction sale of every line of goods in the store. The attractions in this store, as may be readily conjectured, are of the most genuine character. Every article has been reduced from the original price marks. The high grade character of this stock, and the unusually low prices which prevail, should give everyone interested in jewelry, a rare chance of procuring what the ywish. Everything from the simple to the elaborate, from the trifle to the precious stone—all that is newest—all that is in demand, whether for personal use or for presentations—may be procured now at prices very much below regular values. It will pay you to visit the store and look at the stock, which is excelled by no other in the business.

THE SITUATION AT SANTIAGO.

The Destruction of Cevera's Fleet Imminent.

A SPECIMEN SPANISH YARN.

Semi-Official Report of Repulse of Americans at Santiago.

REPORTED INSURGENT VICTORY,

The London Papers Doubt the Report of the Santiago Bombardment Spanish Fleet Said to be Preparing for Cuban Waters.

Bombardment Accounts Doubted in Great Britain.

London, June 8.—The London morning papers are inclined to doubt the account of the destruction and silencing of the forts at Santiago, but they believe the bombardment was intended to draw the Spaniards' attention from a landing somewhere and the coming week or two will see exciting events in Cuba.

Better Late Than Never—A Tardy Report.

New York, June 8.—News has just reached the Cuban Junta of a victory achieved by the Cuban forces over the Spaniards at Irganie, province of Santiago, on May 22. It was one of the most decisive battles which the patriots have gained in many months. After six hours of hard fighting the Spaniards raised a flag of truce and surrendered.

The Situation at Santiago.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 8—According to latest direct advices from Santiago de Cuba, dated Monday at midnight, the bombardment which began at 7.45 a.m. yesterday and continued until half past 10 in the morning, was resumed again for a short time about midnight. It was believed the Americans had effected a junction with the insurgents near Dalqure, some distance east of Aguadares, near the railway line to Santiago.

Destruction of Spain's Fleet Imminent

London, June 8—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Cape Haytien says the American victory at Santiago de Cuba has cleared the way for the entrance of Admiral Sampson and the destruction of the Spanish fleet. It is reported that the commodore of the Reina Mercedes, second in commend of the Spanish fleet under Cervera, was killed during the engagement. The combined American and insurgent forces are entrenched near Darquire, with guns mounted in preparations for further movements.

A Fleet From Spain for Cuban Waters

London, June 8—A despatch to the Daily Chronicle says that Admiral Camara with reserve squadron will sail for Cuba in a fortnight.

A Specimen Spanish Yarn.

Madrid, June 8.—A semi-official note published says:—The American Navy fiercely attacked Santiago de Cuba and a bloody encounter ensued. The Americans made three attacks on the Spanish marine and land batteries, which replied and as a consequence the Americans were repulsed with heavy losses, estimated at 1,300 men. The American projectiles, however, sank the Spanish Cruiser Reina Mercedes.

A CATHEDRAL WEDDING.

Marriage of Miss Ellen Shanahan and Mr. Michael Cavanagh.

The wedding took place this morning at the Cathedral of Miss Ellen Shanahan, daughter of Mr. John Shanahan, Downie street, and Mr. Michael Cavanagh, of Ennismore. The ceremony was performed by Ven. Archdeacon Casey in the presence of a large number of the friends and relatives of the young couple. After partaking of a tasty wedding djeuner at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh left on their honeymoon by the noon train. On their return they will take residence in Ennismore.

NEXT WEEK'S CONVENTION.

Good Templars Coming from All Parts of the Province to the Annual Meeting of the Grand Lodge.

The Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Good Templars of the Province of Ontario, will meet in Peterborough on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, and will hold their sessions in the Y. M. C. A. Hall.

On Tuesday the Juvenile Lodges meet, and the Grand Lodge proper goes into session on Wednesday morning.

On Wednesday evening a mass meeting will be held in the interests of the plebiscite in the George street Methodist church, when F. S. Spence of Toronto, and other speakers will be present. An exceptionally good musical programme is being prepared for the occasion. The civic authorities will give the freedom of the town to the visitors the same evening, and the greeting of sister societies will also be received.

It is expected that there will be between a hundred and twenty-five and a hundred and fifty delegates present. District lodges are entitled to two delegates and subordinate lodges to one for every fifty members.

Of course the chief topic of discussion will be the prohibition plebiscite. Another matter in which the members will take great interest is the consideration of the question of withdrawing from the International Supreme Lodge, the headquarters of which are in the United States. The Canadian branches have to pay in a capitation tax, and consider that they do not receive a proportionate benefit. England, Wales and Denmark have already withdrawn.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.

Passed Last Evening by the Royal Black Preceptory.

At a meeting of the Royal Black Preceptory, No. 261, last evening, in the Orange Hall, the following resolution of condolence was tendered Mr. Joseph Saunders:

To Sir Joseph Saunders, W. P. Royal Black Preceptory, No. 261, R. B. K. of I., Peterborough, Ont.:

DEAR SIR KNIGHT,—The officers and members of Royal Black Preceptory No. 261 desire to express to you their most deep and heartfelt sympathy in your sad bereavement caused by the removal through death of your beloved wife.

We are perfectly aware that all verbal condolence is vain under the circumstances, and if any consolation can be afforded under so heavy an affliction as you have just experienced, it must come from a higher power than ours. Your own strong sense of religion and of our duty of resignation to a power that is beyond our control, and a will that is beneficiently directed towards our good, must uphold you in this most bitter trial.

We hope that you will support your spirit both for your own and your children's sake, and look forward to that bright and happy world in which we shall go to those who cannot return to us. There is one consolation—that we shall meet those we love in another and better world, where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest. This is the hope that the teachings of our glorious institution holds out to us, and its realization will amply repay our sorrows here, whilst the thoughts of the joy and happiness that is in store for us hereafter should blunt the edge of present grief.

We trust that the God of comfort, who comforteth in all tribulations, may bring to you and your children the full measure of comfort and consolation which a calm confidence in His wise and loving purpose fits His children to receive. Signed on behalf of the Preceptory,

W. H. G. ARMSTRONG,
Registrar.

PARKER-BARLEE NUPTIALS.

A JUNE WEDDING IN ST. JOHN'S THIS AFTERNOON.

Marriage of Miss Clarissa Barlee and Mr. W. D. Parker, Manager of the Local Branch of the Ontario Bank.

The wedding took place this afternoon in St. John's church, of Miss Clarissa Barlee, daughter of the late George Barlee, and Mr. W. D. Parker, local manager of the Ontario Bank.

The event has been looked forward to for some months in Peterborough social circles, and a large number of the friends of the bride and groom were in attendance. The chancel was most tastefully decorated with palms and cut flowers by the Chancel Guild, of which the bride was a member.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of Peterborough, assisted by Rev. V. Clementi, grandfather of the bride.

The bride looked most attractive in rich white duchesse satin with garniture of white chiffon and orange blossoms. She also wore a bridal veil with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Mabel Barlee and Miss Florence Stevenson. The former was attired in white mousseline de sois, over pink, with trimmings of white chiffon. A large white picture hat was worn, with black plumes and trimmings of pink chiffon and pink roses. Miss Stevenson was gowned in white mousseline de soie over yellow, trimmed with chiffon. She also wore a white picture hat with black plumes. It was trimmed with yellow chiffon and yellow roses.

Pink and yellow bouquets of roses were carried by the respective bridesmaids to match their costumes.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Hampden Burnham and Mr. Harold Morrow. Mr. George Hilliard, of Lakefield, gave the bride away.

The ushers were Messrs. H. M. Allen, A. T. Lefevre, A. McNee, W. J. Montgomery and H. Ritchie.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party drove to the residence of the Misses Barlee, 177 Aylmer street, where a most recherche wedding breakfast was served, after which an informal reception was held. A large number accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Parker to the 4.10 C.P.R. express, upon which they left for New York via Niagara Falls. Upon their return they will take residence at 205 Aylmer street.

Amongst the many costly gifts received was a palm and elegant jardiniere and pedestal from the staff of the Ontario Bank, and an onyx clock and set of fruit knives in an oak case from the bank customers with the inscription: "Presented to W. D. Parker, Esq., on the event of his marriage by the customers of the Ontario Bank, Peterborough."

Quite a large number of guests were present from out of town, amongst whom were the mother and sister of the groom, Mrs. and Miss Parker of Montreal; Mrs. Vanderlinde, Miss Merrick and Mr. R. A. Wharton of Toronto.

The bride is one of Peterborough's social favourites, and is identified with St. John's church as one of its most indefatigable workers. The groom since his removal to the Peterborough branch of the Ontario Bank from Montreal, some ten years ago, has taken an active part in the church, acting as lay reader on many occasions. His many estimable qualities have contributed not a little to the popularity which the local branch of the bank enjoys.

WEDDED AT WESTWOOD.

Nuptials of Miss Bella H. Miller, of Keene, and Mr. W. A. Eaton, Norwood.

The phrase "a very pretty wedding" in the fullest sense of the expression, describes the marriage on Thursday, June 2nd, at "Rural Green," the residence of Mr. Thomas Blezard, M.P.P., East Peterborough, of his niece, Miss Bella H. Miller, to Mr. W. A. Eaton, merchant, of Norwood. A perfect day lent its charm to the occasion. The ceremony was performed at 9 a.m. by Rev. F. Andrews, of Keene, in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. The drawing rooms of the residence were tastefully decorated with ferns and cut flowers. The bride entered the room on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Blezard. She was charmingly gowned in ashes of roses silk with garniture of passementerie and chiffon, and carried a shower sheaf of bride roses. Her beautiful costume which became her and which she became so well, gained a sentimental interest from the fact that it was the wedding gown of her mother, Mrs. William Miller, of Keene, adapted to modern mode. The bride was supported in the capacity of bridesmaid by her cousin, Miss Blezard, also charmingly attired in pearl gray silk, trimmed with pink chiffon, while she carried a shower bouquet of pale pink carnations. Mr. Barry L. Walker, of Warkworth supported the groom.

After the ceremony followed the wedding breakfast, after which the bridal party, grouped on the lawn, was photographed. Mr. and Mrs. Eaton left on the noon train to spend their honeymoon in the eastern provinces.

The bride's going-away dress was a tailor-made suit of green covert cloth, and the many beautiful and valuable presents testify to the high estimation in which she was held. The happy occasion calls for hearthy congratulations from the hosts of friends of the bride and groom, and many cordial wishes for a prosperous and happy wedded life follow them.

On their return from their wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Eaton will take residence in Norwood.

MR. ACKERMAN RETURNS

From his Annual Business Trip to the Northwest.

Mr. B. F. Ackerman has just returned from the Northwest, after a very successful business trip in the interests of his harness manufactory. He states that not only is trade good in his own line, but all travellers whom he met reported having made very satisfactory sales.

All the territories are looking forward to a most prosperous year, having had a dry spring, with plenty of rain, so far, in June. Mr. Ackerman says that the wheat crop is looking splendid but that the oat crop will be rather light. On the prospects of a good harvest and consequently brisk trade, the merchants are buying freely.

This year the wheat acreage is from 10 to 20 per cent greater than last year, and in Mr. Ackerman's opinion there will be a greater acreage under cultivation in the Northwest than would be credited in the east. Everywhere he found farmers breaking ground for next season's crop. Large numbers of Americans are crossing the border into Canada and taking up land, which is being placed under cultivation for next year. A great great many Galicians are also taking up land. Mr. Ackerman states that although disliked when they first came into the country, the Galicians are winning respect by their thrifty habits. Their costume is a peculiar one, consisting of an under garment of linen and a sheepskin coat. In warm weather the sheepskin is laid aside and the men work in the undergarment, resuming the coat when the weather gets cold. As an illustration of their thrift, Mr. Ackerman relates a story of a family which possessed but one spade and with this single implement turned over 80 acres of land by using the spade in turns and working night and day.

If the weather continues as favourable for wheat growing until the crops are in, the Territories will reap the biggest harvest they have yet secured.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

WRESTLING.

Last evening quite a crowd assembled in the opera house to witness a wrestling match for $200 a side between Thos. Doyle and Harrison's "unknown," the latter turning out to be Collins, of Providence, Rhode Island.

As the articles of agreement stipulated that the men should weigh at the ring side 150 pounds each, Conlin forfeited his deposit when he stripped a pound and a half overweight. Doyle then offered to wrestle for the gate receipts, and on Conlin agreeing to this, the spectators were asked to choose a referee. Mr. Jas. Graham was picked and gave good satisfaction.

Before the pair had been on the mat many seconds, it could be seen that they were evenly matched, The spectators were wrought up to a high pitch of excitement, as again and again it looked as though one man or the other was down, but by a quick hand spring, or some other trick, the fall would be averted. After 30 minutes and 50 seconds hard working, Doyle finally got the strangle hold on the stranger, and as he tightened the terrible grip, Collins gasped and gurgled, and to prevent being choked threw up his hand, thus giving Doyle the first bout.

After a fifteen minutes rest the two men were again in holds. Collins got the strangle hold on Doyle, but was unable to retain it, being flung off before he could bring any pressure to bear. For 26 minutes it was hard to tell which man would get the next fall, but after a breakaway Doyle ran in suddenly and tripped his man, falling on him heavily and heaving him over before he had time to recover.

This ended the match, Doyle having thus won two consecutive falls. The spectators left, perfectly satisfied with the fine exhibition which had been given.

MR. ED. M. ELLIOTT RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

OF THE WEST PETERBOROUGH FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

The Annual Meeting was Held on Tuesday Afternoon in the Town Council Chamber.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute was held in the town council chambers yesterday afternoon with President Edward M. Elliott in the chair.

After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the last annual meeting by the Secretary, that officer presented the following report of the Executive Committee :

To the Members of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute :

Gentlemen,—I beg leave to present for your approval the annual report of the Executive Committee and Directors for the year 1897.

The annual Union Farmers' Institute Picnic for 1897 was held at Jubilee Point, on Rice Lake, on June 10th, at which we had a very large attendance, there being about 2,000 present, 500 or 600 going down from our point, from which we received a percentage in aid of our funds. Mr. Thomas A. Duff, the well-known poultryman, from Toronto, was one of the speakers.

Our regular winter meetings were held as follows : On Dec. 20th, at Lakefield, three meetings, with a very large attendance. On the 21st, afternoon meeting in Peterborough and evening meeting in North Monaghan, fairly well attended. The deputation sent by the Superintendent was : S. H. Dean, Professor of Dairying, and John McMillan, M. P. It is needless to say that they were brimful of information, and had a happy, home-like way of imparting it to very appreciative audiences. Valuable papers were also read by Capt. R. E. Birdsall, R. Cockburn, B. R. Poole, V. S., G. Hayward, and an address by J. McCaig, M. A., of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute staff. The supplementary meetings were held at Bridgenorth on January 8th, and at Hall's Bridge, Buckhorn, on the 10th.

The deputation sent were Hugh Reid, V S, Professor of Veterinary Science, R A College ; A MacNeil, Walkerville and A P Ketchen, Brucefield, who were without doubt a first class delegation, well posted on their different lines. R Cockburn gave a short address on "Winter egg production," and W T Wilson, school teacher, read an interesting paper on the Central Experimental Farm. At Bridgenorth the attendance, although not so large as it should have been at meetings, was, on the whole, rather better than in former years. We have had, we think, a very successful institute year, and with the rise in prices and the bright prospect of an abundant harvest, we hope to be able to give a still more favourable report next year, and we are certain that if the farmers would one and all avail themselves of the information and instruction brought to them through the agency of the institute, they would not only benefit themselves, but our whole Dominion. Now, we would urge upon every member to induce at least one neighbour to join, and by so doing the membership would be doubled, which would be quite easily accomplished.

We hear it on every hand from some of our farmers that all classes are helped and fostered but them. If they are neglected they are largely to blame for it themselves, for the majority of them stand idly by and refuse to accept the great benefits that are offered to them through the Institutes—which are really farmers' clubs—by becoming members and getting instruction from the various speakers and lecturers, all reports pertaining to every line of their business, published by the Government and distributed free to all members ; and last, but not least, of exchanging ideas and experiences among themselves. Every other branch of business men have their meetings and associations for mutual benefit, and why should not the farmer ?

Both of our Governments have been striving to help the agriculturists, through experimental farms and by sending out the very best men obtainable to give the results of those experiments, and there is no reason why this country should not excel in stock and all other products of the farm as it has done in cheese, it being traceable directly to the efforts of Prof. Robertson, Dominion dairy commissioner, Prof. Dean, of the Ontario Agricultural College, and their assistants, backed up by the Dairymen's Associations, showing clearly what can be accomplished by united efforts in that line. The same can be done in any other branch by working hand in hand and shoulder to shoulder.

Why Ram Lal's Tea Makes Fast Friends.

Ram Lal's Tea is known to the trade as "full flavored" while Ceylon teas are designated "thin". Ram Lal's does not pall on the taste and become flat as do "thin flavored" teas.

It is the district in which Ram Lal's Tea is grown and the cleanly process of manufacture that give its delightful "full flavor" while all the boquet and aroma are retained because it comes to us in six weeks from the time the tea is first plucked.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

COLUMBUS A PIRATE.

Frank R. Stockton Says the Discoverer Disobeyed Queen Isabella's Orders.

Frank R. Stockton, in his story, "The Buccaneers of Our Coast," in St Nicholas, says:

It is not necessary for us to enter very deeply into the consideration of the policy of Columbus toward the people of the islands of the West Indies His second voyage was nothing more than an expedition for the sake of plunder He had discovered gold and other riches in the West Indies, and he had found that the people who inhabited the islands were simple-hearted, inoffensive creatures who did not know how to fight and who did not want to fight Therefore, as it was so easy to sail his ships into the harbors of the defenseless islands, to subjugate the natives and to take away the products of their mines and soil, he commenced a veritable course of piracy

The acquisition of gold and all sorts of plunder seemed to be the sole object of this Spanish expedition, and natives were enslaved and subjected to the greatest hardships, so that they died in great numbers At one time 500 of them were sent as slaves to Spain A pack of bloodhounds, which Columbus had brought with him for the purpose, was used to hunt down the poor Indians when they endeavored to escape from the hands of the oppressors, and in every way the island of Hayti, the principal scene of the actions of Columbus, was treated as if its inhabitants had committed a dreadful crime by being in possession of the wealth which the Spaniards desired for themselves

Queen Isabella was greatly opposed to these cruel and unjust proceedings She sent back to their native land the slaves which Columbus had shipped to Spain, and she gave positive orders that no more of the inhabitants were to be enslaved and that they were all to be treated with moderation and kindness But the Atlantic is a wide ocean, and Columbus, far away from his royal patron, paid little attention to her wishes and commands, and without going further into the history of this period, we will simply mention the fact that it was on account of his alleged atrocities that Columbus was superseded in his command and sent back in chains to Spain

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 81 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

Wasted Kindness.

Three young women were standing on the curb at the corner of Euclid avenue and Erie street, peering down the avenue with anxious faces. A respectable looking young man noticed their anxiety and approached them.

"Are you waiting for a car?" he asked.

The girls looked up in astonishment.

Then they glanced at one another.

"Ye-es," said the tallest one.

"Well," said the young man, "the cars do not come up the street because of the sewer excavation. You will have to go to the corner of Prospect and Erie." And he passed on.

"Did you ever!" a bystander heard one of the girls say. "Wasn't that cheek?"

"Wonder what he takes us for?" inquired another.

"Guess he thought we'd walk with him," said the third.

"Well, he ain't smart enough to fool us," said the first speaker.

And they continued to stand on the curb and peer down the street.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Misery.

A Teacher Taught.

"I will teach you a thing or two," said the terrier as he jumped at the hedgehog.

IN MEMORY OF TWO SLAVES.

Story of Two Monuments In the Wilds of the Kittatinny Mountains.

Nine miles northeast of Harrisburg, in the solitude of the Kittatinny range of mountains, stand two unique monuments. The spot is far from any human habitation, amid curiously shaped and massive bowlders and on the very crests of the ridge. The wanderer who by chance strays into this region may well pause in astonishment before a roughly hewn rock upon which stand two carved headstones of white marble bearing the following inscriptions:

UNKNOWN.

Here in the solitude of God's acre lies one whose life was filled with pathos and suffering and who had a tragic end. He took the north star as a guide to liberty, yet in a fitful moment, for fear of betrayal, he took the deadly cup to save himself from bondage by his fellow men.

DOMINE DIRIGE NOS.
GEORGE WASHINGTON,
Died April 8, 1863.

An honest colored man who lived and died on this mountain. He is buried on the site of his former home. His virtues are related by all who know him.

REQUIESCAT IN PACE.

Friend, pause and think of the Brotherhood of God. One may have a few more grains of pigment beneath his skin. Looking into the portals of eternity teaches us that the Brotherhood of Man is inspired by God's word. There all prejudice of race vanishes away.

The story of the two monuments dates to the days of the underground railroad, when escaped slaves were pursued by their southern masters. In 1851 George Washington made his escape from a Virginia plantation and after months of adventure reached the spot where the monuments stand. Choosing to live in freedom here in the mountain fastnesses, he built for himself a rude hut and lived the life of a hermit for a period of 12 years. Gray and bent with years, he finally passed away to his reward, alone, as he had lived. After many days the body was found in a kneeling position under a giant pine overlooking the valley.

The elements of deeper tragedy enter into the story of the unknown. Four years after Washington had taken up his abode on the mountain the unknown, also a fugitive slave, reached the spot in safety and found shelter in the hermit's hut. For two years they lived together in peace and safety, but one day word reached the unknown that the agents of his former master were on his track and were but a few miles distant. Choosing death rather than a return to slavery or the betrayal of his friend's hiding place, the unknown stole away amid the rocks and there died by his own hand.

A few years ago the remains of the two slaves were buried side by side, close by their cabin, and a funeral service was held in the presence of a large number of people. The monuments were erected by the colored people of the state shortly afterward.—New York Sun.

Tears For Revenue Only.

A beterogeneous collection of loafers sat in the village public house, alternately wiping their eyes and sighing heavily. The landlord's son had been buried that day, and a fitting air of gloom pervaded the place.

"What a lot of fuss you make about it!" cried a smart young bravo who had been surveying the company with ill concealed disgust. "Why should we bother ourselves about a corpse?"

The others stared at him aghast, but before they could reply the landlord himself came in and proceeded to serve out quarts of ale in dignified fashion. He went round the room systematically until he came to the smart young man, who held out his hand for the pitcher.

"Nay, lad, tha'll get no ale from me," said the landlord.

"Why not?" was the aggrieved question.

"'Cos tha hesn't earnt it like t'rest. They've been blubbing for two hours, an tha hesn't as much as ta'en thy handkerchief art o' thy pocket. My motto today is 'No blub, no ale;' so tha's got to go wi'out."

Then the young man understood why the grief of the company had been so intense.—London Telegraph.

As to Horseback Riding.

The Kentuckian was talking freely about horses. Although it was a sale stable, he was speaking his mind. He had made the proper speeches about the gait of the beautiful creatures the darky trainer trotted up and down; he had not lost his look of grave acquiescence when he heard things about the horse who trots. But a chance word touched his true thought, and he spoke the faith of Kentuckians and westerners, Texans and Californians, in something this wise: "That's right. It ain't really riding to jolt up and down and look stylish on a trotting horse. You can't say much about it in Boston, or anywhere in cities where people don't care about the easy steps They don't know what you're talking about. It's a queer notion and one my folks in Kentucky can't get used to—that a trotting horse can be a saddle horse. Women want to be stylish, though, everywhere, and they would learn how to rise up like the Boston women. But they didn't keep it up. A steal away and the gallop's the thing for country American riding."—Boston Transcript.

Wisdom Beyond His Years.

His mother found him in the jam and reprimanded him. A little later she caught him teasing his baby sister and reprimanded him again.

"I don't see what's got into you, Willie," she said. "You're usually the good little boy, but today you're up to all kinds of mischief."

"I'm tired of being good," he returned with juvenile frankness.

"Tired of being good!" she exclaimed. "What do you mean by that?"

"Well, brother Bob is naughty most of the time, and you're always giving him things to get him to be good, and I guess I'll be naughty for awhile and see if I don't get something too."

Sometimes a youngster seems to have wisdom beyond his years.—Chicago Post.

SHAUGHNESSY NOT PLEASED.

The Crow's Nest Report of Inhuman Treatment Creating Trouble.

Montreal, June 7.—The feeling in C. P.R. circles is that Mr. M. J. Haney will build no more railways for the Canadian Pacific. The report giving the proceedings in the Crow's Nest line has created no end of trouble in the C.P.R. mind, and it seems to be admitted all around that somebody's usefulness is gone.

Mr. Shaughnessy has from the first been disappointed at the comparatively slow progress made along the new line, and that he had fully resolved to make some drastic changes even before the publication of the famous report. Those who know say there will be wigs on the green when the vice-president and the manager of the construction meet.

Sleight of Hand In Church.

Many years ago, when Joseph Marsden lived in Hawaii, he attended church on Sunday morning in Hilo. Mr. Marsden was then noted for his skill in legerdemain. When Dr.—— passed around the contribution bag at a Sunday service, Mr. Marsden held up a $10 gold piece between his thumb and forefinger so that Dr. —— could plainly see it. He then placed his hand over the bag, palmed the goldpiece and dropped in a silver quarter. Dr. —— returned to the table with his collection. After the service he emptied the bag on a table, but could not find the $10 goldpiece. He shook the bag repeatedly, turned over the small pile of contributions, got down on the floor and looked under the table, walked down the aisle, looking closely at the cracks in the floor, felt in his own pockets, fearing that he had made some mistake, and then went home wondering at the strange loss of the goldpiece. Some time afterward the deceiver quietly sent the goldpiece to the church.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

THE SLATER SHOE
"Slater Boot Trees."
The wear and shape retention of a shoe may be doubled if, when taken off the foot, it be put on a tree the exact shape of the shoe. The leather thus regains its elasticity and fiber tension and the shoe its form. Valuable to wearers with a tendency to run over on heels. A good idea is to have two pairs of shoes iternately "treed" and worn. Each pair will thus give double service if allowed a rest-day between wear-days. Thousands of sick and suffering people are like the poor cripple in the Bible, who had no one to help him down to the life-giving pool before some one else stepped in ahead of him. So many sufferers feel that if they could only get a little help to overcome their extreme weakness they would then be able to regain their coveted health and strength.

It is just these people that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is designed to aid. It is the strong, helping hand for those who are in the extreme of bodily weakness and nervous exhaustion. It promptly tones, nourishes and builds up the entire system. It gives keen appetite, good digestion, pure blood, muscular strength, nerve-force and renewed activity.

"When I first wrote you I was completely discouraged," says Mrs. W. M. Satterly, living at Richford, Tioga Co., N. Y. (P. O. Box 40), in a letter to Dr. Pierce. "I was in pain all the time, could not lie in bed on account of severe, sharp cutting pains in my back and right hip. Had pain all through the lower part of my body and my elbows hurt me so much I could scarcely lift my baby. My skin was dry, harsh and scaly and hung like sacks on my arms. My husband called the doctor, and he said it was weakness, and my age. His medicine did me no good. I kept getting worse and weaker. It seemed I should go crazy. One day I wrote you and received advice. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, his 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and now I can lie in bed with some comfort and can do a good day's work."

The most valuable book for both men and women is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. A splendid 1008-page volume, with engravings and colored plates. A copy, paper-covered, will be sent to anyone sending 21 one-cent stamps, to pay cost of customs and mailing only, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps.

THE SCULPTOR BOY.

Chisel in hand stood a sculptor boy,
With his marbled block before him,
And his face lit up with a smile of joy
As an angel dream passed o'er him.
He carved it then on the yielding stone,
With many a sharp incision,
With heaven's own light the sculptor shone.
He had caught that angel vision.

Sculptors of life are we, as we stand
With our lives unearved before us,
Waiting the hour when at God's command
Our life's dream passes o'er us.
If we carve it then on the yielding stone
With many a sharp incision,
Its heavenly beauty shall be our own,
Our lives that angel vision.

—Bishop Doane.

A DOCTOR'S RUSE.

"Monsieur, you are a"—

"Monsieur, you are another"—

Flip!

Flap!

And two blows were exchanged, masterly blows, too, solid, resounding slaps both of them, capable of upsetting a beef or of making an average human being behold an entire constellation of stars.

Nevertheless, in spite of this free interchange of courtesies, honor was not satisfied. The two squabblers, both rubbing a cheek with one hand and gesticulating with the other, still vociferated loudly:

"This does not end here, monsieur!"

"A thousand devils! No, monsieur!"

"My card, monsieur!"

"And mine, monsieur, with my seconds as close behind it as the dawn of tomorrow allows."

Upon which, pulled apart like two enraged dogs by the spectators present at the discussion so pestiferously continued, the two principals separated of their own accord, and, fuming and swearing inwardly, but with a semblance at least of returning dignity, departed, each to his own domicile, there to await with what patience he could the issue of this warlike affair.

In a handsome little rez de chaussee of the Rue Caumartin, that well known quarter for the luxurious living of the well to do Parisian bachelor, some two hours later we find again the young and fiery challenger of the above encounter, M. Achilles de Loustignac, in deep and solemn conference with the two friends called upon for this occasion. He was still as red and ruffled as a belligerent turkey cock and nervously strode up and down with short, excited pacings, his well appointed apartment de garcon.

"But really, Achilles," persuasively suggested his friends, alive to the danger of the business and decidedly more pacifically inclined, "there ought to be some way of arranging this affair"—

Achilles turned upon them like a roaring tiger.

"Arrange it!" he cried. "Arrange the affair after a blow has been given! What are you thinking of?"

Achilles, though not convinced that a "battle of blades" was not the best course to pursue under the circumstances, nevertheless consented to allow the guardians of his honor at least a loophole of pacific sortie—viz, an apology formal and complete.

"The amplest apology, remember," he cried, "and down in black and white too. Meanwhile behold it, the card of my adversary. We must see who he is."

And Achilles drew from his cardcase and passed from hand to hand a little square of bristolboard that had never been neater or glossier, and, pulling his monocle from his eye in order to see more plainly, he read aloud in clear, resonant tones: "Dr. Fumichon, specialist, 413 Rue Haudriette. Hours only 10 to 12 a. m."

"A doctor! Parbleu! To make sure of finding him there we shall have to go to his house during his hours of consultation—his office hours, that is—and force him to eat his words then and there or wipe out the insult with his own pen and ink bottle."

"So be it. Do as you please," said Achilles resignedly, still furious at heart, but more amenable to reason since upsetting and demolishing in one of his turns about the apartment a 50 louis Owari jar. "So be it. I am now in your hands."

And, giving each of them a warm though solemn embrace, he sent them off upon their gruesome errand and got into bed to await the morning.

Faithful to their promise to lose not a moment and exactly as the bell of St. Peter and St. Paul was on the stroke of 10 a. m. next day, the Messrs. Charmian and D'Epinay, De Loustignac's two seconds, thundered at the knocker of the doctor's door. It flew open briskly, and a negro footman, resplendent in gold and braid and buttons, stood before our two embassadors, clothed themselves in the customary "black frock of ceremony," buttoned tightly from waist line to collar. Grave and dignified, he stood like a martial Cerberus, barring the entrance of the two plenipotentiaries, who held in their hands, with their hats and umbrellas, the lives of two men.

"Dr. Fumichon, he is here?" they queried politely, at the same time stepping forward to cross the threshold.

"He is," said the black, "but the fee—five and twenty francs apiece—first, if you please, messieurs."

"What, five and twenty francs apiece! But we are not here as patients. We have not come to consult the doctor. We are here to"—

And our two friends, losing time and temper both, essayed to push back the door and to enter without further parley, but a safety catch held it, and the ebony Cerberus completely filled the half open leaf of the inhospitable portal.

Then they began to urge and coax, but the bedizoned African, who knew only his instructions, responded immovably:

"Five and twenty francs apiece, messieurs; fifty francs for both of you."

It goes without saying that as Achilles' seconds could neither turn tail and abandon their mission nor fulfill it on the doorstep, they were compelled to yield and to pay up like men, since to enter the house at all it was absolutely necessary to give up a "yellow piece" and to receive in return a numbered ticket, the open sesame of the doctor's front door and richly furnished salon beyond the entresol.

Scattered about on sofas and chairs were seated some eight or ten gentlemen, all of them, like our two friends, clothed in the "frock of ceremony," black and correct, and all of them, like our two friends again, as solemnly frowning, the one as the other, while more or less impatiently awaiting their turn.

"Heavens!" murmured Charmian, astonished, in the ear of his companion. "Did you ever see the like of this or a clientele more chic than the one before us? Positively not a soul but invalids in frock coats! Fumichon is undoubtedly a specialist of note."

And Charmian, too, dropped into a chair and fell into an awed silence, oppressed by the gloom and magnificence of his surroundings, and softly swearing in his beard that never before had he witnessed a scene like it, where every one present seemed really to be participating in the ceremony of his own interment.

A full hour passed thus. Not a word or a sound broke the stillness. Only from time to time a tapestry at one side of the room was drawn back noiselessly, a door leading into the doctor's office opened, a number was called out and the two gentlemen holding the check corresponding to the number called would softly get up and disappear into the sanctuary. And this, I say, had gone on for at least an hour—a new call, a new number and the dignified vanishment of two malades.

Precisely! Two malades, for, a strange coincidence, Dr. Fumichon's patients went—and they went no other way—in couples, like beeves to the shambles or like—Charmian leaped in his seat as if a bee had stung him—or like the seconds in a duel.

Was it possible that all these black coated gentlemen were not patients at all? That Dr. Fumichon, not content with killing people in the usual way—that Dr. Fumichon—

Achilles' proxies, however, had no time now to further pursue this disturbing supposition. The tapestry was moving again, their turn had come and they were over the doctoral threshold and expounding in cold, curt terms their mission before they fairly knew where they were: "Swords, the Bois du Boulogne at daybreak, or the fullest apology under the doctor's own hand and signature."

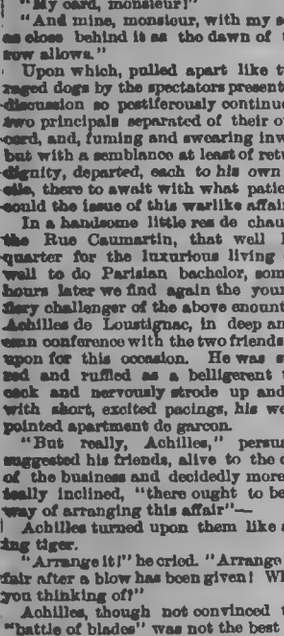
In two steps and three movements the thing was settled. Dr. Fumichon, so wild and warlike the night before, was as mild and benevolent today as a summer morning.

"He had lost his temper; he was heartily ashamed of himself; M. de Loustignac would certainly believe that." And to show his deep and sincere regret for his disgraceful lapse in dignity, this excellent specialist hurried to trace with his good Toledo pen and his most beautiful hieroglyphics all the apologies and more that the two seconds desired.

Ten minutes later, the apology in their pocket and joy in their hearts at the safe deliverance of their friend from a perilous situation, Charmian and d'Epinay were on their way back to the Rue Caumartin, entirely reconciled to the loss of their "five and twenty francs a head" left behind them in the black paws of the impeccable footman guarding so vigorously the door of consultation in the Rue Haudriette.

And the doctor? Well, the doctor, alone at last in his office, and with no more frock coated malades awaiting their turn, the doctor, as exact in keeping accounts as impetuous in temper, was balancing his cash for the day and comfortably adding up the total of his week's receipts.

"Capital, capital!" he cried, rubbing his hands joyously as he glanced at the footing. "Eight encounters, more or less severe, as in many different cafes and restaurants last night between the hours of 7 and 11 o'clock—eight encounters all in one evening! Results today between the hours of 10 a. m. and 12 m., eight separate and distinct challenges to me from eight separate and bellicose principals and eight separate and distinct apologies from me to the aforesaid principals conveyed through the medium of the aforesaid principals' seconds, who have called upon me in the past two hours to arrange the details of those eight separate affairs! Sixteen seconds, two apiece for each of the eight principals calling upon me in office hours—and they cannot find me at any other time—16 seconds at five and twenty francs a visit amounts to a total of 400 francs for two hours' work and the very slight risk I run of having my profuse apologies refused by my adversaries. Four hundred francs for eight encounters—only an average night's work, too, last night's—and we have as a result 2,400 francs a week income, or 2,800 francs a week income, including Sunday. Decidedly I have struck a bonanza in this new 'specialty' of mine!"—From the French.



OBSTINATE COUGHS.

"My daughter being afflicted with an obstinate cough which resisted the curative effects of almost all the advertised cough remedies, and having placed an order for 3 doz. of Chase's Linseed and Turpentine in W. W. Carter's Drug Store, of which I am manager, I was induced to try a bottle. A few doses gave relief and the one bottle effected a cure. I can highly recommend it as being pleasant to take and efficacious."

The Fading of the Substance.

"John Billus, I found this photograph in the inside pocket of an old vest of yours hanging up in the closet. I'd like an explanation. Whose is it?"

"Can't you see it's an old picture, Maria? What's the use of stirring up memories that"—

"I want to know whose picture that is."

"Rather a pleasant faced girl, isn't she?"

"I want to know her name."

"No jealous fury in that countenance, is there?"

"Whose is it?"

"It's a portrait of a girl I used to think a great deal of, and"—

"Her name, sir?"

"Well, you sat for it yourself, Maria, about 19 years ago; but, to tell the truth, I always did think the 'pleasing expression' was a little overdone. Put on your spectacles and look at it again, and then compare it with the reflection in that mirror over there and see—what are you getting mad about?"—Chicago Tribune.

Caste In Cuba.

A Spaniard was born in Spain. His son, who was born in Cuba, is not a Spaniard, but a Cuban. If a Cuban should go to Madrid when he is 2 weeks old and spend all his life in the palace, he would still be a Cuban and not quite as good as a Spaniard. If a Spaniard should go to Havana when he is 2 weeks old and spend all his life in that city or upon a plantation, he would still be a Spaniard and enjoy a distinction and social position which a Cuban can never attain. The sons and daughters of a Spaniard are Cubans if they are born in Cuba, but the sons and grandsons and great-grandsons of a Cuban must always be Cubans, no matter if they were born in Madrid and spend their whole lives in that city. No Cuban can ever become a Spaniard, no matter what happens to him, and from the Spanish point of view he is a degenerate.—Chautauquan.

A Rhyming Set.

A prisoner, escaping from a Georgia jail overnight, left this familiar quotation in a note for the jailer:

Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage.

Beneath which the jailer wrote:

His flight warn't due to my mistake—
But won't the sheriff rage!

When the sheriff's turn came, he indorsed the document as follows:

Since out of jail you let him break,
Your name's struck off the page!

—Atlanta Constitution.

Getting It Right.

A correspondent sends us an instance of the nice differentiation of sex that sometimes prevails in a nursery. He has twins, who are very particular in the matter, always substituting "he" for "she" or "boy" for "girl" in songs and stories. The other morning the girl twin had said her prayers, when she was reproved by her brother. "You," he said, "must say 'Aladies;' I say 'Amen.'"—London Globe.

RESTORE THE SNAP,
VIM, ENERGY AND STRENGTH
YOU HAVE LOST.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have been a great boon to my daughter Maggie. Prior to taking them she had been suffering from excessive nervousness for a long time, and her nerves were in a terribly shattered condition. The action of her heart was so weak that it did not have strength to perform its functions, causing violent palpitation and smothering after retiring. Frequently, on account of this suffocating sensation she was afraid to go to bed. Slight exertion exhausted her and caused shortness of breath. Her blood was impoverished and lost vitality, and she had no appetite. She was wasting away and was very hypochondriacal, feeling dejected all the time. Last December she began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and she improved at once. Her blood became healthy and strong, and in six weeks her impaired nervous system was restored to its normal healthy condition. Her heart responded to the healthy condition of her blood and nerves and resumed its strong and healthy functions. She now sleeps without any of the dangerous, distressing, smothering and choking spells; her appetite is good, and she has gained in flesh. Healthy color has replaced pallor, and she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I thank you, gentlemen, for the remedy that has restored my daughter to health. A. GUNN, Baggagemaster, Grand Trunk Railway, Oshawa, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. "Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim must take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

Shot the Way the Dog Came at Him.

The other day Ole Hanson had trouble with a bellicose dog that belonged to his neighbor, a Russian of the name of Havva Drenkovitskey. The Swede shot the dog as soon as he discovered that he was not friendly to him, and the sequel found lodging in a justice's court. When Ole was propounded interrogatories by the attorney for the prosecution, he evidenced a sense of justice in framing replies that is rarely witnessed.

"What sort of a gun did you have, Mr. Hanson?" inquired the attorney.

"Es var two hole shotgun."

"Double barrel?"

"Yas, das et."

"Well, don't you think you could have scared him away?"

"Aye might ef aye had not bane scare so lak deckens maesal."

"Why didn't you take the other end of the gun and scare him away?"

"Val, master lawyer, vy dedn't de dog com for mae oder end first ef hae vant to do det vay?"

The lawyer is still wondering if there wasn't extenuating circumstances connected with the shooting.—Denver Times.

IN MEMORY OF

Katie Allen, Died May 22nd, 1898,

Our dear young friend,
Whom we all love,
Has sought repose
With God above.

She's gone and left
All earthly care,
A home of brightness
To seek elsewhere.

How brave was she
When death was near
To part her from Her friends so dear.

We prayed she'd stay,
But God knew best,
So sent His angels
To give her rest.

Like a young flower
Cut down in bloom,
She faded to fill
An early tomb.

With tear-stained face,
And aching heart
We say farewell
When we must part.

God grant her peace
In after life
For her troubles in
This world of strife.

A FRIEND—L. C. D.

Galway, June 8th, 1898.

THE CALL COME QUICK.

Diarrhœa, Desentery, Cramps and Colic come on without a moment's warning.

Keep on Hand Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and be prepared to Check Them at Once.

There is no disease overtakes one so quickly and with so little warning as Colic or Diarrhœa. You are attacked, perhaps, when you least expect it.

You retire at night feeling in the best of health and before morning you may be seized with cramps and be prostrated with Diarrhœa or Dysentry,

Everybody should be prepared for such an emergency as this with a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. You cannot tell when you yourself or some member of your household may need its timely assistance.

Mrs. Geo. West, Huntsville, Ont., speaking of this great remedy says: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my family for years and can highly recommend it for for Summer Complaint, Diarrhœa, Cramps, &c.

That is the universal note of praise that comes from thousands of Canadian homes where Dr. Fowler's Strawberry is always kept and recognized as a remedy that can be relied on to promptly check and cure Diarrhœa, Dysentry, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic and Summer Complaint. Sold by medicine dealers everywhere at 35c a bottle.

Pretty Chairs and Tables.

If you are an admirer of pretty things in chairs and tables, see the beauties in Clegg's warerooms just now. Showy parlour and fancy corner tables in oak and mahogany, with and without brass feet. Artistic rattan rockers, quaker rockers, silk upholstered rockers, reception chairs, etc. Splendid selection, tempting prices. Little to pay, lots to look at. CLEGG'S, 427 George street.

BIG B. C. RIVER ON A RAMPAGE.

The Kettle Valley Flooded—Bridges and Roads Washed Away—Danger From Kootenay Lake.

Vancouver, B.C., June 8. — Kettle River, in the boundary country, is on the rampage, flooding roads and destroying bridges and causing great inconvenience and loss. News comes in very sparingly, owing to there being no telegraph service. The latest advices say the toll bridge at Hall's, completed two months ago, has been washed away, blockading freight traffic, though it is expected a ferry will soon be in operation. The condition up the valley is said to be serious.

At Greenwood the Boundary Falls and Rock Creek bridges have been washed away. At Grand Forks the larger part of the old town is under water. Mayor Manly's residence is submerged to the extent of five feet. The Miner office has three feet on the floor. Dynamite is being used to clear the driftwood away from the bridges, and a large gang of men are employed night and day in an attempt to restore traffic.

At Kaslo, Kootenay Lake continues to rise at the rate of several inches per day, while it is but a couple of feet below last year's highest point, from vast quantities of snow on the mountains. There is little doubt that it will go higher than in 1897. The water now covers the passenger tracks in front of the depot.

THE POLICY OF GERMANY.

Outlined by Government Minister—Foremost Duty to Oppose Revolutionary Socialism.

Berlin, June 8.—In response to a request for an outline of the official views of the tactics which should be followed at the coming elections, the Minister for the Interior, Count Posadowsky-Wahner, writes: "It is our foremost political duty to present a closely serried front to revolutionary socialism. The next Reichstag must afford the Government support in questions of international competition, and be ready to examine, without prejudice, the condition of home production, and especially the conditions of agriculture and the middle classes. In the interests of the working people the completion of the extension of legislation relating to workmen's insurance is absolutely requisite. Wherever it is impossible to elect espousers of this programme, opponents of Social Democrats should be supported. No elector who is loyal to the State should fail to vote."

GLADSTONE'S MONUMENT.

Her Majesty Will Direct a Monument to Be Erected in His Memory.

London, June 8.—In the House of Commons yesterday a message from Queen Victoria was read, announcing her Majesty's intention to direct the erection of a monument to the late William E. Gladstone in Westminster Abbey, in accordance with the wishes expressed in the address of the House of Commons to the Queen.

A Kangaroo Colony Near London.

If we were to break suddenly upon a London cyclist and tell him that within 20 miles of his great city there was a colony of wild kangaroos, he would probably either regard us as perverters of the truth or of being in immediate need of a straitjacket. Yet we are assured on the highest authority that such is the case, the colony existing on Leith Hill common. About 14 years ago some kangaroos escaped from Wootton House, where they had been kept in confinement. They took up their quarters near Leith bill and have remained and multiplied there ever since. It seems strange that such emblems of the far west should exist in a wild state where the great throb of London might almost be felt and where the hum of the wheel during the summer months is almost an unceasing song. — London Bicycling News.

A Theological Point.

That jovial Irishman and sturdy Calvinist, The Rev. John Hemphill, was having a stiff discussion with a Roman Catholic fellow countryman respecting the propriety of the prayers for the dead, the pastor of Calvary church, of course, opposing the practice. Neither of the controversialists would yield an inch. Finally the layman tried a specious argument:

"Now, doctor," he said, "if one of your parishioners should die and bequeath you $50,000, wouldn't you pray for him?"

"No, sir," replied the stalwart defender of his faith positively. "I wouldn't pray for him. But I would pray for another like him!"—San Francisco News Letter.

Only English Pope.

The only Englishman who ever ruled as pope was Nicholas Breakspear, who was born about the year 1100 at Langley, near St. Albans. He was unanimously elected for the papal chair in 1154 and bore the title of Adrian IV.—Westminster Gazette.

So He Could See.

Cadiz Fleet Expected.

New York, June 8.—A Kingston, Jamaica, special says: The Spanish Cadiz fleet, under Admiral Camara, is on the way to Santiago, and is expected to arrive there to-day. The insurgents are confident of taking and holding the city once the Spanish fleet is disposed of. If Camara comes he is Sampson's mutton. The insurgents will wait for surrender rather than take the city by assault, because Cuban families and foreigners will be massacred during the onslaught.

Sores Gone. Skin Clear.

CAIMANERA WAS NEXT

Another Town in Cuba Made to Suffer by Bombardment.

FIVE U. S. WARSHIPS TOOK PART

Shells Fell Like Hail and Did Great Damage to the Town—Spanish Artillery Driven Away—Battle Raged From 5.30 a.m. Till 2 in the Afternoon.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 9.—It is reported here that a great battle has taken place at Caimanera, on the Bay of Guantanamo. At 5.30 on Tuesday morning five ships of the American squadron opened a heavy bombardment on the fortifications of the town.

There was a perfect hail of bombs in the bay, striking and demolishing many houses beyond the fortifications. On the Spanish side the artillery replied vigorously, maintaining for some time a stout resistance. The fire from the warships, however, never slackened for an instant. It was regular and carefully directed, and a great majority of the shots proved effective.

The Spaniards were forced to abandon their positions on the shore and retreat to the town of Caimanera proper. It is supposed that later they fled from that position also, with the inhabitants.

Information has reached here that the Spanish at Santiago and Caimanera are preparing for a final desperate struggle, and are determined to resist the assaults of the Americans. The commander of the district issued orders yesterday to burn Caimanera before yielding it into the hands of the Americans. The latter forced the entrance of the Bay of Guantanamo and, according to the latest advices from Caimanera, it was feared that the Americans would make an effort to land forces there Wednesday afternoon. Measures to prevent this, if possible, have been taken by the Spaniards. The American fleet was still maintaining its position.

Cable communication with Cuba, which has been interrupted for many hours, was partially restored this afternoon. The report of the bombardment of Caimanera came by cable.

The bombardment destroyed a little house which sheltered the shore connection of the French cable at Caimanera, though whether by the explosion of bombs, or from the water, or by explosives used by a party sent for that purpose, is not known. The cables uniting the main cable with the office at Caimanera and the town of Caimanera with Santiago were cut, thus accounting for the prolonged absence of intelligence here as to operations in that vicinity. It is also believed that the cable at Santiago is out, as no direct news from Santiago has been received at Cape Haytien since Monday at midnight.

A CUBAN VICTORY.

Insurgents Defeat Spanish Troops—Over One Hundred Men and Officers Taken Prisoners.

New York, June 9.—News has just reached the Cuban Junta in this city of a victory achieved by the Cuban forces over a division of the Spanish army at Jiguani, Province of Santiago, on May 29. It was one of the most decisive battles which the patriots have gained in many months, and the most important one since the war was declared by the United States against Spain.

A column of Spanish soldiers, 1,300 strong, acting under orders from Havana to abandon the interior towns and advance towards the coast, evacuated the town of La Piedra, after having destroyed their forts and fortifications to prevent them from falling into the hands of the insurgents, and camped at Jiguani, where they expected to remain, awaiting further orders.

The Spaniards were surprised on the morning of May 29 by being attacked by a division of the first corps, belonging to General Calixto Garcia's command, under the leadership of Colonel Jose Rabi. The Cubans altogether numbered a little more than 1,000 men, while the Spaniards had fully twice that number. The Cubans advanced in good order, being well equipped with arms and ammunition, and took the enemy completely by surprise. At the start the Spaniards scattered, but afterwards made an effort to rally their forces. They only succeeded in being able to retreat in regular order to the village of Palma.

After six hours' hard fighting at Palma the Spaniards raised a flag of truce and expressed themselves as being willing to surrender. Terms were speedily arranged, and the Cubans took as prisoners one Spanish colonel, seven captains and several other officers, besides 103 soldiers. The Spanish loss amounted to 76 dead, besides a large number who were wounded. Included in the Spanish losses were 13 officers.

The Cubans sustained a heavy loss, but it was considerably smaller than that of the Spaniards. It is reported that there were 45 killed, including five officers of lesser rank and about 60 wounded. After the battle the Cubans returned to Jiguani. There they recovered a large quantity of arms and ammunition from the deserted Spanish camp, together with provisions and supply wagons, which the enemy had been compelled to leave behind. These were much needed, and were sent to the headquarters of General Garcia's camp at Bayamo.

Old Glory Waves.

Washington, June 9.—Admiral Sampson has captured a fort at Santiago and run up the Stars and Stripes.

As Published in Madrid.

Madrid, June 9.—A semi-official note was published here to-day, purporting to give an account of the bombardment of Santiago de Cuba by the American fleet on Monday last: "The American navy, under Admiral Sampson, has fiercely attacked Santiago de Cuba, and a bloody encounter ensued. The Americans made three attacks on the Spanish marine and land batteries, which replied. As a consequence, the Americans were repulsed with heavy losses, estimated at 1,500 men. The American projectiles, however, sank the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes."

Was Hobson a Target?

Washington, June 9.—Some anxiety is felt here for Lieut. Hobson and his comrades of the Merrimac exploit. It is possible that Cervera might place them in one of the forts in the hope that Sampson would not bombard it for fear of killing or injuring the Americans, but if that plan of averting bombardment was resorted to the Spanish Admiral would have a rather embarrassing account to settle in case of his capture.

HEAT AND HARD TACK

Seem to Be the Only Luxuries the Soldier Boys of Uncle Sam Are Getting at Tampa.

New York, June 9.—The Journal prints a number of letters from the soldiers who have gone to the front, and it is shown that what the United States Government don't know about handling an army would fill a large-sized book. Some of the epistles are given below:

These Fellows Have a Cook.

A non-commissioned officer of the Seventy-first Regiment, Company B, writing from Lakeland, Fla., says:

The high muck-a-mucks in Albany ought to learn something from this war. My experience shows me the men ought to be taught to cook for themselves.

If it were not for the fact that we discovered an ex-German army private in our company, who knows all the tricks of army cooking, we would have starved. Our first cook did not know how to make anything, and we had a poor time of it living on hard bread and beans and coffee.

Our second cook makes all sorts of soups and pies and pastries out of his materials, and we are living on the fat of the land, considering that it is almost a day's job to get a bath and a drink of water, and that half of our men have their shoes almost out at the toes.

Diet Largely Made Up of Coffee.

The father of this young man lives in East Thirty-second street. The letter to his brother has resulted in a hamper filled with hams and other things being sent to him:

Camp Thomas, Tampa, June 1.—Dear Brother John: We traveled for two and a half days from Chickamauga to Tampa without anything to eat. We did get some plain coffee, without sugar or milk, to drink, but nothing to eat with it.

The meals are not anything like we had at Chickamauga. At 6 o'clock in the morning we have coffee, without sugar or milk, and two crackers. Then we have a mess of salt pork and potatoes. Joseph ——.

A Poor Place for a Stray Chicken.

A member of Company D, of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, writes home as follows:

Camp Thomas, Tampa, June 1.—Dear ——: We have enough food—when we can get it—such as it is. You would not care very much for it. But we did not come out here to find fault. The meat tries our teeth, but its greatest point is its odor.

Thank heaven, however, the people here can get along, as they are hearty and strong, even if they should have to steal a stray chicken now and then to make out a meal.

While the meat may be tough and old, and be revealed by the smell before it reaches the mouth, I am keeping in good health, and so do not believe in grumbling. Yours affectionately, ——.

45,000 Men at Tampa, and All Broke.

This letter was received yesterday by a member of Company K, Sixty-ninth Regiment:

Camp Thomas, Tampa, June 2.—Up to yesterday our grub was very poor. It consisted of hard tack and salt pork. When we came here we did not expect porterhouse steak or corned beef and cabbage, but we did expect enough to eat.

There are 45,000 men here, and not a dollar among the whole push. The boys are not complaining of anything except that the pay is not materializing.

Hard Tack, Salt Pork and Potatoes.

The following letter was read at the armory of the 69th Regiment. It was signed, not by a private, but by a commissioned officer:

Camp Thomas, Tampa, June 2.—Dear John: Camp Black was a palace compared to this place. The boys have to sleep on gravel, with nothing under them but their rubber ponchos. We have had nothing to eat but hard tack, salt pork, potatoes and bum coffee.

Tell McKinley to Cut Us Loose.

A lad from Union Hill, N.J., who enlisted in Company E, Ninth New York, writes to a friend as follows:

Chickamauga, May 31.—Friend Mike: When I enlisted I thought my country wanted men to fight and not lie here, as we are doing. Tell your friend, the town clerk, to wire his friend McKinley to cut us loose. If he does the conflict will be of short duration, that I assure you.

The heat here is something terrible, and the eating is fierce—hard tack and beans three times a day. Tell your friend he ought to be glad he did not pass. We have to walk three miles for water to drink and wash with. The heat is terrible and I will look like Bill Thompson, the black boy, if I ever get home. Arthur.

Wonders if He Ever Had Meals.

This letter comes from a member of the 9th New York at Chickamauga Park:

My Dear Wife: I hate to kick, but it does seem tough. The officers have plenty of money and can wait, so nobody seems to think of us and how $15 makes a heap of difference to his folks.

Tell Johnny I can't send the piece of hardtack he wants, because there ain't more than enough to go around. Tell him he's in luck to get enough to eat. I lay awake sometimes and wonder if it's a fact I ever had three square meals a day.

Aguinaldo's Great Work.

London, June 9.—The Singapore correspondent of the Times telegraphing Tuesday says: "The local Philippine insurgent committee received to-day a despatch from Aguinaldo, saying: "We have taken all in the Province of Cavite and several towns in the Province of Batangas. We have captured ten guns, 600 red rifles and 1,200 Spaniards from Spain, with 800 Philippine Spaniards, killing 800. We are besieging Biejo. In the church are 300 Spaniards, entrenched, who must surrender soon. We hear that the Governor-General proposes to capitulate."

Terror Goes to the Bottom.

New York, June 9.—A Kingston, Jamaica, despatch says that a Spanish torpedo boat destroyer, supposed to be the Terror, was shattered and sunk as she was trying to sneak into Santiago harbor last night.

A Washington despatch says: It is officially confirmed that the Spanish torpedo-boat destroyer sunk by the American fleet at Santiago was the Terror.

Young Indian Murderer Must Die.

Kamloops, June 9.—Sa-Mi-En, an 18-year-old Siwash boy from Tatla Lake, is confined in the condemned cell in the new jail here. He is sentenced to be hanged on July 29 next. The Indian was refused a night's lodging by Lewis G. Elkins, a young Englishman who keeps a trading post at Tatla Lake, whereupon he picked up a gun and shot Elkins dead. Then he helped himself to a suit of clothes, stole Elkins' horse and rode away. Sa-Mi-En's execution will be the first to take place in Kamloops.

1,000 Barrels of Oil Per Day.

Thamesville, June 9.—The largest flow of oil since the Petrolea oil discovery has just been struck by Messrs. Trotter and McHugh of Chatham, while boring on the Herbert farm, situated about two miles from Thamesville in the Township of Zone. The well is pumping over 1,000 barrels a day, and is one of the largest wells ever struck.

To Keep Bicyclists Off the Track.

Toronto, June 9.—Yesterday the local sensation was the Toronto Street Railway Company's letter to the City Council asking that bicyclists be forbidden to ride on the track allowance of the railway. The Mayor considers the request cheeky. The legal aspect is now being looked into.

Both Legs Broken.

Arkona, Ont., June 9.—While William Moore was working in a gravel pit the banks caved in upon him. Both his legs were broken.

Time Spent In Shaving.

Think of the time lost in shaving. Campbell, the poet, calculated that a man who shaves himself every day and lives to the age of 70 expends during his life as much time in the act of shaving as would have sufficed for learning seven languages. Southey, commenting on this, minuted himself, May 15, 1830, during the act of shaving, and he found the time employed nine minutes. He neither hurried the operation nor lingered about it. Listen now to William Corbett concerning shaving: "As it may cost only about five minutes of time and may be and frequently is made to cost 30 or even 50 minutes and as only 15 minutes make about a fifty-eighth part of the hours of our average daylight, this being the case, this is a matter of real importance. I once heard Sir John Sinclair ask Mr. Cochrane Johnstone whether he meant to have a son of his, then a little boy, taught Latin. 'No,' said Mr. Johnstone, 'but I mean to do something a great deal better for him.' 'What is that?' said Sir John. 'Why,' said the other, 'teach him to shave with cold water and without a glass.'"—Boston Journal.

Head and Limbs

All Covered With Eruptions—Could Not Work, the Suffering Was So Great—Hood's Has Cured.

"I was all run down with complaints peculiar to my sex, and I broke out in sores on my body, head, limbs and hands, and my hair all came out. I was under the doctor's treatment a long time without benefit. They called my trouble eczema. Finally I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after I had used three or four bottles I found I was improving. I kept on until I had taken several more bottles and the sores and itching have disappeared and my hair has grown out." MRS. J. G. BROWN, Brantford, Ontario.

"I was all run down and had no appetite. I had a tired feeling all the time. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and it benefited me so much that I would not be without it." MRS. G. I. BURNETT, Central Norton, N. B.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Mail and Empire optimistically remarks that "the spirit of Sir John Macdonald is abroad in the land, and the party that he created will soon again rescue the country from misgovernment." Very likely—under leadership of the men who have pretty thoroughly wrecked and demoralised the party he created.

AFTER sharply criticizing Mr. Joseph Leiter, of Chicago, for his share in the scarcity of wheat in Europe, the London Outlook says: "Meanwhile the people's food supply looks gloomier than ever, and the British consumer's prospects no better than another's. Prices are steadily advancing. There is an extraordinary demand for wheat on the continent. Canada and Russia cannot be counted on to supply us with much more, and some experts believe that before another harvest comes round we will have to face an actual scarcity. As for the proposed storage in view of war, that call sfor a suspended judgment."

"YOUNG PHILLIPS, who was one of the expedition of eight who took the Merrimac into the channel of Santiago harbour, is a Canadian, son of an Intercolonial Railway official at St. John, N. B. There were a number of Canadians on the Maine, and one, a French-Canadian, was afterwards killed by the same shell that killed Ensign Bagley, on the Winslow. Is the American navy, asks the Montreal Herald, full of Canadians, or is it that the Canadians who are there supply more than their share of men who are in the dangerous places?" No matter how much special pluck Canadians may show, the glory will be coolly appropriated by Americans.

SENATOR VIDAL is recognised as an authority on temperance, and no motive would be imputed to him as hostile to the good of the cause. He is opposed to having "cider" embraced in the index expurgatorius of strong drinks to be included in the plebiscite vote. But the ultra virtuous Senate insists on the prohibition of cider being voted upon. Perhaps not so much in the interests of prohibition as with a view of submitting the question in a form of severe stringency that would alienate moderate men, and cause them to vote against a proposition that demanded too much. There is no more effective way perhaps to kill a good cause than to invest it with ridicule. Is it possible that the Senate, by adding the somewhat ridiculous proposition to force the public to abstain from making and drinking the innocent "cider," desires to discredit the question and add to it the elements of farce which is a very good way of assisting in its rejection. A certain local ward politician, on the occasion of his first election, was rewarded by a backer who had laid his money right, by opening a bottle. The local politician downed a foaming beaker of Mumm's extra dry, with the remark, "that's mighty good cider." The senators cannot be so innocent as that.

COUNTING THE COST.

The news that further appropriations are being asked from Congress for war purposes brings the question of what the present unpleasantness with Spain is going to cost Uncle Sam. On this point there are many and wide differences of opinion. In a recent United States Senate discussion Senator Jones, of Arkansas declared that the expenses of the war, even if extended into the summer of 1899, would not exceed $340,000,000. On the other hand Senator Allison, chairman of the committee on appropriations, and whose estimate should be more nearly correct, rated the expenses for the same period at nearly $380,000,000. Mr. Allison had a carefully prepared table, bearing out his contentions, which he read to the Senate. It contained the following figures: The amounts of the ordinary appropriations for the next fiscal year aggregate (less $51,000,000 for the sinking fund) $490,480,582. The total estimated revenues (including postal revenues,) Mr. Allison's tables showed were $482,874,647, an excess of $2,024,795 over the estimated ordinary appropriations for the war. Mr. Allison gave items as follows: National defense (act of March 9, 1898) $50,000,000; army fortifications and navy (act of May 4), $35,700,000; fortifications, $4,000,000; naval act (increase over 1898 for war purposes), $23,100,000; naval deficiencies, 1898, $22,275,000; naval establishment for 1899, additional $75,000,000; naval auxiliary bill, $4,000,000; immune bill and engineer bill, $15,000,000; army for 1899, additional, $150,000,000. Total appropriations on account of the war, $379,192,000. The free silver men in Congress are seeking to demonstrate that the expenses of the war will be comparatively small as the basis for argument against the issue of interest bearing bonds.

It is doubtless the hope of all good citizens that the war may be brought to early close with the least possible expense and loss of life. At the same time it is not the part of wisdom to under-estimate the possibilities involved.

The Spanish may be able to continue the war for many months, and from present indications, it would seem that as far as possible a policy of delay is being followed out by Spain so as to postpone its inevitable crushing defeat as long as possible. Under these circumstance Uncle Sam will be fortunate if he succeeds in ending the war, at a cost not greater than Senator Allison's estimate.

NAVAL STRENGTH.

A parliamentary paper has just been issued in Great Britain setting forth the naval strength of the powers. The return gives the strength both in vessels built and in vessels building, and the figures are interesting. Under the head of battleships Great Britain possesses 52 built, as against 27 owned by France, 12 by Russia, 17 by Germany, 15 by Italy, 5 by the United States and 3 by Japan. The Dual Alliance by which are meant France and Russia, thus has 39 to the British Empire's 52. Of armoured cruisers, Great Britain has 18, France 9, Russia 10, Germany 3, Italy 3, the United States 2 and Sapan 1. Of protected cruisers Great Britain has 95, France 30, Russia 3, Germany 7, Italy 15, the United States 14 and Japan 10. Of unprotected cruisers Great Britain has 16, France 16, Russia 3, Germany 21, Italy 1, the United States 10 and Japan 8. Of armoured coast defense ships, Great Britain has 15, France 14, Russia 15, Germany 11, the United States 20 and Japan 3. As for torpedo flotillas, Great Britain has 35 torpedo vessels, 50 destroyers and 98 boats; France 13 torpedo vessels, no destroyers, and 211 boats; Russia 17 torpedo vessels, 1 destroyer and 174 boats; Germany 2 torpedo vessels, no destroyers and 113 boats; Italy 15 torpedo vessels, no destroyers and 142 boats; the United States torpedo flotilla is limited to 8 boats; Japan has one torpedo vessel and 44 boats.

Turning to vessels building, which, of course, range from ships launched and having their guns and armour put on board to ships authorized but not yet laid down, the record is interesting. Great Britain has twelve battleships building to France's 8, Russia's 6, Germany's 5, Italy's 2, 8 belonging to the United States and 3 to Japan. Of armoured cruisers Great Britain is building 8, France 10, Russia 1, Germany, 2 Italy 2, the United States 1 anp Japan 6. Of protected cruisers, Great Britain is building 24, France 10, Russia 3, Germany 8, Italy 3, the United 1 and Japan 6. In the torpedo line Great Britain is building 46 destroyers and no others, France 3 torpedo vessels, 8 destroyers and 38 boats; Russia 28 destroyers and no others; Germany 1 destroyer aud 9 boats; Italy 1 destroyer and 2 boats; the United States 20 destroyers and 22 boats, and Japan 8 destroyers and 12 boats.

The statement thus set forth shows how rapidly other countries, especially France and Russia, are gaining on Britain. At present the proportion in battleships is 52 British to 39 Russian and French; when all these have been completed it will be 64 to 53, a gain of about 2½ per cent. for the Dual Alliance. Further, the foreigners can now build nearly as fast as can the British. This rapid increase is still more disturbing for another reason. These totals of battleships include many very old craft of little real value. Taking really modern ships, built within the past ten years, Great Britain has now but 22, against 16 owned by the Dual Alliance; whereas when the building is all completed Great Britain will have 34 and the Dual Alliance 30, a very substantial gain for France and Russia.

THE BUSINESS OF THE COUNTRY.

In a Prosperous Condition—Excellent Authority for the Statement.

At the recent meeting of the Bank of Montreal, the shareholders were treated to very optimistic addresses by Hon. Geo. A. Drummond, vice-president, and Mr. E. Clouston, general manager. According to these gentlemen, who occupy excellent positions for arriving at sound conclusions in such matters, the business of the country is in an excellent condition, all industries having shared in the revival attendant upon the receipt of increased prices for last year's harvest. The lumber trade, it is regrettable to observe, constitutes a sole exception to this statement. Mr. Clouston's address indicates that the development of the mining regions of the West, which is now passing "from the chrysalis stage into actual development and production, has furnished a new market which has made possible a largely increased output in many lines of industry." Senator Drummond lays stress upon the need of a fast line of steamships, "as such a line is of vital importance not only to the trunk lines of railway but to the Dominion."

The comments made at the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal are always looked for in Canada as a guide to business men. I may safely be said that not for a long time has there been so evident a feeling of confidence in the business outlook as appears in the addresses of the vice-president and general manager at this year's meeting.

The annual sermon to the Foresters was delivered in the Baptist church by Rev. H. S. Erb. The members of Court Lakefield No. 43 assembled in their court room on Sunday morning last and marched in procession, to the number of about sixty, to the Baptist church, where a good sermon was preached to them by Mr. Erb, his subject being "True Manliness. He took for his text I. Kings, ii, 2—"Be strong and show thyself a man." The circumstances surrounding my text is solemnly impressive. Indeed, Israel's warlike king was dying. He who tore lions in pieces, conquered his enemies is now being conquered by man's last enemy, death. Solomon was but young, the responsibilities of the kingdom were great, and the dying monarch well knew that if the sterling qualities of true manhood were wanting in his son he would lose the respect of his subjects, and thus pave the way to personal ruin and national disaster.

I fancy that with all the strength at his disposal he emphasised the exhortation, be strong. The possession of true manliness was necessary to Solomon's success as a king and governor. So true manliness is necessary to make life the highest success in any of its walks.

In studying your aims and constitution, I see that you fully endorse the thought. The characteristics of a true man are set forth in those three words—Liberty, Benevolence and Concord, the initials of which appear on so many badges before me.

1. Liberty. Every true man is a free man, the difference in ideas being expressed in the words subject and slave. A subject is one who although bound to yield obedience to a sovereign or government, enjoys unlimited freedom from the pale of that obedience, but when the will and conscience are subordinate to the baser passions of the human heart, true manhood is entirely wanting and the man is reduced to absolute slavery.

2. Benevolence. Every true man is a benevolent man. Hence every true man has an inward disposition to do good to others.

3. Concord. I am safe in saying that every true man should be an agreeable man. It does not necessarily follow that a man must not have opinions of his own. Every man must stand on his own convictions of truth and duty, but a true man is always as agreeable as circumstance will permit.

Every true man is a living embodiment of the principles expressed in your three motto words, Liberty Benevolence and Concord.

There is nothing God delights more to honour than a true man.

I am incomplete of myself.
I ought to be complete.
I can be made complete in Christ.
I will be made complete in Him.

These are the stepping stones by which we climb from the vale of morbid selfishness into the higher altitude of noble Christian manhood.

May God help us to be true to ourselves, true to each other, true to our God.

The members then reformed and returned to their court room, when votes of thanks were passed to Rev. Mr. Erb for his eloquent sermon, and to the choir for their music.

Toronto, May 30—(By telegraph) With reference to his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Diabetes, Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, Toronto Street Railway motorman No. 634, writes corroborating the report of his cures.

Mr. O'Reilly says: "For three years I suffered horribly, in spite of all the medicines I tried. Not one of them gave the least relief. I endured the torture of scalding pains while urinating, and all the other agonies of Diabetes.

"Finally I was induced to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The first dose did me good and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

A STRONG ARGUMENT.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,201.82, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $650.60, or a Life Annuity for $401.20, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

Yours truly,
A. P. COCKBURN.

MANITOBA IS TO GET $267,000.

No More Legislation to Be Introduced in the House This Session—The Debate on the Manitoba Allowances—The Franchise Bill Again in the Commons—Debate Adjourned.

Ottawa, June 9.—When the House of Commons met yesterday Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved that an address be presented to Lord Aberdeen, Governor-General, on the occasion of his approaching departure from Canada. The address and the Premier referred to many features of Lord Aberdeen's administration.

Mr. Foster, in seconding the motion, desired to be frank. He admitted that there was a constitutional difference of opinion between the leader of the Conservative party and the Governor-General, and as far as he was concerned, as well as many of the Conservative party, they entirely agreed with the position taken by Sir Charles Tupper. But having said that much, he did not consider that a point of difference in constitutional procedure should prevent any of them from acknowledging and appreciating the many excellencies which characterized the Governor-General's administration in Canada. (Hear, hear). There were very many things in connection with the stay of their Excellencies in Canada which were particularly gratifying to the people of this country. All the cities of the Dominion had been the recipients of their favors, and no Governor-General had ever made himself more intimately acquainted with all parts of the Dominion. They extended their hospitality to all classes in Canada, and all would unite in that part of the address which referred to the unswerving loyalty of the people of Canada to her Majesty.

The motion was adopted.

Subsidy for a Quebec Bridge.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that he had no further information about the fast line.

Mr. Foster asked the Premier if the report in the press was correct that he was favorable to a subsidy of a bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec. It would take something like a million dollars.

Sir Wilfrid said that he was personally favorable to a subsidy for this bridge, and might ask his colleagues for a subsidy. He, however, could not gather from the hon. gentlemen if they would favor a subsidy.

Mr. Foster—The rules of the House will not permit me to enter into debate. (Laughter).

Manitoba's Allowances.

Mr. Fielding moved the House into committee on the resolution to provide that the sum of $284,000, being the cost of the erection and furnishing of the Legislative buildings and Government House at Winnipeg, which was charged against the Province of Manitoba debt account, be credited to that account. He explained that the Government had decided not to include the furnishing, and, therefore, the sum of $17,000 would be deducted, which would make the amount $267,000.

There was another item of $110,000 which Manitoba claimed since 1884, but the Government decided not to open up the settlement in 1885, which was held to be final. It was never, he said, intended to charge against the province the cost of the erection of the Legislative buildings.

At Too Late an Hour.

Mr. Foster protested against bringing down important legislation of this kind at so late a date in the session.

Dr. Sproule objected to the payment of the amount, and held that it was part of the bargain for that settlement of the school question.

Mr. LaRiviere said that it was a mere matter of bookkeeping.

No More Legislation.

A short bill was introduced by Mr. Mulock in regard to the special delivery system. It was read a first time.

In reply to Mr. Foster Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that there would be absolutely no more legislation than was before the House, and if the Opposition objected, the Postmaster-General would not press the bill, which had just been circulated.

Afternoon Session.

In the afternoon, on the Manitoba school question, Mr. Madean warned the Government that they were opening the door for the readjustment of the financial relations between the provinces and the Dominion.

Mr. Fielding said that it bore no relation to conditions in any other province. The debate was continued by Mr. Bergeron, who said that the statute provided that the fund should be held in perpetuity by the Government, interest paid the province, but no money taken from capital account.

The Premier Speaks.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier claimed that the consent of the provincial legislature was sufficient to override this and that the opening of one hundred new schools since 1896 made the vote imperatively necessary. The Finance Minister maintained that the 2,000,000 acres of school lands remaining would yield a $15,000,000 trust fund, of which $800,000 could well be spared. He concluded by reading an application from Mr. D. H. McMullen, Provincial Treasurer of Manitoba, for the refund of $100,000 last year and $200,000 in addition during the present one.

The debate continued throughout the afternoon.

The vote passed in the evening, as well as the first reading of the bill enforcing it.

In the evening Mr. Morrison's private bill to incorporate the Anglo-French Telegraph Company, Limited, was talked out by Mr. Richardson.

Objected to Amendments.

The Franchise bill, as amended by the Senate, was then taken up and Solicitor-General Fitzpatrick voiced the sentiment of the Government in refusing to concur in the second and principal amendment.

This one, it will be remembered, provides for an appeal to a judge in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Manitoba against the revision of the voters' lists by the provincial officials.

Mr. Fitzpatrick adduced the following reasons for this course: Because, first, the exception from the operation of the bill of the provinces named was inconsistent with and subversive of the principle of the bill; secondly, the procedure under the Act would be entirely inadequate and could not be carried on without expensive machinery; thirdly, they provided, in fact, for the continuation in the provinces named of the present systems, and lastly, because the passing of the amendment by the Senate interferes with the undoubted right and privilege of the House of Commons to deal with the franchise under which members of the House are elected and is the more unwarranted inasmuch as the country had pronounced in favor of the principle of the bill.

Amendments related to this were also objected to by the Minister, and, by request of Mr. Foster, the debate on the amended bill was deferred until to-day.

$50,000 for 3,000 Lee-Enfields.

After midnight the House in supply took up the militia supplementary, and a vote of $50,000 was concurred in to purchase 3,000 Lee Enfield carbines to complete the accoutrements of the militia. The House adjourned at 1.15 a.m.

THE SENATE.

Ottawa, June 9.—In the Senate yesterday Senator Landry wanted to know if the Government proposed, by the resolution now before Parliament, giving the Governor-General-in-Council power to pay the Manitoba Government $800,000 out of the school funds held in trust by the Federal Government, to be expended on the maintenance of Public schools of the province, to ignore the right of the minority to a share in the moneys proposed to be granted.

Hon. David Mills explained that the Government was bound to hand over the money when it was demanded for Public schools.

On the motion for the third reading of the bill respecting the transport contract of Her Majesty and the Winnipeg & Great Northern Railway Company, Senator Boulton moved a six months' hoist to the bill. The motion for a hoist was declared lost, and the bill was read a third time.

Appointed Grain Inspector.

Mr. John Hurley, of Peterborough, has been appointed by the Dominion Government grain inspector for the Kingston district, which extends from that city inclusive to near Toronto. Mr. Hurley succeeds the late Wm. Bletcher, of Port Hope, who occupied that position for many years. Mr. Hurley's appointment will be a convenience to Peterborough shippers of grain. It is satisfaction to know that his selection meets with the approval of the grain merchants of the district. Mr. Hurley is known to be an expert in his judgment of grains, having had a long practical experience. His emoluments come entirely from fees. It is confidently expected that his services will be in every way satisfactory.

Another Tree Pest.

Mr. D. H. Burritt has left with THE EXAMINER a terminal twig of maple upon which is a pair of queer objects, the nests of some insect. From the twig, which is about an inch in diameter, rises a circular, or rather oval, brown scale at an angle of about forty-five degrees the scale coming to a point at its attachment. In the angle formed by the scale and the twig is placed, attached to the twig and resting against the scale, a puffy ball of intense whiteness, looking very much like a drop of whipped cream. But on closer examination this little ball is composed of an exceedingly fine web, which can be stretched out several inches. This web contains a living, wriggling mass of eggs or small insects, which cannot be determined by an ordinary glass. It would be worth some local entomologist's time to investigate this matter. These little objects are said to be found in great numbers on the terminal twigs of the maple trees in the southern ward, though it is not yet known whether they appear in other parts of the town.

Clarke & Gibson's Sale.

The public have seldom had such an opportunity of buying reliable jewelry, watches, clocks, etc., as that now presented by the dissolution sale at Clarke & Gibson's Jewelry Store, which has been going on for the past two weeks. The important change which has taken place in this well-known firm of jewellers, by which the long existing partnership has been wound up by Mr. Clarke's retirement, has decided Mr. Gibson to inaugurate a special reduction sale of every line of goods in the store. The attractions in this store, as may be readily conjectured, are of the most genuine character. Every article has been reduced from the original price marks. The high grade character of this stock, and the unusually low prices which prevail, should give everyone interested in jewelry, a rare chance of procuring what she wishes. Everything from the simple to the elaborate, from the trifles to the precious stone—all that is newest—all that is in demand, whether for personal use or for presentations—may be procured now at prices very much below regular values. It will pay you to visit the store and look at the stock, which is excelled by no other in the business.

Special 8 p. m. dispatch to the Examiner.

German Navy at Manilla Strengthened.

New York, May 9—A despatch to the World from Berlin says: Germany's naval force at Manilla is to be strengthened by the addition of another powerful cruiser. The object of this move is not explained.

Spanish Ships Cruising at Gibraltar.

Gibraltar, June 9.—The Spanish battleship Pelayo and three torpedo boats are constantly cruising in the straits of Gibraltar. The armed cruiser Carlo Alberto has sailed for Cuban waters.

Dark Hour for Spain.

New York, June 9—A Madrid despatch says it is rumoured that a part of the reserve fleet left Cadiz to-day. The Navy and the Government purpose to make a prolonged mystery of the movements of the movements of this fleet. The American operations against Santiago cause grave apprehensions in Madrid. Great efforts will be made by the Spanish forces to oppose a landing by the Americans to effect a junction with the Cuban Insurgents. The land defences of the town of Santiago being weak, they could not resist the powerful artillery. There is anxiety in high quarters due to a presentment the Americans will make a desperate rush, seize Santiago and destroy Admiral Cervera's fleet, which would entail serious political consequences in Spain.

U. S. Army Sailed from Tampa To-day.

London, June 9.—A Washington correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, with the approval of General Greasley, cables the following: The army sailed from Tampa at noon to-day (Wednesday). The force numbers 27,000 men, composed of cavalry, infantry, artillery, engineers and signal corps.

Spanish Garrison at Manilla Wants to Surrender.

Madrid, June 9th.—It is rumoured that the Spanish Garrison at Manilla, rather than be massacred by the insurgents, prefer to yield to the Americans as prisoners of war. General Correa, Minister of War, declares that Captain General Augusti will defend himself to the last. General Lopez Dominis believes that the intervention of the powers is imminent, because the fate of the Philippines interests all Europe.

The Santiago Bombardment—Interesting Details.

London, June 9—The Morning Post's correspondent cabled out his version of the bombardment at Santiago. He said: We had a good view of Monday's bombardment. When the fleet opened fire the Spanish batteries answered promptly. Soon the heavy batteries armed with Krupps and Armstrong guns, poured in a storm of flame, but their aim proved poor and the warships suffered comparatively little damage. The Yankee, manned by the militia, kept in shore fighting the batteries near the beach and did useful work. The militia have good proof of their value, though they fought perhaps with too much eagerness, thus losing some efficiency. The Dolphin shelled a small fort near the beach where the Spanish troops were seen. No reply was made and very little damage was done to the American ships. We could see the shells striking the hills, tearing the trees down and scattering the rocks and earth in all directions. All the Spanish guns on the sea front, with the exception of the smooth bores in Morro Fort, were silenced, and many were ruined.

Spanish Queen Regent in Poor Health

London, June 9.—Madrid correspondence of the Dail News says the Queen Regent is said to be in ill health. She hardly ever appears in public, though she drives daily in the wilderness behind the palace.

British Consular Secretary Banished.

New York, June 9.—A despatch from St. Thomas, W.I., to the New York Journal, says:—"Suspected of having furnished the United States with information of the mining of San Juan harbour, Walter Bett, secretary of the British consulate at that port has received his passports and been banished from Porto Rico by order of Governor-General Macras.

The Spanish Warships Reach Havana Harbour.

Key West, June 9.—There are persistent rumours here, credited by some high naval officers, that three Spanish warships have forced their way into Havana harbour.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

Mr. John O'Donnell of Bobcaygeon, says He was Relieved of Five Hundred Dollars.

A telephone message was received this morning at Police Headquarters, from Lakefield, stating that John O'Donnell, lumberman, of Bobcaygeon had been held up on his way home from from Peterborough and robbed of $500 by a masked man.

Mr. O'Donnell's statement is that he was driving home to Bobcaygeon to pay off his men and by way of Bridgenorth and Buckhorn. When in the vicinity of Selwyn, a masked man suddenly caught the horse by the head and pistol in hand demanded Mr. O'Donnell's money, which Mr. O'Donnell states he promptly turned over to him.

As the alleged highway robbery took place outside the town limits the police have turned the case over to Constable Archie Moore.

Mr. O'Donnell was in Peterborough, yesterday, but inquiring at the local banks, failed to reveal that he drew this amount of money from any of them. He was seen driving through Bridgenorth during the afternoon.

THE FIFTY-SEVENTH BAND.

WANT OF HARMONY, WHERE ONLY HARMONY IS EXPECTED.

Unsatisfactory Relations Between Bandmaster Miller, the Band Members and the Officers of the 57th—The Bandmaster Suspended Pending an Investigation by the Officers, and Temporarily Reinstated Awaiting the Report of the Band Committee.

For some time past there has been an undercurrent of dissatisfaction on the part of the Fifty-Seventh Band, with the leadership of Mr. F. W. Miller, bandmaster, and the failure of the band to creditably support the battalion on the occasion of the Queen's Birthday visit to Kingston, in the face of the thousands of assembled citizens and co-operating military, brought a crisis, which, on the return of the band to town, found expression in the suspension of Mr. Miller, bandmaster, pending an investigation.

The investigating committee, composed of Col. Bell, Major Langford, Capt. Denistoun, Lieut. Mills and Lieut. Matthews, inquired into the circumstances of the failure of the band at Kingston to hold up the credit of the battalion in the march past. The result of the inquiry while not, it is understood, justifying the course of the bandmaster under the circumstances mentioned, was the decision to adopt a lenient course, represented by the temporary re-instatement of Bandmaster Miller.

The members of the band and officers of the battalion, it is said, feel that for some time the band has not been kept up to the state of efficiency which the ability of the members, under properly attentive and watchful leadership, would have attained, and the musicians in the band who take a loyal pride in its success, feel that they are handicapped in the matter by obsolete and unsuitable instruments in some cases, and by leadership not kept in touch with modern methods in military band training. This is said to be the gist of the statements made by some members to the investigating committee.

The members of the band feel that they constitute the material for a first-class up-to-date band. The battalion officers contribute $300 per year, which goes to the bandmaster, and the members receive 75c for every afternoon or evening turnout, or $1.50 for a full day's parade. The officers feel that the contribution of about $300 a year justifies them in expecting they shall have a first-class band. The town also contributes $250 to the bandmaster's emoluments and this added to the incidental income in the form of a double share to the bandmaster of all receipts for engagements warrant the band in believing that lack of remuneration is no excuse for the failure in leadership they have, they think, reason to complain of. Whatever the outcome of the unpleasantness that has arisen, it is to be hoped that the band in which the citizens take so much pride, will not be allowed to deteriorate, a hope that also applies to the bugle band, which, it is claimed, was not as efficient as it might have been.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Annie Dawson of Town, and Mr. A. W. Clemens, of Darlington.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. Charles Dawson, No. 247 Aylmer street, when his eldest daughter, Miss Annie Dawson, was united in marriage to Mr. Albert W. Clemens, a prosperous young farmer of Darlington.

The ceremony was performed in the parlour beneath a beautiful floral horseshoe, the officiating minister being Rev. R. J. Harvey Strike, of the Democretville Methodist church, who is an old friend of the groom.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in a cream organdy silk gown trimmed with chiffon and lace, and wore a moire silk sash. She also carried a very handsome bouquet of white bride roses. Her bridesmaid was Miss Florence Alice, of Bowmanville, who looked most attractive in organdy muslin and white moire sash, and carrying a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The groom was assisted by Mr. Chas. N. Dawson, brother of the bride.

A large number of the bride's friends were in attendance, and at the conclusion of the ceremony partook of a sumptuous wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Clemens left on the 4.10 C.P.R. train for an extended western trip, after which they will take up their residence at Darlington.

LAST NIGHT'S EXCURSION

A Moonlight Under the Auspices of the Salvation Army.

The threatening weather last night kept many from participating in the Salvation Army moonlight excursion last evening who would otherwise have been there.

About a hundred citizens patronized the excursion and a very pleasant evening was spent on the City of Peterborough. A large number of torches were taken along and when these were lit and the big steamer made her way down the river, the scene was a pretty one.

The S. A. band was in attendance and a meeting was held on the boat.

The report of the Temperance Committee is to be printed in sufficient numbers in tract form. Rev. D. O. Crossley was tendered of Conference for his able services of five years as treasurer of the Superannuation Fund of the Conference. Rev. G. H. Copeland was elected to fill his place.

THE HEARTY THANKS

The necessity of the reduction of ten per cent. on the claims of the superannuated ministers was deprecated, and the general conference was urged to devise means for increasing the income, if possible, so that claimants may be paid in full.

The report on the state of the work was unique as well as thorough. It recommended that boundaries be adjusted so as to lessen the number of districts and of circuits, preaching places should be rearranged; it also recognizes the great benefit of evangelistic services held by pastors uniting therfor; Sabbath schools should be made more use of as a means of increasing the membership of the church. The address of Dr. Workman on this subject was both an illumination and inspiration and led to a conversation that was very beneficial. Finally the debate was closed and the report adopted after an address thereon by his Hon. Judge Dean.

Rev. S. T. Bartlett presented the report of the Epworth League Committee. There is an increase of 21 leagues, and of over 500 leaguers, and in givings to the mission fund, owing largely to the influence of the forward missionary movement. It recommends the adoption of the programme of the forward movement in evangelistic work.

The final statistical report presented by Rev. N. D. Drew, showed a total membership of 40,630, a slight increase. Sunday School scholars aggregate the same number. The total missionary giving is $27,600, total financial reports for all purposes considerably over a quarter of a million, an increase of 5 per cent.; value of church property, a million and a half; total debt is but 9 per cent. of total value. Its recommendations asks that thoroughly efficient district secretaries be elected to office, and that a provisional auditing committee be appointed during the special ministerial session of the district meeting. Rev. J S. McMullen was reappointed Conference Statistican. The report of was read and satisfaction was expressed at its successful work. On the presentation of the report on temperance, it was ordered that the reference to tobacco therein be eliminated, whereupon a committee of five was struck, and later reported that earnest efforts be made by officers in the church, Sunday schools and leagues to educate the children under their care as to the physiological and moral effects of tobacco.

A memorial service was held in connection with the deaths of Rev. James Greener and Rev. James Kines. The former was 85 years of age at his death. His name was a benediction far beyond the reach of the Conference. Rev. James Kines, after serving the church in many of its best appointments, died during his Cobourg pastorate, aged 57 years. Obituaries were read concerning both, and words of tender remembrance were spoken by many.

The report of the Sabbath School Committee set forth an increase in schools and scholars and a phenomenal increase of Methodist school periodicals. It recommended that schools be left open the whole year. It was ordered that the reports of colleges shall not be printed in the minutes this year. The question of printed minutes was touched several times. The following resolution was finally carried:—"That it be an instruction to the Secretary of Conference that an average of ten copies be sent to each circuit and five to each mission, unless advised otherwise, within ten days after the rise of Conference, provided that a sufficient number be ordered to reduce the price to at least 25 cents each." A note asked the Conference to memorialize the General Conference to arrange the meeting of annual Conference as to enable the General Conference officers to make an to as many of the annual Conferences as possible. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the kind friends of Lindsay for their kind hospitality. The resolution therefor is to be read on Sunday in Lindsay pulpits. Rev. F. B. Stratton was elected delegate to the General Board of Missions. The pastorate address was read by the President. After a few verbal changes it was adopted. The document this year sweeps the whole work of the church.

As to the number of copies of the minutes it was determined to memorialize the General Conference to ask in connection with church periodicals how many copies of the minutes are required.

Messrs. A. C. H. Huffman, R. E. Finley, S. J. Green and George McConnell will be ordained for special purposes. These young men are not through their probation, but as they are sent to mission fields, far from the reach of ordained ministers, this action is taken to give them the right to perform the functions of a minister while still they are not members of Conference, or in other words, full ministers. Rev. J. M. Bates was granted permission to engage in evangelistic work.

A motion of Rev. Dr. Crothers and supported by Dr. Mallory asked that no particular church should be regarded with any special favour by the Government, and that the existing various discriminations and regulations which oppose the principles of religious equality be abolished. It also requested that the General Conference memorialize the Right Hon. the Secretary of State for the Colonies to abolish the present order of precedence for the clergy on State occasions in Canada.

The Board of Examiners for the Conference are:—Rev. Messrs. O. R. Lambly, M. A., D.D., chairman; J. P. Wilson, B.A.; T. J. Edmison, B.A., B.D., secretary-treasurer; J. A. McCamus, W. R. Young, B.A., G. W. McColl, B.A., B.D., W. Johnston, W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., W. J. Crothers, M.A., D.D.

The ministers moving as usual are responsible for the work for two Sabbaths after the rising of the Conference. The Billeting Committee of next Conference are the pastors of the churches in Belleville and one member of each Quarterly Board. The president and secretary of Conference and pastors for next year in Belleville are a Committee on Public Services. Thanks were tendered to the choir for its helpful music. Revs. Messrs. C. W. Watch, J. C. Wilson and F. B. Stratton are the reserved delegates to General Conference in their order. After the reading of the minutes the president briefly addressed the Conference and its sessions closed at 5 o'clock.

BUILD A NEW FACTORY.

The Finance Committee Decides to Grant Mr. B. F. Ackerman Exemption From Taxes for Ten Years.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee last night in the town clerk's office, there were present Councillors Deane, chairman, the Mayor, and Councillors Best, Cobb and McWilliams.

It was decided to recommend the council to take a pile of stone from George Steers to apply on his taxes.

It was moved by Councillors McWilliams and Cobb, that the Good Templars be granted $25, to assist in defraying the cost of decorating the streets next week on the occasion of the meeting of the Grand Lodge.—Lost.

The Mayor was appointed to extend a civic welcome on behalf of the town to the visitors. If he is unable to act he was empowered to select one of the councillors.

Messrs. B. F. Ackerman and D. W. Dumble appeared before the committee, the former stating that finding the present premises occupied by him as a harness factory too small, he intended leaving them, and had been offered substantial inducements to locate in other towns. He preferred, however, remaining in Peterborough, and if the council would be prepared to grant him exemption for ten years from taxation, he proposed to erect new buildings on the lot just across from his present premises, and to employ a large number of new hands.

The committee and a number of other councillors present, making in all a majority of the council, were in favour of granting Mr. Ackerman's request, and instructions were given to have the necessary by-law prepared.

The committee adjourned after going through a number of accounts.

THE ENNISMORE PICNIC.

A Large Attendance—The Unwelcome, but Still Welcome, Rain Prevents the Carrying out of the Programme.

But for the intervention of Jupiter Pluvius, this year's Ennismore picnic would have ranked with the best of the series. There was a large attendance, including many from Peterborough, among whom were Ven. Archdeacon Casey and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.

An excellent dinner, provided by the ladies, was served, but owing to the downpour of the otherwise welcome rain, which practically assures the success of the crops, the usual picnic enjoyments and the sports and games were rendered impracticable.

DOURO PICNIC.

The Douro picnic, the annual fete of St. Joseph's Parish, Douro, will be held this this year on Thursday, June 16th. The general public cordially invited. Always successful; always enjoyable.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

RICHES IN TRIFLES.

Some Big Fortunes That Have Come From Little Inventions.

It has become almost an axiom with the majority that larger fortunes are to be raised from some simple invention than from difficult and expensive inventions that involve a great outlay of money to manufacture. This is to a certain extent true. A certain American patent for fastening kid gloves has yielded a fortune of several hundred thousand dollars for its fortunate owner, and the inventor of a collar clasp enjoys $20,000 royalty a year as the reward for his endeavor. A new kind of sleeve button has made $50,000 in five years for its patentee, and the simple twisting of safety pins in such a way that there is no possible danger of the point sticking in the child promises to enrich its owner beyond any of his early dreams of wealth. A man one day turned a piece of wire so as to hold a cork more securely in a bottle and forthwith somebody saw a brilliant idea and patented the modern wire stopper holder, which is now used annually on several million bottles. The accidental bending of a hairpin by a woman to prevent it from sliding out of her hair so easily produced a fortune for her husband, who immediately saw the possibilities of a crinkled hairpin for women.

Instances could be multiplied indefinitely of large fortunes being made from small inventions, but fortunately for those inventors who make a life study of intricate problems of mechanics and disdain to waste their talents upon trivial, popular articles of the day there is often also ample reward held in store for the products that take years to produce and which revolutionize existing methods of industry and mechanics.

Edison has reaped honors and riches of a princely character from his discoveries; McCormick has realized in his reaper the fortunes of a millionaire; the Corliss engine brought honors and decorations to its inventor and enabled him to amass a great fortune in a few years; Professor Bell found in his telephone not only the consummation of his early hopes and ambitions, but a substantial pecuniary reward; harveyized steel armor has become synonymous with the inventor's name, and it brings an annual income of huge proportions to its discoverer; Elias Howe, the inventor of the sewing machine, realized over $2,000,000 from his inventions, and Nikola Tesla, though still young and rich in promises, finds an abundance of money in his work.—George Ethelbert Welsh in Cassier's Magazine.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fulness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only take the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism.

Too Classic For Them.

A resident in a small suburban town quite a long distance from Boston had a visit from a German friend who knew very little English but played the violin well. One of this resident's neighbors gave a "musical evening," and of course he and his visitor were invited. The German took his violin, and when his turn came he played one of his best pieces, from one of the great masters.

When he had finished, there was an awkward silence and no applause. The people were still looking expectantly at the German, who looked disappointed and flustered. The silence grew painful.

Finally the hostess, quite red in the face, edged over to the side of the German's friend.

"Can't you get him to?" she whispered.

"What do you mean?"

"Why, now that he's got tuned up, don't he going to play something?"—Youth's Companion.

Wheat Still Declining in All the Leading Markets—Fine Crop Reports—Latest Quotations.

Tuesday Evening, June 7.

Bears continue to have things their own way in the wheat markets. Bradstreet's reported an increase of nearly 2,000,000 bushels in the world's visible supply since a week ago, and the latest advices from the West are to the effect that the incoming crop will be one of the largest in history. These considerations and lower cables caused another slump in the Chicago board this morning, and, despite a slight rally, induced by a feeling that the worst has reached an extremely low point, the June delivery closed with a loss of 5c per bushel for the day, July declining 2c, September ½c and December ⅝c.

Other American markets declined, and at Toronto, Ontario red was dull around 94c and 95c middle freights.

On the Liverpool board spot wheat declined 6d per cental, July 7d, Sept. 3½d and December 1¾d.

World's Visible Supply.

According to Bradstreet's, the American and Canadian visible supply of wheat east of the Rockies decreased 1,747,000 bushels during the past week, and the quantity in Europe and afloat increased 4,400,000 bushels. Thus last week there was an increase in the world's visible supply of 2,653,000 bush, against a decrease in the corresponding week last year of 3,353,000 bushels.

"THE RIDDLE OF THINGS THAT ARE."

We walk in a world where no man reads
The riddle of things that are,
From a tiny fern in the valley's heart
To the light of the largest star,
Yet we know that the pressure of life is hard
And the silence of death is deep
As we fall and rise on the tangled way
That leads to the gate of Sleep.

We know that the problems of sin and pain
And the passions that lead to crime
Are the mysteries locked from age to age
In the awful vault of Time,
Yet we lift our weary feet and strive
Through the mire and mist to grope
And find a ledge on the mount of Faith
In the morning land of Hope.

—Harper's Weekly.

Got Off Easy.

A friend of Richard Mansfield says that one day a would be playwright brought to the actor a play for him to read. It was execrably bad. The writer, by diplomacy more artful than anything in his play, reached the actor's presence and demanded a verdict. Mr. Mansfield felt it a kindness to point out to the fellow the mistakes he had made. But the tyro waxed wroth. "Do you know that play cost me a year's hard labor!" he exclaimed.

Mr. Mansfield, with imperturbable grace, replied: "My dear man, you are fortunate. A more just judge would have made it ten years. He really would."

His Personal Appearance.

Mamma—I'm afraid that young Wilder will not make you a good husband, Clara?

Mamma—It seems to me that he rather neglects his personal appearance.

Clara—Yes, that's true, mamma, and I'm glad you mentioned it. I'll see that he makes his personal appearance here every evening after this instead of only twice a week.—London Answers.

The little Dutch boy who stopped the leak in the dike with his finger saved his country from overwhelming destruction. You have read about him in your school readers, how he was walking along the dike when he heard a faint sound of trickling water, and knew at once that a leak had sprung in that great embankment which saves Holland from the devastations of the hungry sea. It was early in the night, and no one was near at hand. The leak was small when he found it, but he knew that the action of the water would enlarge it long before morning, and wash away the entire embankment, inundate the country and destroy his own and thousands of homes. So he bravely put his finger in the crevasse, and kept it there all the long night through, until help came and the opening was properly stopped. He had saved his country.

Equally insignificant is the entrance of disease into the human system. The beginnings of the most terrible ailments are so small they can be easily stopped at the start. Your health is a dike which keeps out and stops the inroads of dangerous and devastating disease. Whenever it breaks down, no matter how slightly, there is an opening for disease to enter. If the opening is not watched, it will grow larger, until the sweep of disease overwhelms you, and health and perhaps life is destroyed forever.

Fortify your health with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you can defy ill-health. You can make your health so strong a bulwark that disease cannot find a crevice through which it can creep. Taken in time, Dr. Pierce's remedies prevent greater and more serious troubles. Hundreds write daily to Dr. Pierce, telling him how these remedies have saved them and made them strong.

Constipation causes and aggravates many serious diseases. It is speedily cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

HUNTING ELEPHANTS

AN EXCITING ADVENTURE IN THE UPPER KONGO REGION.

The Mad Rush of the Startled Giants Through the Dense Forest Foliage — A Shot and a Tumble Into a Swamp Hole Just In the Nick of Time.

Mr. Herbert Ward relates in Cassell's Magazine some exciting experiences that befell him in the course of an elephant hunt in the forests of Mobunga, a district near the upper Kongo river. This country, which is inhabited by Mobunga cannibals, had not been visited by a white man before. Having been successful in reaching a favorite ground for elephants, his guides left the hunter at midnight, returning in their canoe.

"After floundering about for some time," he says, "I at length found an elephant path. The cane was trodden into the sodden ground about four feet in width, and the path led straight across the middle of the bamboo patch. On either side of the path the cane grew so thickly that I found it almost impossible to penetrate. A storm was raging. I distinctly heard elephants forcing their way through the forest in order evidently to reach some open space where they might be safe from falling trees.

"In the intermittent flashes of lightning I occasionally got a glimpse of their great, ghostly forms approaching the cane patch, and as the storm increased in fury the sound of elephants stampeding in all directions through the thick mass of bamboos impressed me in a most uncomfortable manner. Each moment I feared being trampled. The floundering, heavy footsteps occasionally seemed to approach within a few yards of me, and I distinctly heard the frightened squeals of baby elephants as they plunged and stumbled in the swamp.

"The storm ceased as suddenly as it came, and in the subsequent lull there was a constant dripping of water in the forest and the sound of falling branches. The elephants appeared to be standing motionless, and the air was once again filled with the eternal music of mosquitoes.

"With the first indication of dawn my spirits rose, and I carefully wiped the mud from my rifle with the ragged sleeve of my shirt. While it was still too dark to distinguish the surroundings, I could plainly hear elephants stirring in all directions. Crawling some little distance along the sloppy path, I suddenly distinguished the outline of an elephant's head and back cutting sharp against the gray morning sky. It was impossible in that light to estimate distance.

"Creeping cautiously forward, I was startled two or three times by a low, rumbling sound peculiar to elephants, and which is in some way connected with their digestion. The cane patch appeared to be a perfect haven of refuge for elephants during the storm, for on every side there came audible evidences of their presence.

"When within what I judged to be 20 paces of my elephant, I was just able to discern his ears, flapping spasmodically to beat off the mosquitoes and sand flies that hovered around him, and his trunk swinging listlessly among the trampled cane, as if in search of something edible. Gradually I noticed a certain restiveness, as though the animal was conscious of danger. Raising his trunk in the air, he sniffed in various directions until his head was turned straight toward me.

"Realizing that my presence was discovered and that there was not an instant to lose, I took a steady aim at his left shoulder and fired. The recoil of my eight bore rifle knocked me backward, and as I struggled in the cane entangled slush, enveloped in smoke, I was conscious of a deafening uproar. The rifle report echoed strangely through the forest, and the startled elephants charged madly forward in every direction, crashing through the dense foliage like giant locomotives.

"By the time I regained my feet and had run aside to be clear from the smoke I found my elephant slowly rising from the ground. By this time I was within 15 paces of the beast and fully realized the necessity of firing a fatal shot. Trembling with excitement, I fired point blank at the animal's forehead, and, quickly stooping below the smoke, I caught sight of a jet of blood spurting from the wound, while the ponderous beast slowly sank to the ground again—dead.

"Reloading in haste, I took two snap shots at an elephant rushing past me, without other effect, however, than to stop his progress. He stood for a moment gazing at me and twitching his tail. Owing to wet or dirt I found difficulty in opening my rifle, and in spite of frantic efforts I could not make the lever act. I can well recall the feeling of blank despair when the wounded beast, with coiled trunk and ears erect, rushed forward with a shrill scream.

"I darted aside and fortunately fell, lost to view in a swamp hole, completely covered with a mass of vines and branches. There I lay breathless for some moments, listening to the floundering of the wounded elephant. At length the noise died away, and with daylight all was still again."

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 81 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

Drinking In Mediæval Universities.

The relation which the universities sustained with reference to the municipalities in which they were situated forms a large chapter in their early history. The university was a state within a state. Every person connected with it even remotely, down to the servants in the families of the professors and those who waited upon the students, were amenable only to the academic court. The student was the citizen of a nation of scholars, whose flag overshadowed him wherever in the kingdom he might be.

Members of the student world were exempt from military service, and in many cases from all municipal tax. They might receive their books and furniture, wine and beer, free of duty. The students of Leyden availed themselves of this privilege to so great a degree and imported in such immense quantities by private arrangements with the publicans that a law was necessary prescribing how much a student might legally receive without payment of excise. The wise legislators, animated with a generous sense of the privileges of a university, after due deliberation fixed the proper drinking capacity of a student at 80 gallons of wine and 12 half casks of beer, which he could receive free of all tax.—Professor W. T. Hewett in Harper's Magazine.

An Unworthy Trick.

In a recent Pall Mall Gazette we find a good story of a landed proprietor in Switzerland, who was very much interested in a railway matter upon which the district where he was landed had to vote. He wanted it to vote affirmatively, and so he let it be generally understood that every voter would become the recipient of a liberal hamper of wine, provided there was no negative vote to be found in the ballot box. The number of voters, including the great man himself, totaled 108, and on the day when the voting was to be taken every one of them went to the poll. Not only that, but every one of that crowd went to the poll with the conviction that that hamper of wine was as good as in his cellar. Their disgust, therefore, may be readily imagined when the ballot box was found to contain 107 affirmative papers and one negative. To the imagination also must be left the language in which their feelings found expression when they arrived at the certainty that the landed proprietor had landed them by giving that vote himself.

Platinum and Gold.

A package of wire that weighs 25 pounds and resembles ordinary fine polished steel wire was entered at the appraiser's department of the custom house some time ago and valued at $5,000. This is almost as much as the same weight of gold would be valued, and the wire attracted a good deal of attention. It was platinum wire, and for that reason worth its weight in gold. A man who viewed it said that the demand for it had apparently increased greatly, as much more platinum, crude and manufactured, was coming through the custom house now —Duluth News-Tribune.

20 YEARS OF BONDAGE

Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills Loose the Shackles of Constipation and Stomach Disorders.

In summing up the causes of human misery it will be found that by far the greatest sources of disease originate in derangement of the Stomach and Bowels. People will abuse their stomachs and neglect the calls of nature till they bring on themselves her vengeance. To get back to nature's paths, to have the Stomach and Bowels once more fulfilling their function properly, to clear the system of all the results and consequences of poisons accumulating and circulating in the Blood is the work of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. Thos. Miller, Lucknow, Ont., says that he was afflicted with Stomach Trouble and Constipation for about 20 years, during which time he tried almost everything he heard of, but to no purpose. Mr. H. Day, the popular druggist, sent him a sample of Dr. Chase's K.-L. Pills. The first dose he took did him good, and they have proved so effectual in his case that he recommends them to all those afflicted as he was.

These Pills may be had of all Dealers at 25 CENTS A BOX.

Coughs and colds need not be endured; they can be cured, and that quickly.

Many mixtures are temporary in effect, but Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil with Hypophosphites is a permanent remedy.

The oil feeds the blood and warms the body; the hypophosphites tone up the nerves; the glycerine soothes the inflamed throat and lungs.

The combination cures. This may prevent serious lung troubles.

Three Centuries Behind Americans.

Several papers dealing with the Pennsylvania coal regions appear in The Century. Henry Edward Rood, writing of "A Polyglot Community," says:

More than one-half the total number of immigrants into the United States are coming from Austria-Hungary, Italy, Poland and Russia. While official statistics are not available, yet careful investigation leads to the belief that perhaps 50 or 60 per cent of arrivals from the countries mentioned have had no regular occupation, while possibly 30 per cent may have been servants or laborers. Five years ago the Rev. Mr. Maujerie, himself an Italian, in company with the writer made a tour of observation through the Lehigh region of Pennsylvania, and stated that in his opinion the Italians working there were about three centuries behind Americans in their standards of living—that is, in their ideas as to food, clothing, shelter, wages, work and general intelligence. Since that time there has been no improvement in the class of immigrants arriving at our ports.

Strained the Jar.

A little old woman with a sharp nose and sharper tongue was in the country grocery store buying supplies. Among other things she brought in from her cart was a battle scarred jug, which she ordered to be filled with treacle.

At last, when her purchases were completed, she began looking over the account, item by item, before paying.

"What's this?" she exclaimed. "You have charged me for two gallons and a half of treacle."

"Yes, ma'am."

"But that jug holds only two gallons."

"You must be mistaken. I measured the treacle carefully, and it took two gallons and a half to fill it."

"Well," said the old woman with a sigh, "I don't so much mind having to pay for the treacle, but I do object to having the old jug strained by your putting in half a gallon more than it will hold."—Strand Magazine.

A Bad Bargain.

The unprofitableness of some of the rush and worry of business life is neatly suggested in the following dialogue, found in one of the papers:

"Where is Jones?"

"Gone to California."

"What for?"

"To regain his health."

"How did he lose his health?"

"Earning the money to go to California."—Youth's Companion.

One Field Unlavaded.

"I see that glass bricks are coming into general use," said the popular science boarder.

"They won't invade the gold brick field," said the cheerful idiot. "They are too easily seen through."—Indianapolis Journal.

GENTLEMEN,—
I have been a great sufferer from nervous dyspepsia, with the usual symptoms of stomach weakness, loss of appetite and flesh, accumulation of gas, sour risings, and heartburn. I used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable results. They would give temporary relief sometimes until the effects of the medicine wore off, but Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills overcame all these obstacles. I am better in every way now and have gained several pounds in weight.

Saved by a Cat.

Sir Edward Osborne, lord mayor of London in his time, bought an ancient house in Yorkshire, and sent his children thither. There were two boys. The elder dutifully obeyed when summoned to his lessons one morning in a turret, but the younger, loitering, "happed to light upon a cat which he delighted to play with and crept after her to catch her under a table in the room, which was covered over with a carpet hanging down to the floor." Thus he disappeared, and next instant a terrible rush of wind overthrew the turret, in which his brother and the tutor sat at work, crushing them to death. Supposing that both her sons were there, the mother fell into convulsions, and we imagine the scene. One of the maids, running in a distracted manner from room to room, caught sight of the small boy peeping from under the table, with the cat in his arms, snatched him up and bore him in ecstasy to his mother, he only crying, "I pray thee, I pray thee, do not whip me!" So it may be said that the Duke of Leeds now owes his existence to a cat.—Pall Mall Gazette.

LACROSSE.

At a meeting of the lacrosse club executive last night there were present Messrs. M. Halpin, Jas. McCabe, F. Sullivan, R. E. Dolan, R. M. Glover and Alf. Terrill. The question of running an excursion to Orillia on June 16th was discussed, and in order to obtain a cheap fare for the many who wish to accompany the club to that town, it was decided to guarantee the sale of a hundred tickets, by which means the return trip rate is reduced from $2.35 to $1.00. The party will leave on the regular train at 8.05 a.m., and will return on a special train leaving Orillia at 8 p.m. As the regular train leaves Orillia at 4.40 p.m., the special will be a great convenience.

The executive settled on the team from Perth as being the fastest twelve that could be brought to town for a game on the morning of July 1st. Perth won from the Young Capitals on the 24th, which stamps them at once as being very fast. The team has been trained by the famous Joe O'Meara, and plays lacrosse as it should be played.

The Peterborough Juniors have challenged the Hastings Seniors to play a game here on Thursday next. As Hastings has a very heavy team, the Juniors will have their work cut out for them.

If the weather is fine the Seniors will play sixteen Juniors on the P.A.A.A. grounds to-night. If it is wet the match will take place to-morrow night. A full practice is also called for Saturday.

Last night Hogarth, Wasson, Rubidge, Glover and the two McCabes practised a running combination for a couple of hours.

Jack Irving was badly hurt in the Elm-Orillia game on the 24th of May through a heavy body check received from O'Connor, the Orillia inside home player, which may necessitate a surgical operation.

Meighen, the well-known hockey player, is playing first defence for the Perth Crescents, and is said to be one of the fastest men in the east playing intermediate lacrosse.

CRICKET.

The match against the Ottawa eleven, which was to have taken place on the 18th, has been postponed for the present.

On the 22nd the senior eleven goes to Port Hope to play the return match with the T.C.S.

The following team will represent the Colts in their match on Saturday against the Trinity College School team in the Nicholls Park. The match begins at one o'clock:—W. McDonnell, Frank Bradburn (captain), Harry McKee, H. Armstrong, H. McBain, Crawford Bawden, Stanley Bradd, Jack Fessenden, Harry Rogers, Herb Wood and Claude Rogers.

Remember D. A. Shaw's sale of paintings, etc., at 342 George street, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, at 1.30 and 7 o'clock. Everything goes.

Presbyterian Supreme Court Elects a New Moderator.

REV. DR. TORRANCE IS CHOSEN.

A Powerful Sermon Preached by the Retiring Moderator, Rev. Dr. Moore —The Prohibition Question His Theme — He Deplores the Lack of United Efforts— The Reports.

Montreal, June 9.—The eyes of all Canadian Presbyterians are now centered on Montreal, where last evening the Supreme Court of that Church inaugurated its 12th annual assembly in Knox Church, the principal feature of which was the sessional sermon preached by the retiring moderator, Dr. Moore.

Rev. Dr. Moore, Moderator, was born at Kilwaughter in 1838. On coming to this country his father settled in St. Mary's, Ont. After graduation he labored in Knox Church, as assistant to Rev. Dr. Topp. In 1866 he was settled over his present charge, Bank Street Church, Ottawa, consisting at that time of 45 members. For 31 years Dr. Moore presided over Bank street congregation, which now has a membership roll of 560.

Over 500 delegates are in attendance, representing every district of the Dominion between Cape Breton and Victoria. When the Assembly once settles down it will transact sufficient business to fill a 600-page volume. When it is considered that there are six synods within the jurisdiction of the General Assembly, and each synod has its arrangement of presbyteries, it will be easily understood that the amount of work to be brought before the Assembly, representing some 1,900 churches in all, is enormous.

Apart from the routine work and adoption of reports, three all-important questions are to be discussed, probably at great length—the live church subjects of the day—home missions, foreign missions and French evangelization.

Interest in Missions.

The Presbyterian Church has always evinced the liveliest interest in missionary work, and some of her noblest sons and daughters have given of their substance, have offered their lives in the cause of the spread of the Gospel among heathen peoples. Nor has the Church been remiss in prosecuting the work of home missions.

Assembly's Chief Officers.

Having convened to-day the Assembly will elect officers. Those for the year now ended, besides members of boards and committees, were: Rev. William Moore, D.D., moderator, and Rev. Robert Campbell, D.D., and Rev. Robert H. Warden, D.D., joint clerks.

The nominees for the office of moderator are: Rev. Dr. Campbell, Rev. Dr. Bryce, Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. Dr. Murray, Rev. Dr. Carmichael and Prof. Gregg.

Exhaustive Reports.

The annual report of the Presbyterian Church in Canada is a complete and accurate statement of the affairs of the Church, both at home and in foreign missionary fields. The Presbyterian Church is most indefatigable in missionary and evangelical work. Last year the good work was extended into the Yukon District and a church established at Skaguay. Rev. R. M. Dickey of Manitoba College carried the Presbyterian banner into this inhospitable region, and his letters from this field of labor are full of interest.

Finances Satisfactory.

The financial statement of the home mission fund for 1897-98 shows that there has been a full payment of missionary expenses during that period, and that a small balance still remains to the credit of the Mission Committee.

The following statement is appended to this yearly report: "The financial statement shows a balance on hand in favor of the Mission Committee. This increase is due to the large amount received from British churches."

Dr. Moore's text was taken from the 90th Psalm: "Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto thy children." His chief utterances were in reference to prohibition. He blamed the apathy of the churches, and said they should present an unbroken front to the liquor traffic.

After the sermon an open vote was taken for the high position of moderator. The vote resulted in the choice of Rev. Dr. Torrance, who has been a minister of the Presbyterian Church for 52 years.

The New Moderator.

Rev. Dr. Torrance, the choice of the Assembly for Moderator, is one of the most erudite and well-known members of the Presbyterian Church ministry in Canada. He has been pastor of his church in Guelph ever since it was founded, and, while not eloquent in the modern sense of the term, is beloved not alone by his own members but by those of all other churches in the Royal City. He has, moreover, as Secretary of the School Board for a long time and a former Public School Inspector (all of which duties he performed in addition to his ministerial ones), done an incalculable good for education in that city, and he is recognized as one of the best and most effective of executive officers. Dr. Torrance is one of the fastest shorthanders in Canada. Despite his erudition Dr. Torrance is one of the most witty and genial of gentlemen, which characteristics have been fostered by his close contact in secular matters with the people of the city in which he resides.

SAIL FOR SANTIAGO.

ARMY OF 27,000 LEAVES TAMPA

How the Cuban Insurgents Are Now Working With the Invading Fleets—They Fight Every Day, and Keep Pegging Away for Liberty From Spanish Rule—War News.

London, June 10.—A Washington correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, with the approval of General Gresly, cables the following: "The army sailed from Tampa at noon to-day (Wednesday). The force numbers 27,000 men, composed of infantry, cavalry, artillery, engineers and a signal corps. The infantry consists of 27 regiments, 16 regulars and 11 volunteers, as follows:

"Of the regular regiments, the first, second, fourth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, twelfth, thirteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth. Of the volunteer regiments there were the 71st, New York; 32nd, Michigan; 1st and 5th Ohio; 2nd New York, 1st District of Columbia, 5th Maryland, 1st, 5th and 7th Indiana, and the 3rd Pennsylvania.

"The total infantry force is 21,600 men. In addition there are a battalion of engineers, a detachment of the signal corps, five squadrons of cavalry, four batteries of light artillery and two batteries of heavy artillery.

"General Shafter is in chief command of the force, which is convoyed by the battleship Indiana and the gunboat Helena, with the Bancroft as General Shafter's floating home.

"The transports are due at Santiago Friday night or Saturday morning and a landing will be attempted on Saturday. This should be effected without difficulty, and no doubt, by Sunday or Monday at the latest, the Stars and Stripes will float over Santiago de Cuba."

SANTIAGO MAY STARVE.

All the Food Has Been Seized for the Army and Navy and Troops Are on Half Rations.

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless, off Santiago de Cuba, Wednesday night, June 8 (via Kingston, Jamaica), June 10.—Communication between the Island of Cuba and the outer world was severed yesterday. The Kingston-Santiago cable was cut on Monday, and the Marblehead, Yankee and St. Louis cut the Haytien cable, running into Guantanamo Bay, yesterday. The ends were buoyed and Rear-Admiral Sampson can establish direct communication with Washington. The Marblehead also engaged and drove a small Spanish gunboat into Guantanamo harbor and shelled and reduced the antiquated fortifications.

The insurgents co-operated on the land side. The place is being held until troops arrive. It is contemplated to establish a general base here.

Communication between the insurgents and the fleet is constant. The Cubans are active, and arms, ammunition and supplies for them were landed by the Suwanee yesterday in great quantities.

The insurgents and the Spaniards fight daily. The Marblehead on Monday, when the insurgents had pressed forward west of Santiago, shelled the Spaniards, who fled to the mountains, checkering the path followed in their retreat with dead and wounded.

On the Verge of Starvation.

Santiago de Cuba is on the verge of starvation. All the food has been seized for the army and navy, and the troops and sailors are on half rations.

Rear-Admiral Sampson has officially declared that the purpose of the bombardment of Santiago de Cuba was to clear the way for the troops. The object has been attained.

The admiral has personally commended Ensign Palmer for approaching within 150 yards of the Spanish batteries at night and learning that the Spaniards were remounting guns.

The American naval commander is anxious to bring about the exchange of Lieut. Hobson and his gallant companions of the Merrimac. The admiral sent the Vixen with a flag of truce to the entrance of the harbor yesterday, offering to exchange for the lieutenant and his party some prisoners take from a prize by the Marblehead off Cienfuegos. Admiral Cervera considered the matter all night and sent word to-day that he was powerless to act. He referred the matter to the Military Governor and the latter in turn referred it to Captain-General Blanco. A long delay is probable.

Blanco Not Vanquished.

Montreal, June 10.—Senor Bonilla y Martel, the Spanish Consul-General, has received the following despatch from General Blanco, Captain-General of Cuba:

"Havana, June 8, 1898.

"The enemy's attacks at Santiago de Cuba have been everywhere repulsed, as well as the attempt to land at Aguidras. At this point the American troops were completely defeated. During the bombardment of Santiago, 1,500 balls were thrown upon Morro Castle. The damage done was slight and the enemy were unable to silence a single one of our guns, and when the enemy's fleet retired it was plainly seen that several of their ships had sustained considerable damage. Our losses are: Killed, the second in command of the Reina Mercedes, five sailors and a soldier. We also had eight wounded. (Signed) Blanco."

WAR NOTES.

Miss Evangeline Cisneros, whose escape from a Spanish prison in Havana seven months ago caused a flutter all over the world, was married at Baltimore to Carlos F. Carbonell, a Cuban, who assisted in her escape.

President McKinley intends sending a message to the House of Representatives, recommending the immediate annexation of Hawaii as a military necessity.

The British authorities have not yet taken any steps towards the expulsion of the Spaniards from Montreal. Carranza's letter was cabled from Washington to the Home Government.

Kingston, Jamaica, is being visibly affected by three or four thousand Spanish refugees from Cuba, who have taken up their residence there. More Spanish money is in circulation there than English and trade has greatly improved.

THE PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

Reports of Missionary Committees Satisfactory—Donations Received.

Montreal, June 10.—At yesterday's session of the Presbyterian General Assembly a large amount of routine business was disposed of, but there was nothing of very general interest.

The Assembly in the afternoon agreed to the organization of a new Presbytery for Parry Sound and Nipissing district, to be taken out of the present Presbytery of Barrie.

At last night's session of the General Assembly a good portion of the sederunt was taken up with the presentation of the report of the Home Mission Committee, eastern and western sections, which were of a very satisfactory nature. The reports were received and adopted. In connection with the reports, it was announced that Mrs. George Brown, widow of the late Hon. George Brown, had sent a contribution of £68 from Scotland to the Klondike Mission Fund. The announcement was received with applause.

A motion of Rev. Dr. Caven of Toronto was passed, expressing thanks to the various bodies which had contributed to the missions, expressing satisfaction at the action of the committee in sending missionaries to the Klondike field, and also endorsing the action of the women of Toronto in sending nurses to the Klondike. Several addresses were made on missionary work.

ALL HOPE IS ABANDONED.

Sir Adolphe Chapleau Can Hardly Live More Than a Week.

Montreal, June 10.—Yesterday the Star made enquiries and prints the following:

"The condition of Sir Adolphe Chapleau continues very critical and all hopes of his recovery are about abandoned, and his death is expected to occur at any moment. Under the most favorable conditions it is thought he cannot live more than a week. Sir Adolphe passed a fairly good night and if anything was resting a little easier to-day. Dr. T. G. Roddick and Dr. Wilkins spend a great deal of time at the sufferer's bedside. Lady Chapleau is nearly prostrated by her night vigils and the services of an additional trained nurse have been obtained. Sir Adolphe's heart is very weak, owing to the inroads made by a kidney affection. His brothers, Major and Dr. Chapleau, are expected from Ottawa this evening. Miss Chapleau, a daughter of the latter, has been at the Windsor for several days. Col. King, father of Lady Chapleau, has also arrived from Sherbrooke.

JAPANESE SAVAGERY.

Defenceless People in Formosa Slaughtered in Sheer Wantonness.

Vancouver, B.C., June 10.—The feelings of the populace in Formasa have been wrought to the boiling point by indiscriminate and savage butchery of innocent countrymen and helpless women and children by the Japanese soldiery in the Hozan district. Pirates defeated the soldiers, who were so enraged that when they returned to civilization they attacked the peaceful village of Loon-ah-Tien, set it on fire and murdered the inhabitants.

Mrs. Sternaman Lost the Case.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 10.—Owing to a mistake having been made in the complaint entered by Mrs. Olive Sternaman in her suit for the recovery of $1,000 life insurance on her late husband, her suit against the Metropolitan Insurance Company was yesterday decided against her at her lawyer's request. Mr. Thayer, Mr. Sternaman's counsel, states that he will at once enter an appeal.

Hamburg is a well known market for household pets. A civet cat costs $5, a tame jackal $7 and an affectionate Brazilian snake $40. An alligator one foot long can be had for $1.50, but at two feet he is worth $5 and at seven feet $35.

Southern Volunteers Kill Negro Regulars at Tampa, Fla.

THE FATE OF THE PHILIPPINES.

Lieut. Sharp's Work in Securing a Map of the Santiago Harbor—The Insurgents Met Him and Commodore Schley Is Now in Possession of Full Information of the Harbor.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 10.—A man who arrived here yesterday in a schooner from Turk's Island, one of the Bahamas, and about 110 miles north of Hayti, said it was reported there on Tuesday that Santiago de Cuba had been taken by the Americans.

Cable communications between Cape Haytien and Cuba is still interrupted.

Whites and Blacks Fight.

Atlanta, June 10.—Information has been received from Tampa that a bloody riot has occurred there between negro regulars and Southern volunteers. Four negroes were killed and several wounded.

The Fate of the Philippines.

Washington, June 10.—The success of Aguinaldo and his forces probably determines the question of permanent possession of the Philippines by the United States. To restore the islands to their former owners, the Spaniards, would precipitate another struggle between Aguinaldo and the reinstated Spanish forces. At the same time the Malays cannot be permitted to exercise unrestricted control, for they are quite incapable of maintaining a stable government.

SCHLEY AND CERVERA.

The Former, Through Lieut. Sharp's Work, Now Seems to Have the Bulge on the Latter.

Off Santiago de Cuba, Saturday, June 4, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 9.—Every effort is being made to cut off Santiago de Cuba's connection with the outside world.

Since Sunday last, when Commodore Schley found Admiral Cervera's fleet trying to leave the harbor and headed off the attempt, it has been the policy to so surround the city and harbor that no assistance, either in supplying arms or ammunition, could reach there.

After driving the Spanish fleet into a more protected position in the harbor, by the bombardment of Tuesday, Commodore Schley opened communication with the insurgents, 18 miles from Santiago, to the east. They were urged to obtain, if possible, the names and number of the vessels of the fleet inside the harbor.

On Friday afternoon Lieut. Sharp of the Vixen went to the place of rendezvous and received from the insurgents a map of the harbor, showing the entire Cape Verde fleet, with the exception of the destroyer Terror, inside, and close up to the city, under the protection of the guns mounted on Blanco battery, at the northern extremity of the harbor. The ships there, according to this chart, are the Cristobal Colon, the Vizcaya, the Almirante Oquendo, the Maria Teresa and the Reina Mercedes, the last named destroyed by the American warships since this despatch was written, all cruisers of the first class, and heavily armed, together with three torpedo boats. The definiteness of this information naturally gave Commodore Schley great satisfaction. He had known that several ships of the enemy were there; he was not sure some had not succeeded in getting away, or had not been sent in another direction.

Just how long Santiago can stand besieging is a matter of conjecture. Three weeks ago it was claimed at Jamaica that the food in Santiago was very poor and that it was also very scant. The country about the city is unproductive and mountainous, and the insurgent camps are so close that there is little or no communication between the city and the outside world.

Yellow Fever in the South.

Jackson, Miss., June 10.—General J. F. Hunter, secretary of the State Board of Health, gave the Associated Press the following statement at 10.30 last night: "It having been reported to me that seven cases of yellow fever exist at McHenry, Miss., I hereby declare the town of McHenry in quarantine, under charge of Dr. Haralson, who will observe the quarantine and sanitory rules and regulations adopted by this Board."

H. M. S. TALBOT LEAVES HAVANA

Carrying Away English Subjects—"Sister Mary" Expelled.

Havana, June 10.—Yesterday afternoon the British cruiser Talbot sailed from Havana. On board were Messrs. Phil Robinson and H. J. Whigham, the English newspaper correspondents, who were arrested some time ago at Matanzas. The Talbot also carries Messrs. Edward and Pinkney, who were expelled from the island on suspicion of being spies. Also "Sister Mary" Wilberforce of the British Red Cross Society, who arrived in Cuba a year ago, and against whom an order of expulsion was issued last January because, as asserted, she had failed to comply with certain Government orders. These orders, however, were not enforced then, Miss Wilberforce being allowed to remain in the island. Charges having recently again been brought against her, the edict of expulsion was carried out, Miss Wilberforce being taken on board the steamer by force, though she was treated with all possible gentleness.

The People's Faith

Firmly Grounded Upon Real Merit —They Know Hood's Sarsaparilla Absolutely and Permanently Cures When All Others Fail.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia and a little Iodide of Potassium.

Besides these excellent alteratives, it also contains those great anti-bilious and liver remedies, Mandrake and Dandelion. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Uva Ursi, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa.

Nor are these all. Other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally, absolutely fail.

FRIDAY, JUNE 10, 1898.

THE BANK OF MONTREAL.

The EXAMINER publishes in this issue the report of the annual meeting of the Bank of Montreal, which reveals a very satisfactory condition of the affairs of the bank, and, incidentally, of the trade of Canada. The year's profits, after making the usual reduction for expenses and other contingencies, totals $1,265,300. The profits and loss account is reinforced by nearly a million—the large sum of $952,210, and that after paying a ten per cent. dividend to the stock holders. There has been during the year an increase of profits of $35,000. The general expansion of business, due largely to the Klondyke fever and railway extension, and more largely it is a pleasure to state, to the general business improvement, accounts for an increase of circulation of $1,000,000. Deposits show an increase of $600,000, and a large demand for money in business enterprises is represented by an increase of $2,600,000 in discounts. The gratifying statement as a whole is only what we expect from this sterling financial concern, and while it is a pleasure to note it, the most gratifying tone of the report is the optimistic view of the outlook as indicated in the address of Hon. Geo. A. Drummond, the vice-president, and Mr. Clouston, the General Manager, which suggest a general revival of prosperity, and most encouraging prospects for the future. What gives point to the tone of their optimistic remarks is the fact shown by the statement of the bank of its improved prosperity. The Bank of Montreal is so intimately and extensively associated with the business of the country from ocean to ocean, that its prosperity, as indicated in the report, must almost inevitably indicate a corresponding condition in the country. The report was unanimously adopted.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The results of energetic and effective management are shown in the annual statement of the Ontario Bank issued yesterday, which is in every way satisfactory, one of the best of any ever issued. This condition reflects great credit upon the General Manager, Mr. Charles McGill, whose appointment a few years ago has been followed by a marked and steady improvement in the affairs of the institution. The net earnings for the past year were $84,648, against net earnings of $74,133 for the previous year. The balance carried over from last year was $17,595, making a total of $102,243. Out of this two half-yearly dividends of 2½ per cent. were paid, $20,000 was added to the rest fund, $5,000 was paid to the officers' guarantee fund, and $5,000 written off furniture, leaving a balance carried forward of $22,243, or $4,648 more than the previous year. The statement of assets shows the bank to be in a very strong position. The amount of its readily available assets, including bullion, Government notes, amounts due by other banks, municipal and other debentures, and call loans on stocks and bonds is $2,276,461.31. There is a very considerable gain in deposits over last year, which shows that the bank is steadily gaining favour with the public. The deposits increased $902,102 during the year. There is an increase in the assets for the year of $1,430,368.

THE EPAMINER has received a copy of the calendar of the Kingston School of Mining (affiliated with Queen's University) which gives full information respecting the course of mining engineering to be taken by students. The thoroughness of the course should be taken advantage of any who are anxious to qualify for practical work in connection with mining, which is bound to assume increasing importance year by year.

SUPERANNUATION ABOLISHED.

The Federal Government has been obliged to abolish the superannuation scheme, which has been so expensive and so unsatisfactory. It was meant originally to be self-sustaining, but there has been paid out in allowances to retired officials nearly three and a half millions more than has been paid into the fund.

The proposal is to suspend the operations of the act so far as those under ten years' service are concerned, and to apply the provisions of the new act, which deducts five per cent. from the salaries and allows interest at five per cent., computed half-yearly and compounded. Any one not desiring to come under the new act and its provisions, can retire and draw from the Government one month's salary for every year he has been in the public service. The consideration the Government has given the matter warrants it in assuming that the operations of it will be fair and equitable.

Of course the opposition objects. Mr. Foster thinks that the Superannuation Act, as the Conservative Government amended it, would eventually work all right, and Mr. Dayin and Mr. McNeill joined him in declaring that the new measure will destroy the efficiency of the civil service. The superannuation scheme was designed to make the service permanent and to reward those who were faithful in the discharge of their duty. But the men who have so much anxiety about the service are the men who helped to demoralize it. When they wanted offices for friends they had no hesitation in retiring those who were fresh and vigourous, and to whose service a period of years was added in order to make the superannuation allowance more acceptable. This was an iniquity, a proceeding not calculated at the founding of the fund, and it accounts in a large part for the failure of the scheme. In truth superannuation had nothing to do with the permanency of the service. It never stood in the way of Mr. Foster when he wished to make a change.

A feature of the new bill is the provision that in the dismissal of any one, or in the event of his retirement (at any age), or death, the sum total to his credit, with interest, will be paid to him or his representatives. That is right. The money is his, retained by the Government, saved by it for him, and with a higher interest added than he could get upon it by any other investment as the money market now stands.

There are some who feel that the Government would be the better without any of the schemes, that the civil servants should be trusted to make their own investments, but if there must be something of the kind, the new measure is a great improvement upon the old, and it does not permit of abuses.

CANADA AND ITS CAPITAL.

Sir J. D. Edgar's Interesting New Book.

The beautiful volume issued by the above title by Mr. Geo. N. Morang, Toronto, is a credit both to the literary ability and public spirit of a distinguished public man, and to the enterprise of a Canadian publisher. The writer, Sir J. D. Edgar, speaker of the House of Commons, has made a most interesting book, conspicuous for its literary merit, and as well as for the contribution to the historical store of Canadian annals it represents. The rise and growth of the city of Ottawa from an obscure forest hamlet to the dignity of being the worthy Capital of Canada, is graphically sketched part passu with the advancement of the country at large. Mr. Edgar is specially fitted, both from literary qualifications and opportunities, for being the writer of such an interesting history. For the past thirty years he has been intimately connected with the parliamentary and social life of the captial. During this time a great mass of interesting materials has come to his hand and he has shown consumate skill in weaving them into the valuable volume under mention. The book is divided into seventeen chapters, dealing with the Capital, how it came to be selected, the political and social features of the Capital, sketches of prominent statesmen, and an epitome, wonderfully complete and comprehensive, of events in Canadian History from 1861 to 1898. The chapters on the future of Canada and on the relations of Canada and the Mother Country are especially pregnant with important matters, treated with statesmanlike breadth of view. The volume is handsomely printed and bound and plentifully illustrated with photogravures of the many beautiful scenes the Capital affords. Altogether the work is worthy of the possession of every Canadian, both as an ornament to the home, and as a beautifully parcelled fund of historical knowledge in the most interesting and readable form. Cloth octavo, $2.50; published by Geo. N. Morang, Toronto.

ORILLIA'S POWER SYSTEM.

The town of Orillia is interested in a power transmission scheme, the energy to be developed at Ragged Rapids. Last week two experts of the Canadian General Electric Co. advised the town council committee relative to the rates to be charged. It was decided to make the minimum rate for power $15, and to gradually raise to $30 for small takers. These figures are for a twenty-four hour hour service, and are said to be the lowest in the province. The light rates were greatly reduced. As with the waterpower the council will have abundance of power at its disposal day and night, it will not matter how much the lights burn, so with a view to doing away with the meters, which are a source of wrangling and expense, the meter rate was left as at present, and the flat rate cut in two. The new schedule is as follows:—For stores and hotels, under 20 lights 30c a month each; 20 to 39 lights, 25c; 40 and over, 20c. For residences—4 lights and under, 25c; 5 to 15 lights, 22½c; over 15, 20c per month. Meter rate ¼c an hour with 15 per cent. discount. The power schedule is: 1 and 2 horsepower, $30 per hp. per annum; 3 to 5 hp., $27; 6 to 10 hp., $24; 11 to 20 hp., $21 per hp.; 21 to 30, $18 per hp.; over 30, $15 per hp. Ten per cent. discount off all these prices for prompt payment. The present flat rates for hotels and stores are 60, 70 and 80c, and for residences 30 and 35c.

GLOWING CROP REPORTS

Have a Distinctly Bearish Influence Upon the Prices of the Cereal—The Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, June 9.

Thoman's June crop report estimates the growing winter and spring wheat crop at at least 775,000,000 bushels, or 100,000,000 larger than in any previous year. With such forecasts as this from reliable sources it is not difficult to account for the control secured by the bears on the market. The cereal was irregular to-day. On the Chicago Board the September option, after selling up to 77⅛c and down to 74⅞c, closed at 75¼c, or 1½c below the previous final figures. The December future accomplished a similar decline, while the June and July deliveries closed at losses of ½c and ¼c respectively for the day.

Old Country markets showed an improved tone to-day. At Liverpool July wheat advanced 2⅝d per cental and September 1d, the December option declining ¾d. In Paris wheat closed 25 to 40 centimes higher for the day, with flour 25 to 45 centimes higher. Antwerp wheat closed 25c lower.

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.96, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $6510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

KEEN FIGHT WITH THE SENATE.

The Amendments of the Upper House Thrown Out After a Spirited Debate by the Commons—Prospects That Sir Mackenzie Bowell Will Back Down—Closing Arrangements.

Ottawa, June 10.—The Government having decided to strike out the amendments to the Franchise bill and to return it again to the Upper Chamber for approval, means that a direct conflict on a clear issue will be the result between the Upper and Lower Houses, or the Senate will allow the bill to go through.

The Government and the House of Commons need have no quarrel over the fighting ground as has been laid down by the Senate, but the general opinion here is that Sir Mackenzie Bowell and his allies will back down and allow the bill to go through as amended by the Commons. If they don't, the Plebiscite bill is also killed, as it provides that the vote will be taken on the Franchise bill.

An editorial in yesterday's Citizen says: "In amending the Franchise bill the Senate made what partisan Conservatives regard as a strategic blunder."

It will be seen how the Tory majority in the Senate propose to amend this blunder now that it has been pointed out to them. To be consistent, the Senate must insist on the amendments being put in the bill and to be ridiculous they can pursue the other course and let it pass without them.

Prorogation on Saturday.

Prorogation will take place on Saturday, and then legislators who live outside of Ottawa will either spend Sunday in their homes or on their way to them. At any rate that was the opinion expressed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and endorsed by Mr. Foster at the opening of yesterday's session of the House.

The Premier said that all the estimates and the legislation might be got through at once, concurrence and prorogation on Saturday.

Mr. Foster saw no reason why this should not be done and the statement was received with cheers. Mr. Laurier moved that the Drummond County report from the Investigation Committee be taken up in the afternoon for discussion.

Mr. Foster asked that it be deferred until next session, which the Premier agreed to do.

The Loan Companies' bill from the Senate was dropped.

Mr. Fitzpatrick then moved that the amendments to the Franchise bill made by the Senate be struck out, because the excepting from its operation the Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba, and providing for a special revision of the voters' lists in those provinces for elections to the Commons, was inconsistent with and subversive of the general principle of the bill; that the amendments were wholly inadequate and could not be rendered effective without creating complicated and costly machinery incompatible with the object of the bill. That is, in effect, what the amendments meant—the continuation of the present unwieldy and expensive system of creating special voters' lists for Dominion elections, which was pronounced against at the last general election.

Mr. Borden, Halifax, said the reasons given by the Solicitor-General did not refer to why the amendments in Prince Edward Island were effected.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that the secrecy of the ballot had to be maintained in Prince Edward Island.

Mr. Borden maintained that the amendments of the Senate were not an attack on the principle of the bill. If the Act would not be workable with the amendments, as proposed, then they should proceed to amend it.

Mr. Blair held that the Senate had destroyed the fundamental principles of the bill.

Mr. McNeill argued that the Senate had the right to amend the bill, as the House of Lords had done so in England.

Mr. Fraser held that the machinery of the bill as now left by the Senate was such that in Nova Scotia there would be no lists at all. He denied that the Senate had the right to declare the franchise upon which the House of Commons should be elected. If that principle were conceded the Senate could control the franchise of the Commons and say who would occupy seats there. As for the Senate it was as strongly partisan as was the House of Commons. It was of the earth, earthly; of mortal, mortality, and politically crawling like the worst partisan of the House for a living.

Mr. Speaker asked that the last expression be withdrawn, which was done.

Mr. Fitzpatrick denied the right of the Senate to introduce such amendments to a bill which was framed in obedience to the direct mandate of the people, to get rid of the useless, expensive Franchise Act. While the bill had been under discussion in the House no voice had been raised in favor of the old Act, and it had gone down to its grave unswept, unhonored and unsung. The amendment proposed by the leader of the Opposition for an appeal had been voted down by the largest majority the Government ever had. On that occasion the Government had got a warning from that side as to what the result would be and it was more than borne out. It was evident that from the outset the bill was to be wrecked in the Senate, and it had been determined that the will of the people should be thwarted. From the outset it had been intended that the Conservative party would make manifest its want of confidence in the people and its desire to control the franchise by its own hirelings. The Senate amendments had been drawn by a man who had no knowledge of franchise laws or of provincial machinery, and who, safe in the haven of the Senate, never expected to have to put the Act in force.

Mr. Fitzpatrick went over the objectionable amendments in detail and showed how absurd and unworkable they were, and how little care had been given either to framing or considering them. The desire had not been to improve the bill or do justice to the electors, but to create trouble and make difficulties. The Liberals had confidence in the people of Canada and wished to put under their control the making of the electoral lists, but the Senate's action was an attempt to interfere and thwart this desire. Mr. Fitzpatrick's words were loudly cheered.

Mr. Mills of Annapolis denied any intention on the part of the Opposition to interfere with the principle of the bill.

The debate was concluded by Messrs. Martin (P.E.I.) and Davin, after which Mr. Fitzpatrick's motion that the Senate amendments be disagreed to, was adopted on division.

The second reading of the bill to give Manitoba $300,000 from the trust funds for school purposes was then debated until 5 o'clock, when the yeas and nays were demanded by the Opposition on the principle of the bill. The reading carried by a straight party vote of 62 to 32.

The other Manitoba bill to pay for the Parliament Buildings and Government House passed all stages.

When the House went into supply Mr. Wallace reminded the Government of the clerical error in the tariff draft, by which, since the tariff resolutions of 1897, the duty on rubber belting had been fixed at 30 per cent. ad valorem, whereas the intention was, had the item not become displaced, that it should read 25 per cent.

The Finance Minister moved to correct the error.

Mr. Wallace asked if it was not his intention to provide for compensating makers for the loss they had been caused.

Mr. Fielding said the Government could not compensate under such circumstances.

Following up this subject, the Minister bespoke a further step in the direction of Imperial federation. It consisted, in brief, in extending to the whole British Empire the advantages of the preferential duty now only enjoyed by the West Indies. He felt in doing so that this action on the part of the Government might lead to some encouragement to trade between Canada and Australia. The following sub-section was therefore, on his motion, added to the schedule: "Raw sugar, including all sugar described in item 436 of schedule A, may, when imported from any British colony or possession, be entered for duty or taken out of warehouse for consumption in Canada at the reduced rate of duty provided under the British preferential trade tariff."

The House returned to supply.

The harbors and rivers supplementaries were taken up.

The first item was $4,000 for a breakwater for the new harbor near Guysboro, N.S.

The item carried on division.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Charles W. Parker's summer cottage at Oakville was destroyed by fire. The loss will approximate $1,400.

About 40 miles of new track has been laid on the Grand Trunk Railway between Niagara Falls and Hamilton.

Wentworth County Council estimates its running expenses for the next fiscal year at $15,000; sinking fund $525, interest on debentures $600, county expenditure $13,815.

Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice, entertained certain members of the press gallery at the Russell House, Ottawa, on Wednesday evening. He made a speech, devoted almost entirely to a defence of the Senate. He said an upper chamber was very necessary, and prophesied that the provinces, including Ontario, would each have an upper chamber before many years rolled by.

16 TRANSPORTS ON ROUTE TO CUBA

British Journals Suggest That Spain Sue for Peace—No Cable News Possible From Santiago—The Prisoners of the Merrimac Not Yet Exchanged.

Special 3 p. m. dispatch to the Examiner.

Blanco to Deal With the Merrimac Heroes.

Santiago, June 8th, 10 p.m., via Mole St. Nicholas, June 10—Lieut Hobson and his heroic companions in the exploit of sinking the collier Merrimac across the harbour of Santiago, may not be released for some time. To-day Admiral Cervera sent a flag of truce to Admiral Sampson with a message that the prisoners were in the hands of the military authorities, and that their cases had been referred by the military government of Santiago to Governor General Blanco. The plan of exchange by Admiral Sampson to Admiral Cervera is thus temporarily frustrated.

More Successful Cable Cutting.

The U. S. Cruiser Marblehead and two auxiliary cruisers were successful in cutting the cable at Guinianto yesterday, after firing on a Spanish gunboat and the old-fashioned fortifications there. They are thus cut off from all communication with the outside world. The army of invasion is eagerly awaited, and everything is ready for its reception.

The Pope Appealed to for Peace.

London, June 10th.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily News says: A new appeal has been made to the Pope to intervene or use all his influence to obtain the interference of the Powers. It is asserted that the Queen Regent has even submitted to the Pope the question of her retirement in allay public discontent.

Journalistic Advice to Spain.

London, June 10.—The Times says editorially this morning:—"Probably the next few days will form as critical a period as any Spanish government has yet passed through."

The Daily News says:—"Spain's best friends can only urge her to submit without delay."

Santiago Cut Off From Communication.

Port au Prince, Hayti, June 10, 8 a.m.—Cable communication with Santiago de Cuba is still interrupted and no war news is obtainable here this morning.

Sixteen Ships to Carry U. S. Troops.

Washington, June 10.—A powerful fleet of sixteen ships is now assembled in Florida waters to convoy troops transports to Cuba at once.

Britain Will act, if Desired, to Secure Peace.

London, June 10.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. A. Balfour, first Lord of the Treasurer and Government leader, replied to a question as to whether "in view of the condition of the population of Cuba and the sufferings and evils arising from the Spanish-American war her Majesty's Government or any of the European powers have intention of intervening to secure a cessation of hostilities by inducing one or both belligerents to negotiate terms of peace. He said her Majesty's Government will gladly take any favourable opportunity for promoting a cessation of hostilities and negotiations for peace. But any action upon their part for this purpose can only be undertaken if there is reasonable prospect that it will be well received by both parties and of its being likely to lead to an agreement between them. Unfortunately there is not sufficient ground for believing this condition exists.

McDONALD'S BURGLARS' KIT.

The Apparatus Employed in Safe Cracking Operations.

Yesterday Warden J. B. Pearse, of Norwood, left with Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, the burglar's kit used by McDonald alias Mart Marshall, in the Norwood post office robbery, which was committed on April 5th, and thrown away by one of the gang at the time of McDonald's arrest at Havelock. It consists of a flat plate of iron slotted at one end to fit on the axle of a safe knob, and is to be held in place by two small set-screws at one end and by a larger set-screw at the other end. From the latter set-screw (about seven eighths of an inch in diameter), at the outer end, extends a crank, to the end of which is a hollow bolt that runs parallel with the large set screw, and can be fixed to work on any part of the door in vicinity of the knob. Through the hollow bolt, which is threaded, works the drill, upon which can be fastened a removable crank, and a detachable leather disk revolves the threaded bolt as the drill penetrates the steel. One would think that the apparatus could be adjusted in a moment ready for effective work. In the Norwood case the drill was evidently not used, the knob of the safe door having been knocked off with a heavy hammer, and a drop or two of nitro-glycerine from the bottle McDonald carried and which was found on his person at the time of arrest, inserted in the opening thus made and exploded with resistless effect. The door was made of two half-inch chilled steel plates, with a heavy plate of iron between, held together by heavy iron bolts of about two inches. These plates were broken like half-ware and a dozen bolts an inch in diameter and about two inches long blown out of the steel.

The kit in question was made by a master mechanic, except the slotted plate, which was evidently ordinary blacksmith work. It was apparently considered a precious possession and was carefully put up in waterproof bags—the apparatus in one bag and the crank and drills in another.

The burglar's pistol, also left with Mr. Wood, is a brutal-looking weapon—brutal enough to have matched Sykes and to have been used by him in smashing Nancy's head. It is of 45 calibre and therefore carries a bullet larger than the ordinary Winchester rifle. These interesting examples of perverted ingenuity and enterprise view will be produced at McDonald's trial at the approaching Fall Assizes.

LOCAL LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy shipped 300 head of cattle to Buffalo last week. Yesterday two carloads of export cattle were shipped to Montreal, where Mr. Kennedy went himself to-day. Three hundred head are coming in to-morrow to be shipped by him to the American markets.

That Mr. Kennedy is making a success of cattle shipping is evidenced by the fact that he had given the contract to Mr. Jopling, of Bridgenorth, to erect for him another large barn, which when completed in July will give accommodation for 100 head of cattle. If Mr. Kennedy can make money out of his cattle, when he has to buy his feed there would surely be a good thing in it for farmers who have the opportunity of utilising the products of their own farms for feeding purposes.

BELLEVILLE BRIGADE CAMP.

1,053 Brave "Soldier Boys" Under Canvas on the Shores of the Bay of Quinte—The Composition of the Force—Electric Lit Parade Grounds—Rev. H. Symonds, Chaplain, to Preach to the Men on Sunday.

From the Examiner's Special War Correspondent:

On the picturesque banks of the Bay of Quinte stands a city of tents, from which the rattle of musketry, the bugle calls and the lively music from the bands would lead one to think he had wandered down to Tampa or some other military front of the States.

The first day in camp was a wet one, but the rain only fell at intervals and did not prevent the different regiments from carrying out the day's programme. To-day (Thursday) is fine and the men are putting in some good work.

The total strength of the brigade is 1,053, made up as follows:—Prince of Wales Dragoons, 206; 16th Battalion, 253; 40th Battalion, 306; and 46th Battalion, 209.

The 3rd Dragoons are encamped close to the water's edge and are favoured with a nice breeze from the bay.

The camp grounds are lit up by electric light at nights and are much appreciated by the officers and men.

Quite a number of the 57th are down with the 46th, and are reported to be first-class men.

Hon. Chaplain Rev. H. Symonds is in camp and will preach to the men on Sunday.

Trumpeter Fred Hubbs, of C Squadron, who is fresh from the school, is acquitting himself in fine style.

Mr. J. W. Garvin is Quartermaster Sergeant, and Victor McWilliams, Hospital Sergeant.

W.C.T.U. FLOWER DAY.

A Pleasing Custom of the Members of the Union.

THE EXAMINER sanctum has to cordially thank the local W.C.T.U. for their annual floral remembrance which takes the form of a beautiful potted geranium. Thanks are no less due for the intrinsic value of the plant itself than is an acknowledgement of the delicate compliment implied in the selection of the colour and in the address contained in the Scriptural passage attached to the gift. The colour of the flower is white—no doubt emblematic of the purity of the motives of the journalistic guild, and the perspicacity of the good ladies, in recognising the proper address, is implied in the attached text, Psalm 34, 7-9—"His saints"—"O fear the Lord, ye His saints, for there is no want to them that fear Him. The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him and delivereth them."

The idea of symbolism is further carried out in the pot itself, which is encrusted with moss—a delicate hit at the moss-back senators who wish to load down the plebiscite bill with the "older" clause.

Seriously, however, Flower Day with the ladies of the W.C.T.U. has a beautiful significance. All the members on Flower Day are supposed to send a bouquet or a pot of flowers, and these are distributed by a committee to the hospitals and charitable institutions, and among the sick. Thus it comes that the newspapers are included, and they are glad to acknowledge the kindness of the ladies, and to recognize the practical interest they take in carrying out the work of the Union, and in promoting the welfare of the cause they are banded together to advance.

PULVENARIA INNUMERABILIS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The insect referred to in yesterday's EXAMINER is one of the numerous genera of scale insects, this particular representative being known as Pulvenaria Innumerabilis. The scale referred to in yesterday's issue is the back of the insect, the fleshy part of the body being directly underneath. The females secrete from their body a large quantity of silky material, within which the eggs are deposited and hatched.

This insect infests the maples and grape vines, often damaging them.

Yours, etc.,
A MEMBER OF THE NATURAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.
Peterborough, June 10th.

NOTE.—Obviously the most practical and effective remedy is to cut off and destroy, the insect and its brood, at once.

The Grocers' Early Closing.

We are honest and always try to keep our word whether our neighbors do likewise or not. We serve our customers always in that same honest way. Kindly help us by making purchases before 7 p. m. on all evenings except Friday's and Saturday's during the hot weather. HENRY & CO.

FARMERS' PICNIC.

A Grand Day's Outing at Jubilee Point —List of Sports.

The Farmers' picnic yesterday, under the auspices of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society, was without doubt the most successful affair of the kind ever held at Jubilee Point. Before ever a boat touched the wharf there were hundreds present who had driven to the scene. Then the City of Peterborough with a palace barge attached, took the crowd from Peterborough, and it is doubtful if she ever carried so many passengers before. The North Star came up from Healey's Falls loaded to the gunwales, and after landing her passengers plied from the lake ports the rest of the day, as did the Beaver and Eclipse.

The arrangements for the day's pleasure passed off without a hitch, the result of the programme of sports being as follows:

100 yds. race—1 W Heffernan, 2 N Sutton.

160 yds. race, boys—1 F Foley, 2 J Green.

Ladies' race—1 Bessie Jones, 2 Tillie Castle.

Girls' race—1 Gertie McMillan, 2 Minnie Smith, 3 Susie Warner, 4 Carrie Smith.

Running hop, step and jump—1 C Ritchie, 39 ft.; 2 W Crowley, 38 ft. 6 in.

Double Canoe Race—Muskrat and Knott, Chemong; 2 Howard Bros., Hiawatha.

The football match between Gore's Landing and Otonabee resulted in a tie after one hour's play, neither sides scoring.

The double canoe race is stated to have been very exciting, the Howard Bros. having been beaten for the first time in many years.

The excursionists who went from Peterborough are loud in their praise of Capt. and Mrs. Lane, of the City of Peterborough. The former was most courteous to the passengers, and Mrs. Lane, with the assistance of Mr. Dickson Jewett, of town, served meals to over 200 during the day, something which was never done on the steamer before.

THE ABERDEEN ASSOCIATION.

An unsuccessful effort was made some weeks ago to organize a branch of the Aberdeen Association in town. The object of the Association is to distribute literature in the thinly populated sections of the Northwest. While owing to the approach of summer, no local branch was organized, yet its promoter, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, has succeeded in gathering together some four or five hundred books and magazines. They have just been forwarded to Ottawa and the Central Association.

Anyone wishing to contribute magazines to the next box, may send them to the Y.M.C.A. building where they will be received on behalf of this new and highly commendable work.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, June 10th.

An old resident of the town appeared before the magistrate on a charge of vagrancy this morning, but on stating that he had never been in the police court before, he was allowed to go with a warning that such a plea could not be made again.

Wm. McDonald, a tramp, was captured by Officer McGinty last night, and after his arrest it was ascertained that one of the two coats he wore belonged to Mr. J. J. Turner. McDonald stated to the magistrate this morning that he knew nothing about the coat, being on a spree. The prisoner was remanded until Monday, the magistrate reminding him that he had warned him earlier in the day, when begging, to beware of getting into the police court.

It's not the cough, but what it may end in, that makes it so serious. The cough may be cured, the serious consequence prevented by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. Price, 25 cents, at all druggists.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The Association Already Beginning its Work.—A Circular Letter.

The following circular has been sent out out by the re-organized Trent Valley Canal Canal Association :—

PETERBOROUGH, June 4th, 1898.

DEAR SIR,—At a meeting of representatives of the municipalities along the line of the Trent Valley Canal, held in Peterborough on June 1st, inst., it was decided to re-organize the Trent Valley Canal Association. It was recognized that it was necessary in the interest of the early completion of this most important work to do so.

The work now under contract will soon be finished—probably before the end of the year, and in order that the canal throughout may be completed at an early date, and that the people may receive the full benefit of the money expended, provision should be made by the Dominion Parliament for placing the remaining sections under contract. The Dominion Government, through the Premier and the Minister of Railways and Canals, has unmistakably given th people to understand that it regards the canal as a work that should be completed. We, however, in this district, so fully recognize its importance to the district and to the country as a whole, that we should neglect no available means of urging upon the Government and Parliament the necessity for pushing the work without relaxation.

We must recognize, however, that there is opposition to the completion of the canal—opposition that is no doubt selfish, but which has influence—and we must take such steps as we can to not only urge the Government to push the work forward, but also to strengthen its hands in so doing. To accomplish this it is necessary that the members of the Government, the members of Parliament, the influential Boards of Trade, the press and all leaders of public opinion and in trade throughout the country, should be made familiar with the route of the canal, its feasibility, its advantages and the great benefit it would be to the carrying and consequently the general trade interests of the country, and of the large and populous district more immediately interested.

At the meeting referred to the opposition which has shown itself in the Toronto Board of Trade and in Parliament, and the whole position of the canal project, was thoroughly considered, and it was unanimously agreed that the Association should at once be resuscitated to carry on a vigourous educational campaign in favour of the early completion of the canal, and to secure the early letting of contracts for the work required on the remaining sections. A resolution to that effect was adopted, and it was resolved that all wardens of counties, mayors of towns, reeves of townships and villages, representatives of Boards of Trade interested, members of Parliament and of the Legislature through whose constituences the canal passes, and officials of the Association, should be members, with power to add to their number. The officers elected were: President, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Peterborough; 1st Vice-President, M. B. Morrison, M.P.P., Mayor of Trenton; 2nd Vice-President, W. T. C. Boyd. Bobcaygeon; Seretary-Treasurer, S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk, Peterborough.

This circular letter is sent to the municipalities, Boards of Trade and Members of Parliament, in order that all interested may know the action taken, and they are urged, especially those who are by virtue of its constitution, members of the Association, to do all that lies in their power to assist in the work, and in procuring from municipalities, who will be communicated with on the subject, financial contributions, which are absolutely necessary to further the objects of the Association in order that success may crown our united efforts to so awaken public opinion throughout the country in favour of the canal that all opposition will be effectively overcome, that the Government will be impelled to proceed with new contracts, and that the waterway will be opened at any early date from the Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte.

S. R. ARMSTRONG, Sec.-Treas. J. R. STRATTON, President.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

Full practices are called for to-night and to-morrow night. The team which goes to Orillia must be in the best possible shape for a hard two hours' game, and the committee in picking the twelve needed will be guided in their selection by the number of practices which have been attended.

The Orillia Times makes the following reference to the game here on June 2nd: The game was fast and hotly contested from start to finish, and was so even throughout that it was guessing who would be the winner until the last shot was fired. Both goals were constantly attacked, and more shots were fired at the Peterborough flags than the Orillias, but Dobbin was a veritable stone wall and would let nothing go by. Orillia, on the other hand was weak between the poles. Frost was unable to go, and Hammond, at the last moment, was persuaded to take the position, and while he did well for a lad who is unused to play the position, the job was too much for him. The management are more to blame than the player in this case, as they should have seen to it that they had a properly trained goalkeeper. The Orillia home was strong, and the centre field instead of helping the defence kept crowding down on the home, so that when the ball went to Orillia defence, the Peterborough home with the assistance of the centre, always had the best of it, and only herculean efforts on the part of Quinn, Trask and Watson kept the score as low as it is. Mr. H. O'Loughlin, of St. Catharines, referred the game and expressed himself highly delighted with the play, and said he never witnessed faster and neater championship lacrosse. At the end of the tenth game the score was even, but Peterborough succeeded in getting three more before time was called. Nobody was hurt and the best of good feeling prevailed.

The Orillia News-Letter says: Orillia's intermediate lacrosse team had their first reverse last Thursday afternoon in Peterborough at the hands of the local team. The Peterborough have beyond a doubt the swiftest aggregation of players they have had for many years, and more than that, they are all natives of the town.

CRICKET.

A very interesting match will take place on the Nicholls Park to-morrow afternoon between Trinity College School II., of Port Hope, and the Colts. Both teams play good cricket and the game will be well worth going over to see. Wickets will be pitched at one o'clock.

The Port Hope boys will be given a drive around town in the morning. After the match both teams will be entertained to tea on the lawn of Mr. McKee, London street, by the lady friends of the Colts.

THE TURF.

A party of Peterborough sports leave in the morning to attend the Rochester races. There are ten in the party.

E. S. CLOUSTON, General Manager.

Bank of Montreal, Montreal, 30th April, 1898

THE GENERAL MANAGER.

Mr. Clouston said: There are only a few items in our statement this year which call for special explanation. In our liabilities there is an increase in the circulation of $1,000,000, caused partly by increased expenditure in railroad building, the influx into the Yukon district, and partly by the general expansion in business. Our deposits have increased $600,000. Without explanation this would not show their true condition. I referred last year to a large increase over the previous year, and stated that, in my opinion, it lacked permanency. We have probably had withdrawn from us $3,000,000 of special deposits of large amounts, and they have been replaced by deposits of smaller sums from the public of a more permanent and, therefore, more satisfactory character. In our assets the funds readily available have been reduced $800,000, from $26,545,256 to $25,703,890, chiefly in our Dominion and Provincial securities. The discounts have increased $2,600,000, partly from the general expansion in business and partly from special operations which will probably be closed out in the next few months. The overdue debts show a reduction of $90,000. Our profits for the year as shown in the statement, are $35,000 greater, derived chiefly from the enhanced value of money in the European markets, and it is a curious condition of affairs that at one period of the year we were receiving more for short loans in Germany than could have been obtained here in Montreal. In London the bank rate advanced to 2½ per cent. on the 23rd of September, 3 per cent. on the 14th of October, 4 per cent. on the 7th of April, where it remained till 26th of May.

Up to the time that war seemed inevitable the rate for call money in the United States ruled low, and even then it only advanced to firmness for a short time, as the credit balances established in Europe by the immense balance of trade in its favour prevented any great stringency. It is worth while noting the figures of this balance of trade. On the 30th April the balance of trade for ten months in favour of the United States amounted to the enormous sum of $514,000,000, whereas in no previous fiscal year in its history had they attained $300,000,000. At present the rate for call money in the United States is merely nominal, though it remains to be seen what effect the replenishing of the coffers of the treasury, drained by the expense of the war, will have on the market.

With reference to trade conditions in Canada, it is difficult to estimate the great

Not the greatest weight for that is not the proper way to estimate its value, it is the strength and flavor that determine it. What is called tea can be bought for a few cents per pound and yet it is expensive.

Ram Lal's Pure Indian Tea

has never been known as a "cheap" tea, yet it is economical because of its purity, flavor, and great strength. It will brew nearly double the number of good cups of tea that any other brand will. Cheap bulk teas not only lose their strength but the fine flavor is altogether wanting.

Ram Lal's Tea is a pure Indian Blend put up in sealed packets which retain all the strength, original delicate aroma and delicious flavor.

THE ONLY HOPE!

For Victims of Bright's Disease is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Not a day passes on which the newspapers do not record the death of one or more persons from Bright's Disease. Already its victims number hundreds of thousands. Day by day the awful total grows larger. No class is safe from this destroyer.

War and intemperance, with all their miseries and fatalities, are not responsible for as many deaths as have been caused by Bright's Disease. Yet, there is a way of resisting it; of drawing its poisoned fangs, and making it as harmless as a summer breeze. That great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills, has cured thousands of the worst cases. It never fails to cure, hopeless as the case may seem.

Would you safely shield your loved ones from the fatal grip of this curse of mankind—Bright's Disease? Then use Dodd's Kidney Pills, the only cure on earth for this disease.

STOMACH STUFFING.

Some Common Sense Reasons Why You Should Not Be Greedy.

What special pleasure is there, after all, in overloading the stomach? It certainly is not a sensible thing to do, and yet the so called greedy people often form this habit simply because they do not take the trouble to reason out the certain results. We see almost daily reports of death attributed to heart failure. Did you ever stop to think what it is that the heart fails to do?

The heart is said to be the most perfect organ of the animal economy and one that never shirks its duty. It is "stomach stuffing," and not "heart failure," that causes the trouble in many instances. The heart goes right on doing its duty throughout our lives without one second's rest, night or day, sometimes without the intermission of a single pulsation for 100 years or more.

At every beat it propels two ounces of blood through its structure. At 75 pulsations per minute, 9 pounds of blood is sucked in and pumped out; every hour, 540 pounds; every day, 12,960 pounds; every year, 4,730,400 pounds; every 100 years, 473,040,000 pounds, and all performed without one moment's rest; verily, a good record.

Now the heart has the very meanest neighbor that ever an organ had—namely, the stomach—especially if it be the stomach of a greedy person. This organ is a drunkard, a glutton, a trespasser and almost everything that is bad. It ought to be walled in and compelled to keep on its own grounds.

The stomach lies directly under the heart, with only the diaphragm between, and when it fills with gas it is like a small balloon and lifts up until it interferes directly with the heart's action. The stomach itself never generates gas, but when filled with undigested food fermentation takes place and gas is formed, and the interference depends upon the amount of gas in the stomach.

To overcome this obstruction the heart has to exert itself in proportion to the interference, more blood is sent to the brain, and the following symptoms are the result: A dizzy head, a flushed face, a loss of sight, spots and blurs before the eyes, flashes of light, zigzag lines or chains, often followed by the most severe headache. These symptoms are usually relieved when the gas is expelled from the stomach.

Now when this upward pressure upon the heart becomes excessive, there are more dangerous symptoms. A larger quantity of blood is sent to the brain, and if blood clot in the brain result the patient dies of apoplexy. When a sick person or an old one or one with weak digestion sleeps, digestion is nearly or quite suspended, but fermentation goes on in the overloaded stomach and gas is generated.

A man is found dead in bed, and the medical attendant pronounces it the result of heart failure, and such is the certificate of burial given. Now that man was out and partook of a late supper; ate roast beef, turkey, lobster, oysters, mince pie, plum pudding, ice cream, cake, an orange, nuts and raisins and drank three or four cups of coffee, or perhaps several glasses of beer or wine. He went home at midnight, retired, and died of heart failure before 9 the next morning. What did the heart fail to do?

A more truthful verdict would have been: Death from a habit of greediness formed in youth, ending in an exaggerated case of stomach stuffing.—Philadelphia Times.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fulness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only take the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism.

PLAGUE RIOTS IN INDIA.

Serious State of Affairs in Calcutta—Death Rate Alarmingly Heavy.

Vancouver, June 10.—News by the Empress of China, just arrived, shows a deplorable state of affairs in Calcutta, where plague riots have stopped all trade. The riots are extremely serious. All communication is stopped and no word can be obtained. The death rate is becoming appalling. Some white people are dying of the plague. In the last 24 hours, reports say, there were 30 new cases and 16 deaths, making a total of 773 cases and 662 deaths.

A WHEAT PICK-UP.

Only a Little, However, and the Tendency of the Market Is Still Bearish—The Prices.

Wednesday Evening, June 8.

Wheat stopped in its decline to-day, and accomplished what is likely only a temporary rally, for the harvests in the West have already begun, and they promise splendidly. On the Chicago board, the July delivery advanced 3½c, and closed at 88c, 2¾c higher than yesterday. The September future gained 1½c, and the December option ⅝c per bushel. The world's visible supply on June 1 is placed by one authority at 109,845,000 bushels, against 107,338,000 bushels a year ago, which estimate is, of course, a bearish factor.

On the Liverpool market there was a rally in wheat. July rose 4½d, and the later deliveries ½d per cental.

On the Toronto board, No. 2 Ontario red is freely offering around 93c, middle freights. One bearish element is a report to the effect that French fall wheat flours are offering in London and Glasgow for July delivery at a price equal to 89c on line for Ontario red wheat. Such trans-Atlantic quotations, caused by good European crop outlook, prevent Ontario millers from doing anything.

MOTORMAN O'REILLY CASE.

He was Cured of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills When Everything Else Failed.

Toronto, May 30—(By telegraph) With reference to his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and Diabetes, Mr. T. H. O'Reilly, Toronto Street Railway motorman No. 694, writes corroborating the report of his cures.

Mr. O'Reilly says: "For three years I suffered horribly, in spite of all the medicines I tried. Not one of them gave the least relief. I endured the torture of scalding pains while urinating, and all the other agonies of Diabetes.

"Finally I was induced to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The first dose did me good and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

An Arizona Battle.

They say that a man takes his life in his hand who sleeps on the ground in Arizona," said a young civil engineer the other day, "because there are so many snakes there. But unfortunately men of our profession cannot always choose their sleeping place. I was working down there a little while ago with another fellow, and one night we were obliged to lie down upon no better bed than our overcoats stretched on the ground. We were too tired to be nervous and slept soundly till after midnight, when my companion sprang up suddenly, waking me with a start.

"What's the matter?" I asked sleepily.

"There's a rattler here."

I listened and heard nothing.

"I don't hear him," I said. "Guess you've had a nightmare." So we settled down again. In a few minutes my friend leaped to his feet once more, exclaiming:

"There's a rattler here, sure's fate, and you'd better get up. I believe he's under my coat."

It was queer that I couldn't hear it if it was so near. I cautiously extended my hand, feeling along the ground. Yes, I know it was a foolish thing to do, but we don't always stop to think. Suddenly I burst out laughing.

"Yes," I said, "there is a rattler here, in your pocket too. You tell your sweetheart not to write you letters on such stiff paper."

We slept soundly for the rest of the night, but often since then I have guyed him about his "rattler."—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

Pat and the Bottle.

"Pat, where did you get the whisky?" asked one section hand of another.

"Whist?" said Pat. "Oi swolped it from the private car dat was here."

"Pat, the boss collars are going to miss it by and by. You better hide it," said the first speaker.

"Let's take this hand car and run down the track a ways and bury it," said Pat.

The two got a hand car and told the foreman they were going down the track to get some potatoes for dinner. Away they went down the track about a mile.

"This is a good place," said Pat. The two got off the car and buried the bottle near the track.

"How will we know where we buried it?" said Pat.

"Cut a notch in the side of the car," said his companion. So a notch was cut in the side of the car above where the bottle was buried and the two Iberians returned to their work. That evening they decided to go and dig up the bottle. Away they went.

"Where is the place?" asked Pat.

"I cut a notch in the car to show," said the other.

"And beguorra I forgot all about it and moved the car," said Pat.—Topeka State Journal.

In military prisons an offender is sometimes sentenced to carry cannon balls from one place to another and pile them up all day long. That is all. Perhaps it does not seem very terrible but it soon wears his life out. It is practically a death sentence, and he knows it; he would rather be shot. Many a sick man feels the same way about the burden of disease that he is lugging back and forth from day to day. He would as soon be down with a mortal disease. It will come to that sooner or later.

A man's life can be dragged out by dyspepsia and liver complaint. The experience of Mr. J. T. Cardwell, of Fall Creek Depot, Pittsylvania Co., Va., shows how Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery saves people from consumption by waking up their nutritive organism and giving it power to supply pure, healthy blood, which drives out blood poisons and dead tissues and builds up sound, wholesome flesh and muscle.

"I feel it my duty," writes Mr. Cardwell in a letter to Dr. Pierce, "to write you of the lasting benefits derived from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and little 'Pellets.' Seven years ago I contracted a severe cold, which baffled the skill of one of the best physicians in my State. It ran on and I continually grew worse until I concluded to write to the 'World's Dispensary Medical Association.' The answer to my inquiry advised me to use 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pellets' for indigestion and liver complaint; at this time two months had passed. In two or three days after I had commenced the use of your medicine my cough had entirely stopped, my digestion was better, my low spirits driven away and I felt new life and vigor in my whole body."

This marvelous "Discovery" makes nerve force and rugged power. It is far better than oily emulsions; it does not make flabby fat, it does not increase the weight of corpulent people.

NO LONGER LONELY.

"You sent for me, mother?"

"Yes, child; I sent for you to say goodby. I am going away for some time." The woman spoke deliberately in the monotonous voice of one giving a piece of information tedious to give.

Angus did not express any surprise or regret. The nine years he had spent with his mother had not helped him to know her. Without in the least understanding wherein lay her strange aloofness, he was conscious that he was supremely uninteresting to her. He wondered why it should be so, and his honest boyish soul was sometimes troubled. But children submit readily to the inevitable, and Angus had his compensations.

Vera Warden looked at her son with more interest than was usual with her. He was certainly a handsome lad, tall and well built, with blue eyes that were both kind and honest. She had been long in making her decision. Now that it was made she did not regret. She only wondered if somehow she had missed something that more commonplace women find easily.

"Angus, dear, you must take care of father. You and your father are so much alike—understand each other so well—that it will be easy for you. You must be especially good to him now."

There was a curious little catch in Vera's voice as she said the "now."

"Why are you going, mother?" questioned Angus, feeling that there was something even more puzzling than usual in his mother's manner. "When are you coming back? Father will miss you."

"Will he?" asked Vera wistfully. "And you, Angus, will you miss me at all?"

Angus was profoundly astonished. He would like to have kissed his mother just as he kissed dad, but he did not dare. He only grew red and fidgeted awkwardly as he answered, "Of course I shall miss you, mother—at meals."

It was not greed that prompted the child's definition, but the fact that he seldom saw his mother except at breakfast and at lunch.

Vera Warden did not care for children and said so frequently.

The carriage came to the door, goodby being said without much emotion on either side. As she was driven out of the big stone gates Vera gave herself a little shake, saying, "And now for life!"

* * * * * * * *

An hour later Thomas Warden returned from a fishing expedition on the other side of the dale. The oak trees in the avenue had burst into gold green leaf. The big chestnut on the lawn—the only chestnut on the estate—was covered with cones of pinky blossom. The May sunset touched the grim gray house with rosy light, and Thomas Warden felt a welcome in it all.

Laying down his rods and fishing baskets in the hall, he went straight to his study. There on his blotting book lay the letter he had both dreaded and expected.

His sunburned face looked gray as he took it up. He sat down heavily; then, with shaking hands, opened the letter and read:

I have burned my boats. There is no going back. I warned you that it would come to this; that I would bear the monotony no longer. I have given you ten years of my life—the best ten years. Now I owe it to myself to live—it may be ten years more—but anyway to live. Marriage and maternity have for me proved uninteresting, but I have endured them for your sake and for the sake of the boy while he was quite young. Had he been in any way an unusual boy I might have found life more tolerable. To develop his mind would have been an interest for me. He might have shared in some degree my aspirations after a fuller intellectual life. But he is a healthy, handsome, quite commonplace boy, who will grow to what you would call "a honest, God fearing man" without my help. He has an excellent governess, and your good mother will doubtless come frequently to worship you both. I wish I could free you of me altogether, and, as you are not the sort of man to bear with equanimity any sort of scandal or publicity, you have my promise that the life I lead shall be such as can give you no cause for offense other than the fact that I lead it away from you. For your never failing courtesy and kindness I thank you. Believe me, I shall always have the sincerest affection and respect for you. The fact remains, however, that I cannot lead your life, and you can lead no other. Let us then separate and go our different ways in peace.

In every conventional and actual sense I am and will be your faithful wife,

VERA WARDEN.

There was nothing in the letter that she had not said to him many times during the last six months.

Now she had actually carried out her so often announced intention and was gone, and the realization stunned him. He felt cold and numb. The roar of the beck in which he had stood all morning was in his ears, and he gazed out into the gathering twilight, seeing nothing, only conscious that it was dark and chill everywhere.

There was a knock at the door, and a servant came in, saying, "Please, sir, Master Angus is ready and would like you to come to him if you are not too tired."

Dragging himself out of his chair, he passed his hand across his dazed, strained eyes. Then he went out of his room and up the wide old staircase to his dressing room, where Angus slept.

"I've got a new night suit, dad, just like yours. Look—pocket and trowsies and all," exclaimed the child, displaying the latter garments with great pride. "Miss Taylor had them made for me in York. Aren't they nice?"

"Yes, my boy, yes—very!" But the voice was absent, and Angus felt that there was a something lacking, something that he generally found there.

The child felt frightened. Was dad, too, going to hold himself "aloof?" Would he, too, take to looking over people's heads and answering in a faraway voice? The thought was one full of omen.

Angus gazed into his father's face as he sat wearily on the edge of the little bed. The child, if commonplace, was quick to understand those who loved him. In a moment he acquitted his father and came and knelt beside him, rubbing his burly head against his knees. He said his prayer with devoutly folded hands, as grannie had taught him. Then, climbing into Warden's arms, he put his own round his neck.

"Shall I sing my psalm, dad? Or are you too tired?"

His father held him very close. "Sing it, laddie—sing grannie's psalm."

Grannie was Scotch. When she came, she taught Angus the psalms in meter. She taught him other things that he learned more easily than the psalms, chief among them a great love and trust in her and through her for everything Scotch. When he had finished, his father leaned his head against the little rounded shoulder, and there was silence save for the man's quick breathing.

"Good night, dad," said Angus at last, turning himself to see his father's face.

Thomas Warden rose hastily; he laid the boy in his little bed, kissed him and blessed him and went down and sat in the study again. But a man cannot dine in his fishing boots, so he went up stairs, had a bath and while he dressed Angus discoursed cheerfully to him through the half open door.

* * * * * * * *

The silence was unbearable. It was so lonely. Thomas Warden could not sleep. He got up and walked about his room. Only 1 o'clock! The night had hardly begun.

The moon shone brilliantly, but the wind blew shrewdly through the open casement. May nights are cold in the north country.

He went into the dressing room and looked at Angus. "If she had only loved the boy—if she had only loved the boy." He could have forgiven her for all the rest. A just and tolerant man, he knew his own limitations. He granted to the full his wife's intellectual superiority, but she might have loved the boy.

"Goodness and mercy all my life shall surely follow me." Why did those lines ring in his head? And then there always followed the sentence in his wife's letter—"I cannot live your life, and you can live no other."

It was true; he could live no other. But the boy—why did she not love the boy?

He drew up the blind, and the mellow moonlight fell on the sleeping child. Surely he was a goodly child, so comely and kindly and honest. As he looked at the boy his heart went out to him. He did not stoop and kiss him as a woman would have done; he reverenced too much this fair sleep which wrapped him round. He went back to his own room and got a pillow. Then, laying his long length on the floor beside the little bed and with the child's psalm still sounding in his ears, he, too, slept.

The room was flooded with moonlight when Angus awoke. There was a sound of regular and heavy breathing. Angus felt puzzled—puzzled, but not in the least afraid. Such breathing must come from a man or a dog; from men and dogs the child had experienced nothing but kindness. He sat up and, listening, looked about to see where the sound came from. He shook his hair back from his forehead and rubbed his eyes. Yes, he was not mistaken; it was his father who lay there on the floor beside his bed.

Angus rose softly and touched his father's bare feet. They were very cold. "Poor dad!" he said to himself. "And him so tired!"

Then suddenly he remembered his mother's words, "You must take care of father." It was bad to sleep without a covering. Grannie had told him that. He pulled his little quilt off his bed and laid it lightly on his father. To his delight, the sleeping figure never stirred; but the quilt was short, and Thomas Warden was long. By no amount of stretching would it cover both his shoulders and his feet—poor cold feet! Then Angus was seized by an inspiration, which even his mother could not have called quite commonplace. He lay down at his father's feet and, unbuttoning the jacket of the new sleeping suit, he cuddled up so that the cold feet rested on his own warm breast. Then he, too, fell asleep.

The kindly moon shone in upon them, and it was very still.

When Thomas Warden awoke, the moonlight had changed to pearly dawn. He was no longer cold, and when he realized why was no longer lonely.

Weigh Yourself before Taking Them.

GAINED 22 POUNDS.

I have more faith in Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills than anything else I have ever used. Since using them I have recommended them to several of my friends who were troubled as I was, and now they are in splendid health. I had been a sufferer, like a great many other women, with a disease peculiar to my sex. I tried everything I could read or think about to help me, but was getting worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others, I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and now I have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did. Sincerely yours, MAY COLE, Simcoe, Ont. THE UNFINISHED SONG.

With dimpled arms so round and white
She rolls the snowy dough,
Dreaming and smiling as she works,
Her soft cheeks all aglow.

She sings a tender old love song,
While in the clear, sweet eyes
There dwells the look that angels know
Who sing of paradise.

Then softly from my hiding place
I steal and fold her tight.
I still the tender, plaintive song
By love's own ancient right.

Then slower and slower move the hands
Until I hold them fast
Within my own, like prisoned birds,
Content to rest at last.

What if we both forget the dough
In new found happiness?
What matters anything on earth
Since she has answered "Yes?"

Insuperable Difficulty.

A Scotchman who has been employed nearly all his life in the building of railways in the highlands of Scotland went to the United States in his later years and settled in a new section on the plains of the far west. Soon after his arrival a project came up in his new home for the construction of a railway through the district, and the Scotchman was applied to as a man of experience in such matters.

"Hoot, mon," said the spokesman of the scheme, "ye canna build a railway across this country."

"Why not, Mr. Ferguson?"

"Why not?" he repeated, with an air of effectually settling the whole matter. "Why not? And dinna ye see the country's as flat as a floor, and ye hae naw place whatever to run your tunnels through?"—Scotch Leader.

Very Costly Matches.

The manufacture of matches is a very strict state monopoly in France, and a fine of one franc per match is ruthlessly imposed on all contraband imports of the kind from abroad. Forgetfulness of this lately cost an English traveler the sum of $100 at the port of Boulogne, where he had to pay a fine of 500 francs on a box of wax lights, value 9 cents, which the custom house officers found among his luggage.

BANK OF MONTREAL.

boon the enhanced value of grain has been to this country. It has enabled the farmers to reduce their mortgage indebtedness, and it has increased their purchasing power, stimulating trade in all directions, giving more freight to the railways, their traffic returns showing larger gains. The prophets who last year were predicting that the low price of grain had come to stay, must feel that they have mistaken their vocation. The export of provisions and eggs is steadily increasing. The supply of cheese, unfortunately has been in excess of the demand, and the prices are unsatisfactory, but it is hoped that, with the cessation of strikes and the increase in field work in England, there may be an improvement. The demand for merchandise and manufactures of all sort is very satisfactory. In the Territories ranchers have received highly remunerative prices for cattle and horses, and, with additional markets opening up in the mining districts, they have every reason to feel hopeful. In British Columbia there has been a great impetus to trade by the migration to the gold fields of the Yukon, and in the Kootenay mines are gradually passing from the chrysalis and chromo stage into actual development and production. In the Maritime Provinces trade has been rather dull, owing to depressed markets for lumber, both in England and the United States, while the demand for fish, one of the chief staples of the lower Provinces, have been seriously affected by the war.

The worst feature in the present situation in Canada is the condition of the lumber market, owing to the overstocked condition of the foreign markets and the cessation of the demand in the United States. Considerable stocks were carried over from last year, and I am afraid the year's cut has not been sufficiently curtailed. Locally, however, the demand has been very good. Generally speaking, business is good and the outlook promising.

In the United States the year commenced with the same promising conditions as in Canada, possibly more strongly established, but the war has rather checked some enterprises and industries, but, we hope, for a short period only.

In this resume of the business of the country I have refrained from statistics, as I consider I am doing all you desire of me by restricting myself to the figures in our statement.

There is on matter I will refer to. The action of the Government in taking power to reduce the rate of Government Savings Bank deposits this session to 2½ per cent. was a wise and business-like one, and should commend itself to those who take a business point of view. If there is one department of a Government which should be conducted entirely apart from politics and strictly on business lines, it is the Department of Finance, and there would have been no excuse if they continued to pay as much for a temporary deposit, such as a savings bank deposit is, as for loans running for a long period, particularly when ordinary municipalities can borrow now at 3½ to 3¾ per cent. If it is considered the duty of a Government to furnish a safer place of deposit for the public than that furnished by banks, the axiom should never be lost sight of that "the greater the safety, the smaller the return for your money"; and the Government showed a sense of what was due to themselves, and to the public, who have to pay for the increased interest, which, after all, benefits only a very small proportion of the people. You will notice that I said it was right to take the power, for it is quite possible that before the time arrives to exercise it circumstances may render it injudicious to put it into effect. With a war on hand in the neighbouring country, and with the uncertainty as to the period when it will cease, serious consideration should be given before taking any definite step towards fixing a value for money in the future.

If there are any questions in connection with the business of the Bank, I will be happy to reply to them.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT.

Hon. Geo. A. Drummond said said :—It seems almost superfluous to add anything to the full statements now laid before you, and the remarks of the General Manager, but, in accordance with precedent, I will ask your attention for a few moments. You will, I think, agree with the Directors in regarding the results of the year's business and the position of the Bank's affairs as eminently satisfactory.

The statement in the accounts that "full allowance has been for bad or doubtful debts," is, in the view of the Directors, fully justified. The Directors are pleased to express their recognition of the ability and prudence displayed by the management, and the loyalty and devotion to the interests of the Bank on the part of the large and increasing staff.

Early in the past year indications were not wanting that the country had entered on the long-deferred era of better times. Confidence was returning and the general anticipations of improvement were reflected in the great commercial barometer, the Stock Exchange, by a steady advance in the value of securities. A rude shock was given when, on the 25th of April, 1898, war against Spain was proclaimed by the United States. Vague expectations had been hazarded that, in some way or other the derangement of affairs in the neighbauring Republic would result in benefit to ourselves. So far I fail to see any. The established channels of trade and finance in the neighbouring States have not been materially affected. We can only express the sincere hope and desire for the speedy restoration of the blessings of peace.

It is impossible to avoid noting, with satisfaction, the growth of a kindlier feeling towards the mother country among our friends and neighbours.

The general and remarkable advance in the value of most farm produce is eminently satisfactory. The farming community has long suffered from an unnatural depression, and may be congratulated on the improvement which, in a country like ours, exporting a large share of its products, is of enormous and widespread importance. Calculations by experts go to prove that during the past six months, at the very least, seven to eight millions of dollars extra have been realized on cereal deliveries in the advance in values while, since the opening of navigation, the exports of wheat, corn, rye, peas, oats, buckwheat, barley and flour have nearly doubled as compared with those of the corresponding period last year. Cheese has been depressed and unremunerative in consequence of over-production. Butter and eggs have been exported in rapidly-increasing volumes, and there seems to be no limit to the possibilities of this trade, due regard being had to quality. In general business it is reported that there is a marked increase in volume, if not in prices, in many departments, such as dry goods, hardware leather, paints and oils, and in many branches of manufacturing industry.

The curtailment of excessive terms of credit in many branches of business must be regarded as satisfactory, for, while credit is of the very essence of modern business, too extended terms are a fruitful source of mischief both to the giver and receiver. In this connection the failure record of the year deserves attention. The number of failures is smaller than for a number of years, and and the amount involved is moderate.

The steamship lines report a large business at fair rates. Ships during the winter from Portland and St. John have been full, and, since the opening of navigation, inward cargoes have been larger than usual and outward full. The proposed fast line of Atlantic steamers for passengers and mails is not yet apparently secured, but as such a line is of vital importance, not only to the trunk lines of railways, but to the Dominion, the hope is expressed that it may speedily be brought to a successful realization,

The great lumber interest must be reported in less satisfactory terms. While the cut of logs has been restricted, and the output of deals will be smaller than for years past, prices for both have not improved.

At the last annual meeting reference was made to the menace of the possible adoption of free coinage of silver by our neighbours; of that we hear little at the moment; but it is conceivable that in the grave financial adjustments entailed by the vast expenditures now going on by the United States, another opportunity may be afforded for the agitation of such questions as this. However, as all these expenditures are well within the resources and powers of the nation, I confidently believe that sound principles of finance will prevail.

In Canada no event has excited more interest than the gold discoveries in the Yukon, and the rush to that district. The continued progress and extension of mining in British Columbia is a satisfactory circumstance.

Projects of railway extension have been mainly directed to these districts, and the construction of the Crow's Nest Pass line by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is the most important work in progress.

As a whole, then, the symptoms of returning prosperity are in the ascendant, and the shareholders may rely that the Bank of Montreal will be prepared to meet increased responsibilities should they arise, and to maintain its position among the financial institutions of the Dominion.

I will move "that the report of the directors now read be adopted and printed for distribution among the shareholders."

The motion was seconded by Mr. A. T. Paterson.

In the course of a brief discussion Mr. Crawford, a shareholder, asked whether the President, Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, was likely soon to return to Canada. To this inquiry the Chairman replied :—"I have no knowledge of the intentions of Lord Strathcona, but I may point out to you that he is a member of the London board and his abilities are at the service of the bank in all matters, and there are many important ones that turn up in London, so that he is not lost to us."

Mr. Crawford—That is quite satisfactory, Mr. Chairman, and I am quite sure that the prestige of his name, whether he is present here in person or at the branch in London, is of vast importance to this bank.

After some slight further discussion the report was unanimously adopted, and the following gentlemen were elected directors, the elections being by ballot. The President and Vice-President will be elected by the directors to-morrow :—

HASTINGS.

(From an Occasional Corespondent)

Father Maguire, the esteemed pastor of St. Mary's church, is diligently pushing forward the work in connection with the new Hastings cemetery. The grounds which have been secured cover about six acres, situated to the north of the Norwood road and about half a mile from the village. The situation is well adapted for cemetery purposes and can be made an attractive resting place of the dead. Originally beautiful in its surroundings under nature's lavish hands, the work of transforming the grounds will afford many opportunities for artistic improvement. The location is on a gentle declivity with practicable inclines. It is fringed with a grove of trees, which enhances the natural beauty of the grounds. Father Maguire shows much energy and practical taste in laying out the plots and keeping the work well forward. Gangs of men are increased by "bees" on certain days, so that the work progresses rapidly. Already the work of staking off the lots is well advanced, and the sections laid out over quite an area. This new cemetery will supply a much needed want. For years funerals have had to go to Westwood, eight miles distant from Hastings, so that the people in this neighbourhood will have cause for thankfulness when the new cemetery is completed and ready for burials.

The village streets are getting into excellent condition, the municipal thoroughfares being as well made and as well kept as any to be found in Peterborough, Cobourg and other towns in the district. This reflects credit on Reeve Fowlds and his councillors, who must be men of good practical common sense.

The summer travel over the river is making things move lively. Steamers are passing through the locks two and three at a time. A number of excursions are billed for out of the village during the month by different steamers.

Hastings will send a big crowd to the meet in Peterborough on the 1st of July.

The most happy and prosperous men in business here are nearly all good big stout men—like Scriver, of the "Star," English, the leading dry goods man, Spellman, of the Clarendon House, and others I might name. Hastings could put up as big a team of well-to-do men, built on the aldermanic plan, as any town twice it size that I know of.

The extensive addition to the Clarendon House, which was at first intended for a bowling alley, is not quite completed yet, but Mr. Spellman talks of turning it into a bicycle livery in summer and a skating rink in summer. It is admirably adapted for both purposes, and would no doubt pay well too. Mr. Spellmen expects several fishing parties here next week, when the season will begin again in all its fishy notoriety. The attractiveness of the fine fishing ground around the River Trent, and the excellent accommodation provided by the Clarendon House bring lots of visitors here every year.

CROW'S NEST SCANDAL

Hon. David Mills Explains the Government's Position.

SIR MACKENZIE BOWELL GLAD.

The Minister of Justice Clearly and Explicitly Defends His Department, and Says It Has Been Unduly Blamed in Connection With This Matter—Prosecution May Follow.

Ottawa, June 11.—In the Senate yesterday Hon. David Mills, in response to a motion by Senator Power to have all correspondence on the subject brought down, gave an explanation of the conduct of the Justice Department and its Deputy Minister in relation to the deaths of the Crow's Nest Pass workmen, Fraser and Macdonald.

He said he was unable to bring down the papers asked for in the motion, as the matter formed the subject of future action by the Government. He desired, however, to make a general statement on the subject, because in the discussion of the action of the Department of Justice many things had been said that were not warranted by the facts. The first intimation the Department had of the unfortunate death of these two young men was by a telegram received from Dr. Mead, who, as a coroner, had undertaken to hold an inquest into the death of the men, and had been enjoined from doing so by either the contractors on the Crow's Nest Pass Railway or by persons acting for the Canadian Pacific Railway. The application for this injunction was heard before Judge Rouleau, and it was granted upon the representation that Dr. Mead was the physician who had attended the young men when they died, and also that he had been an applicant for the position of physician on the Crow's Nest Pass construction, and was angry because his application had not been favorably received. On this evidence the judge granted the injunction on the 8th of February. When the department received this statement from Dr. Mead the advice was given to him to withdraw and allow the inquest to proceed before some other coroner, but he refused to do so, and the department could do nothing but allow the injunction proceedings to go on.

These coroners were in no sense officers of the Federal Government, but were appointed and under the control of the local authorities. Dr. Mead was represented at the injunction proceedings by counsel. The judge did not immediately render judgment, but reserved his decision, and it was only on the 15th of April that the department was advised that the injunction had been granted. The department then applied to its legal agent in the Northwest Territories to obtain further information and ascertain if it would not be possible to have the inquest proceeded with before another coroner. The information received was that the two young men had died of diphtheria, a very contagious disease, and it would be impossible to get any one to exhume the bodies or obtain a jury to sit upon the inquest, as all would be liable to take the disease. The department did not regard an inquest as essential, inasmuch as there was no controversy as to the disease from which the young men died, though of course there was the charge that their death had resulted from want of proper accomodation and attention while ill, and from the culpable negligence of the persons who were responsible for the care of these men employed on the work.

Owing to the necessity of isolating cases of contagious diseases among so many men the contractors in charge of the men had given instructions that all men falling ill should be removed to a special car and not removed without the consent of the contractors. It was contended that in this case those who had authority to permit the removal could not be reached when it was necessary that these two men should be removed in order to obtain proper care and attention.

How far the lack of proper accommodation and care through the negligence of those responsible for the care of these men was responsible for the fatal end of a disease which in itself was not necessarily fatal, was a matter for serious consideration and investigation. The report of the legal agents of the department stated that the men in many instances were shamefully treated.

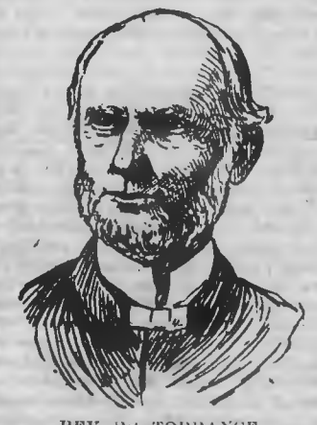
The department had not acted in the matter of pushing the enquiry into the responsibility for the deaths thus far because it was thought the report of the commissioners appointed to enquire into the treatment of the men generally would contain evidence regarding the death of these two young men which would enable the department to institute legal proceedings against the responsible parties. If the report of the commissioners showed that responsibility for death rested upon anyone, the department would at once institute proceedings. If the evidence was not sufficient to warrant this course, and if it was considered that further investigation into the facts was necessary, the department would appoint a commissioner to take further evidence to ascertain how and by whose orders the sick men were removed to the car in which they died, and all the circumstances which would tend to fasten the criminal responsibility, if there was any, on the proper parties.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell was glad to hear the Minister's statement, in view of the charges which had been made against the C.P.R., and more particularly against the Deputy Minister of Justice, for whom he had a high regard, both as a public official and as a man. The statement of the Minister, however, completely exonerated him from the charges made against him in the other House.

Senators McMillan, Perley and Boulton followed, and the motion was withdrawn.

On motion of Hon. David Mills, the Senate decided to sit this morning at 11 o'clock.

A motion proposed by Senator Macdonald of British Columbia, affirming in favor of the opening up of communication into the Yukon country, was adopted.



REV. DR. TORRANCE,

NEW MODERATOR PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

LORD WOLSELEY

Said to Have Been Offered the Governor-Generalship of Canada—Believed He Will Accept.

New York, June 11.—A despatch to the Tribune from London says: The British Government has had unusual trouble in filling the vacancy for the viceroyalty of Canada. Numerous candidates for the succession have been mentioned, but no appointment has been made. The good relations now existing between England and America make it important that the new Governor-General of Canada should be an official of unique reputation, so as to impress the imagination of the whole English-speaking race in America. The appointment has not been officially announced, but it is generally believed in the War office that Lord Wolseley is the man who has been selected for this important post. Nothing has yet appeared in print about it, but it may be stated with the utmost confidence that overtures have been made to him. The Crown is not in the habit of offering appointments for high places until the willingness of those proposed for preferment to accept honors is ascertained. There is adequate reason to believe that Lord Wolseley has been approached and asked whether he will accept the post of Governor-General of Canada, and that he is now considering the expediency of accepting it. He now occupies the office of Commander-in-Chief of the Army, and is the man best fitted by experience and military capacity for retaining it. He would also be a candidate for Governor-General of Canada of exceptional prestige and authority, and would be welcomed both in the Dominion and the United States as a brilliant successor of the long line of illustrious viceroys.

His appointment as Governor-General would command the attention of Canada and America, and would be of great utility in promoting good relations on each side of the border. At the same time it would create a vacancy in the office of Commander-in-Chief, which the friends of Lord Roberts would like to have their special favorite fill. Lord Wolseley is at once a soldier and a diplomatist, equal to any work which he may be called upon to perform, but Lord Roberts is a soldier only and a very ambitious one.

Lord Wolseley is now in his 66th year. If he decides to accept the offer, which has undoubtedly been made, he will retire from the army and devote the remainder of his life to official work as Governor-General, and to the completion of the memoirs which he has long desired to write.

Queen Regent May Retire.

London, June 11.—The Rome correspondent of the Daily News says: A new appeal has been made to the Pope to intervene or use all his influence to obtain the interference of the powers. It is asserted that the Queen Regent has even submitted to the Pope the question of her retirement in order to allay public discontent.

Rev. Mr. Madill Expelled.

Toronto, June 11.—At the meeting of the Congregational Union yesterday the Rev. J. C. Madill was given 15 minutes to make his defence to the charges formulated against him. Afterwards the Union decided to expel him from the church by a vote of 46 to 25. Deacon Reeve immediately applied for the secession of Hope Church (of which Mr. Madill was pastor) from the Union. The request may be granted.

BASE IS GUANTANAMO

American Fleet Has Captured This Excellent Harbor.

SANTIAGO IS AGAIN SHELLED.

Three Hours Added to the Already Long Record of the Town's Being Fired at With Shot and Shell—Bombardment Thought to Cover the Landing of Troops.

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Wanda, off Santiago de Cuba, June 9.—(Via Kingston, Ja., June 11.)—The navy awaits the army. The fighting ships of Rear-Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley have battered down the coast defences of Southern Cuba, and have sealed up Admiral Cervera's fleet.

Scout boats running under the shadows of El Morro have cut the Haytien cable and now hold 33 miles of the coast east of Santiago de Cuba, including Guantanamo Harbor. Under the cover of the guns of the fleet eastern Cuba may be safely invested by land and sea, Admiral Cervera's fleet annihilated and the entire province and its towns and harbors seized and held after a short campaign. The harbor of Guantanamo is a fine base for land and sea operations. The harbor is capacious and has forty feet of water. The land approaches are not so precipitious as at Santiago de Cuba. The low lying hills can be easily crossed with trains of siege guns, and there are level roads to Santiago de Cuba, 33 miles distant, where a few mountain batteries beyond the reach of the fleets will be taken on an eminence commanding the city and the Spanish ships.

Guantanamo is an important place. It has six miles of water harbor, and will be of great value to the United States as a navy and army supply station, coaling port and cable terminus.

The Spaniards made but slight defence. Their batteries were silenced on Tuesday by the Marblehead in a few minutes' firing at 4,000 yards. A small Spanish gunboat ran away.

The Oregon, Marblehead and Yankee hold the harbor, waiting to land marines.

SANTIAGO AGAIN SHELLED.

Again for Three Hours the Hapless Place Was Bombarded.

London, June 11.—A cablegram from Havana, received here yesterday, via Bermuda, says that the American fleet again bombarded Santiago to-day. The engagement lasted from 8 to 11 o'clock and covered the landing of the troops. The Spaniards claim the Americans were repulsed.

Baiquri Bombarded.

Havana, June 11.—8.30 p.m.—Several American warships yesterday bombarded Baiquri, some distance east of Augadores, and near the railway line to Santiago de Cuba. Official advices from Santiago say that the bombardment caused no damage.

Ordered to Manila.

Washington, June 11.—Orders were issued for Batteries B, H, K and L of the Third Artillery, now at the presidio of San Francisco, to join the command of General Merritt for duty in the Philippines. Light Batteries D and G from the Sixth Artillery, stationed at Washington Barracks and Fort Myerva, will leave Tuesday for San Francisco.

DYNAMITE EXPLODED.

Killing Three and Injuring One of the U. S. Engineering Corps.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 11.—An explosion of dynamite occurred at St. John's Bluff, near the mouth of St. John's River, yesterday morning, killing two men, J. J. O'Rourke and Edward Houston, and seriously injuring Lieutenant Hart, U.S.A. O'Rourke was foreman for the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city and Houston was in the employ of the Government. The two men were in a small building on the Bluff, testing electrical appliances to be used for exploding the mines in the river. In some manner the wires became crossed and the dynamite was exploded. Houston's body was blown into the air and nothing of it except scattered fragments of flesh and bones could be found.

A Lieutenant From Cuba.

New York, June 11.—Lieut. Reno of the United States navy reached here yesterday on the steam yacht Barracouta, accompanied by a Cuban guide, with whom he has been traveling for some time in Cuba. He is said to be the bearer of important documents for the State Department at Washington.

Second Militia Expedition.

San Francisco, June 11.—Wednesday, June 15, is the date scheduled for the sailing of the second Manila expedition. The fleet will include the China, 1,100 men; Colon, 800; Zealandia, 750; Senator, 800; Morgan City, 700, and City of Para, 800, it being announced last night that the Morgan City and Senator would be added. The Nebraska regiment of which W. J. Bryan is the colonel will probably go with the expedition. The field guns of the battery will be moved to the ships. One gun on each ship will be installed on deck for the purpose of defence.

Fired on a Railroad Train.

New York, June 11.—A despatch to the World from Port Antonio, says: The United States despatch boat Dolphin on Monday shelled and struck a railroad train on the coast. The train was full of Spanish troops. Many of the soldiers were killed.

Like to Show Their Money.

An official of a bank in Tennessee says: "The German farmers of the mountains nearly all have a deposit in our bank, which ranges from a small amount to several thousand dollars. The deposit is a time one that we pay interest on, and generally once in two years they draw all of their money out and take it home. In a week or ten days they return with their money, which they deposit again. Their reason for this is explained by the fact that they desire to take their money home and show it to their families as an evidence that they have it."—New York Tribune.

WELL KNOWN VIOLINIST

Traveled Extensively Throughout the Provinces—Interesting Statements Concerning His Experience.

STELLARTON, N.S.—James R. Murray, a well known violinist, of this place, who has traveled extensively throughout the Provinces, makes this statement:

"I was running down in health and my weight fell off from 175 to 150 pounds. Prescriptions did me but little good. My trouble was called nervous dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited. I feel as well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession, that of a violin musician for the last 26 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Before I began taking the medicine I did not have any ambition, but now all is changed and my dyspeptic trouble perfectly cured." JAMES R. MURRAY.

N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1898.

A SPLENDID RECORD.

The Liberal party has not yet been two full years in office. Now that the second working session of Parliament under Liberal administration is almost at an end, it may not be inopportune to take stock of what has been accomplished in the last two years.

When the Liberals went into power they found the fiercest sectarian controversy in the country's history in progress over the Manitoba school question. There has been no coercion under Laurier. The school question is settled and the agitation is dead.

The German and Belgian treaties which stood in the way of preferential trade between Great Britain and her colonies have been terminated through the efforts of the Canadian Government.

The tariff has been revised and duties generally have been scaled down to revenue basis, while corn, binder twine, barbed wire, things used largely by farmers, have been put upon the free list.

The movement toward interimperial free trade has been greatly advanced by the adoption of a preferential tariff under which goods from Great Britain and free trading colonies and possessions like New South Wales and India are admitted 25 per cent. under the general tariff maintained against protectionist countries.

Trade with the West Indies has been stimulated by the application of the minimum tariff to imports from these islands. West Indian sugar will, it is anticipated, drive German beet sugar out of the Canadian market, and Canadian fish and food stuffs will be sold more extensively in the West Indies.

The immigration department has been reorganized and put upon a business basis, and the plains of the west are now being peopled more rapidly than at any other time in the history of the Dominion.

The vast mining areas in southern British Columbia, unquestionably among the richest in the world, are now being opened up by the construction of a railway 430 miles in length, which will, it is believed, be ultimately extended to the coast.

Every effort is being made to cheapen the cost of transporting Canadian products to the European market both in summer and winter by all-Canadian routes. The rapid deepening of the canals, the extension of the Intercolonial to Montreal, the harbour improvvments lately authorized at Montreal, Halifax and St. John, the equipment of ocean liners with cold storage and the subsidizing of cold-storage warehouses throughout the country are all steps in this direction.

A contract has been let for a fast Atlantic mail service that it is expected will greatly improve Canada's position as one of the main highways of travel between Europe and the far east as well as give better service to Canadians travelling to and from Europe.

The discovery of a new and rich gold field in the Yukon was followed by the most vigorous action toward the enforcement of Canadian law and the securing of the trade of the new district for Canadian merchants and manufacturers. The short-sighted and unpatriotic action of the Senate has injured our trade interests there, but life and property are as safe in the Yukon as at the centres of civilization. Large sums are being spent in securing this end, but the Dominion is recouped by fees, customs revenues and a royalty on gold.

An endeavour has been made to place the name of Canada more prominently before the consumers of Canadian products by requiring the branding of all packages of dairy produce with the words "Canadian" or "made in Canada."

The rate of interest on Canadian Government loans placed in Great Britain has been reduced from 3 to 2 1-2 per cent.

The careful work of the Minister of Militia resulted in the sending of a Canadian military contingent to the jubilee celebration that gave a proper idea of the position of Canada in the Empire.

An unfriendly alien labour law of the United States has been met by the enactment of a similar law in Canada by way of protest.

As a result of negotiations begun in November last a joint commission representing Great Britain, Canada and the United States will meet shortly at Quebec to arrange a treaty for the settlement of all points of difference between Canada and the United States. The relations between the two countries are now more cordial than at any time since the civil war.

During the present session the Liberal party has sought to redeem ante-election pledges by measures providing for (1) the repeal of the Dominion franchise law, (2) a plebiscite on the prohibition question, (3) the abolition of the system of superannuating members of the civil service.

The material prosperity of the country has greatly increased under Liberal administration. Before 1893 the annual exports of Canadian produce never exceeded one hundred million dollars in value. The exports in the year ending June, 1897, were valued at $123,632,000, sixteen millions more than in the last year of protectionist administration. For the ten months of the year 1897-8, ending April 30, the exports of Canadian produce were $130,090,000. The total for the year will be at least $145,000,000, or $36,000,000 more than the best year of Tory rule.

Canada is greatly increasing her share of the carrying trade. In 1897 $10,825,163 worth of foreign produce was shipped out from Canadian ports as compared with $6,606,738 worth in 1896. The new grain routes from the Western States opened up this year will still further increase this trade.

While the revenues and expenditures of the country are increasing, the expansion of revenue is largely in post office, railway and special Yukon accounts, which cannot be regarded as taxation. Mr. Fielding estimates the receipts from customs duties, which are the chief means of taxation, at $21,500,000 during the coming year. During the last years of prosperity under Tory administration, 1890 and 1891, the customs taxation was for 1890 $23,921,000 and for 1891 $23,416,000. The customs collections fell below eighteen millions in 1896, but there was a very large deficit that year, and over four million dollars had to be borrowed for current expenses. Perhaps the best evidence that the people are more lightly taxed now than under Tory administration is to be found in the fact that while the imports in April of this year were valued at $10,127,634 as compared with $8,395,828 for April, 1897, under the old tariff the duty collected was this year $16,006 less than in 1897. With the preferential tariff in full operation next month this condition of affairs will be even more marked.

No unprejudiced Canadian looking at the facts presented above, will deny that the record is one of which the Liberal party may well be proud. The Laurier Government is composed of men with well-conceived plans for national development and with the force of character to carry them out in the face of misrepresentation and calumny.—Globe.

MUST BE DECENTLY HANGED.

Ontario Government Instructs Sheriffs How to Conduct Executions.

Toronto, June 11.—The Ontario Government has decided, through the Attorney-General, that murderers must be decently hanged, and in an orthodox manner. Therefore, realizing that these little functions should be uniform, and recognizing that system is a desirable thing, the sheriffs of the province, who are the middlemen between the judge and the undertaker, have received the following rules:

1. For the sake of uniformity, it is recommended that the executions should take place at the hour of 8 a.m.
2. The mode of execution and the ceremonial attending it to be the same as heretofore in use.
3. A black flag to be hoisted at the moment of execution upon a staff placed on an elevated and conspicuous part of the prison, and to remain displayed for one hour.
4. The bell of the prison, or, if arrangements can be made for that purpose, the bell of the parish or other neighboring church, to be tolled for 15 minutes before and 15 minutes after the execution.

BUILDER AND STRENGTHENER.

That is the Term an Ottawa Lady Applies to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Among many in Ottawa and the vicinity who have been benefitted one way or another by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the Journal has learned of the case of Mrs. Gilchrist, wife of Mr. T. V. Gilchrist, of Hintonburg. Mr. Gilchrist keeps a grocery at the corner of Fourth Avenue and Cedar street, and is well known to a great many people in Ottawa as well as to the villagers of this suburb of the Capital. Mrs. Gilchrist states that while in a "run down" condition during the spring of 1897, she was greatly strengthened and built up by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Speaking of the matter to a Journal reporter, she stated that while able to go about at the time she was far from well; her blood was poor, she was subject to headaches, and felt tired after the slightest exertion. She had read at different times of cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. She was benefitted by the first box and continued their use until she had taken five boxes, when she considered herself quite recovered. Mrs. Gilchrist says that she always strongly recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a builder and strengthener, when any of her friends are weak or ailing.

FRICTION WITH GERMANY.

Kaiser's Government Wants an Answer About the Philippines.

New York, June 11.—There are strong reasons for saying that our relations with Germany are undergoing a strain. Representations by the German Government concerning our action in occupying the Philippines are not entirely pleasing to the United States Government. Germany wanted a declaration of our purposes as to the future of the Philippines, but no assurances were given in response. The news that a German cruiser has suddenly left Nagasaki, Japan, for Manila, has increased the tension between both countries.

Prince Alexandrovitch Galitzin, "descended from royal ancestry," was taken from Bellevue Hospital, New York, and lodged in a padded cell at Bloomingdale Asylum. After running the entire social gamut, from the most exclusive houses to the coterie of Bohemia, he passed into the land of lost minds. He went broke several years ago. Now he has gone mad, and is suffering from acute mania. The cause is abject poverty and want.

A HISTORICAL QUERY

That Goes Back to our Forefather in the Garden of Eden.

Did Adam Suffer From Indigestion?—His Descendants do—But They Have Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, With Which to Cure Themselves.

Did Adam suffer from indigestion? He did not—unless it was after he had eaten the forbidden fruit.

All suffering, all pain is contrary to the Creator's intentions. Man was not intended to suffer, or every baby would be born with a special disease.

But, since men and women, by breaking the laws of Nature, have brought pain and suffering on themselves, the all-wise Creator has put within their reach the means whereby they can escape from the penalty of breaking Nature's laws, just as He gives them the chance to escape the consequence of spiritual sin.

Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Flatuence, and the other diseases arising from defective digestion are the most common ailments in America. The means whereby they are cured are Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets act in the only way that can result in curing these diseases. They remove the cause. They digest the food that the worn-out stomach can't digest, and they put the stomach in condition to carry out its duty properly and promptly.

One or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after each meal for a few weeks will positively cure the worst case of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, etc. One or two doses give complete relief.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Nothing else did any good, but the baby improved from the first dose of the Wild Strawberry."

WASTED MORE TIME.

Foster and Davin Again Delay the House.

THE HOUSE AGAIN IN SUPPLY.

Absence of Members for 15 Days Dealt With—The Vote for the Fortnightly Steamship Service Passed—The Service to Commence July 1—Prorogation of House To-Day.

Ottawa, June 11.—When the House met yesterday, the 84th working day of the session, Mr. Davin interrogated the Minister of the Interior as to the reported appointment of Mr. Reginald Rimmer as Law Clerk at Ottawa.

Mr. Sifton stated that Mr. Rimmer had been appointed Law Clerk of the Indian Department at a salary of $2,000 a year.

The House took into consideration a resolution to make permanent the usual sessional provision that members shall be allowed 15 days' absence from Parliament without being subjected to a deduction of $8 per day from their indemnity.

A bill founded on the resolution was advanced to its second reading.

Lieut.-Col. Hughes informed the Minister of the Interior that he had heard that a young man from his riding, who was a member of the Yukon contingent of the Mounted Police, had perished in the recent snowslide in the Chilcoot Pass.

Mr. Sifton replied that he had received a report of the snowslide from Major Walsh, but there was nothing to indicate that this young man had received his death in the accident.

In Supply.

The House went into supply and a breezy discussion sprang up on the vote of $38,933 for a fornightly steamship service between Canada and Manchester.

Mr. Foster vigorously criticised the item, because an agreement had been made without inviting tenders, and because the contract had not been laid on the table.

Sir Richard Cartwright promised to send for the papers immediately.

Mr. Foster's comment was to repeat the words and mimic the tone of the Minister.

Sir Richard got up and, for the moment, laying aside his usual Parliamentary suavity, metaphorically sailed into Mr. Foster for having wasted the time of the House with trifling, worthless discussions instead of having attended to his legitimate business.

Mr. Foster replied that Sir Richard had not the courtesy to lay the papers relating to this negotiation on the table. He denied that the prolongation of discussions could have in any way prevented the Minister from bringing down the papers. Then the ex-Minister reverted to the Mann-McKenzie contract and reiterated many of the now familiar arguments against the awarding of contracts without tender.

Sir Richard explained that the reason the contract had not been laid on the table was that the contract was not signed. The draft agreement was, he said, just as he had stated, and he would lay it on the table.

Opposition Responsibility.

Mr. Fielding delivered a vigorous comment upon Mr. Foster's allusions to the Yukon Railway project. The Opposition, he said, knew that the country was holding them responsible for what had happened, and they were to-day bitterly regretting the course they had pursued. The country was holding the Opposition and their political associates responsible for preventing the opening up of the Yukon country this year to Canadian trade, and the feeling of the Conservative party was that the Government should come to their relief and help them out of the hole in which they had placed themselves. But the Government did not propose to relieve them from the burden they had taken upon themselves. Mr. Fielding added to what Sir Richard Cartwright had said as to the contract not having been signed, that the negotiations had been carried on with Manchester gentlemen who were more interested in increasing the trade of the Manchester Canal and of the port than in driving a hard bargain with Canada.

Mr. Davin took the floor and delivered a high-flown speech that had no reference to the items under consideration or anything else in particular. He compared Sir Richard Cartwright to a blind Sampson toiling for the Philistines and described the Ministry as being leprous with dissimulation.

Mr. Casey, replying, confided to the House that he was once at a "watering place" where he heard a discussion, the theme of which was a boarding-house onion hash the existence of which was perceptible four miles away. The flavor of Mr. Davin's speech was equally strong.

Mr. Pope—I presume it is in order to refer to the question under discussion. The member for Compton came back to the item, which was finally passed.

It was stated by Mr. Fisher that provision had been made for the carriage at reasonable rates, of dairy and other food products to Manchester.

Sir Richard Cartwright announced that the service will commence on July 1.

In reply to Mr. Roddick's question on the order paper, Sir Wilfrid Laurier stated that the correspondence between Sir Charles Tupper and the Governor-General in July, 1896, with reference to certain appointments, had been submitted to the Colonial Office, and that the Secretary of State for the Colonies had expressed his approval of His Excellency's course with reference to those appointments.

The House adjourned at 12.25, having passed all but one or two items of the estimates. These stand over until to-day, and all will be concurred in.

The Deadlock Broken.

The deadlock is off. The Senate last night withdrew its amendment to the Franchise bill, but added a clause to the motion of withdrawal, affirming the constitutional right of the Upper Chamber to deal with franchise matters. This action removes the last obstacle to immediate prorogation of the House, and business will be concluded to-day.

Big Fire at Hull.

Ottawa, June 11.—A serious fire broke out in Hull yesterday and damaged 14 houses and destroyed a mill. The fire burned the centre out of an entire block, but the damage will not be more than $12,000, the insurance about $8,000.

Object to the Tea Duty.

Washington, June 11.—Japan has entered a strong protest against the duty on tea provided for in the war revenue bill. The protest was sent to the State Department and forwarded to the Conference Committee. The protest is based on the ground that a uniform duty of 10c a pound on all teas, cheap or dear, will have the effect of ruining Japan's tea trade with the United States. Japan, it says, would not object to a duty graded according to value. The protest was submitted as a result of instructions sent from the Japanese Foreign Office.

"I've a great story to tell you, boys," said a man to a group at the city hall. "I don't think any of you ever heard me tell it before."

Queer Fishes.

Amphibious fishes are to be found in various quarters of the globe. Beginning in Europe, there is the tiktaalik, which, when kept in aquariums, has been proved to require at least an hour's pure air out of water to preserve it in good health and spirits. In the tropics is found the periophthalmus, which is singularly amphibious and hops over the muddy flats in search of food, notably the crabs and mollusks left stranded by the retreating tide. This fish is so active on land that it is difficult to catch, and various specimens brought from Mauritius were secured by means of a shotgun—truly a unique method of killing fish. This fish is also found at Ceylon, and it is noticeable that when chased they prepare to escape by land rather than by water; they really seem to appreciate the sport.—Chicago News.

ANXIOUS ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES.

Spaniards Deny That Americans Have Landed at Santiago de Cuba — Madrid Newspapers Paving the Way to a Catastrophe.

Special 3 p. m. dispatch to the Examiner.

U. S. Forces Have Not Landed.

London, July 11—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: General Lenares, commanding the Spanish forces in the Province of Santiago de Cuba, cables that nothing has occurred during the last twenty-four hours. The Americans have not succeeded in effecting a landing, but the fleet is still off the harbour. General Lenares says the report that a Spanish torpedo boat destroyer has been sunk is untrue.

Hobson and His Co-Heroes Well Used.

New York, June 11—The British consul at Santiago de Cuba in reply to an enquiry concerning Lieut. Hobson and his men says: Hobson and his men are well. They are all well cared for by the authorities. I have myself just seen him.

Germany Anxious About the Philippines.

Madrid, June 11.—It is reported that Germany will propose a meeting of the European Conference to discuss the question of the Philippines. An interview which the German ambassador, Count de Radowitz, has had with Duke Almodovar de Rio, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has provoked general comment.

Spaniards Prevent an Attempt at Landing.

Madrid, June 11th.—An official despatch received here from Havana dated yesterday (Friday) says: This morning eight of Admiral Sampson's ships re-commenced the bombardment of Santiago de Cuba. At the same time a number of boats towed by a steamer approached and attempted to make a landing. The cannonade lasted three hours. The Spaniards, skilfully posted, repulsed the attempted landing, and the Americans drew off. No damage was caused by the shelling of the ships which kept a a distance, evidently afraid to venture within range of the guns of the forts.

Spain Preparing for a Catastrophe.

London, June 11—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily News says: The newspaper attacks on the government are actuated by friendly motives in order to prepare the public mind for a catastrophe and to exhaust its anger. Probably Admiral Cervera has been instructed not to telegraph bad news. It is doubtful whether Admiral Camara will go to the Philippines. His squadron is a mere remnant, but it may put to sea in order to allay nervous excitement.

Dissolution of Partnership.

As will be seen by notice in another columns, the partnership heretofore existing between Mr. R. Mulholland and Mr. J. H. Roper, will be dissolved on July 1st. Mr. Mulholland in retiring does so with regret. During the past nine years the business has become well established and he has formed a great many business attachments which he is sorry to be compelled to terminate. But the damands of family ties requires his retirement—he expects to remove to Toronto in the fall. During the time of his residence in Peterborough Mr. Mulholland has made many friends who will learn of his retirement from business and of his departure with regret. He was a public spirited citizen who took an active part in public concerns involving the promotion of the interests of the town. A large number of persons will greatly miss the conveniences afforded by a private bank, in case Mr. Roper does not continue the business, which, however, he will probably do. He has the matter under consideration at present.

Word has been received in town to the effect that Maurice LaBelle had a fall a few days ago in Springbrook, Ont.

DELIGHTFUL MOONLIGHT RIVER RAMBLE.

Daughters of England Successful Moonlight Excursion.

The moonlight excursion per steamer City of Peterborough down the river last night was a very gratifying success. There was a large attendance of well behaved excursionists who highly enjoyed the quiet drifting down the river last night to the accompaniment of the moonlight, the soft fragrant airs redolent the red clover bloom and the excellent music of the Sons of England band and a good orchestra. Refreshments were served on board the steamer during the trip. The party leisurely steamed down the river about eight miles, returning at a seasonable hour everybody well satisfied and indeed delighted with the pleasure the occasion afforded. The committee of ladies, consisting of Mrs. Harris, president, Mrs. Tovey, Miss Taylor and Mrs. Wolstenholm, are to be congratulated on the great success of their first moonlight excursion for the season.

ORGANIST RESIGNED.

Mrs. Howson has Vacated her Position with the George Street Choir.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the George street Methodist church, last evening, the resignation of Mrs. Howson, as organist, was tendered and accepted. When Mrs. Howson was engaged as organist, it was the understanding that she should take up her residence in Peterborough, but as her engagements in Toronto are such as to prevent the carrying out of this arrangement, she has resigned her position in the George street church.

In addition to this subscription Senator Cox offers to give $1,000 towards payment of the $15 000, which the Star Life Company have agreed to forego, provided the balance is raised, as the Senator would like to see the whole amount paid them, if not now, as soon as the connexion can raise the funds.

THE GAOLBREAKER'S PRELIMINARY HEARING.

FRANK FOBES IS COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Evidence Concerning the Manner of His Escape Taken Before Magistrate Dumble Yesterday Afternoon.

Frank Fobes was given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Dumble yesterday afternoon concerning the charge of gaolbreaking which has been preferred against him and Jas. Macdonald, alias Mart Marshall.

The hearing was held in the County Court room, it being deemed inadvisable to bring them down to the Police Court in their heavy shackles. When brought before the Magistrate both men were shackled hand and foot, and chained together.

County Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution, and Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the prisoner.

Gaoler Nesbitt was the first witness sworn. He testified that Fobes was committed to the county gaol on March 11th for three months on a charge of theft, from the police court. He remained in the gaol until the night of May 25th. Latterly he had been put in the kitchen to cook in the day time, and occupied the first cell of corridor No. 2 at night. It had been the custom for some years to leave in each corridor in order to give an alarm in case of emergency at any time. Fobes was the prisoner in corridor No. 2 upon whose duty devolved and his cell door was not locked at night. On the morning of May 26th, at 6 o'clock, the turnkey reported that Fobes and McDonald had escaped. On examination it was found that one of the bars in the lower grating of the corridor door had been cut and bent over sufficiently to allow the prisioners to pass through. The bar was three-quarters of an inch in thickness. A plank had been wrenched from the table and used as a bar to press the lock open. A lock had been removed from the next door, which was on the second floor. In a hall beyond, the lower sash had been removed, through which the escape had been effected. The blankets from the prisons had been utilized to let the men down to the ground from the window. Witness next saw the prisoners at the police station in Windsor on the night of June 2nd. He had heard of prisoners being under arrest at Windsor and had gone their after him with the Chief of Police. Fobes had that McDonald had "talked him into it." It would be the duty of Turnkey Rae to to lock up the ward on the night of the 25th.

ONE MAN AT LIBERTY

Robt. Rae, the turnkey, stated in his evidence that he had last seen the prisoner Fobes on the 25th of May at 7 o'clock in corridor No. . He occupied the first cell. There were six cells in the corridor. Four were occupied that night. Walker, Coursey and McDonald were the other prisoners. All the cells were locked with the exception of that occupied by Fobes. Some of the cells could be unlocked from the inside. Fobes cell was unlocked in order that he could give an alarm when needed. McDonald's cell was found unlocked in the morning. A bar was cut in the corridor door. McDonald's cell door must have been opened from the outside.

Thos. Coursey, a prisoner, said he was at present confined in the gaol. He was in corridor No. 2. The other cells were occupied by Fobes, McDonald and Walker. He did not know of Fobes and McDonald escaping. He heard a crash in the upper corridor. Before that he heard a rattling at the first door. Previously Fobes went to McDonald's cell door. McDonald and Fobes had been friendly for some time. McDonald's cell door had been locked that night before his. He thought that the cell door had been opened by the plate bein taken out of the stonework. The screw nails had been removed and put back again. At about ten o'clock witness and Walker were singing. McDonald told them to let him go to sleep. It was about twelve when he heard the crash upstairs. He saw neither McDonald nor Fobes afterwards. The cell doors could not be unlocked from the inside.

ON BEING CROSS EXAMINED

by Mr. Stratton, witness stated that he saw McDonald locked in his cell by the turnkey on the evening of May 25th. When he heard the noise at the corridor door he had an idea that someone was working at it. He called to Fobes and asked him what he was doing there. Fobes said, "What in hell is it to you." He then said he was ill and afterwards went to McDonald's cell door and talked to him. Shortly afterwards witness went to sleep. He did not see McDonald leave his cell. He did not know how the cell door was opened or who opened it that night. If he had heard the prisoners attempting to escape he would have considered it his duty to give an alarm. The prisoners had not told him since their return how they had escaped. He had previous to the escape found two knives in Fobes' bed when he was making it. One had teeth in it. The other was bent round.

John Walker, another prisoner, strongly objected to being sworn, but was finally persuaded to an oath. He was in the same corridor with Fobes, McDonald and Coursey. On the night of the 25th Fobes had the liberty of the ward. He heard the unusual noise at the door that night. He did did not hear Coursey call to Fobes or the answer. He heard nothing whatever. There was no arrangement to take him along.

Rose Payne, sworn, testified that he redeemed a bicycle belonging to Fobes a few days before the escape. There was $1.50 against the bicycle for repairs. He came up to the gaol to see Fobes and told him that his wheel, which had been left at an hotel, was being used. Fobes told him to pay the charges on the wheel and take it. Fobes did not want the wheel to escape in. Witness had the wheel in his possession yet. Fobes had said nothing about escaping. Witness had furnished him with no tools.

Mr. Wood closed the case at this juncture, and no defence being submitted the magistrate committed the prisoner for trial at the general sessions.

McDonald will not be given a hearing in this case until after his trial for burglary at County Court, which open Tuesday before Judge Weller, and he was remanded until Saturday, June 18th at three o'clock.

The extreme penalty in a case of gaolbreaking with force is eighteen years imprisonment, but if it is not proven that force was used the extreme penalty is only two years imprisonment.

TOWN COUNCIL REFORM.

It is estimated that during the past fifteen years, at a moderate computation ten thousand dollars per year have been expended upon our streets. The result is that the money has been largely wasted, that is, so far as permanent street improvements are concerned. Now there is no doubt, for practical men say so, that if say ten years ago, a quarter of this $150,000 that has been absorbed in our streets had been expended outright in the proper construction of streets and pavements, we should have had the town covered with concrete pavements and first class macadam carriage ways.

Once roads are properly constructed on good, well-drained roadbeds, and well rolled with a heavy, preferably steam, roller, so as to compact the material in the most perfect possible manner, they are practically everlasting, that is with a reasonable degree of care to maintain their condition. There are roads now in use in Great Britain, that were built in the times of the Roman occupation, eighteen hundred years ago. Why are they now in good condition? Simply because they were properly built—built to last. We have been in the habit of piling up dirt roads, of taking off mud in the spring and replacing it with more mud-making material. The consequence is the expenditure of tens of thousands of dollars which has been, in effect, wasted, that is in comparison with the value we should have received from properly built, permanent roadways and pavements.

The councillors of the past are not so much to blame—it was rather the faut of the system under which they were elected. Being sectional representatives, they were not in a position to adopt a broad, progressive policy, and to carry out large schemes. As a matter of fact, and in practice, the councillors of the past have represented only wards. We have never had a council in this sense representative of the whole town. Councillors were so bound down by the influences of the ward they represented, that they could not step out boldly and enter upon schemes that had for their object the benefit of the whole town—they would be subject to ward influences, and wards that might feel that they had not had justice, would have, at the next election, deprived the town of the services of progressive councillors, and good measures would have been sacrificed.

With a council elected by the vote of the whole town, we should have a more independent and progressive council, not necessarily more progressive in spirit, perhaps, but more progressive in the sense that they would be in a position to be independent of local influences, and, consequently, at liberty to take a bold, progressive course, for if they acted in the interests of the whole town, the town at large would endorse their course and uphold them in legislating and administering in the interests of the town.

If in the past we have never had a council that represented the town at large, we have never had an electorate that has had an opportunity of electing a council. In a council of twelve (excluding the mayor) each elector has had a voice in electing only three councillors. The other nine of the council who had numerically the larger share in transacting an elector's business, were elected by somebody else. Under the proposed improved system, by which every elector is to have a vote for the whole membership of the council, the elector will have a chance to vote for all the men that will transact his business. No elector can be appealed to for his vote on account of some sectional or local interest. He will be appealed to to elect men who will do their duty by the whole town, and who can do their duty independently of the consequences that may be visited upon them by some petty ward jealousy. The majority of the electors can choose the men who will, in their opinion, best serve the interests of the town.

We all know the evils of the ward system, which might work well enough if we had an unlimited amount of money to spend and an unlimited time in which to make improvements. Under the ward system if we could so arrange matters that a man for every street in a ward could in turn be elected, then each representative, following the practice of the ward system, would make improvements on his own street, and in time, at a great cost, the whole town would be improved. But the work would be costly and slow; we should have no settled system of permanent improvement and the results would be as now, patch-worky and inefficient.

No; the better way is to abolish the ward system and elect our councillors by the vote of the whole body of electors. Then we should have a council truly representative of the entire town. Councillors would feel a larger responsibility and would be compelled to act up to a higher standard, a necessity that would give us not necessarily better councillors, but better councils. By parallel reasoning the new system would give us a body of electors with a higher sense of responsibility and a feeling of independence of the opinions and criticisms of their ward neighbours. They would exercise greater care in the selection of councillors, having in view the interests of the town at large. If, under this system, a good council is elected—and all the chances are in favour of its being a good council—we could depend upon every ward receiving an equal measure of justice. Everything would be improved for both sides—electors and elected.

On June 20th the electors of the town will be called upon to decide the most important question of the mode of electing their representatives—to decide whether every elector shall have only ten votes (including the mayor); whether the council shall represent a ward or the whole town. All persons who are qualified to vote at a municipal election now are qualified to vote on the council reform bylaw.

HELD UP ON THE ROAD.

Mr. John O'Donnell, of Bobcaygeon, Robbed of a Large Sum of Money by a Highwayman.

This is the version that the Lakefield News gives of the "holding up" of John O'Donnell: One of the most daring highway robberies ever perpetrated in this section place Wednesday night last, when Mr. John O'Donnell, of Bobcaygeon, was relieved of $483 at the point of a revolver about two miles from Chemong station.

Mr. McDonald, who is a jobber in logs, etc., and who is well known around this section, had been to Peterborough and Bridgenorth that day getting settled up with several parties, and had gone to his camp near Chemong station. While there he had counted his money to see if he had enough to pay a couple of bills. Shortly after dark he and a young lad started out with a horse and rig for Bobcaygeon. When they got about two miles from the station and were passing some bushes, they saw something rise out of the bushes and come towards them. When it got close to the buggy it proved to be a man with a dark mask over his face, who pointed a revolver at Mr. O'Donnell and ordered him to throw up his hands. The robber had taken him so completely by surprise that before he could do anything he had his hand in his pocket and the money out, and springing from the buggy he disappeared in the bush. The young lad with Mr. O'Donnell, at the first sign of danger had jumped from the buggy and ran.

The robber was a short stout man, and must have been well acquainted with Mr. O'Donnell's movements, as he knew which pocket he had the money in. Mr. O'Donnell came to the village on Thursday morning and telephoned to town and the surrounding villages to be on the lookout for any stranger of his description.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? In Death. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

FENIAN RAID MEDALS.

A Militia General Order Provides for Their Distribution—A Rumor About Carranza's Expulsion Denied.

Ottawa, June 10.—There is no truth in the report that the Canadian Government is issuing an order expelling Carranza. It is difficult to see how such an order could be issued. Nothing has been done, as Carranza's misdemeanor has not been proven.

A militia general order was issued yesterday. It provides for the distribution of medals to those engaged in the Fenian Raid of 1870. All applicants must submit their applications separately, and those who served in more than one campaign must submit an application for each. A declaration of service must be made before a justice of the peace by the applicant, and also a declaration of a comrade, who has knowledge of the applicant's service, will be forwarded to the department. Only one medal will be issued to any individual. With each medal there will be a clasp.

Ottawa Notes.

John Blackburn, aged 50, a married man, lost his life on the C.P.R. track at Castleford, seven miles east of Renfrew. He was struck by the engine of the Atlantic express.

Word has been received from Maniwaki, up the Gatineau, that Dr. Mulligan, having made the post-mortem examination of Maxime Hubert, has come to the conclusion that death was due to poisoning. The contents of the stomach will be sent to an analyist in Montreal. No arrests have been made yet.

While Senator Owens of Argenteuil, Que., was passing the Russell House, Sparks street, a flower pot, containing a large fern, was blown by the wind out of an upper story window. The article fell just within an inch of Senator Owen's head and smashed to pieces on the sidewalk.

Mr. John Keane, Secretary of the Charities Association, has forwarded a communication to the Toronto authorities respecting Alfred Raymond, an Ottawa newsboy, who, it is alleged, stole a ride to Toronto. He was arrested there and is being held pending a recommendation from Ottawa. Mr. Keane recommends that the boy be sent to an industrial school.

Presentation to Mr. Ogilvie.

The St. George's Society of Ottawa tonight presented Mr. William Ogilvie, D.L.S., with a first-class Klondike camping outfit, in recognition of his courtesy in delivering lectures during the winter. Mr. Ogilvie announced that he would return to the Yukon gold fields in a couple of weeks.

CONDUCTOR H. HOGG

And his Deadly Struggle With a Vicious Enemy.

Diabetes Was Getting the Victory Over Him When he Began to Use Dodd's Kidney Pills—Then the Tide Turned and he was Saved.

Toronto, June 10.—Still another member of the staff of the Toronto Street Railway comes forward to testify to the unequalled efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, in cases of Diabetes. This time it is Mr. H. Hogg, Conductor No. 207, residing at No. 81 Fuller street, who tells his story.

Here is what he says:—"Diabetes kept me in continual misery, and mighty agony for three years. My blood got so impure that I thought I could never get it restored to its natural purity. I was tortured by dizziness, which grew to such an extent that I had to quit work. I lost flesh and strength rapidly, and, in short, I thought it was "all up with me."

"I used different remedies, but got no good from any of them. The first box gave me wonderful relief. The dizziness vanished, and my head became as steady as ever it was. Three boxes completed my cure, and to-day I am sound and well, thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The best way to ascertain the real merit of Dodd's Kidney Pills is to test them. There can be no deceit then. They either will cure or they will not. A trial costs very little, and it will settle all doubts for all time.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

WHEAT UP AND DOWN.

Bearish Factors Still Influential—Some Ontario and Manitoba Wheat Moving at Reduced Figures—Prices.

Friday Evening, June 10.

Wheat continues irregular. Reduced Argentine shipments for the week and a belief that Monday's returns will show a large decrease in the American visible supply led to a rally this morning on the Chicago board, and all deliveries gained from a fraction to 2 cents. Later in the day, however, the brilliant State crop reports which came in exerted a bearish influence, and a decline occurred. July wheat closed ½c, Sept. ½c and the June delivery 1½c above the previous close. July wheat rose a couple of cents in New York, but the market slumped again in the Northwest.

The Liverpool market was irregular, July wheat closing at an advance of 1½c per cental for the day, and the later options at losses of ½c to ⅝c. Paris and Antwerp scored advances of 20 to 25 centimes.

Wheat remains dull at Toronto. Some 10 cars of Ontario red were sold for export at 92c, middle freights. Twenty thousand bushels of Manitoba hard were disposed of at $1.13¼ afloat at Fort William.

Toronto Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day were large, 74 loads, composed of 1100 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 50 calves and 2100 hogs.

Trade was good all round, with an advance in prices of from 5c to 10c per cwt. for export and butcher cattle.

The bulk of exporters sold at $4.25 to $4.50, with two or three loads of choice heavy well-finished cattle at $4.60. All exporters offered were sold, and a few more would have found a market, as one or two of the buyers had space to fill on the boats, which caused the active demand for this class of cattle.

Butcher cattle sold readily, several buyers from Montreal and other outside places being on the market. Choice picked lots of butcher cattle sold at $4.15 to $4.30; loads of good butchers and exporters, mixed, at $4.12½ to $4.25; good, $4 to $4.15; medium, $3.90 to $4.10; common, $3.65 to $3.80; inferior, $3.30 to $3.35. Stockers were in fair demand, selling at $3.65 to $3.90 per cwt. Feeders sold at $4 to $4.12½.

Milk cows, of which there were about 40 on the market, sold all the way from $25 to $45 each, average price being about $33 each.

Calves sold at $3 to $6 each, a few extra heavy veals selling at $7 to $8.

There was a fair run of sheep and lambs; trade was fairly good; prices unchanged at $3 to $3.25 for ewes, bucks $2.50 to $2.75, yearlings $3.50 to $4 per cwt.

Spring lambs, $3.50 to $4.25 each.

Hogs—Prices unchanged, excepting for light fats, price for which will be $4.50, too many light hogs coming forward.

REV. MR. MADILL DISCIPLINED.

Congregational Committee Recommends That His Name Be Struck Off the Roll.

Toronto, June 10.—The Congregational Union opened their second day of business yesterday, with the election of a chairman for 1899 in the person of Rev. J. W. Pedley of London.

The next affair to stir the pulse of the delegates was the reading of Rev. Mr. Hyde of the report of the special committee on the standing of Rev. Mr. Madill. The committee, the document declared, had found that his conduct had not been that of a Canadian minister; that his language had been so extravagant at times that it was difficult to distinguish it from falsehood; that he was selfish and over-bearing, and inclined to apply the rule, "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." In face of all of which, the committee recommended that the name of Rev. Mr. Madill be struck from the roll.

Rev. Mr. McKillican now moved that the finding be referred to the Membership Committee and Mr. Madill be heard in his defence on Friday morning, all of which was carried.

Mr. Madill wouldn't speak in an interview, but his church officers, in indignant tones, said that the whole trouble was Mr. Madill's outspoken Orangeism, and they, for their part, would fiercely fight against any Popish interference with their church.

From the day that a young man starts out to seek his first position to the end of his business life, his health has a world to do with his success. When a young man applies to a business man for a position, his personal appearance has a deal to do with the outcome. "Personal appearance" does not mean dress alone. It does not mean exterior cleanliness alone. A young man may be clean, so far as soap and water will make him, but be disfigured by unsightly pimples, eruptions and ulcerations on the skin. These are due to impurities in the blood. The blood becomes impure because it is improperly nourished. Instead of receiving the life-giving elements of the food, it receives the foul emanations of indigestion, biliousness and costiveness.

The reason that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best remedy for disorders of this description is that it goes right to first causes. It gives a man an appetite "like a horse." It facilitates the flow of digestive juices. It corrects all disorders of the digestion, and makes the assimilation of the life-giving elements of the food perfect. It invigorates the liver. It purifies and enriches the blood. It makes the muscles strong and active. It tones and steadies the nerves. It makes a young man look as he should—strong of body, alert of brain and clean and wholesome of skin. Medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing "just as good."

"I had eczema in its worst form," writes Austin Ramsey, Esq., of Saltillo, Huntingdon Co., Pa. "I tried three doctors but got no relief. I thought it would set me wild, it itched and burned so badly. The neighbors thought I would never be cured. I took your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and am now well."

SURVEYING BY PHOTOGRAPHY.

IT HAS REACHED ITS HIGHEST PERFECTION IN THE DOMINION.

Mr. E. Deville, the Surveyor-General of Canada, and His Eminent Work in This Direction—The New Method Greatly More Convenient and Economical Than the Older Ones—A Surveying Camera.

Photogrammetry, or the application of photography to surveying, is far from being a novel application of camera work, for as early as 1849 M. Laussedat used the camera lucida for topographic work, and about 1854 he took the photographic camera in place of the camera lucida. A paper which he read on the subject in 1850 was published in 1854, and was followed by other papers in which he explained the various improved methods he had worked out. The idea was rapidly taken up by other surveyors, so that the literature of the subject is now extensive.

One of the most extensive users of this process is Mr. E. Deville, the Surveyor-General of Canada. Mr. Deville in his book on the subject has very ably advocated the use of photogrammetry, and has shown that the cost of a photographic survey is considerably less than one-third the cost of a plane table survey by the older methods. Many special forms of camera have been designed, but perhaps the greatest amount of attention to this part of the subject has been given by J. Bridges-Lee, M.A., F.G.S., a barrister, who finds relaxation in scientific pursuits.

Of course, in such work as this mathematical accuracy is the first requisite, and nothing can be done without a base line, containing at least two established points. Two stations being decided upon and their height above the sea level being known, the data regarding any point which is visible from both stations can be rapidly, accurately and easily established from two photographs taken in a properly-constructed and properly used camera. For instance, since the camera is placed absolutely level, and with its ground glass truly perpendicular in both directions, the point of the picture which coincides with the axis of the lens must be exactly the same height above sea level as the camera itself. This point is marked on the photograph by the crossing of two fine hair lines.

So much being understood, let us turn to the illustration of the camera. Its fittings serve two purposes: First, to secure the most accurate possible adjustment of the instrument itself as regards its relation to points of the compass, to surrounding objects and to the horizon; second, to automatically record on the plate all the details which will be needed when dealing with the picture for measurement and plotting. To prevent any possibility of any parts becoming relatively strained or misplaced the body of the camera is a single casting of aluminium. A rectilinear lens is used, is carefully adjusted to position by the instrument maker, and is, of course, provided with no means of focusing. C is an azimuth circle on which the camera rotates, and a vernier for the fine reading of which is attached at the base of the camera box. B is a telescope with cross webs which correspond when set properly with the cross wires in the back of the camera. Beneath and moving with the telescope is a vertical limb (F), its edge divided into half-degrees and provided with a vernier and an adjustable magnifying eye piece (P), to enable the vertical angle of any object cut by the cross webs to be read. G is a revolving tubular level, and under the camera are adjusting screws whereby it may be accurately adjusted horizontally, without interfering with its direction.

To mark on the plate the various records that are needed the camera has a rectangular frame (I) running on engine planed beds and supported by strong backstays, cast as part of the main piece. This whole arrangement racks into the camera by means of the milled heads (JJ), which have pointers (J) to show whether the frame is forward or back. Before inserting the slide the back frame is racked inward, when the slide is inserted and its shutter drawn the frame is racked back so that it bears against the face of the plate, which is pressed against it by the springs in the dark slide. This moving back frame carries two cross hairs (KK), and also a horizontal scale of degrees which is prepared photographically by means of the identical lens used in each camera, and which impresses an image on the dry plate.

In the bottom of the camera (M) is a compound magnetic compass, free to move and carrying a transparent scale divided into half degrees from 0 to 360. The portion of this scale which comes near the plate impresses itself, thus registering the exact compass direction of the view. In the back frame (above the letters LL) are small removable slips of transparent celluloid, on which the surveyor marks the number of the negative, date, barometric pressure or any other data he wishes to preserve. As the result of experience Mr. Bridges-Lee prefers to use a 4 by 5 plate and a lens of about five inches focus. Of course, in actual work the exact focus of the lens is a most important matter, so that in building these cameras the adjustments are made to the actual lens to be used with the camera. The negatives are made on isochromatic plates, using a very small lens aperture and giving a long exposure.

One of Muller's Anecdotes.

Froude and Kingsley were special favorites of Professor Max Muller, according to his recently published memoirs. Kingsley's refusal to pray for rain—or, as his friend expresses it, to degrade his sacred office to that of a rainmaker or a medicine man—reminds the professor of a story told to Kingsley by an American:

In America we manage these things better. A clergyman in a village on the frontier between two of our states prayed for rain. The rain came, and it soaked the ground to such an extent that the young lambs in the neighboring state caught cold and died. An action was brought against the clergyman for the mischief he had done, and he and his parishioners were condemned to pay damages to the sheep farmers. They never prayed for rain after that.—London News.

One of His "Whist Days."

Andrew Lang once called at the house of the late James Payn to inquire about his health. The servant informed him in a broad accent that it was one of the novelist's "whust days." Mr. Lang imagined that the servant referred to Mr. Payn being worse and expressed his regret and walked away. But the woman meant to say that it was the day on which Mr. Payn was wont to receive three old friends, who made a four at whist. Both gentlemen were amused at the mistake which deprived each of the pleasure of meeting. At the Reform club in years gone by there was a certain group of well known whist players, among whom James Payn was certain to be found enjoying "the rigor of the game."

A Considerate Reporter.

When the Maine was blown up, the wife of Lieutenant Commander Wainwright was at her home in Washington. She had heard nothing of the news, when she was awakened about 4 o'clock in the morning by a violent knocking at the door of her house. Finally Mrs. Wainwright rose and looked out of the window, asking what was the matter. A voice called out, "Are you the wife of Lieutenant Commander Wainwright?" "Yes. What do you want?" "The Maine has been totally destroyed. We are reporters and wish for some information about Mr. Wainwright." Only this and nothing more. The shock caused the poor lady to fall in a dead faint, from which she did not rally for several hours, and, fortunately for her, it was then known her husband was not among the lost.—Boston Herald.

Implacable.

Dearboy—I do not see what possible objection you can offer to me, Mr. Gimp.

Gimp—That's just it. I don't want a man in my family so infernally good that my wife and daughter will continually hold him up as an example to me.—Philadelphia North American.

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway furnishes another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 56 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

Any One Would Do.

Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts tells a good story on himself and President Eliot of Harvard. When Phillips Brooks was elected bishop, President Eliot met Dr. Lawrence, who was then dean of the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge and said to him: "The church has made the greatest mistake of a lifetime. Brooks was the pivot aronnd which we revolved in Boston. Now you have spread him all over the state. Any one would have done for bishop."

Years after, when Phillips Brooks had gone to his reward and Dean Lawrence had been chosen in his place, he met President Eliot in the street again. The latter was warm in his congratulations. "My dear bishop," he said, "I must congratulate you. The church couldn't have made a better selection. I thought you should have been the choice when Brooks was chosen."

Mystification.

His weakness was prevarication. His wife detested lying and constantly urged him to mend his ways. One morning she said: "Will, see if you can't be perfectly truthful today. Don't tell a lie. Now, promise!" He promised and went away to work. When he came home to dinner, she said:

"Dear, did you keep your promise?"

"I did," he replied soberly.

Then he caught her in his arms.

"Darling," he cried, "I will not lie to you. When I said I had kept my promise to you, I did not tell the truth; but, believe me, that was the only lie I told all day."

For 22 seconds she was lost in perplexity. Then she gave it up; the problem was too deep for her.—New York World.

Knew It All.

"By the way, Tom," said Mr. Manning to his son, fresh from academic groves, "I have been thinking the matter over, and I have come to the conclusion that I had better go to school somewhere and that you had better take the business and run it. It cannot help improving under the eye of one so gifted as yourself."—Boston Transcript.

ORANGE BLOSSOMS.

Nuptials of Miss Eliza Ross and Mr. Edw. Martin, in Dummer, and of Miss Clara Clydesdale and Mr. George Edwards in Norwood.

MARTIN—ROSS.

On Wednesday evening, June 1st, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Ross, Dummer, was the scene of a very happy gathering, assembled to witness the nuptials of their only daughter, Miss Eliza Ross, and Mr. Edward Martin; the ceremony being performed by the Rev. J. F. Somerville, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Norwood.

By a little after seven p. m. the guests to the number of about a hundred assembled. Punctually at 7.30 the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march pealed merrily through the house; the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Mr. Alexander Ross, entered the parlour attended by her bridesmaid and maid of honour. The bride was costumed in a handsome gown of fawn satin, trimmed with cream satin, lace chiffon and ribbon, and carried a beautiful bouquet of white lilac and narcissus blooms. The bridesmaid, Miss Lillie Martin, wore pale blue trimmed with satin and lace, and the maid of honour, little Miss Melkle, was dressed in pure white. The groom was supported by Mr. Alexander Ross, the brother of the bride.

When the solemn service had ended which made of the "twain one flesh" the Queen's Jubilee March resounded from the organ, while the happy couple received the best wishes and heartiest congratulations of their friends. The dining room now became the centre of attraction, where a collation composed of viands that would tempt the appetite of the greatest epicure were served. The tables looked beautiful with a mass of cut flowers and maiden hair ferns for decorations and were much admired.

In an ante room were displayed the many tangible proofs of the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Martin are held by their friends and acquaintances.

EDWARDS—CLYSDALE.

A happy event took place at the residence of Mr. John Clysdale, Norwood, on Wednesday afternoon, when his daughter, Miss Clara Clysdale, was united in marriage to Mr. George Edwards, of Caledonia.

The ceremony was performed at one o'clock by the Rev. S. S. Weaver, of Brighton, in the presence of a few of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was supported by her sister, Miss Stella Clysdale, and the groom was assisted by Mr. Louis Turnbull, of Peterborough, cousin of the bride.

The ceremony being over the best wishes and hearty congratulations of all present were extended to the happy young couple, after which the company sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner.

The many beautiful and valuable gifts to the bride testified to the high estimation in which she is held.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left by the afternoon express for a short visit to Toronto and Niagara Falls before proceeding to their home at Caledonia.

Attractive Women.

Why is one woman attractive and another not. The most admirable and attractive thing about an attractive woman is her womanliness. Everybody admires a womanly woman. She must have health, of course, because without it she would lose the brightness of her eyes, the fulness of her cheeks and her vivacity. Real health must mean that a woman is really a woman. That she is strong and perfect in a sexual way, as well as in every other. That she is capable of performing perfectly the duties of maternity. Some are born with what is called "constitutional weakness." Those who do not enjoy perfect health, need only take the proper precautions and the proper remedy to become perfectly well and strong. Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription will cure any derangement of the distinctly feminine organism.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

A large number of Lacrosse Club enthusiasts will follow the town team to Orillia on Thursday, when an effort is to be made to win from the Orillias on their own grounds. If this can be accomplished the Peterboroughs should have no difficulty in winning this district, and would be a sufficient guarantee of their prowess to make their claims good for winning the Intermediate championship.

The team is going to Orillia impressed with the belief that they are strong enough to be victorious and they want a big crowd to go along and back them up.

In the event of their not being victorious and winning the same number of matches from Beaverton and Midland, as Orillia, then Peterborough and Orillia would have to play off the tie on neutral grounds.

The running combination which the home fielders are practising is deadly in its effect and is working very smoothly.

Those watching the practices are unanimous in the opinion that Lipsett this year plays the difficult position of inside home as it never has been played in Peterborough before.

Another practice will be held to-night, when it is hoped that every senior man will be out, as there will be only two more practices before the Orillia game.

Rubidge, Main and Dobbin were missed from the field last night.

The Hastings seniors will be unable to come to Peterborough to play the juniors on the 14th, but the juniors will go to Hastings on Friday, June 24th.

The Lindsay lacrosse club has re-organized with the following officers:

President—Dr. F. A. Walters.
Vice-Pres.—J. Boxall.
Secretary—J. McMillan.
Treasurer—Harold McKay.
Captain—J. Cook.
Managing Committee—J. Cook, W. Reesor, P. Callon.

Here is a chance for the local juniors to get an a game.

THE WHEEL.

The wheelmen's parade at the Peterborough meet promises to be the biggest thing of the kind ever seen on the street. All the local riders are going in heartily to make it a success, and energetic men are at the head of the parade. There will be very strong decorative features and all clubs of the district are invited to send in bodies of riders to compete for the handsome silk banner that will be awarded to the smartest, best uniformed and finest club in the parade. A meeting of those interested is called to take place in the Y. M. C. A. this evening.

The racing end of the game at the Peterborough Meet of the C.W.A. will be a good one. Eleven events for amateurs and seven for professionals make up a good string of contests. There's something in it for all, from the novice to the flyer in the 2-minute class.

The Oshawa club have an effective way of calling a meeting of wheelmen to arrange to visit the Meet here on July 1st. This is the postal card they send out:

Oshawa, June 10, 1898.

See Here—The Oshawa Bicycle Club is going to take in the big meet at Peterborough on the 1st of July. Are you with us? We'll guarantee you more fun than one hundred trips to Port Perry (and Manchester.) Peterborough being close by, this is the time for us to make a spread and take our part in owning the town. Come up to the Reform Rooms Monday night and we will talk it all over together. Are we going to have a private car? Well I guess. Will it cost us $1,000 each? Well I guess nit.

THE TURF.

The local running horse. "Master Fred," was shipped away to Rochester races last evening, going via Port Hope and the steamer North King.

Mr. Alex. Hay, of Havelock, who has charge of Dr. Jeff's, Wm. Cole's, James Mark's and Chas. Wilde's speeders, has brought them to Peterborough, where he will keep them for a month, in order to fit them still better for the race course.

THE ASSIZES.

A Big Criminal Docket—Also, Two Civil Cases.

The Assizes open on Tuesday afternoon next before Judge Weller, when nine criminal cases will have to be disposed of besides two civil ones. The latter are as follows:—

CIVIL CASES.

McNeely vs. Scott—Ellen McNeely, the plaintiff, is a married woman residing in Asphodel, and is the mother of the defendant, Mr. Robt. Scott, who resides in Norwood. The statement of claim sets forth that the plaintiff being entitled to a life estate in west half and southeast quarter of lot No. 17 in Asphodel, and in possession thereof sold the crop to the defendant who then entered into occupation of the said land. In the month of February the defendant unlawfully removed from the said farm four horses belonging to the plaintiff, and placed them in his livery stable at Norwood, and although the plaintiff demanded from the defendant the return thereof before the commencement of this action, he refused to deliver the same.

The plaintiff claims the said horses and $25 damages and her costs in this action.

In the statement of defence the defendant says that in the year 1897 the plaintiff was in possession of her farm in Asphodel, and being unable to work it, requested the plaintiff to move from the village of Norwood, where he was then working under salary, and to return to the said farm and work the land for her and remove the crop there growing, and in consideration thereof she gave to him the farm horses in question. The defendant says that all conditions were fulfilled and all things happened and all times elapsed to entitle defendant to possession of the goods and chattels herein before mentioned.

Geo. J. Sherry for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall for defendant.

Martha Helson vs. Wm. Drummond and the Corporation of the Township of Otonabee. In this case the statement of claim sets forth that the defendants on Nov. 23rd unlawfully seized certain goods of the plaintiff, to wit, one mare, a set of harness and a buggy and converted the same to their own use. The defendant Wm. Drummond claims to have done the said acts as collector of taxes for the defendants, the corporation of the township of Otonabee, for the year 1897, but the plaintiff says that the said acts were done maliciously and without reasonable and probable cause; or, in the alternative, that the said acts were done in a matter in which by law the defendants had not jurisdiction. The plaintiff claims to have sustained damage to the amount of $200, and claims this amount and her costs in the action.

The defendants, the corporation of the township of Otonabee, deny that they seized, or authorized anyone in their behalf to seize, any goods the property of the plaintiff.

The defendant Wm. Drummond says that he is the collector of taxes for the township of Otonabee and was fulfilling his duty when he seized the goods mentioned and that he is entitled to the benefit of the Act for the Protection of Justices of the Peace and others.

The defendants further allege that the goods claimed by the plaintiff were not her property but belonged to one George Helson, from whom they were seized to satisfy a claim against him for unpaid taxes.

E. B. Edwards for plaintiff; Denniston, Peck & Stevenson for defendants.

CRIMINAL CASES.

There are three indictments against Jas. McDonald, alias Mart. Marshall, viz., robbery of the Norwood post office, arson and causing a dangerous explosion.

Two charges of perjury are preferred against Mark Black, caused by the evidence which he gave in his own behalf at the Police Court in the charge of assault brought against him by Mrs. Irwin.

John Walker is charged with the theft of a bicycle from Wolstenholm's livery.

Harry Ross has a charge of robbery against him, and there are two appeals, viz.: In the case of Irwin vs. Black, on a conviction by D. W. Dumble for assault; and Febes vs. Howall, appealed by the defendant against a conviction by D. W. Dumble on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

"Finally I was induced to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. The first dose did me good and I got better and better with each succeeding dose. Three boxes worked a thorough and complete cure."

SCROFULA.

"My little boy, aged 7 years and 15 months, was a victim of Scrofula on the face, which all the doctors said was incurable. To tell the truth he was so bad that I could not bear to look at him. At last I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and before it was half used he was gaining, and by the time he had three bottles used he was completely cured. I cannot say too much in recommendation of B.B.B. to all who suffer as he did." JOSEPH P. LABELLE, Manwake P.O., Que.

There can be no question about it. Burdock Blood Bitters has no equal for the cure of Sores and Ulcers of the most chronic and malignant nature. Through its powerful blood purifying properties, it gets at the source of disease and completely eradicates it from the system.

Issue of Forty-Year Annuities.

Sealed tenders for the purchase of terminable annuities running for a period of 40 years, issued under authority of an act of the Ontario Parliament, 47 Vic., chapter 31, will be received by the undersigned at his office, Parliament buildings, Toronto, on or before 14th day of July next, at 2.00 p.m., when the tenders will be opened in the presence of such of the applicants, or their agents, as may attend.

The annuities will be in the form of certificates signed by the Provincial Treasurer, in which certificates the Provincial Treasurer will agree to make half-yearly payments at his office at Toronto, or in London, England, of sums of $100, or larger sums, or their equivalent in sterling at the par of exchange (£20 10s 11½d), on the 30th day of June, and 31st day of December in each year, for forty years from 30th day of June instant, the first half-yearly certificates being payable on the 31st December next.

The total amount of annuities to be issued in 1898 is $5,700 annually, but tenders will be received for any part of the same not less than $300 annually.

Tenders may, if preferred, be upon condition that the annuities be payable in sterling in London, England. In such case the conversion will be at the par of exchange, $4 86 2-3 to the pound sterling. Tenders will be required to state the purchase money which will be paid for either the whole annuities offered or such portion as may be tendered for.

Notification of allotments will be given to tenderers on or before 30th July and payments from the persons whose tenders are accepted must be made within ten days thereafter at the office of the Provincial Treasurer in Toronto, but if, from any cause, the purchase money is not paid by the 1st day of August next, purchasers who have not then paid will be required to pay interest on their purchase money from that date to date of payment, at the rate of interest which the investment will yield, according to their respective tenders.

The annuity certificates will be delivered at the office of the Provincial Treasurer in Toronto, where, if desired, they may be specially registered.

The Provincial Treasurer reserves the right to determine what tender is most advantageous to the Province, but no tender will necessarily be accepted. Tenders should be on the accompanying form.

Envelopes containing tenders should be endorsed "Tender for Province of Ontario Annuities."

Further information may be obtained on application to the Provincial Treasurer.

R. HARCOURT,
Provincial Treasurer.

NOTE—Illustration of calculation on interest basis—at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum (or in strictness 1½ per cent. half-yearly) a present payment of $2,820.26 would represent an annuity of $100 for 40 years, $50 payable each half-year.

FOUGHT FOR 13 HOURS

A Warm Time Landing Troops at Guantanamo.

FOUR AMERICANS WERE KILLED.

Assistant Surgeon Gibbs, Whose Father Fell in the Custer Massacre, Is Among the Dead—The Other Three Were Massachusetts Men—Victims Killed at Close Range.

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless, off Guantanamo, Sunday, June 12, via Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti, June 13.—(8 p.m.)—Lieut.-Col. R. W. Huntington's battalion of marines, landed from the transport Panther on Friday and encamped on the hill, guarding the abandoned cable station at the entrance to the outer harbor of Guantanamo, has been engaged in beating off a bush attack by Spanish guerillas and regulars since 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The fighting was almost continuous for 18 hours, until 6 o'clock this morning, when reinforcements were landed from the Marblehead.

Four Americans were killed and one was wounded. The advance pickets under Lieuts. Neville and Shaw are unaccounted for.

An Assistant Surgeon Killed.

Among the killed is Assistant Surgeon John Blair Gibbs, son of Major Gibbs of the regular army, who fell in the Custer massacre. His home was at Richmond, Va., but he has been practising in New York and he entered the service since the war began. He was a very popular officer. The others killed are: Sergt. Charles H. Smith of Smallwood, Private William Dunphy of Gloucester, Mass., and Private McColigan of Stoneham, Mass. Corporal Glass was accidentally wounded in the head. The Spanish loss is unknown, but it was probably considerable. The splashes of blood found at daylight at the positions the Spaniards occupied indicate fatalities, but their comrades carried off the killed and wounded.

Killed at Close Range.

The engagement began with desultory firing at the pickets, a thousand yards inland from the camp. Capt. Spicer's company was doing guard duty and was driven in, finally rallying on the camp, and repulsing the enemy by 5 o'clock. The bodies of Privates McColigan and Dunphy were found, both shot in the head. The large cavities caused by the bullets, which, inside a range of 300 yards, have a rotary motion, indicate that the victims were killed at close range.

The bodies were stripped of shoes, hats and cartridge belts and horribly mutilated with machetes.

The sky was blanketed with clouds, and when the sun set a gale was blowing seaward. Night fell, thick and impenetrable. The Spanish squads, concealed in the chaperal cover, had the advantage, the Americans on the ridge furnishing fine targets against the sky and the white tents. The Spaniards fought from cover till midnight, discoverable only by flashes, at which the marines fired volleys.

The Marblehead launch, a Colt machine gun in her bow, pushed up the bay, enfilleading the Spaniards, and it is thought that some were killed.

The ships threw their searchlights ashore, the powerful electric eyes sweeping the deep tropic foliage and exposing occasionally skulking parties of Spaniards. Each discovery of the enemy was greeted by the crackle of carbine fire along the edge of the camp ridge or by the long roll of the launch's machine gun, searching the thickets with a leaden stream.

The Main Attack.

Shortly after midnight came the main attack. The Spaniards made a gallant charge up the southwest slope, but were met by repeated volleys from the main body and broke before they were a third of the way up the hill, but they came so close that at points there was almost a hand to hand struggle. The officers used their revolvers. Three Spaniards got through the open formation to the edge of the camp. Col. Joz Campina, the Cuban guide, discharged his revolver and they, turning and finding themselves without support, ran helter-skelter down the reverse side of the hill. It was during this assault that Assistant-Surgeon Gibbs was killed. He was shot in the head in front of his own tent, the farthest point of attack.

The surgeons of the hospital corps then removed their quarters to the trenches about the old Spanish stockade north of the camp. The attacks were continued at intervals throughout the night, with firing from small squads in various directions.

Towards morning the fire slackened. Dawn is the favorite time for attack and, as the east paled the marines, lying on their guns, were aroused. Some were actually asleep, as they had no rest for 48 hours, and tired nature could no longer stand the strain. But no attack came.

Like Prairie Dogs.

Three new 12-pound field guns, which could not be used during the night for fear of hitting the marines, shelled several squads of Spaniards after daylight. They dove into the bushes like prairie dogs into burrows, as the shells broke over them. As the correspondent of the Associated Press talked with Major Cockrell, who was in charge of the outposts, word came of the finding of the body of Sergeant Smith. When and how he was killed, no one knows at this writing. Neither had the men been mustered, nor had the outposts of Lieut. Neville and Shaw been relieved.

Lieut.-Col. Huntington and Major Cockrell give high praise to the nerve and steadiness of officers and men, especially the young ones, as the engagement was a baptism of fire for a large majority. The men were in darkness and in a strange land, but they stood to their posts with courage and fortitude.

Eager for More Fighting.

The marines, though exhausted, were eager for more fighting, promising to inflict heavy punishment.

Estimates vary as to the attacking force. Some say 200 and the figures run as high as 1,000. Colonel Campina, the Cuban guide, says the Spaniards were mostly irregulars.

The Lee guns caused several accidents in drawing cartridges. Corporal Glass shattered his hand. Despite the loss of the men, which is greatly regretted, the marines rejoice that they have been engaged in the first fight on Cuban soil.

THE INVASION OF CUBA.

Six Hundred United States Marines Now at Guantanamo.

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Wanda, off Santiago de Cuba, June 11, 4 p.m., via Kingston, Jamaica, June 13.—(Noon.)—For three days the scene of the chief military and naval operations has been Caimaners and Guantanamo Bay. The American flag is flying on the shore and in harbor, first planted on Cuban soil by United States marines from the transport Panther, under Lieut.-Col. R. W. Huntington, covered by the guns of the cruiser Marblehead, commanded by Commander McCalla. The battleship Oregon has already coaled in the smooth water of the harbor and has sailed away. The battleship Texas is coaling, to be followed by other ships. The squadrons of Rear-Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley are still off Santiago, maintaining a strict watch day and night to prevent the possibility of the escape of Admiral Cervera.

Severe storms prevail in the channel between Santiago de Cuba and Jamaica. The press despatch boats have encountered three storms for the last ten days, making the voyages very difficult. The heat adds to the discomfort, but a daily service is maintained.

Secures the French Cable.

On board the Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless, off Guantanamo Bay, Saturday noon, by the Associated Press despatch boat Wanda, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 13.—(1.30 p.m.)—In controlling the outer harbor of Guantanamo, where Lieut.-Col. Huntington's battalion of marines landed on Friday, Rear-Admiral Sampson secures possession of the Cuban terminus of the French cable to Hayti. The apparatus in the office at the harbor mouth was wrecked by a shell, but the cable steamer Adria has instruments and operators aboard, and direct communication with Washington will soon be established.

Shot Across British Steamer's Bows.

Sunday morning the British steamer Newfoundland of Montreal, with a general cargo, from Halifax, steamed into the harbor. Her commander was greatly surprised at the presence of the Americans, but he retained enough composure to dip his flag three times and then started to put about. A shot across his bows from the Marblehead stopped him, and the vessel was boarded, her papers showing that she was bound for Jamaica. The captain explained that he had put in to see if he could get a return cargo of sugar. He was informed that he could not and was allowed to proceed.

THEY KILLED 1,000.

Massacre in Sierra Leone Africa—English Missionaries at the Mercy of Savages.

Liverpool, June 13.—Steamers which have arrived from Sierra Leone report that a thousand persons were killed in the recent uprising in that district. One hundred and twenty inhabitants of Free Town, most of them traders, are known to have been massacred, and other colonists were carried into the bush by the warboys and undoubtedly met a worse fate. Three hundred friendly natives were killed, and besides the white missionaries, six colored missionaries of the United Brethren of Christ were murdered. The English missionaries are at the mercy of the warboys, but have not been molested.

His Gift to Eddie.

Little Willie—Papa, is it more blessed to give than to receive?

Papa—That's what the Bible tells us, and the Bible must be right.

Little Willie—Then I ought to get a credit mark for giving Eddie Warner the measles, oughtn't I?—Chicago News.

Andrew Lang tells of an authoress he knew who saw a novel sort of ghosts—namely, the characters in her novels. She once saw the principal character of one of her novels glide through the door straight up to her. It was about the size of a large doll.

HE WAS TIRED OF LIFE

H. B. Western of Hamilton Deliberately Shot to Kill Himself.

DISROBED BEFORE A MIRROR.

He Aimed at His Heart But Failed to Strike the Vital Organ—Lying in a Very Low Condition—Young Woman Fell Downstairs and Accidentally Killed Herself.

Hamilton, June 13.—H. B. Western, a bookkeeper in the Canada Life Insurance Company's head office, deliberately shot himself in an upstairs room in the company's building early last evening. He disrobed himself and stood before a mirror, then aimed at his heart. The report of the revolver was heard by the janitor, George Salmon, who rushed upstairs and found the man sitting on a chair and blood rushing from a wound in the breast. Salmon at once telephoned for Dr. McGillivray and the ambulance and the wounded man was conveyed to St. Joseph's Hospital. There the physicians discovered that the bullet penetrated his body about an inch below the heart and that the patient was bleeding badly internally. They at once stated that Western could not live long.

Was Tired of Life.

Western asked that Dr. Cockburn remain by his side, but said he wanted to die; he was tired of life. He told P. C. Bainbridge in the ambulance that he had decided some months ago to take his life, but not until last evening did he summon sufficient courage to make an attempt. His wife ran from the family residence, 119 Hughson street south, in her bare head to the hospital as soon as she heard of her husband's rash act.

Western did not handle cash and, therefore there is no suspicion that he was short in his accounts. He received an annuity from England in addition to his salary.

Two letters, written by Western, were found in his office. One was to his wife and the other was addressed to "A Coroner." They were taken possession of by David Kidd, agent of the company, who would not divulge their contents. Western was sinking at 11.30 o'clock last night, and the doctors said he was very low.

A Fatal Accident.

A fatal accident happened about 11 o'clock Saturday night at the residence of Mr. Andrew Wilson, the victim being his daughter, Miss Janet Wilson. The young woman was descending a flight of stairs, carrying a lighted lamp in her hand, when she missed her footing and fell headlong to the bottom. Miss Wilson's neck was dislocated and she also sustained severe wounds on the head and shoulders. Three physicians were called in, but could do little for her, and she died in less than three hours.

A JEALOUS MAN'S CRIME.

Elzear Marin Kills His Mother-in-Law and Then Tries to Kill His Wife—In Custody.

Montreal, June 13.—A foul murder was committed a little before midnight Sunday in a house on Ponpart lane, off Ontario street. In a fit of jealous rage, Elzear Marin, a dock laborer, 27 years of age, started with a drawn revolver to kill his wife, but her mother, in attempting to prevent the tragedy, received the ball in her head and rolled to the floor stone dead. Mrs. Desjardins was the name of the victim. The sight of his deadly work only seemed to stimulate the murderer's desire for more blood, and, making for his wife's apartments, he fired a second shot. The ball, however, entered the woman's thigh and, as the doctors have been able to extract it, the wound may not prove fatal. Marin gave himself up at once and tells a story that is not believed by the neighbors, who say Mrs. Marin was a hardworking, respectable woman. The prisoner declares that he had reasons to doubt his wife's fidelity, and adds that he saw a man in her room some time before the tragedy was enacted. At the hospital Mrs. Marin said that her husband had been drinking and had fired at her because she had refused to drink with him. The prisoner denies that he was drinking and an hour after the murder he certainly did not look like a man who had been so recently under the influence of liquor. The policeman who made the arrest also denies that Marin was drunk. It is quite clear from the evidence that Mrs. Desjardins, the murdered woman, gave up her life to save that of her daughter.

Seattle, Wash., June 13.—Col. Prior of Victoria, B.C., having signified the desire of himself and his regiment of Canadians to participate in the Fourth of July celebration in Seattle, a cordial invitation has been extended to them by the citizens. The committee having the celebration in charge telegraphed to the War Department yesterday for permission for armed British Columbian troops to visit the city and participate in the celebration.

Perfectly Cured

Weak and Low Spirited—Nervous Prostration—Appetite Poor and Could Not Rest.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Hood's Sarsaparilla to others. It has been the means of restoring my wife to good health. She was stricken down with an attack of nervous prostration. She suffered with headaches and her nerves were under severe strain. She became very low spirited and so weak she could only do a little work without resting. Her appetite was poor, and being so weak she could not get the proper rest at night. She decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, as we had heard it highly praised, and I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has perfectly cured all her ailments." G. THE BOOMERANG.

The Conservative leaders are perplexed at the ghosts they have conjured up. When the report of the Manitoba election conspiracy case came up for consideration, Sir Hibbert Tupper promptly proposed that the consideration of it be deferred till next session, and the House, being wearied with an unusually protracted session, assented. Sir Hibbert had very good reasons for his desire to have the consideration of the matter held over; the evidence brought out went to show that the Conservative managers of the late election in Manitoba had been guilty of corrupt methods of the worst kind. To stave off discussion, Sir Hibbert stated that he wanted to call Mr. Birmingham, the chief Conservative organizer, as a witness, and asked that the consideration of the report be laid over, with the probability that that is the last we shall hear of it. Hon. Mr. Foster was equally prudent in respect of that other Conservative boomerang, the Drummond Railway investigation report, which had shown that the Government had done nothing whatever to justify for one moment the charges that had been made by the Opposition. Mr. Foster's anxiety was not excited by the idea of saving the length of the session, but he was anxious to avoid a discussion that would emphasise the evidences of peculiar methods by the late Government in connection with the negotiations for the purchase of the railway. It is very natural that evil-doers should wish others to appear as bad as themselves. That explains the bringing of these charges and the fact that there was no foundation for the calumnies insinuated against the Government accounted for the desire of the Conservative leaders to drop these charges. If either Sir Hibbert or Mr. Foster had thought that they could prove anything against the Government they would have insisted upon a discussion of the reports of the committees, even if the session had been prolonged till September. Their boomerang has given them a black eye and they do not want the circumstance unduly paraded before the country.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE United States should make short work with the Spaniards in Cuba, who are at a great disadvantage—menaced by Americans and insurgents, respectively, in front, flank and rear.

FOR weeks the more rabid and unreasoning of the Conservative journals, typified by the Mail and Empire and the Montreal Star, have been defying the Senate and hailing that body as the saviour of the country. The attempt of the Senate, which in their eyes, can do no wrong, to emasculate and cripple the fair franchise bill enacted by the House of Commons, was justified because the franchise bill was said to be an outrage—it gave six votes to a Quebec elector and only one to an Ontario voter. It prevented the right of appeal, and had divers other iniquities that made it the sacred duty of the Senate to amend the bill. In proof of the hollowness of these contentions or allienatively, in evidence of the fallibility of the infallible Senate, the grave and reverend seignors comprising it, actually withdrew their objections to the franchise bill. Will these journals now denounce the Senate for failing to save the liberty of the subject, which they say is menaced by the provision of the bill to adopt the provincial lists? Or will they admit that the backdown of the Senate is another evidence of the uselessness of that inept and meddlesome coterie of case hardened partizans.

USING AND ABUSING.

When we so use the world that it fails to minister to our spiritual nature, we are abusing the world; when we so use the world that it ministers to our spiritual nature, we are rightly using the world.

There are two very common abuses in our time, much the same in spirit, though in the outward manifestation very different: one is care, and the other luxury. There is a familiar proverb, "It is not worth while to kill yourself to keep yourself"—homely but useful. There are not a few men, and there are many women, who are killing themselves to keep themselves. Women will read this article who are wearing out their lives to keep house on a scale too great for their abilities, and endeavouring to justify themselves on the ground that they are doing it for the sake of their children and their husbands; who are destroying themselves to maintain spotlessness and order, or to maintain appearances equal to their neighbors; who are housekeepers, and not homekeepers; women who are breaking themselves down and their children down and their husbands down by the sacrifice of their souls to material things. Men will read this article who are doing the same; men who can buy pictures but cannot enjoy them; libraries and care not to read; all luxuries, and have brought on dyspepsia by their work, so that they cannot eat what is on their table. Our great cities are full of men who have destroyed their lives in the mad endeavour to get things.

Care is the first abuse of things; luxury is the second. What is luxury? The luxury of yesterday is the comfort of today. Comfort for one person is luxury to another. Anything is legitimate comfort which ministers to higher life; anything is illegitimate luxury which enervates and degrades the higher life.

Some years ago an article was published in an English review which argued at great length that it was wrong to have diamonds. We recalled, as we read it, an anecdote told by Henry Ward Beecher. One day, when a boy, he was at work in the garden cultivating flowers, a very serious-minded deacon passed that way and looked over the fence. "Henry, I am sorry to see you wasting your time over flowers," said the deacon. Said Mr. Beecher afterward, "I would have liked to ask him what God made flowers for, but I did not quite dare." If precious stones are not legitimate objects of beauty, why did God make them? Are they the tares the devil has sown? If a woman wears a precious stone because it is beautiful, that is legitimate; if she wears it to outshine her neighbour, that is illegitimate. Taste in dress is right; fashion in dress is mainly wrong. Dressmaking ought to be an art, and not merely an imitation. To wear a certain kind of bonnet because somebody else wears it, when it is in good taste for the one and hideous for the other, is unchristian as well as bad taste.

It is a matter of gratification that we are growing rich, and have larger wealth, and wealthy men, and finer houses, and furniture and clothing. But who can fail to see that the larger houses and the finer clothing and the greater wealth are bringing in temptation—the temptation to care for things, not life? All things that minister to the life of the community are legitimate; all things which enervate and deteriorate life are illegitimate, whether they destroy life by the poisonous bite of care, or by the luxurious, the entrancing, the death sleep-producing embrace of luxury. Care is a serpent; it has fangs; it poisons. Luxury is the anaconda that winds itself around one in soft embrace and crushes him to death.

TEMPERANCE IN NORWAY.

(Outlook for June.)

The London Times has recently summarized in a very interesting way the working of prohibition laws in Norway. During nearly a quarter of a century previous to 1894 the "Gothenburg" system was in operation in Norway, and, on the whole, very successfully. While the sale of wine and beer was permitted, the sale of distilled liquors at retail was, under this system, prohibited in all the rural districts. In certain of the large cities companies which were known as "Samlags" were established, and a monopoly of the retail trade in spirits was given to them, and they were held to strict compliance with very rigid restrictions; one chief end of the system being to destroy the profit of the business, and thus to prevent the endeavour to extend the drinking habit. Under the law the profits divisible by the "Samlags" were limited to five per cent.; all additional profits were devoted to public objects. Under the Gothenburg plan there was an immense reduction in the number of places in which spirits were sold at retail. In Bergen, for instance, with a population of 60,000, there were only five such establishments. Drunkenness was very greatly reduced, but it was not entirely abolished, and a movement in favour of securing total abstinence by prohibition was inaugurated. As a result a law was passed which practically provided for local option in the town in which "Samlags" existed. That is to say, provision was made to determine by popular vote the question of whether these "Samlags" should continue or be discontinued. If they were discontinued, the legalized sale of spirits was at an end. Under this law all persons twenty-five years of age, without respect to sex, were qualified to vote, the total abstinence party placing great faith on the vote of the women.

WHY ARE THERE SO MANY NURSES?

This enthusiasm of humanity, as it is sometimes called, is largely felt by girls of the upper middle classes during the years which intervene between school time and marriage. The middle class girls are the worst off in this respect. Girls of the poorer class are obliged to go to work, and girls of the upper class are taken about to balls and other social functions, because they are expected to marry, but the fate of the middle class girls in these countries is generally left to chance. They are, therefore, in an anomalous position; there is no exact place cut out for them. They have nothing to do but play lawn tennis and work for bazaars. They do not, generally, like this kind of work, for most of them are brimming over with energy for which they can find no outlet.

Many of them, therefore, ask themselves "Why was I created? I am of no use to society; I am doing nothing. Can I at least do something to lessen a little the suffering which I see around me?" It is this feeling which make so many young women of the present day take to hospital nursing. Now, hospital nursing is fearfully hard work, and we all know that only the very strongest of women can continue at it for any length of time without injury to themselves. I never could see why men should not be trained to nurse men. I think the feeling that nursing must be done by women is merely a traditional one

The Awkward Orderly.

A young wag of an officer, making a morning call upon his superior in the latter's tent, found him sound asleep, perhaps a little the worse for a night's tarrying over the flowing bowl.

The officer was tall, and the cot was short, so that his feet stuck out at the foot of the bed.

Instead of waking him the visitor took the spurs from a pair of boots standing by the bedside, strapped them to the sleeper's ankles and went away.

The officer had pretty well lacerated himself about the shins and ankles before he woke up and instantly yelled to his orderly.

"What do you mean by this?" he screamed to the latter, pointing to his feet, which were scarred and bleeding.

The orderly looked at the spurs in consternation.

"I'll forgive you this time, for you did it in the dark," said the officer, "but the next time you yank my boots and socks off so quick that it leaves my spurs on I'll give you ten days in the guardhouse, do you hear?"—New York World.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.50, in settlement of my $5,000 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $6510.00, or a Life Annuity for $461.30, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

HIS REMEDIES

His Remedies are Becoming the Safeguard of the Home—The People Have Trusted and Have not Been Deceived.

Mrs. D. Davis, Trenton, Ontario, Canada, says: "Mine has been a marvellous cure of eczema by Munyon's Remedies. When I began using these remedies I was covered from head to foot with scabs. I suffered the most intense agony from the irritation and pain. I felt so bad that I believed it impossible to ever get well. I had used a number of remedies to effect a cure, but instead, I was getting worse. I was in Grace hospital for three months, but they could not help me. I finally decided to try Munyon, and after using Munyon's Salve and other remedies I received immediate relief. The medicine seemed to help and cool the irritation. I am happy to say now that I have not a mark on my body and feel it is my duty to tell others of the wonderful cure which has been effected in my case. I have unbounded faith in Munyon's treatment and heartily recommend his remedies."

ANGLO-AMERICANISM.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain Says He Knows More of the United States Than Does Mr. Morley.

London, June 13.—Friday evening's proceedings in Parliament contained repeated illustrations of the high favor in which America is held here just now. Every allusion of Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Mr. George N. Curzon or Mr. Joseph Chamberlain to the suggested alliance or understanding was loudly cheered, the Irish alone dissenting.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Liberal leader in the House of Commons, said: "No one is more anxious or more eager for closer and more permanent relations with the United States than myself. Ever since I have had anything to do with public life my foremost object has been the cultivation of good relations with the United States. There have been mischievous attempts to represent that there are differences between the political parties on this subject. There is no difference. (Cheers.) There is no member in the Liberal party, any more than of the Unionist party, who does not place friendship, alliance, if you choose to use the word, in the sense of cordial friendship, with the United States in the very foremost of English foreign policy."

Mr. Chamberlain, at the end of a long defence of his policy as Secretary of State for the Colonies, made an eloquent reiteration of his desire for "close, cordial and intimate relations with the United States," adding: "And the more close, the more intimate and the more defined they are the better I shall be satisfied."

At one point of his speech, Mr. Chamberlain was repeatedly interrupted by the Irish, and the Daily Chronicle says it thinks he will rue the "bitter" words with which he finally answered them, saying: "The Irish will have something to say to it, and I am thankful to say the Americans won't listen. I know more of America than Mr. Morley, and I say the Irish vote won't stand between us and America when there is real cause for unity."

"I guess Mrs. Frills doesn't like that new French maid."

"What French maid?"

"I didn't know her name until I met Mrs. Frills yesterday. I said, 'How worried you look!' 'Do I?' said she. 'Well, it's only embongpong.' And so I suppose that's the maid's name."

"What is?"

"Emma Bongpong." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, misshapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

SENATE BACKS DOWN

Withdraws Its Hostility to the Franchise Bill.

MATTER ARRANGED IN ADVANCE

They Then Let the Objectionable Amendment Drop—The Retreat of the "Lords" Directed and Engineered by Sir Mackenzie Bowell—His Excellency Sets Time of the Prorogation.

Ottawa, June 13.—The Senate withdrew from the position it took of hostility to the House of Commons and the Government on the Franchise bill, and on Friday night, on motion of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, resolved that the Senate do not insist upon the second and fifth amendments to the Franchise bill, and that they do insist on the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth amendments because they are necessary to accommodate the bill to the circumstances of Prince Edward Island, where there are no voters' lists, and in the manner provided by provincial law, and that the Senate does insist upon its constitutional right to reject or amend said bill or any bill of a similar character. The amendments here abandoned are the objectionable amendments affecting the principle of the bill which were orginally made against the protest of the Government. This motion followed the suggestion of Mr. Mills, the leader of the Senate, that they should abandon the appeal to the judge amendment and insist upon the other amendments described by the Solicitor-General in the House of Commons as unnecessary but harmless. Otherwise, he said, the Government would insist upon the bill as it originally came from the House of Commons. Regarding the appeal provided for in the amendment to the judge from the final revision of the list, Mr. Mills said he would urge the three Provincial Governments to provide such an appeal by local legislation. In the House of Commons Mr. Sifton said Manitoba was about to make such a provision, so that New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are the only two provinces concerned.

The Partizan Senate.

The Senate's Drummond County Railway Investigating Committee met a couple of months ago and organized. They never met again until Friday morning, when they adopted a report which is a copy of the report prepared by the Conservative members of the Commons Investigating Committee. They claim that the action of the Senate last year resulted in a saving to the country of a substantial sum, contrasting the agreement now in force with the one rejected last year.

The Senate passed the third readings of the Plebiscite bill and the farewell address to the Governor-General. The bill to credit the Manitoba debt account with the sums due since 1885 was also adopted.

ONCE MORE THE SENATE.

Another Government Bill Thrown Out on Partizan Grounds.

The Senate on Saturday morning threw out the Manitoba school fund bill by a vote of 7 for the second reading and 28 against. This was the bill to give the province $400,000 in principal from the sale of school lands now in the hands of the Dominion Government.

A Partizan Vote Expected.

Hon. Mr. Mills, in moving the second reading of the bill, said that there was no use in his pressing the bill with any long arguments, as a majority in the Senate had made up their minds to throw out the bill.

Hon. Mr. Scott regretted that the Senate had prejudiced the bill.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell maintained that when the late Government gave any principal it was always as a loan. He described the bill as an iniquitous one, and he would vote against it if he were the only one in the Senate who would do so.

FRANCHISE BILL PASSED.

The Government Accepts the Compromise of the Senate.

In the House on Saturday morning the Great Northwest Central Railway and the North Shore Electric Railway bills passed.

Mr. Fitzpatrick then announced that the Government would not oppose the amendments made by the Senate to the Franchise bill in regard to Prince Edward Island, seeing that the Senate had abandoned the principal amendments it had made to the bill.

Sir Louis Davies explained that the only objection he had previously made to the Prince Edward Island amendments were that they disclosed how railway employes would vote, and therefore put the power into the hands of the Government of the day. However, if the Opposition desired that, he would not object. The bill then passed.

The House then proceeded to finish up business in concurrence on the estimates. After some discussion about the Crow's Nest Pass Railway contract cruelties, the item for the Crow's Nest Commission was concurred in.

Business will be finished this morning.

The Governor-General has sent word to the Speaker of the Senate that he will prorogue Parliament at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Skaguay to the Lake.

Victoria, June 13.—Three hundred men have started work grading the right of way for the proposed railway from Skaguay to the lakes. The work is being done by the Pacific & Arctic R. and N. Co., of West Virginia, which is said to have secured the charter and holdings of the British Yukon Company. Under the charter of the latter company the road must be in operation by January.

It Was the Arbela.

St. John's, Nfld., June 13.—The steamer wrecked in St. Mary's Bay Friday proves to be the Arbela (Br.), Captain Smith, from St. John, N.B., for Liverpool. It is believed that her crew and passengers were saved, though there is no means of knowing positively that this is so. The ship will prove a total loss.

Produced Jet Black Roses.

London, June 13.—The Gardeners' Chronicle announces that Mr. Fetisoff, an amateur horticulturist at Voronezh, Russia, has achieved what was believed to be impossible, the production of jet black roses. No details of the process have been received.

STILL TUMBLING.

The Wheat Market Was Weak During the Entire Week—Features of the Grain Markets—Prices.

Saturday Evening, June 11.

Those who expected last week's heavy slump in wheat to be followed by a reaction for the better have been disappointed, for the price of the cereal has all this week kept steadily on the down grade. The continued heavy world's shipments, which have been much more than enough to supply Europe's current requirements, and the announcement that on Monday last there was sufficient afloat to fill the Old Land's estimated need for six weeks to come, had a depressing effect on the market. Above all, however, in bearish effect are the growing crop reports of the United States and Canada, one of which places the coming yield at 775,000,000 bushels, or 120,000,000 more than in the previous record year. The United States Government crop report, issued last night from Washington, caused the week to conclude with a final slump. This report puts the total acreage in fall and spring wheat at 43 millions, more than 3½ millions greater than last year. The average condition of winter wheat is 90.8, against 78.5 at the same date last year, and the average condition of spring wheat is 100.9, against 89.6 on June 1, 1897. At the close of the Chicago Board to-day June wheat had declined 17c per bushel since last Saturday, July 6¾c, Sept. 4½c and Dec. 4¾c. The European markets have been irregular, with a downward tendency, and at Liverpool to-day July wheat stood 5¾d per cental lower than a week ago, and the September delivery 7¾d lower. The declines on the Continent have been smaller.

Conductor Hogg Tells the Story of His Rescue From Diabetes.

Toronto, June 13—Special—Mr. H. Hogg, the well-known and popular street railway conductor (No. 107) who has been cured of a very severe case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, has written as follows to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited.

"My sufferings extended over a period of three years, and grew worse every day. I could get nothing to cure the Diabetes, nor to purify my blood. Finally, the dizziness so overpowered me, and I grew so emaciated and weak, that I had to quit work.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I laughed at him, for I had tried so many remedies, only to be disappointed that I had lost hope. However I did try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Thank God, six boxes cured me entirely."

A Bad Smash.

A head on collision occurred at Tweed on Sunday morning about five o'clock, when an east bound freight in charge of driver Thos. Williams crashed into a west bound train with driver Wm. Sullivan in charge, which was standing at the station taking water. The accident is the result of the disarrangement of the air brake and the dense fog. Fortunately no one was injured. Several box cars were wrecked and driver Sullivan's engine was badly damaged. The auxiliary was sent down from this place and cleared the wreckage up by night.

A Handsome Bird.

In Mr. M. L. Henry's liquor window can be seen a very fine specimen of a Minorca rooster done in oil. The picture measures about three feet square, and is most life like and natural, in fact so natural, that Mr. Henry claims he has difficulty in keeping it out of reach of his three tame foxes, which are in the same window. The rooster is the trade mark of the Copland Brewing Co. of Toronto, and the way in which this particular Minorca is got up certainly demonstrates that what they do they do handsomely, and that they also think the volume of trade done by Mr. Henry in ale, porter and lager is worth something, as this bird was painted by a Toronto artist for him especially, and is the only one of its kind in Canada.

HIS FATAL RIDE.

Albert Knox, of Toronto, Falls From a Train Under the Wheels and is Killed.

Some section hands on the Canadian Pacific Railway found the body of a man frightfully mangled on the track a short distance the other side of Locust Hill yesterday morning. The man had been almost cut in two by the wheels of a train. As the labourers were removing the body a freight train which had just passed on its way from Havelock to Toronto Junction, backed down to the scene, the train crew having secured word of the accident at Myrtal from a companion of the dead man. The friend who had been stealing a ride with him said that the man who had been killed was Albert Knox, the nineteen-year-old son of Arthur Knox, a labourer, living at 79 Van Horne street, Toronto. They had, he said, caught the train at the water tank near Locust Hill and were trying to steal a ride to the city on a coal car when Knox fell under the wheels. The body was taken to Locust Hill, where it is probable an inquest will be opened.

GRAND LODGE I.O.G.T.

Twenty-five Delegates Coming up From Ottawa—Notes About the Convention.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Ottawa, June 13th.—To-morrow afternoon a group comprising some twenty-five members of the Independent Order of Good Templars will leave the city to attend the 45th annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, which convenes in Peterborough Wednesday morning. The delegation comprises some of the most active and enthusiastic workers in the Ottawa district, and the Peterborough brethren are warned beforehand to look out for them. Full of fun when that is in order, and full of business in its proper place, they will prove the most effective workers at the sessions. Miss J. A. Gordon, the present Grand Vice-Templar, who accompanies them, is a fair representative of the beauty and grace of the Capital and will, no doubt, capture the good will of Peterborough's braves. Fred Roger, "the little Scotchman," a Past Grand Councillor, has his stock of subjects to "kick" about, and will make things warm. W. Nelson Ostrom, the Assistant Grand Secretary, also has his constitutional points to look after. He is one of the best members in the district, his work as secretary of his being somewhat remarkable. To him belongs the honour of the east in past years, and as an authority on constitution he cannot be beaten.

The others who will be present are :—John Eagleson, P.G.Co.; J. T. Oliver, D.C.T.; Rev. W. L. Scott, Mrs. Scott, P.G.S.J.T.; Miss R. M. Storr, P.G.V.T. ; J. Latimer, J. K. Pearce, Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Roger, Miss R. Chamberlin, Miss D. Hooper.

Sleep is out of the question when R. J. Birdswhistle, P.G.M., the cartoonist of District No. 1, is around. Keep a sharp look out for a sleepy and tired group when the Toronto train arrives. Brother Birdswhistle while full of life, is one of the most energetic and enthusiastic temperance workers of this district. For the past nine years he has been connected with Riverside Lodge and the work of the district. He has also held the office of D.C. Templar and various offices in the Grand Lodge.

Bro. J. K. Pearce, of the No Surrender Lodge, has for the past ten years occupied a position on the executive of District No. 1, and has in that time done much for the district. Enthusiasm is in his make-up, and is accompanied with a determination to succeed in anything undertaken by him. Jolly and full of life, he will be a first-class addition to our group of delegates.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Board of Managers of St. Paul's church meet on the evening of the 14th.

First communion will be given a large number of children at the 9 15 a.m. mass next Sunday in St. Peter's Cathedral.

"King of Kings" was the title of the anthem sung last evening in St. Paul's church. Miss Mein took the solos most effectively.

Rev. O. C. Elliott and Mr. T. H. Cornish are delegates to the Recognition Council, which meets at the new Bewdley Baptist church on Wednesday evening next.

The sacrament of Holy Communion will be dispensed in St. Paul's church on Sunday, June 26th, and a special collection taken up for the Widows' and Orphans' Fund.

In the morning St. Andrew's church choir sang the anthem "O Come, Let us Worship," Miss Falconer taking the obligato solo. The chorus and solo were well rendered.

The Misses Bellegham sang in St. Andrew's last evening a duet entitled "Jesus, Lover of my Soul," which was very much appreciated. Miss Falconer sang a solo, "O, for the Peace which Passeth Like a River."

Rev. O. C. Elliott, of the Park street Baptist church, is being assisted in his work for the summer by Mr. T. H. Cornish, a student at McMaster University. Mr. Cornish conducts the services at Indian River, Douro and Riverdale.

Rev. Robt. Laird, of Campbellford, occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's church last evening in the absence of Rev. Dr. Torrance. Mr. Laird has a splendid delivery and a fine voice at his command, which he uses with excellent effect in his sermons. St. Paul's congregation was greatly pleased with the two discourses delivered yesterday.

At the evening service in St. John's church last night the choir, which was fuller than usual, sang with good effect at the offertory Dudley Buck's "Brightest and Best." At the conclusion of the service the congregation remained for a very enjoyable organ recital by Mr. P. W. Owens, organist, who gave a spirited and sympathetic performance of four numbers. Adagio from No.1, Smart; Entr'act, Gavotte, from "Mignon," Thomas; Marche religieuse, Guilmant; and the allegro from "No. 5" Henry Smart. The choir gave a pleasing variety by contributing the anthem "What are These?' Stainer, in excellent style. Mr. Owens in his presentation of the programme, showed a good deal of artistic ability as well as technical resource. However, in his second number, the "Mignon" gavotte, a little acceleration of the tempo would not have offended some tastes. On the whole the recital was much enjoyed.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion. You need not expect a clear, beautiful complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for their action on the liver and blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

A LETTER FROM PETERBORO' KLONDYKERS

FRED S. HARSTONE WRITES TO HIS BROTHER AT WARKWORTH.

The Letter is Dated May 17th, and is From Sheep Camp, Alaska—Boats Worth From $250 to $300 Each—Description of Lake Bennett.

The appended letter has just been received by Mr. R. Harstone, of Warkworth, from his brother Fred, who went to the Klondyke with the Peterborough party :

Sheep Camp, Alaska, May 17th, '98.

DEAR BROTHER,—As it is some time since I have written home, you are, no doubt, anxious to hear from me. I wrote from Skagway April 26th, which letter you have doubtless received by this time. Munro and I were waiting there for Gladman to arrive with canoes from Vancouver. He came this afternoon and we made arrangements to have them go by Dyea over the Chilkoot Tramway. I mentioned in some of my former letters that we intended crossing the White Pass, but upon our arrival at Skagway we found that the Chilkott pass was much the better route this season of the year. Canoes are articles of freight, and they do not care to handle so long as other freight is available, so we were detained from Wednesday until Saturday getting them off. They were teamed from Dyea to Canyon City, a distance of nine miles, when we were again detained four days in order to place them safely on the tramway. This is an "aerial road," as you know, which transports freight from Canyon City to the summit.

On Tuesday I started on my journey across the Chilkoot mountains to Lake Lindeman, where five of our boys were camping, leaving Munro and Gladman to follow on Thursday. The scenery on the trail up the mountains is perfectly grand, on we climb, one continuous string of people (some women in the line who were dressed very much like men), men with seventy to one hundred pounds on their back striving to reach the summit, which is about thirty-six hundred feet above the sea level. The steeper part of the trail has a rope fastened from the bottom to the top and steps cut in the hard snow to facilitate climbing. I passed over the spot where the fatal snowslide occurred and sixteen bodies are still buried. The accident would have been prevented had the people taken warning from the Indians. It had been storming three days and travellers had been warned not to start out, but they paid no attention to it. After reaching the summit there is a very steep decline to Lake Lindeman, a distance of nine miles, where I met the boys who had been camping since a week ago Saturday, having gone ahead with freight.

We purposed hauling our freight from the summit to Lake Bennet in fact the boys did take 3,000 lbs. over, but it was going to use them up, so we had it taken to Lake Lindeman by dog train at 2 cents per pound. We hauled it from Lindeman to Bennet, a distance of five miles, ourselves. It was very hard work as the lake was quite slushy. We left one tent there and two at Lindeman to wait for canoes to arrive at the Summit. Altogether we have been detained two weeks with canoes; however they came on Saturday—four of them damaged—and that is why Munro and I returned to Sheep Camp to settle the damages with the Tramway Company.

Lake Lindeman is about five miles long and one mile wide. The upper end is covered with tents. There are supposed to be about 3,000 people camping here, and waiting for the ice to go out. Some are building their own boats, and queer looking craft they are, but there are men here who understand boat building and are asking $250 to $300 for a boat 26 feet long, 8 feet wide and 3 feet deep. At Lake Bennet there is more activity—boat building in all directions; two or three large passenger boats are being put together for traffic on the lake. Lake Bennett is 21 miles long and 1½ miles wide. The population is estimated at 11,000. There is a great deal of sickness there, principally spinal meningitis, brought on by overwork, as a great many are compelled to carry their own freight owing to the lack of sufficient funds.

The weather has been excellent, only a few days rain. I am well tanned; the skin peeled off my face owing to the strong winds and sun.

I have not heard from any of you, there should be letters at Cariboo Crossing, that is down Lake Bennet, so I shall have to wait until the ice goes out of the lake.

Our boys have had colds, but are better now. I have been splendid. Give my love to all at home, and remember me to all inquiring friends.

Your affectionate brother,
FRED S HARSTONE.

—A young fellow named Goselin, who travels the thoroughbred stallion 'Tyrone,' is reported to have been fatally injured by the horse on Saturday, which tore him with its teeth and afterwards trampled on him.

—The bombardment of Cuba don't begin to raise any such talk in town as the bombardment of boss-prices at Gee. Ball's ladies' and gentlemen's tailoring parlours, 413½ George street. Those $10 suits, made to order, are levelling prices and demoralising high-renters.

—The Millbrook Reporter says: Mr. Fred Armstrong has severed his connection with the Canadian General Electric Co., and has accepted another position with a salary nearly equal to a cabinet minister's. He has made the engagement with a firm in London, England, and he entered upon the duties of his new office by attending to the closing of some large transactions in Cleveland and New York, before crossing the ocean. Fred's many many friends will rejoice with him in his promotion, for he has received the advancement that push and ability always award.

GODFREY WILL BE HERE.

The Famous Band of British Guardsmen Will Visit Peterborough on the 27th.

It has now been definitely arranged that Lieut. Dan Godfrey and his famous band of English Guardsmen are to visit Peterborough on the evening of Monday, June 27th. They have been receiving general ovations in the leading centres of Canada, and have played to audiences of from one to six thousand people, and their music has in every instance been received with the warmest enthusiasm. It has been a matter of remark that Peterborough was not to be honoured by a visit from this greatest musical organization that ever came into Canada, and, therefore, it will be a matter of much gratification to hundreds to know that arrangements have been made, and that all will have an opportunity of hearing the famous band.

The engagement is no ordinary one, for it means a very considerable risk on the part of the auspices under which the band comes here, and it entails unusual arrangements to accommodate such a band, and the large and small will no doubt desire to hear them. It is hoped, therefore, that citizens will remember the date and lend their support, so that the British Guards men will receive as warm and as general a reception in Ontario's premier town, as it has in other centres in Ontario.

Speaking of Lieut. Godfrey on the occasion of his band's first concert in Toronto, the Globe said : "In Toronto, at least, the name of Godfrey is evidently one with which to conjure, a fact which must have been agreeably impressed upon the minds of the promoters of the engagement of Lieut. Dan Godfrey and his band when they viewed the vast gathering of more than six thousand people which last night assembled in the armories at the opening concert of the celebrated English organization. There is, perhaps, no other name in connection with British military bands to which so brilliant a prestige attaches. Lieut. Dan Godfrey in fact belongs to a family of distinguished military bandmasters. Charles Godfrey, the founder, was bandmaster of the Coldstream Guards from 1815 till his death in 1863. Daniel, his eldest son, became bandmaster of the Grenadier Guards in 1856, and retained the position with honour till a few years ago, when he retired from the service In 1872 he appeared with his band at the Boston Peace Jubilee, the occasion marking the first visit of a British military band to the United States since the war of independence. Charles, the third son, became bandmaster of the Scots' Fusileers in 1859, and in 1868 was appointed director of the Royal Horse Guards. It is no wonder, therefore, that the name of Godfrey is well known in musical circles wherever English people are to be found.

LACROSSE.

Full practice to-night.

In the event of it being too wet to practice this evening a full turnout of the senior players will take place in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. It is hoped every man will be present and take some light exercise and a rub down and bath, as it is imperative that the team be in the best possible shape for the Thursday match in Orillia.

Mr. Harry O'Laughlin, past president of the C.L.A., who refereed the game between the Orillias and Peterboroughs on June 2nd, has been selected to act in a like capacity in Orillia on Thursday.

Rain or shine the lacrosse team is asked to turn out to-night and to-morrow night.

Tickets for the excursion to Orillia may be had from members of the committee, at the EXAMINER office, Bert Dolan's or up town G.T.R. ticket office. The rate is only $1. A large crowd should take in the trip.

Pat Murphy was not allowed to play with the Capitals on Saturday, as he had not been turning out to practice regularly.

Pringle, who played so well on the Markham team last year, is said to be getting up a great game at point for Galt.

Snell will play with Orangeville instead of Markham this year.

CRICKET.

A very interesting match was played in the Nicholls Park, Saturday, between the Trinity College School II Port Hope, and the Colts, resulting in a victory for the Colts by 3 runs in the first innings. In the second innings T. C. S. had made 36 with the loss of 4 wickets, when the game had to be stopped owing to the rain. The Colts were without McBain and Stapleton, two of their best men, who were unable to play. The Port Hope boys were given a drive around town in the morning, and after the game both teams were entertained to tea by the lady friends of the Colts, the residence of Mr. J. McKee, London street. Following is the score :

BASEBALL.

A very interesting baseball match took place Saturday between the Rooters and the gallery hands of the Canadian General Electric Company. The Rooters won by 26 runs to 11 in 7 innings, rain preventing them from playing the full limit. L. B. Ramsden and the two D'Russia's put up a star game for the Rooters, as also did Geurin for the gallery hands. R. H. Shepherd filled the bill as umpire to everybody's satisfaction. The Rooters hereby challenge the Canadian General Electric Bicycle club to a game, for fun, money or marbles.

THE WHEEL.

The Ottawa Free Press says:—Frank Wilson and Stackhouse will represent the O.A.A. at the C.W.A. meet at Peterborough on July 1st. They will also enter for the tandem events.

A number of riders from Perth will come up and compete in the events. They are members of the lacrosse team.

The big parade at the bicycle meet at Peterborough on July 1st and 2nd will be headed by Bro. Jonathan and John Bull on a tandem. The largest and thinnest, and stoutest and thickest men in town will make up the pair. They will be costumed strictly according as tradition paints them, and will make a capital headpiece for the parade.

The Wanderer's Club of Toronto will be at the Peterborough meet, paragraphs in the the Toronto papers to the contrary mistaking a fact. The secretary at Peterborough received letters on Tuesday from President Sharkey and Secretary Norman saying the club would be on hand as strong and as lively as ever. This is good, for a meet without the Wanderers would lack a feature that would leave it less than complete.

HAVELOCK GUN CLUB.

A meeting of the Havelock Game club was held during the past week when the following officers were elected :

The above club has leased a portion of Plato Creek and have already placed the trespass signs along the stream as required by law. The members of the club have decided not to do any fishing this year, as they intend to place 5000 trout in the creek this month and will also place 10,000 California spawn in the fall. Any person wishing to join the above association can obtain full information by applying to J. A. Fox, secretary.

FOR WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.

Consumption is often caused by a weak state of the blood, permitting the germs to obtain a foothold. That Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills cure disease and make the system safe, the following evidence amply proves:

I suffered for two years with what the family doctor claimed was an incurable case of consumption and debility, telling me that my life was but for a few months at the best. As I was about to give up, I picked up your advertisement and resolved thereupon to give Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills a trial. The first box of them worked such a wonderful change I felt that at last I had struck a medicine that would help me. I continued the use of the Pills, receiving from them day by day flesh, strength and vigor, in fact friends of mine that had not seen me for some time hardly knew me, so great was the change that Dr. Ward's Pills worked. Out of the fullness of my heart in the joy of my being rescued from the grave, comes this testimonial. I shall, as long as God permits me to live, herald forth their usefulness and life-saving power to all afflicted by that monster of disease that almost claimed me for its victim, thereby repaying you in a small measure for the grand, new lease of life Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have given me. Yours truly, JOHN P. THORP, Cork St., Guelph, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of Information free.

MAY YET ARBITRATE.

Mr. Curzon, of the Foreign Office, on the Future Relations Between Great Britain and Uncle Sam.

London, June 11.—Sir Charles Dilke, Advanced Radical member for the Forest of Dean division of Gloucestershire, in the House of Commons, yesterday moved a reduction in the Foreign Office vote, and attacked the Marquis of Salisbury's foreign policy of concession. Referring to the United States, he said:

"Our relations with the United States are mainly due to the good influence of Her Majesty's ambassador at Washington (Sir Julian Pauncefote), for the Government's policy has been rash and feeble. Everyone will welcome an alliance of hearts with America, but no alliance could be a war alliance."

Continuing, Sir Charles said he did not believe in the possibility, mooted by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, of an alliance with Germany.

The Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, gave credit to the good influence of the British ambassador at Washington. But he asserted that credit was due not merely to the ambassador or to the exigencies of the moment, but to Lord Salisbury's friendly, calm and dispassionate attitude during the discussion of difficult matters two years ago.

Mr. Curzon added: "An arbitration treaty will be accepted some day."

This statement was greeted with cheering.

Answering a question on the subject, Mr. Curzon said the subjects to be referred to the Arbitration Commission all related to questions between Canada and the United States, but, he added, some of them are of Imperial interest.

Applause In Spanish Theaters.

If when traveling in Portugal or Spain you go to the theater and wish to applaud any performer, be very careful how you do it. Do not hit the ground with your stick, or kick against the woodwork of your box, or stamp with your feet. A few years ago I was in Lisbon and went one night to one of the theaters to see a zarzuela, as the comic operas imported from Spain are called. I was with a party of friends in a stage box. Now, in Portugal such a box is, as the name implies, on the stage itself, and you could not be nearer the performers. Needless to say, you are too near for comfort. The light blinds you, the dust and powder cover your clothes, the defects of the performance are glaring.

On the night to which I specially refer a woman came upon the stage and sang a ballad with much taste and feeling. When she had finished, some of my party applauded, and I knocked on the floor of the box with my stick. The woman did not accept an encore, and as she went off threw a reproachful glance at me. "It was not so bad as all that," remarked one of my friends, a good judge of music. "So I thought," I replied. "Then why did you condemn it," he asked, and then began to laugh. "I see you don't know the custom of the country," he went on. "When we find a thing very bad indeed, we do as you have been doing." I felt very foolish.—Today.

Thumbscrews.

William Carstairs, the Scotch divine who for 14 years served William III as confidential secretary and adviser in chief, had been implicated in the Rye House plot, a conspiracy to assassinate Charles II and place Monmouth on the throne. He was put to the excruciating torture of the thumbkins, or thumbscrews, which he endured heroically, without confessing or implicating others.

After Carstairs became the private adviser of William he was presented with the instrument by which he had been tortured. The king, wishing to see the measure of fortitude necessary to endure the terrible torture without making a confession of some sort, placed his thumbs in the machine and told Carstairs to turn the screw. He turned slowly and cautiously.

"It is unpleasant," said King William, "yet it might be endured. You are trifling with me. Turn the screw so that I may really feel pain similar to that you felt."

Carstairs turned the screw sharply. The king cried out, and when released said that under such pain he would have confessed to anything, true or false.

A Monster Palace.

Spain possesses one of the largest buildings in the world. It is at once a palace, a museum, a library, a picture gallery, a monastery, a church and a burial place. This wonderful edifice is called the Escorial, although the name is very generally corrupted both in England and America into "Escurial."

The Escorial was commenced in 1563 by order of Philip II of Spain and was intended partly as a royal burying place for the kings of Spain and partly as a commemoration of Philip's victory over the French at St. Quentin in 1557. It is built entirely of granite and measures 744 feet in length by 580 feet in breadth. At each corner is a tower 300 feet in height. The building is supposed to represent an enormous gridiron lying upside down, and this shape is believed to have reference to St. Lawrence, who was martyred on a gridiron.

Twenty-one years were spent in building it, and it cost over $12,000,000. It has been twice partly destroyed by lightning and was sacked by the French soldiers in 1808. There are 14,000 doors and 11,000 windows.

The Three Stages.

For the early stages, Scott's Emulsion is a cure. For the second stage it cures many. And for the last stages of consumption it soothes the cough and prolongs the life.

Your Pulse.

Is it regular in its beat, or is it weak and intermittent? A weak pulse indicates a weak heart. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is the great remedy for weak, palpitating heart—makes them strong and steady.

Grinding the Teeth.

When children grind the teeth it's a sure indication of worms. Give them Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup. Easy to take and never fails. Price 25c.

For internal or external use Hagyard's Yellow Oil cannot be excelled as a pain relieving and soothing remedy for all pain.

THE LION TO THE BEAR.

Sending Troops Into the Yang-Tse-Kiang Will Be Regarded as an Act of War.

London, June 11.—The newspapers are printing many congratulations upon the signing of the Anglo-Chinese convention yesterday, which gives Great Britain an extension of the boundaries of Hong-Kong, including Kan-Tung, of altogether 200 square miles, under a lease, to which the greatest importance is attached, as the territory thus acquired is regarded as being essential for the protection of Hong-Kong. The lease comprises the Island of Lantao, to the westward of Hong-Kong, and the mainland behind Kan-Tung, south and east of a line drawn from Mirs Bay to Deep Bay. While the Chinese retain the northern shores of these bays, the lease covers their waters, subject to the right of the Chinese to use them for their own ships.

When questioned in the House of Commons yesterday evening as to whether Russia contemplated sending troops to the Yang-Tse-Kiang valley, the Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. Curzon, made an important statement to the effect that such a proceeding, without the consent of China, would be an act of war and the Government would take the requisite steps to protect British interests. Obviously this is intended as a warning to Russia not to interfere in the Yang-Tse-Kiang valley.

TROLLEY CRUSHED HIS HEAD.

A Presbyterian Clergyman Killed While Wheeling in Montreal.

Montreal, June 11.—A very sad accident occurred last evening in Chaboillez square, by which Rev. R. J. Grant of River John, Pictou County, N.S., a delegate to the assembly, lost his life in the most tragic manner. During the afternoon the reverend gentleman secured a bicycle and took a run to Lachine. He was returning home along Notre Dame street and about 7 o'clock was spinning along abreast of an electric car. They kept together for a while, when suddenly the wheel fell over, and, being caught by the fender, Mr. Grant was thrown under the car. His head was crushed and death took place instantly. Deceased had only been ordained two years and was 30 years of age.

Sir Adolphe Chapleau's Condition.

Sir Adolphe Chapleau held his own since daybreak yesterday, but it is well known that the doctors have little hopes of saving the ex-Governor's life.

The young man who starts in business life with a good athletic training back of him will be able to stand more than the man who has not had the same advantage. Nevertheless, if he overworks and neglects his health, he is likely to fall a victim to some fatal malady like his less fortunate brother.

There is only one safe road for a man to tread in the matter of health. That is the road of eternal vigilance. No man, no matter how strong he may be naturally, can with impunity neglect the little ills and indispositions of life. These little disorders are what make the big ones. When a man suffers from headaches and loss of appetite, feels drowsy and dull during waking hours, cannot sleep at night and is nervous and shaky at all times, he is in a dangerous condition. If he long neglects his condition he will find himself a very sick man. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for the many diseases that are caused by an impaired digestion and insufficient and improper nourishment. It creates a hearty, healthy appetite; it makes digestion and assimilation perfect; it invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It is the best of all medicines for nervous disorders and it cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in its earlier stages, before the lungs are too far wasted. For chronic, bronchial, throat and nasal affections it is an unequaled remedy. An honest dealer will not suggest some inferior substitute.

Rev. C. M. Lemond, (P. O. Box 207), Quanah, Hardeman Co., Texas, writes: "I write to say that during the late trouble between the States it became my duty as well as privilege to speak in the open air at night, which produced slight hemorrhages and loss of voice from which I had suffered more or less for a number of years, until that God-send 'Golden Medical Discovery,' given to the world by the inventive and scientific brain of Dr. R. V. Pierce, was obtained. After six bottles had been used the pains and aches in my lungs began to give way, and now I feel that, with a judicious course of life I may live many years. I thank God for giving to the world a man who has done so much for suffering humanity."

A STRANGE QUEST.

"Grigson, the governor wants you in the private office. Cut along!"

Mr. Merrick was not alone. By the side of his table sat a Mr. Bernard, a client of ours who had lately returned from south Africa with a large fortune.

"Take a seat, Grigson," said Mr. Merrick. "Mr. Bernard has something to say to you," he continued, "and in accepting or declining his proposals you must judge for yourself."

I turned to our client. He was a man of about two or three and thirty, tall and muscular, with a face burned almost black by exposure to the African sun. He had come back with upward of a million, and his fortune had been made in a little under five years.

"Would you be willing to leave Mr. Merrick's service and enter mine?" he said, looking me all over with a pair of keen gray eyes.

"That depends upon circumstances," I replied cautiously.

"The matter is a private one," he said briskly. "I should require your services for six months—perhaps longer. The pay is $25 a week, with a $500 bonus at the end. If you succeed in doing what I want, the bonus will be $2,500. Is that satisfactory?"

"Perfectly," I said, trying not to look elated. "What is it you want me to do?"

"I want you to find somebody I have lost sight of. For the next six months I shall be constantly traveling between here and South Africa. In the meantime you will have carte blanche to do what you think right. I shall leave Mr. Merrick instructions to supply you with whatever money you require for expenses in addition to your salary."

"Who is the person you want me to find?" I asked.

"In the first place, the person is a lady," he answered. "In appearance she is of a medium height, with fair hair, blue eyes and about two or three and twenty years of age."

"What is her name, and where am I likely to find her?" I asked.

"I—I don't know," he said.

Mr. Merrick pushed his chair back from the table and began to walk angrily up and down the room.

"But how am I to find her?" I asked. "There are millions of girls answering to your description."

"But there is only one girl that I want to find," said Mr. Bernard, "and she has a small wart on her chin right in the center. You can't mistake her."

"Are those all my instructions," I asked.

"Yes," said Mr. Bernard, with sudden energy and sparkling eyes. "You may think it a mad idea, if you like, my lad, but I am willing to pay for my madness."

Mr. Bernard's object may or may not have been a mad idea, but for me it was a matter of business, and I proceeded to draw up an elaborate scheme of carrying it out.

My first step would be to write a gossipy account of it, without mentioning his name, and to get it inserted, by means of one of the press agencies, in the leading papers all over the world. This sort of thing costs money, but it is not so difficult as might be supposed. There was a touch of romance about it which would commend it readily to the press.

Moreover, it would be easy to interest the police in it, and although it would not be advisable to let them take it in hand officially it would only be necessary to make it known that a handsome reward would be paid to any one who could help us.

I sketched all this out elaborately to let Mr. Bernard see I was thoroughly in earnest about it and called upon him the following morning, as arranged.

"That looks all right, Grigson," he said genially. "If you carry it out vigorously, we ought to find her, wherever she is. And now I suppose you want to know a little more about it? Let me tell you the yarn.

"Before I went to Africa I was in a city office. I got in with a bad lot, and I helped myself to some of their money.

"Luckily for me," he went on, "I was found out and sacked. I began to go straight away to the dogs. In two years I was a ragamuffin, too lazy to do a week's steady work and without any self respect. I was desperate and very nearly starving.

"One winter's morning I was hanging about Euston station, partly for shelter, partly on the chance of picking up an odd job to get a glass of beer. It was there I saw her. She was dressed in black, neatly, but poorly. By her side was a cheap tin traveling trunk. She had evidently arrived by one of the trains from the north and had probably never been in London before, for she looked round her with a bewildered expression and seemed afraid to move.

"At last she spoke to one of the officials, and I overheard the conversation. She had lost her purse in the train and was entirely without funds. The man happened to be a surly dog and not disposed to give any advice.

"Some decent instinct prompted me to come to the rescue, and I offered to carry her box to the address she wanted to reach. Two minutes later we were trotting along the Euston road side by side, I with the box on my shoulder. She seemed glad to have somebody, even a ragamuffin, to talk to and chatted away quite freely concerning her little troubles.

"She was an orphan and had been educated at one of the big charity schools in the north. Now she had obtained a place as governess in a private family and was looking forward with hope and dread to her first situation.

"When we reached the house, I put the box down on the steps and turned to go. 'If you will wait a minute,' she said, coloring a little, 'I will borrow some money.'

"I think I almost forgot I was in rags, for I said: 'Please don't. It's a long time since I had a chance of behaving like a gentleman.' She held out her hand in reply and seemed as if she wanted to say something, but couldn't trust herself.

"I knew what she meant, Grigson," he said emphatically. "She meant, 'Buck up, man! Pull yourself together! Don't go under!' And, by George! I didn't.

"Now perhaps you can understand why I want to find her. She saved me, body and soul, and I'd give half my fortune to know that she was well and happy."

The house to which Mr. Bernard had carried her box had been pulled down and replaced by an enormous draper's shop. With much difficulty I got into communication with the people to whom she had gone as governess, and from them I learned her name, Dorothy Floyd, but they knew nothing of her present address.

But six months passed by before I could get any further. In the meantime Mr. Bernard and I had become fast friends.

I learned that even millionaires have their troubles, and Mr. Bernard had an aggravating one in the shape of a sister-in-law, his brother's widow. In addition to making her a very handsome allowance he was educating her children and made frequent presents, but she was never satisfied. She seemed to be one of those greedy people who would help themselves to all there is and then ask for more. She was constantly hinting that $10,000 a year was not sufficient.

But the search for Miss Floyd was never lost sight of. After all, it was a sheer accident that brought me in contact with her, nothing more original than jumping into a railway carriage where she was. Luckily she and I were the only occupants.

I knew her at once. The tiny wart on her chin, so far from being a disfigurement, lent a curiously piquant and decided expression to her face.

"Miss Floyd, I think?" I said, raising my hat.

She bowed slightly in acquiescence.

"Thank goodness!" I said. "I've been hunting for you all over London—in fact, all over the world."

"Do you represent Mr. Bernard?" she said, with flashing eyes.

"Yes," I replied, wondering how she could know his name, for it had not appeared in any advertisement.

"May I ask what Mr. Bernard wants with me?" she asked haughtily. "These inquiries of his have been an annoyance to me for several months. I don't wish to have anything to do with him."

This was so unexpected that I hardly knew what to say next. However, I reminded her of the day she first came to London and told her how great an effect that chance meeting had had on his life afterward.

"It seems to me," she said, "that I know more about him than you do. Are you aware that he is a married man?"

This was such a surprise that I could only look incredulous.

"Yes," she continued icily; "by one of those queer accidents which even millionaires can't escape I happen to be acquainted with his wife. From her I have learned much concerning him, and I did not think it advisable to communicate. Perhaps after this you will induce him to stop his inquiries."

The train had stopped at a suburban station, and without another word she left the carriage. I, without much difficulty, discovered that she was governess in a young ladies' school in the neighborhood.

Mr. Bernard listened to my news with a frowning face and after a few minutes said:

"Well, I think I know what to do. What is her address, Grigson?"

He had taken out his pocketbook to note it down, but he had not denied that he was a married man.

"I shall not give it," I said firmly.

"Why not?"

"Because I won't place a poor girl who appears to be almost friendless at the mercy of a rich man."

"Very well; I can manage without it."

And, without another word, he left me.

I calculated that the interview had cost me exactly $2,000. I was entitled to a bonus of $500, but if I had placed him in direct communication with her I should have been entitled to $2,500. Nevertheless I don't regret it.

Two days passed without word or sign from Mr. Bernard. On the third day he drove up to my rooms just as I was finishing breakfast.

"First of all," he said, "here is your check. And many thanks for all you have done."

It was made out for the full amount, but I laid it doubtfully on the table.

"Now I suppose you want to know how things stand," he said. "All the trouble we have been put to has been caused by my excellent sister-in-law. Because she was so greedy she couldn't bear to have a rival in my favor. As Miss Floyd told you, by one of those odd accidents that nobody can account for she is slightly acquainted with Mrs. Bernard. She sent for Miss Floyd, spoke of me as her own husband and told her a number of lying tales to the effect that I was no safe friend for a young girl."

"And have you explained all this to Miss Floyd?" I inquired.

"Oh, yes," he said, with a twinkle in his eyes. "And I think she is rather glad to know the truth. What do you think of her, Grigson?"

Three months later Mr. Bernard called upon me to be best man.—London Answers.

Throat lined with Ulcers

A Young Lady Cured of Long Standing Catarrh and Catarrhal Sore Throat by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Miss Anna A. Howey, of Eden, Ont., says that she suffered from Catarrh for ten years, used a number of remedies advertised, but was always disappointed in the result.

Last fall she suffered intense pain in her head and her throat was lined with ulcers. The doctors called it Catarrhal Sore Throat, but did not cure it. She saw that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure was being highly recommended, so procured a box from C. Thomson, druggist, Tilsonburg, Ont., and commenced its use. Soon the ulcers cleared away from her throat, the pain in her head ceased. She says that Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure does not cause distress or sneezing when being used, and is the most effective catarrh remedy she ever tried.

Mr. J. D. Phillips, a Justice of the Peace, declares that he knows Miss Howey and her mother, and can vouch for the truthfulness of her statements.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, sold by all Dealers. Price 25 cents, complete with blower.

APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

McKinley on a Bobtail Horse.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer tells this story: "I remember Webb Hayes once telling me a delicious story about the president's first appearance on horseback. The Hayes boys were younger, of course, than young McKinley, but had that feeling of jealousy that bright boys of 10 or 12 sometimes evidence toward lads barely out of their teens. 'William McKinley had been promoted,' said Webb Hayes, 'and was to make his first appearance on horseback. We boys were with father in West Virginia, and as the young second lieutenant in rather a nervous condition made his first appearance on a rather ridiculous looking nag with a bobbed tail I remember my brother and I getting behind some trees and maliciously yelling, "'Billy McKinley on a bobtail horse.'"'"

She Only "Got Left."

Old ladies from the east who come visiting in Montana do not understand the complicated methods of getting ore, transformed from mountains to silver spoons or something like that, for here is what one of them said.

"And that is silver ore, is it?" said the old lady as she examined a curious looking bit of mineral.

"Yes," said her husband.

"And how do they get the silver out?"

"They smelt it."

"Well, that's queer," she said, applying her nose to the ore. "I smelt it, too, but I didn't get any silver."—Idaho Springs News.

Good Advice.

"My son," said the aged politician, "it is better, especially when you are talking about the enemies in your own party, to use only soft and honeyed words. They are much easier to eat, should occasion arise."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Man of Spunk.

A newspaper man of some celebrity as a disciplinarian was noted about his office for the extreme disorder of his own desk. Though insisting upon methodical habits on the part of his employees, he gave his own pigeonholes a cleaning out and sorting over only once a year, and his regular time for doing this, oddly enough, was Washington's birthday.

It happened one year nevertheless that he forgot to perform this task at the proper time, and a friend who happened in at his office on the morning of Feb. 23 was surprised at finding him surrounded by his usual hopeless litter of letters and papers.

"How does this happen, Mr. ——?" he asked.

"Forgot it," shortly answered the editor.

"Well, you're going to clean things up today, aren't you?"

"No, sir," was the reply. "That job goes over, under the rules, for another year. You don't suppose I am going to set an example of irregularity to the boys, do you? Not much!"

And he cleared away a space on his desk and began writing an editorial on the tariff.—Youth's Companion.

Small Tommy's Wish.

Small Tommy was very fond of candy and asked, "Mamma, can God make anything he wants to?"

"Of course he can," was the reply.

"Well," exclaimed the little fellow, "I'd just like to see him make a stick of candy with only one end to it."—Memphis Scimitar.

A Martyr to Diarrhoea.

Tells of relief from suffering by Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

There are many people martyrs to bowel complaints who would find Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry a wonderful blessing to them. It not only checks the diarrhœa but soothes and heals the inflamed and irritated bowel, so that permanent relief is obtained.

Mrs. Andrew Jackson, Houghton, Ont., sends the following letter: "For the past two or three years I have been a martyr to that dreadful disease diarrhœa. I tried every remedy I heard of and spent a good deal of money trying to get cured but all failed until I happened to read of a lady who was cured by using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I purchased a bottle and commenced taking it according to directions and was cured in a very short time. I cannot praise the remedy too highly for what it did for me."

THE CARE OF POULTRY.

A FEW PRACTICAL HINTS TO THE FARMER.

How to Make Poultry More Profitable—Fertile and Unfertile Eggs. Feeding, etc.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

It is an undisputed fact that there is no department of the live stock of our farmers that is so generally neglected, or managed with so little knowledge of the requirement, as the poultry. We meet farmer after farmer who is not making anything like the profit (if indeed he is reaping any profit at all) out of his poultry that he should make. One of the reasons for this state of things is that we will generally find that a farmer's flock of poultry is made up of birds of all ages from those miserable, worthless and most unprofitable youngsters that are hatched out in stolen nests late in the fall, to the long-since worthless old hen that never lays. No hen should be kept over three winters. I should strongly advise every farmer who finds himself in possession of such of such a flock as I have described to also all hens not through their moult before the 1st of January, and keep only those completely through their moult and in good condition; these, no matter how few they are in proportion to your flock, are the only ones you should keep through the winter. We must set eggs in winter if we are to obtain the greatest return from our fowls, and only early hatched, well matured pullets and yearling hens will furnish us with winter eggs in paying quantities.

I would advise all farmers to have a breeding pen, into which place ten or twelve of your best females and a male of some pure bred variety. By breeding from your best layers you will in a very short time materially increase the laying qualities of your flock. There is no stock on the farm that can be so rapidly improved as the poultry—hens have been bred to increase their egg production from 150 to 250 per year in a few years. It costs but little to obtain these results.

SEPARATE MALES FROM THE FEMALES

after the breeding season is over. Experiments which have been conducted without exception go to prove that hens without males will lay from ten to fifteen per cent. more. Everybody who sells eggs knows that during summer, with all the precautions they know of, they cannot always get perfectly fresh eggs; some of them, in spite of all they can do, will be bad. Our dealers, and those who use our eggs are continually finding bad eggs amongst those laid on the farm. The cause of this is the fertile egg, in which, if 99 degrees or over of heat be applied, life will start. Our midsummer weather often reaches 99 degrees in the shade. How often do you go one night and gather the eggs from a certain nest, and the next night go to the same nest and find a hen sitting on five or six eggs. You know she was not there the previous night, and foolishly thinking the eggs are all right, you place them amongst the others. The fact is that life has started in them, and when they become too cold for that life there is death, and after death follows decay. This is the source of bad eggs. Now, let us look at the infertile eggs. There is no life in them, and all a hen can do by sitting on them is to dry them up. A large portion of an egg is water and this evaporates when subjected to heat or left exposed. Suppose a hen should sit on a nest of these eggs for months she could not make them bad. There could be no decay. When we keep no males in our flocks we will be able to supply our customers with an article that will give satisfaction.

A FEW WORDS ABOUT FEEDING

may not be out of place. For my par believe in feeding three times a day. I would in winter give the morning meal warm, say shorts, chop and bran, mixed pretty dry, and never give a full feed; after you give a small quantity of the soft feed, throw a few handfuls of mixed grain in straw or chaff and keep them working all day. Sloppy feeding and impure, dirty water is often the cause of inflammation of the bowels, cholera, dysentery, diarrhoea and death.

I believe in having your hen house floored; no matter what kind of soil your house is built on you cannot keep it perfectly dry all the year and dampness causes a great many of the diseases which poultry are subject to. Keep from eight to twelve inches of sand and fine gravel on your floor all the time.

Cleanliness is the next very important point to insure certain success.

HAVE EVERYTHING CONVENIENT

so that you can clean the house every day, as you do every other animal's house on the farm. Our greatest mistakes made in keeping poultry is keeping them in too small quarters. No manner of feeding will obtain for you the average return from a flock of crowded hens in winter. They should have from five to six square feet of floor space for each hen.

Keep you hens warmly housed and follow the above instructions, and there is no doubt that you will get eggs in winter. Statistics tell us that the hen brings more money into the country than all the live stock put together. Over three millions annually under the present care! What would she do if she were properly cared for!

HOW BEST TO KEEP VERMIN DOWN.

Fume the house with sulphur and carbolic acid twice a year, also whitewash once a year with strong lime, to which add two tablespoonsful of crude carbolic acid to a pailful of lime; also saturate your perches about twice a month with coal oil and crude carbolic acid. With the above, and the aid of a dust bath, I will guarantee that vermin will not bother you much.

Yours, etc.,

D. C. TREW.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will evidently become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and diseases of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and gives the little sufferer rest.

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

Concerning the Canadian General Electric Company.

The June number of the Canadian Engineer, Metal Trades Journal and Electrical Science Monthly, contains the following items of local interest.

The B. C. Bullion Extracting Co. has made a contract with the Canadian General Electric Co. to supply a 100 horse-power synchronising motor, and a 50 horse-power induction motor for their works, which are about a mile and a half from Rossland, B.C.

J. R. Scott, an enterprising citizen of Napanee, has closed a contract with the Canadian General Electric Co. for a 100 K.W., 4,000-volt three-phase generator of the revolving field type, for the purpose of supplying light and power to Napanee from a water-power eight miles distant. He will also supply light and power to intermediate points such as Napanee Mills, Camden East, and Newburg.

At the annual meeting of the Toronto Smelting Company, Limited, which was held in Canada Life Building, Toronto, recently, James Keadry, M. P., was elected President; J. D. Hay, Toronto, Vice-President; W. A. Hungerford, Belleville, General Manager; F. C. Flannery, Secretary-Treasurer. The company proposes to establish smelting works at Madoc, if satisfactory arrangements can be made; if not, they will establish works at Ducro or Marmora. The company have already made tests at Millbridge and the results have been so satisfactory that it has decided to erect a custom and testing smelter. The company intend to pay special attention to arsenic, as the mispickel ores of this region are especially noted for the production of arsenic.

FROM THE CAMP.

Notes From the Prince of Wales Dragoons' Tents at Belleville.

BRIGADE CAMP, BELLEVILLE,
Sunday, June 12th.

From the Examiner's Special War Correspondent:

This morning the rain came down quite heavily and it was feared that the church parade would be interfered with but at 8 o'clock the sun came out which together with a nice breeze soon dried up the the grounds and roads leading to the churches. At 9.30 the entire brigade moved off in the following order:—Lt.-Col. Montizambert, Commandant; Major Galloway, Brigade Major; 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, Col. H. C. Rogers in command; 15th Battalion, Col. McDonald in command; 40th Battalion, Col. Greer in command, and 46th Battalion. Col. John Hughes in command. The three infantry bands headed their respective battalions and as the brigade moved down to the city they cut a very imposing appearance.

The boys are all nicely down to work and are getting quite accustomed to camp life. A conspicuous feature of the camp is the presence of so many boys who are anxious to undergo the necessary training to defend their country. Boys who a few years ago would be afraid to set off a twenty-fourth of May fire cracker, or shoot off a five cent pistol, are to-day entrusted with the handling of the new Lee-Metford rifle, that dreadful instrument that could bore a hole through a man many miles off.

Here the raw recruit is put through his facings and salutes his officers with all the gesture of Black Rod in the House of Commons, and with language as polite as the most refined Frenchman. Here the "slouchy" young man, who through habit carried a hump on his back, soon has that ornament removed by military training to the other side of the chest, and here also the young man receives his first taste of appreciation for military life, and longs to [illegible] some other place of conflict.

The comical son of Erin who suggested that the Belleville girls had the "scarlet fever" hit the nail on the head, for ever since our arrival in camp the lady visitors have been many and often.

On Friday evening service was conducted on the Dragoon camp grounds by Rev. H. Symonds, assisted by Rev. D. F. Bogart and Rev. Samuel Rodes, of Belleville. Capt. J. A. Woodhouse, of the 46th Batt., acted as organist.

The 15th Batt., under command of Col. Ponton, visited the camp on Friday evening.

When out on parade on Saturday Lt. McDonald's horse, of "D" troop, became unmanageable and threw itself against the shaft of a rig on the street. The shaft penetrated the animal for fully six inches and it was shot on the spot in order to relieve its pain.

We understand the members of the 57th that were down with the 46th have been ordered home.

The camp is well supplied with music, having three bands to entertain it. The 46th is twenty-three strong and I think somewhat the best.

Adjutant Cockburn is quite popular among the men and has his work down fine.

Major Sutton, of the Dragoons, is orderly officer for to-day and Major Greenwood next for duty.

Barney Hunt, of Toronto, is attached as drill instructor.

SPANISH GUERILLAS

Kill One American and Wound Two at Guantanamo.

PLUCKY FIGHT FOR 18 HOURS.

Lieuts. Neville and Shaw Held Their Own Against a Superior Force and Kill Five Spaniards—The Texas Sends 40 Marines and Two Automatic Colt Guns Ashore —War News.

Off United States Camp, Guantanamo Bay, Sunday, June 12, Noon, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 13.—(11.30 a.m.)—When the Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless left Guantanamo Bay early this morning, after the 18-hours' skirmish between the United States marines, under Lieut.-Col. Huntington, and the Spanish Guerillas, it was expected that the fighting would be renewed. The Marblehead was landing reinforcements, and nothing had been heard from the advance pickets, under Lieut. Wendell C. Neville and Lieut. Shaw.

At 9 o'clock the firing was again renewed by the Spaniards, who appeared off the camp on the edge of a small island, about a mile to the northeast. It was promptly returned by thirteen rifles and a field gun, and in a short time all signs of the enemy had disappeared. Col. Huntington sent to the landing for a second 3-inch gun, which was dragged up the hill and placed in a position at the summit. The skirmish lines thrown around the camp kept up a popping all the morning, but with not much result. Meantime the Marblehead left the harbor and threw a few shells into the woods.

To the great delight of the marines in camp Lieutenants Neville and Shaw, with 30 men of Company D, returned in good shape, but much exhausted by 18 hours of picket duty. One man, Sergeant Smith of Company K, had been shot through the abdomen and instantly killed. During most of the day and night, Lieuts. Neville and Shaw had been surrounded by a much superior force, but men and officers behaved splendidly, and although the firing of the Spaniards was constant and heavy, Lieut. Neville's detachment held its own, inflicting much more loss than it sustained. At least five Spaniards are known to have been killed, and as Lieut. Neville's men kept up a steady fire thoughout the night and the enemy was not at a great distance, it is believed that the Spanish casualties were heavy.

The battleship Texas arrived this morning and sent ashore 40 marines and two automatic Colt guns as reinforcements. The Marblehead also sent an additional small detachment.

Private Bartholomew McGowan of Company D will lose his hand, which was shattered by a Mauser bullet. Amputation will be necessary. The Marblehead's pilot, who was shot through the [illegible] going into camp on the harbor this morning, holds the rank of Colonel in the Cuban service.

WILL WELCOME PEACE PROPOSALS

Providing They Do Not Emanate From America.

Brussels, June 14.—The special Madrid correspondent of the Petit Bleu of this city telegraphs an interview, which he claims to have had with Senor Murino, the private secretary of the Spanish Premier, Senor Sagasta, in which the secretary is quoted as having formally declared that the Spanish Government will now accept any peace proposal which is submitted, "on the express condition that it does not emanate from the enemy," but the Premier's secretary is said to have added: "The international mediation which would be welcome upon the part of Spain would be in the case of the initiative being taken by France or Austria."

Germany May Mean Business.

London, June 14.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times remarks the fact that "with four warships already at Cavite and with the Darmstadt on the way with fourteen hundred men, Germany will have a force of 3,000 marines at Manila."

The Singapore correspondent of the Times says: "Letters received here from Manila, dated May 28, say that the prolonged conferences between the German Consul and Captain-General Augusti were exciting attention in Manila, and had led to the belief that Germany had designs on the Sulu Archipelago."

According to a special despatch from Shanghai the German steamer Petrarch is about to leave there for Manila with secret orders, it is believed, from the German Government.

Gen. Pando's Strength.

London, June 14.—The Madrid correspondent of the Standard says: The army corps under General Blanco in Eastern Cuba is composed of four divisions, under Generals Linares, Luque, Aldaze and March, stationed respectively at Santiago, Holguin, Manzanillo and Puerto Principe. General Linares has 8,000 men, who, with the 2,575 under Admiral Cervera, are considered by the Government as sufficient to repel invasion. There is a hopeful feeling here that Germany will interfere in the Philippines.

Canadian Volunteer Killed.

Buffalo, N.Y., June 14. — Herbert Hodgson, a member of the 65th Regiment of volunteers, which left here some weeks ago for the front, was killed near Washington, D.C., yesterday, by being run over by a railroad train. Hodgson was a Canadian, hailing from the vicinity of Hamilton.

DROWNED ON SUNDAY.

Two Popular Picton Boys Have Their Boat Cut in Two on Sunday Afternoon Last.

Picton, Ont., June 14.—On Sunday afternoon the citizens of Picton were thrown into intense excitement by receiving the news that Messrs. Will Gordon, son of John Gordon, liveryman, and Ed. Hooper, son of James Hooper, two of the most popular and best young men of the town, had been drowned near Glen Island.

The young men had intended going to Belleville for the day, but owing to the stormy appearance of the weather, changed their minds and went down the bay instead, accompanied by John O'Neill, jr. Everything went well, and a very enjoyable day was spent at the island and Glenora, and about 8.30 p.m. they started for home. The wind was blowing pretty hard, and it was with some difficulty that they managed their tiny craft. They left Glenora, standing across the bay. Just clearing Glen Island, and when some distance from the head of the island, probably a mile, their little craft was crashed into by a large freight schooner, the H. M. Ballou, commanded by Capt. Smith of Belleville, cutting it in two and dumping the occupants into the water. Mr. O'Neil, who was in the stern sailing their boat, caught hold of the stays on the vessel bows and climbed on deck, and immediately notified the captain, who had not seen their boat or what had happened. In less time than it takes to write it a boat was lowered, and sent to rescue the other two, who were then seen just astern of the schooner, but just before the boat reached them they went down, never to rise again. O'Neil states that they never saw the vessel until she struck them. The captain says he saw the little boat some time before the accident, but thought they were going in another direction, and paid no more attention to it. The captain caused his vessel to be anchored to mark the spot, and grappling parties have been constantly at work, but as yet no trace of the bodies has been found.

Mr. Gordon was 22 years of age, and employed in the shoe department of G. E. Fraser & Sons, and Mr. Hooper, 23 years of age, was with E. W. Case, druggist. Both young men were well and favorably known, and held in the highest esteem by the citizens generally.

Hamilton's Attempted Suicide.

Hamilton, June 14.—The desperate attempt of Henry B. Western, bookkeeper in the Canada Life Insurance Company's offices, to end his life by shooting himself Sunday evening, was almost the sole topic of conversation on the streets, he being a very well-known man. His death was hourly expected all night and yesterday. At noon he became unconscious and was still alive at midnight, though sinking rapidly. Western is about 42 years of age and a good horseman. He was a prominent member of the Hamilton Hunt Club and also of the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE

Have Settled Their Troubles as Civilized Nations Should.

A NEW AFRICAN CONVENTION

That Satisfies the Demands of the Two Nations Interested—What Great Britain Holds and What France Secures—Ninety Years of Reciprocity for the West Coast Colonies.

London, June 14.—The Anglo-French convention, with reference to the disputed territory in the Niger Valley, was signed yesterday. France agrees to evacuate Kissi, Boria, Ahigare, Kiam, Houssa, Gomba and Ilo, but she retains Nikki. Furthermore, on the left bank of the Niger, the French get a triangular piece of territory, whose base extends from Say to Ilo. In return they give Great Britain Bornu, including the portion east of the meridian passing through Barna. On the right bank of the Niger the French got the country from Say to Ilo, and also Gurma. Beyond this they grant 30-year leases of bonded areas at Lisbe and facilities for transit in bond. This is to secure the benefit of the navigable portion of the river.

In return they give 30 years of reciprocity for the whole west coast colonies, from the Liberian frontier to the Niger. With respect to the Gold Coast, the French evacuate Wa and probably Pumu and Leo. In return Great Britain gives up Bonu and Dawkita and accepts the Volta as the best natural boundary. The French retain Mossi, which they have held for 18 months.

England Acquires Territory and Gains a Strategical Point—Jamieson's Raid Officers Reinstated

London, June 14.—In the House of Lords yesterday, the Marquis of Salisbury, replying to the Earl of Camperdown, Liberal, confirmed the reports of the concessions granted to Great Britain in the vicinity of Hong-Kong, which, he said, in addition to giving a slight extension to the colony, also secured strategical surroundings which so far commanded Hong-Kong, that in case of war Great Britain would have been put to certain disadvantages. The concessions, the Premier pointed out, had become imperative in consequence of the events of the last few years. He could not say that any immediate danger was apprehended. In fact, the concessions had been demanded for a long time, but, "recent events made the Chinese Government more sensible to the possibility of unexpected occurrences, and they quite understand and appreciated the solicitude displayed for the maintenance of peace and the commercial interests of Great Britain, which are those of the whole world."

The Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, announced that the officers implicated with Dr. Jameson in the Transvaal raid of Dec. 30, 1895, with the exception of Major Sir John Willoughby and Col. Francis Rhodes, brother of Cecil Rhodes, who are regarded as being responsible for the invasion, will be reinstated in the army on half pay.

Pains in the Feet and Limb—A Complete Cure Accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"For a number of years I was afflicted with acute rheumatism in my left side and all the way down my limb into my foot. I live five blocks from my work and had to stop and rest several times in going and coming. I could get no relief from my trouble and was on the point of giving up my job when I happened to hear of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I purchased a bottle of this medicine and a vial of Hood's Pills and began taking them. Before I had half finished them I was relieved and it was not long before I was completely cured. EDITORIAL NOTES.

FRANCE leads the world in the matter of the size of her national debt. The aggregate debt of Great Britain and all her countless colonies and dependencies is five thousand five hundred and ninety-five millions of dollars. The debt of France is six thousand one hundred and twenty millions. The debt of the United States is now one thousand millions, but will be possibly doubled before the present war is over and peace, or rather, perhaps, the pieces, is arranged.

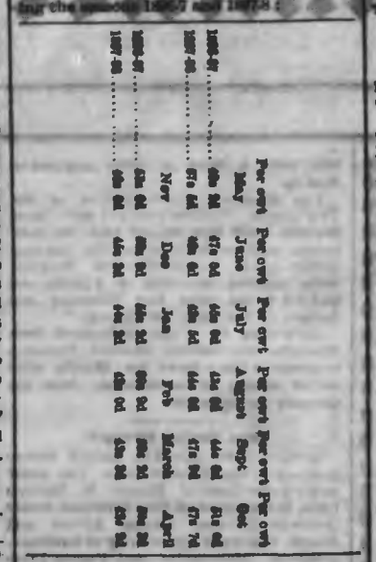
WHILE the Liberal press regards with complacency the splendid record of the Liberal government since it came into power, there is one serious condition for which the Liberal Government is, at least indirectly responsible. That is the resurrection of the Senate. For eighteen years previous to 1896, the Senate was in a state of coma and quiescence, with occasional periods of passive malefaction—compliance with the schemes of its allies, the Conservative Government, but otherwise as torpid and comparatively harmless as a frozen snake. But with the advent of a Liberal Government, the venerable body sprang into active life, and has made the chambers gory with the life blood of the bills it has killed. The Senate should be grateful to a Liberal Government. When its friends are in power it goes to sleep, but when a Liberal Government comes into existence, it is a signal for renewed life and an opportunity for the manifestation of its function—opposition to the efforts of a Liberal Government to give the country progressive administration.

TOBACCO IN CANADA.

Tobacco transplanting is the order of the day in Essex county, according to the Amherstburg Echo. One man has sold over 100,000 plants and was unable to meet the demand for as many more, but he expects to have a million before the season closes. Thomas Ward has put in 6,000, Albert Fox 2,700, Haines & Johnston 5,000, Thos. Brooker 10,000, H. Bailey 1,500, and S. Fraser 30,000 the past week. These, we take it, are all in the township of Colchester and Malden.

CANADIAN DAIRY PRODUCTS.

Canada and the United States contributed in 1897 no less than 82.8 per cent. of the total quantity of cheese imported into the United Kingdom, and 38.8 per cent. of the total consumption! As compared with the United States, Canada's share of the trade amounted to 76,851 tons, against 31,561 tons. The total exports of all countries other than Canada to Britain amounted to 56,811 tons, or in other words the exports from the Dominion exceeded by 33,540 tons the total quantity exported to British markets by other countries and foreign countries. These statistics give Canadians sufficient reason to feel proud of the prominence their country occupies in dairy product markets. But unfortunately this immense transfer of cheese was not followed by corresponding profits to those engaged in the trade. Messrs. Weddel & Co., of 15 St. Helen's Place, London, E.C., have compiled the following table showing the average top prices of Canadian cheddar cheese in London during the months 1897 and 1898:



This table, showing a steady decline from the high prices recorded in the opening month of the season represents serious losses to all engaged in the trade. September cheese sold at the lowest prices on record.

When values fell below a figure that would remunerate makers, the production was still continued, because most Canadian dairymen were solely cheese producers. The market was, to a large extent, subject to control by Canadians in that they were exporting the bulk of the supplies; but few factories, however, were deterred from production on account of the depressed condition of values.

Butter, although not realising at all times top prices, in 1897-98 brought more satisfactory returns. The market was maintained on a steady basis, and Canadian creamery owners and butter forwarders made modest profits, while those in the cheese trade suffered disastrously. The lesson is apparent to everyone. All dairy men should be in a position to alter their plant within reasonably short time to take advantage of the changing markets, and to be able to make milk into either butter or cheese at will. An effort is being put forth to this end, and in 1897 Canada was surpassed by only one colony, Victoria, in the quantities of butter supplied the mother country. But compared with the total quantity of butter imported, Canada's contribution was a mere pittance. The relative standing of our butter and cheese exports to Great Britain to the aggregate exports from all sources is shown by the following comparative lines:

A. ————————————————————
B. ——
C. ————————————————————
D. ————————————————————

A. Total imports of butter into Great Britain.
B. Imports of butter from Canada.
C. Total imports of cheese into Great Britain.
D. Imports of cheese from Canada.

It must not be thought from this showing that there is no room for development in the cheese trade, and that the makers of the Dominion have necessarily reached their maximum output. There was in addition to an importation of 130,100 tons, a domestic make of 147,617 tons of cheese consumed by the British people. But the present opportunity of the dairymen of the Dominion lies in the direction of increasing the output of butter. A prominent London importer of Canadian butter says: "The high quality which much Canadian butter possessed last year, made it a formidable rival to many continental varieties in the British markets, and European butters will find in the near future a severe competitor in the Canadian production. Cheap fertile virgin lands, light taxes and economic means of transit are advantages which Canada possesses in a marked degree over the exhausted soils, high rents and heavy taxes of many European butter-producing countries. Denmark, France, Sweden, Holland and Russia are the principal countries with which Canada must compete for the butter trade. The intelligence of the farmers of this country, it may be presumed, is not less than that of the countries with which Canada must compete for the butter trade. If success is finally to rest with Canadians it can only be attained through the closest relations between the allied industries of cheese and butter making. — Monetary Times.

CURSE OF CANADA.

And the Only Way in Which it Can be Surely Removed.

Dyspepsia is the Curse—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are the Only Cure—They are, Therefore, Canada's Greatest Blessing.

What is the greatest curse of our country?

There can only be one answer to this question. There cannot be a moment's hesitation in answering it.

The answer is "Dyspepsia."

Nine-tenths of the people of Canada suffer from it.

The greatest blessing a country can have is something that will remove the greatest curse.

Therefore Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are Canada's greatest blessing, for they, and they only, can cure Dyspepsia. They, and they only, can remove Canada's greatest curse.

But the claim of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to this title rests on still stronger grounds. Besides being the only medicine known that can cure Dyspepsia, they positively cure its twin evil—Indigestion, also Biliousness, Catarrh of the Stomach, Sour Stomach, and all other diseases caused by imperfect digestion.

The action of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets is simplicity itself. They remove the cause of the trouble. Then the disease must vanish. They digest the food. They must do this. They cannot help doing so, any more than heat can help melting snow.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the same substances that a healthy stomach supplies to digest food. When you swallow a Tablet it melts, and reduces the food to a milky liquid. This passes to other organs, which separate the useless portions from the useful parts.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets stimulate the bowels and enable them to carry off the useless, poisonous matter. Thus, the stomach and bowels working properly together digestion becomes perfect, and Dyspepsia cannot exist.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by all druggists at fifty cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodds Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

SIR ADOLPHE CHAPLEAU DEAD.

The Well-Known French-Canadian Orator and Politician Has Crossed the Bourne—His Career.

Montreal, June 14.—Sir Joseph Adolphe Chapleau died at four minutes to 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The late Sir Joseph Adolphe Chapleau was the son of Amable Pierre Chapleau by his wife Zoe Gigeain. He was born at St. Therese de Blainville, Que., on September 9th, 1840. He was educated at the College there and at St. Hyacinthe. On leaving college he went to Montreal to take up the study of law. In 1861 he was called to the bar and devoted himself to criminal practice. He practiced law in Montreal, and was created Q.C. by the Earl of Dufferin in 1873. At the age of nineteen he entered the political world and appeared frequently on the hustings. His eloquence as a speaker, both in the House and on the platform, was remarkable. His best efforts as an orator were in French. He was a thorough master of the language, and his fluent and forcible diction won for him marked respect. His English, though slightly less effectively than his French, was such as to place him in the front rank of political debaters.

At the union of the provinces in 1867 Mr. Chapleau entered the Quebec Legislature as a member for Terrebonne. He became Solicitor-General in the Ouimet Administration, Feb. 1873, being afterwards made Provincial Secretary under Mr. de Boucherville when the latter was dismissed by Lieut.-Gov. Letellier de St. Just. In 1878 he was chosen leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Quebec Assembly, acting as such until Oct., 1879, when he became Provincial Premier. In July, 1882, he exchanged places with the late Mr. Mousseau, who was the Secretary of State at Ottawa. He continued in the Abbott Ministry after Sir John A. Macdonald's death, being First Secretary of State, and then for a short time Minister of Customs. He was appointed Lieut.-Governor of Quebec, December 7th, 1892.

Deceased served as a Commissioner in 1884 for the purpose of investigating and reporting on the subject of Chinese immigration into Canada. In 1887 His Honor received the Roman Decoration of St. Gregory the Great; in 1883 that of the Legion of Honor of France, and in 1896 was appointed a K.C.M.G. For some years deceased was a member of the Law Faculty of Laval University, from which he held a degree of LL.D., and of whose Council he was a member at the time of his death. Among other positions he was a director of several financial corporations.

In November, 1874, Sir Adolphe married Marie Louise, daughter of Lieut.-Col. Charles King of Sherbrooke, Que.

Result of Kidney and Female Complaints.

Paines' Celery Compound Gives Mrs. Stone a New Life.

She Strongly Recommends the Medicine That Banished Her Troubles.

Paine's Celery Compound the Only True Cure for Kidney Disease.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO.

GENTLEMEN:—For more than twelve years I was afflicted with kidney, female and stomach troubles, and had been attended by five doctors, and tried medicine after medicine, without any good result. My sufferings a year ago from the kidneys and stomach were dreadful. I was in such a state that I could not live, and concluded there was no use trying other medicines. However, I was advised to try Paine's Celery Compound. Before I had finished the first bottle I had improved very much, and after the use of a few more bottles I had not been so well for many years, and am now altogether a different person. The use of Paine's Celery Compound also banished my nervousness. I can therefore recommend Paine's Celery Compound to any one suffering from kidney, female and stomach troubles.

Outdoor Exercise.

Muldoon, the trainer and athlete, advises the same physical exercise for women as for men. "Outdoor exercise," he says, "will preserve their beauty, bring health and improve the temper." He suggests good, long, brisk walks, work with the dumbbells, jumping rope and playing ball. Of course all these exercises must be taken in proper costume, which should consist of loose fitting garments that will not interfere with any part of the body and will allow free action of all the muscles.

Reading at Breakfast.

Reading at breakfast is fatal to sociability. In breakfasting alone it is permissible, but not in company. Leigh Hunt wrote in The Indicator: "When we lived alone, we could not help reading at meals, and it is certainly a delicious thing to resume an entertaining book at a particularly interesting passage with a hot cup of tea at one's elbow and a piece of buttered toast in one's hand. The first look at the page, accompanied by a consistent bite of the toast, comes under the head of intensities." A book at breakfast is no compliment to the cook, but a newspaper is an insult. On the other hand, a newspaper at breakfast is a benefit to the doctor, for it is when one is put off one's guard by the struggle with the foods and the search for items of interest that the way is made easy for the approach of dyspepsia.

The Great Failure of the Late Tory Government.

CARPS AT FINANCE MINISTER.

Gets a Thorough Trouncing Down for His Pains—Speech From the Throne—Legislation Completed—The Governor-General and Commons Make a Presentation to the Countess.

Ottawa, June 14.—When the House met at 11 o'clock yesterday there were only four members on the Conservative side, and the attendance altogether scarcely made a quorum.

Mr. Davin put in a plea for better treatment of the Northwest, after which the supply bill was put through committee.

Mr. Foster said he wanted to make a statement in regard to the bill, as it was the largest that ever was presented to Parliament for its assent. He wanted to deal with the charge of the expenditure of proclamation pledges in reference to the management of the finances of the country by the Government as was shown in the supply bill. In the second place there was a startling disregard of old and salutary methods of administration shown by the Government and of which there were notable examples in the supply bill. Dealing with the pledges of economy, he went on to say that prior to the general election Mr. Charlton had said that the expenditure could be reduced by five millions. Mr. Mills said by four millions. Sir Richard Cartwright by several millions, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier by one, two, or three millions. Mr. Foster proceeded to say that the debt of the country in 1896 was $258,497,432, and on the 30th of June, 1897, it was $261,538,596, and on the 30th of June, 1898, $266,880,596, an increase of four millions over 1897, or making an increase for two years over seven millions. From 1890 to 1897 there was an increase from $20,000,000 in the debt from $237,533,000 to $258,497,000. Again, in reference to taxation, he referred to the customs and excise, and said that the increase was nearly one million greater in 1896-97 than the averages from 1891 to 1896, and for 1896-99 $1,900,000 greater than the average from 1891 to 1896. He said that while the Government reduced taxation on some articles, which made it difficult for the industries affected to exist; on the other articles it was increased so as to affect injuriously the welfare of the poorer classes. There was increased duty on tobacco and on sugar. As to capital expenditure, it was also largely increased. Taking the consolidated fund and capital account with supplementaries for 1898-99 they would amount to $49,778,000, or an increase over 1895-96 of 7,000,000. He went on to show that the Government repudiated its principles in regard to Governor-General's warrants and also to letting contracts by public tenders. In regard to the Drummond County Railway matter, he said that the Senate had saved the country $900,000. He also denied that the new Superannuation bill would save the country anything.

By Mr. Fielding's suggestion, the supply bill was then read a third time and then the Finance Minister was heard. He had only half an hour to speak, but, moving the adjournment of the House, spoke hurriedly.

Mr. Fielding's Answer.

Mr. Fielding briefly said that it was contrary to all precedent to make a speech of this character in Mr. Foster's time on the supply bill, and as he only had one-half hour for him to deal with it his remarks would necessarily be imperfect. [illegible] and that he was going to speak for ten minutes, and instead he talked for over an hour. In 1894 the estimates were $35,[illegible], and the expenditure $38,182,000; in 1895-96 the estimates amounted to $37,344,732, and the expenditure to $36,949,142. The figures for 1896-97 were $40,264,231, and $38,849,759. No comparison could be made with former years without allowing for the saving that always took place. Mr. Foster pointed the expenditure of 1895-96 as the standard of Conservative expenditure, but every year from 1890 showed an increase in the cost of existing affairs. The figures are: 1889-90, $35,994,900; 1890-91, $36,343,000; 1892-94, $37,585,000. Year after year the expenditure was going up by leaps and bounds under Conservative rule, and while there was a temporary check in 1895-96 this was due to the abandonment of works by the late Government which had subsequently to be met by the present Government and by a manipulation of accounts. Mr. Foster had failed to say that his Government had prepared supplementary estimates for that year amounting to $3,631,689, which had been used on the stump and won seats for the Tory party.

Mr. Foster denied that there were any such estimates at all.

Mr. Fielding—Then you must have grossly deceived the country, for they were printed and distributed among the electors. There are hundreds of letters and telegrams referring to them. Ministers and Conservative speakers used them on the platform. The Minister of Finance took up the expenditure of the current year and pointed out that there was $814,000 there for the extension of the Intercolonial and Yukon services, which never appeared in the late Government's estimates. Was it any wonder that the estimates were large when such service had to be provided for? In the coming year the Yukon, the Drummond County, the payment of the Manitoba arrears and the cost of the plebiscite called for $2,-112,151, which the late Administration had not provided for. An increased revenue would be derived from the Yukon and from the Intercolonial by reason of the increased expenditure, and already the Yukon had yielded $707,000. As compared with Mr. Foster's estimates for 1896-97 the estimates for the present year on ordinary services showed a saving of $3,000,000. Mr. Fielding defended the Government for completing the canal system at once; for extending the Intercolonial; for making the Yukon profitable; for making increased expenditures on agricultural and immigration. The country would not blame the Government for liberal expenditure in such directions, but would only ask if the Government had met its responsibilities. If the Government spent large sums it was for purposes which the people would appreciate, and appreciate more as time went on. In an eloquent peroration the Minister of Finance reviewed the beneficent work done by the Government since its accession to office. Under it Canada had had progress and prosperity and if Mr. Foster had patience would have the same good story to repeat for many years.

The House adjourned at 1.15.

THE HOUSE PROROGUED.

His Excellency Lord Aberdeen Delivers His Last Speech From the Throne in the Dominion of Canada.

The third session of the eighth Parliament of Canada is of the past. His Excellency the Earl of Aberdeen, on behalf of Her Majesty, bade the ancient Senate and Political Commons depart for what will be its last time. The function was accompanied by the usual pageant. The crowds gathered about Parliament Hall to see the march of the Governor-General's Foot Guards and the approach of smart equipages heralding the arrival of the distinguished leading actors in the scene.

Contrary to custom, Lord Aberdeen this last time was not punctual. The Houses had been summoned for 3 o'clock, but it was 20 minutes after when Black Rod, by his three solemn taps on the Commons Chamber door, invited them to the Red Chamber to be thanked for the good work they had done and to be dismissed. Arriving there, they found that on the Senatorial benches age and dignity had given place to beauty and fashion. Ladies thronged the galleries, too. The dozen Senators were crowded on the front benches to the Speaker's right. Sir Wilfrid Laurier was the only Commoner inside the bar of the House. Mr. Speaker and 35 others stood outside among a party which also included Premier Hardy. To the right and left of His Excellency's throne stood Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada; Hon. David Mills, Minister of Justice; Hon. R. W. Scott, Secretary of State; Mr. Hewitt, Private Secretary of the Earl of Aberdeen, and Col. Lake, Quartermaster-General; Lieut.-Col. Cotton, Adjutant-General of Artillery; Lieut.-Col. Tilton, Lieut.-Col. White, Lieut.-Col. Bacon, Lieut.-Col. Hughes, M. P., Lieut.-Col. Hodgins, Major Cartwright, Major Sherwood, Major Donaldson, all of His Excellency's military escort.

The Countess of Aberdeen and Lady Marjorie Gordon occupied the benches to the left, and Lady Laurier and Lady Edgar to the right. The exceptionally large number of 127 bills was read by the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, and with the supply bill received his nod of assent.

His Excellency then delivered himself of the following:

Speech From the Throne.

Honorable gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I am glad to be able to relieve you from further attendance in Parliament.

Whilst all the measures which public interest seemed to demand, and to which I invited your consideration at the opening of this session, have not received the concurrence of both Houses of Parliament, I congratulate you on the very important legislation which has been the outcome of your deliberations, particularly the Plebiscite Act and the new Franchise Act, which, it is confidently expected, will work satisfactorily in all parts of the Dominion.

It is a source of [illegible] my term of office [illegible] has been my good fortune to witness [illegible] relations that have grown up between Canada and the neighboring republic, and I look forward with much satisfaction to the great benefits that will flow from a settlement of the many questions that have caused irritation in the past.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I thank you for the liberal provision which you have made for the public service.

Hon. gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I now wish to express the earnest hope that the work of the session may materially advance the prosperity of the country.

I cannot be unmindful of the fact that this is the last occasion on which it will be my privilege to address you from this seat as the representative of the Sovereign. In bidding you a cordial farewell, I have to return my warm acknowledgment of the parting address full of loyalty to the Queen and of kindly good-will to myself, which I am officially informed has been unanimously passed by both Houses of Parliament and which will always constitute a valued token and memorial of my stay amongst you, and in conclusion I desire to express my most hearty good wishes for your personal happiness and for the welfare of the great interests entrusted to you.

The House was then formally declared prorogued until July 25 next, by Sir Charles Pelletier, Speaker of the Senate, who with Sir James D. Edgar, Speaker of the House of Commons, advancing with profuse obeisance, conveyed the expression of the regret of the two Houses at His Excellency's impending departure as contained in the resolutions.

The Governor-General replied in fitting terms.

Presentation to the Countess.

The Assembly then dispersed, but a number of the assistants adjourned to Speaker Pelletier's chambers, where Her Excellency was this time the cynosure. Here she was presented with a beautiful token of regard from the Senate and Commons, in the shape of an historical dinner service, decorated by sixteen selected exhibitors of the Woman's Art Association from Toronto, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Simcoe, Galt, Montreal, Yarmouth and Halifax. The service consisted of seventeen dozen pieces, as follows: Two dozen soup plates, two dozen meat plates, decorated with historical landscape views; two dozen game plates, game birds of Canada; two dozen fish plates, fish, shells and seaweed of Canada; two dozen salad plates, ferns of Canada; two dozen dessert plates, fruit and fruit blossoms; two dozen cheese plates, song birds; three dozen after-dinner coffees, wild flowers of Canada. The presentation was accompanied by the reading of an address.

The Countess of Aberdeen made a feeling reply.

Cubans Insist on Independence.

London, June 14.—A despatch to the Standard from a special correspondent, dated off Cayo Romeno, along the north coast of Puerto Principe, reports a conversation with a representative of the Insurgent Government in Cuba. The latter declared that the insurgents would accept nothing short of absolute independence. He represented that Gen. Maximo Gomez had gone personally to assist the Americans against Santiago de Cuba and that the remainder were massed around Havana which was being wholly defended. The rainy season he said he did not regard as very dangerous for the American troops, provided they fortified themselves with quinine.

Washington, June 14.—The Navy Department to-day posted the following bulletin:—

Mole St. Nicholas, June 13.—Lieut. Blue just returned after a detour of seventy statute miles of observation of the harbour of Santiago de Cuba. He reports the Spanish fleet all there. The Spanish attacked vigourously the camp Guantanamo. An outpost of four marines were killed and their bodies mutilated barbarously. Surgeon Gibbs was killed.

Santiago Not an Easy Prey.

London, June 14—The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: The opinion here is that a land attack upon Santiago de Cuba will prove a much harder operation than is commonly supposed. The country to be traversed presents great natural difficulties. To arrive at Santiago an expedition must cross the range of mountains called Sierra Sobsein, in which there are many positions easily defended by comparatively small forces, especially against an enemy which is sure to be decimated and demoralized by yellow fever and dysentery, for this district at all times is the most unhealthy in the island.

Three Spanish Warships at Manilla.

London, June 14—According to a despatch from Madrid, three Spanish ironclads from Madagascar waters have arrived inside of Manilla, and Admiral Dewey's ships have gone to meet them.

Three rounds were fought with swords, and M. Turet was wounded in each round, twice slightly and once severely in the right fore arm. The dispute arose out of comments upon an act of infanticide by a servant in the Count's household.

COUNTY COURT.

It Opened at One O'clock This Afternoon Before Judge Weller.

The County Court sessions opened to-day before Judge Weller. The Grand Jury, which is composed as follows, has chosen Mr. Geo. A. Smith, of Peterborough, as foreman: Wm. Cowie, Robt. McFadden, R. H. Nesbitt, Peterborough; Wm. Harper, Lakefield; G. W. Mann, Smith; Peter Nicholls, Bensmore; Walter J. Patterson, Ashburnham; W. A. Payne, Dummer; John Quinn, Patrick Ryan, Douro; M. B. Richardson, Norwood.

In addressing the Grand Jury Judge Weller mentioned the fact that the town and county authorities were conferring as to the feasibility of a scheme for the erection of a House of Refuge. The need of one was apparent when it was known that at present two old men of eighty and one of seventy years of age were at present in the gaol for no other reason than that they were poor.

Running over the criminal docket His Honour mentioned first the case of John Walker, charged with the theft of a bicycle. The bicycle, he remarked, had come to stay and was an article which was easily picked up and made away with by anyone wishing to do that sort of thing. In the present instance he understood that a bicycle had been hired and afterwards disposed of. The prisoner therefore came by the article honestly enough, but larceny would be proven if the bicycle was sold or if there was a disposition shown to sell it. The next case was that of Mark Black, charged with perjury. Perjury consisted in an untrue statement made by a man under oath before a proper tribunal. It requires to be more than untrue. It requires to be untrue and known by the man to be untrue when it is made.

The most important case would be that of James McDonald, charged with burglariously entering the post office in Norwood and feloniously entering it. He was also indicted for arson—for having set fire to the place. Another charge would be that of having carried a dangerous explosive. These were all offences, His Honour stated, for which a man is liable to be tried and severely punished, if convicted. The last case on the docket was that of Harry Ross, charged with larceny, being accused of the breaking into the gas register till in W. H. Robertson's office and appropriating the contents to his own use. In referring to the escape of McDonald and Fobes from the gaol, Judge Weller stated that there was no reason to suppose that either Gaoler Nesbitt or Turnkey Rae were in any way responsible for the escape nevertheless it would not be out of place to investigate and inquire into the circumstances under which they had escaped. Every assistance would be given the jury by the sheriff and the gaoler in the matter, and if they saw fit to suggest something by which the safety of the prisoners would be better secured he would see that their suggestions came before the proper authorities.

The case of Halson vs. Drummond, in the Township of Otonabee, was settled between the parties by judgment for the plaintiff in terms of consent.

E. B. Edwards for plaintiff; Deanistoun, Peck & Stevenson for defendants.

In the appeal from the magistrate's judgment in the case of Floddy vs. Conway, an illicit still case, Mr. E. B. Edwards for the appellant stated that he had instructions from the Department of Justice to abandon the case. Mr. D. O'Connell, for the defendant, asked for costs, and Judge Weller reserved his decision as to the amount to be awarded.

Mr. O'Connell, on behalf of McDonald, produced an affidavit from the prisoner stating that owing to deaths and sickness in his family he was unable to get that pecuniary assistance which was necessary to enable him to defend himself, also that he did not know other charges than that of burglary were to be preferred against him and asking for a postponement of his trial until the fall sittings of the court. The affidavit also set forth that witnesses were to be sworn who did not appear at the preliminary investigation, and that as he knew nothing of their evidence he would require time to look into that.

Judge Weller thought if the prisoner had spent his time in looking after his case instead of planning an escape from gaol, he might have known more about the matter. He decided that the burglary case should be proceeded with and delivered giving his opinion until later regarding the other charges.

The civil case of McNeils vs. Scott is now on, Mr. G. J. Sherry, of Norwood, appearing for the plaintiff, and W. A. Stratton for defendant.

THE O'DONNELL ROBBERY.

Mr. O'Donnel's Statement of the Circumstances.

Incorrect reports having been, as he asserts, printed in reference to the robbery of Mr. John O'Donnel, of Bobcaygeon, on June 8th, coupled with insinuations that he could not have had the amount of money stated, Mr. O'Donnel makes the statement: That he is an extensive jobber in timber in this section of the country, and that he was on June 8th held up by a masked man, who put a revolver under his nose and relieved him of all his cash; that the affair happened about 9 p m. on the road between Bridgenorth and Selwyn and that he had just settled up for last winter's work with Messrs. the Bastian Company, Carew, Kelly and Brumwell, and can prove that he had in his possession about $800. Mr. O'Donnell states that he has no clue to the identity of the robber or any suspicion of who he is. He hereby offers a reward of $50 for the recovery, or a proportionate reward for any part, of the money taken from him. Mr. O'Donnell has been doing a large jobbing business in Bobcaygeon, and has distributed $3,000 or $4,000 a season in the village. He claims that he always has paid his men, and his loss is, he says, a serious one. It will be unfortunate if he is unable to continue his business.

FROM THE CAMP.

Notes From the Prince of Wales Dragoons' Tents at Belleville.

BRIGADE CAMP, BELLEVILLE,
Monday, June 13th

One of the troopers of the Dragoons received a bad kick on the thigh to-day from one of the horses while at drill. He was removed to the field hospital in a cab.

Belleville young ladies have the military fever. Buttons, badges and crests are are largely worn and broom brigade camps and parades may soon be expected.

The daily rations for the horses of the Dragoons consist of ten pounds of oats, eight pounds of straw, twelve pounds of hay. Instead of the straw they may have an additional three pounds of hay and in lieu of oats they may have fourteen pounds of bran.

Q M. Capt. Stapleton. 3rd P.W.C.D, was caught napping yesterday. For the first time in his two years of service as quartermaster he appeared at the supply tent for his men's rations, but did not have his requisition.

Several ladies were at luncheon at the camp on Friday and thereby hangs a tale. It is said that they complimented Col. Rogers on the appearance of himself and men and suggested that he make Front street his line of march to the drill ground. Result: A morning parade of the colonel and his rough riders by Front street.

Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons consists of four squadrons, lettered respectively in the order of the formation, A, B C and D.

"A" squadron, formerly of the Northumberland Troop of Cavalry, was formed so long ago as 1859 or thereabouts. It was commanded during the rebellion of 1867 by the father of Lieut.-Col. Rogers, now in command of the regiment. It is at present under Capt. Brown, of Colborne. In 1852 "B" squadron was formed at Port Hope, but its headquarters are now at Millbrook and Capt. Sutton is in command.

Next come "C" and "D" squadrons, Capt. Johnson and McCullough, which were both formed in the same year, 1872. Col. Rogers raised "C" and Major White "D", both of these officers being majors of infantry. The headquarters are at Peterborough and Wellington, Prince Edward County, respectively. "D" squadron's headquarters were formerly at Picton.

Lieut.-Col. Rogers, in command of the regiment, has served in the militia since the year 1855. In 1866 he was in command of a company of rifles engaged in active service in the Fenian raids. In 1873 he raised "C" squadron, having at that time the rank of Major in the infantry, and in 1877 he was promoted to the rank of Brevet Lieut.-Col., thus being one of the oldest colonels in the Province. In 1895, on the retirement of Lieut.-Col. Boulton, the headquarters of the regiment were removed from Cobourg to Peterborough and Lieut.-Col. Rogers became the commanding officer.

Col. Rogers is of a very old military stock. His great-grandfather was Major Robert Rogers, of Rogers' Rangers, who were engaged in active service in the French war. Major Rogers commanded the first military expedition through the lakes, when he overtook the French posts on the termination of the war. Lieut.-Col. Robert Rogers, late commandant of the 40th regiment, is a brother, and Lieut.-Col. James Z. Rogers, formerly of the 57th regiment, is a cousin of Lieut.-Col. Rogers.

Lieut.-Col. Boulton, who is well known in Belleville, was the first commander of the Prince of Wales Dragoons, when in 1875 the different troops were organised into a regiment. Col. Boulton is one of the most distinguished officers Canada has ever produced. He entered the Queen's Own at Toronto in 1837 as a captain and saw active service in the Fenian raid. He received his commission as Lieut.-Col. in 1857 and at his retirement was the senior volunteer officer in the Dominion. At that time Major-General Herbert, in communicating with Col. Boulton, said: "I, with my own hand, convey to you my appreciation of your valuable services. Though parting from your regiment must no doubt be a trial, it will, I am sure, be a source of satisfaction to you to realise that in the course of your long service you have not only retained the personal friendship and interest which were first awakened in H.R.H. the Prince of Wales by the manner in which you performed your duty, but you have succeeded in winning the regard of all the Imperial officers who have held command in Canada, as well as the respect of your subordinates."

WEDDING AT POPLAR POINT.

Nuptials of Miss Jennie Jewison, Formerly of Monaghan, and Mr. Cunningham.

A very pretty and interesting event occurred at the residence of Mr. James Jewison, Poplar Point, Manitoba, formerly of Monaghan, on June 1st, it being the marriage of his second daughter, Lucinda, to Mr. A. G. Cunningham, merchant of Popular Point.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Gosling, of High Bluff, assisted by Rev. Mr. Beveridge, brother-in-law of the groom, and Rev. Mr. Spears, of Poplar Point, in the presence of about eighty guests.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white cashmere with garniture of white chiffon, lace, ribbon and pearl trimming. The bridesmaids were Miss Stella, sister, and Miss Amy Ritchie, cousin of the bride. The bride was given away by her father and the groom was assisted by Mr. G. Sanborn and Mr. M. Jewison.

The presents were numerous and costly, showing the respect and esteem in which the young couple are held in the vicinity. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast, at the conclusion of which they proceeded to the station and entered the train amidst showers of rice. They went east to Rat Portage and other points for a trip.

They will be accompanied all the way by Miss Annie McKenzie, who leaves on the same train. Dr. Hardie will meet the party in Yokohama.

THE CROWDS WERE UNPRECEDENTED

That Were Attracted by Godfrey's Famous Band, and the Reason is Evident.

Every place in Canada that Lieut. Dan Godfrey and his famous band of British Guardsmen, who are here on the 27th have gone they have been listened to by large crowds that were unprecedented for numbers. In Belleville, in Cobourg, in Guelph, places not as large Peterborough, the audiences numbered thousands. This was because the band is known to be the greatest musical organisation in the world, composed of men who played at the royal functions and who are led by the most distinguished bandmaster in England—yes, probably in the world. An opportunity of hearing such a band, of enjoying such music, will only come to the majority of us once in a lifetime and this is why the people have flocked to take advantage of it.

In Peterborough there will undoubtedly be the same eagerness to hear such a famous organization. The arrangements will be of the most complete character, the concert to take place in the Charlotte street rink, when every means will be adopted so as to hear the music under the best conditions. The people of the town and country should remember the date, Monday, June 27th, and give Lieut. Godfrey and his men a royal reception.

Don't forget the Lacrosse Excursion to Orillia on Thursday next. Tickets $1.00; children 50 cents.

—A large attendance of Y.M.C.A. members is looked for at the members' quarterly meeting to be held in the Bible class room at 8 o'clock to-night. Important business is to be transacted.

—The Council's appropriation of $250 to the Band has been set aside by the members, for distribution among them, the leader to get a double share instead of the whole amount as heretofore.

—The bombardment of Cuba don't begin to raise any such talk in town as the bombardment of boss-prices at Geo. Ball's ladies' and gentlemen's tailoring parlours, 413½ George street. Those $10 suits, made to order, are levelling prices and demoralising high-renters.

—A large attendance is hoped for at the annual Strawberry Festival of the W. A. and K. D. on Thursday evening in St. John's grounds. The object is to help the charities in connection with these two excellent societies, and not for the Sunday school building fund, as announced by mistake on Sunday.

NORTH HARVEY.

From a Correspondent.

On Friday, June 3rd, Jas. Oliver was very much shocked by the receipt of a telegram announcing the death of his brother John, youngest son of the late Geo. Oliver. He left here about three years ago for the benefit of his health and went to reside in Prescott, Arizona, with his uncle, Hon. A. G. Oliver. The deceased gentleman was a favourite with all who knew him and his death at the early age of twenty-four is a source of general regret. He leaves two brothers, one sister and five cousins to mourn his great loss. They have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.—A FRIEND.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion. You need not expect a clear, beautiful complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for their action on the liver and blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

WOMAN.

THE HEALTH OF A NATION DEPENDS ON THE HEALTH OF ITS WOMEN.

22 POUNDS GAINED.

I had been a sufferer like a great many other women with all those peculiar to my sex. I tried every thing I could read or think about to help me, but was growing worse instead of better. My condition was terrible—I was losing flesh and color, and my friends were alarmed. I consulted a doctor of this town and he said I would never get better; that I would always be sickly and delicate, and that medicines were of little use to me. Hearing what Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills had done for others I determined to try them myself, and to-day I weigh one hundred and forty pounds, while before I weighed only one hundred and eighteen pounds, and I now have a constitution that is hard to beat. I have not suffered any pain in months, and earnestly hope that Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills will reach every woman suffering as I did.

Sincerely yours,

TERRIBLE RAILWAY SMASH.

Four Trainmen Killed and Two Injured at Russell, Ont.

Russell, June 13.—Four men were instantly killed and two injured Friday evening in a railway accident on the Ottawa & New York Railway, at Embrum, four miles distant from this place, by the derailing of a gravel train. The victims are W. Greenless, conductor, Detroit, Mich.; F. Chrysler, fireman, of Chrysler, Ont.; Rombough, laborer, Newington, Ont; and Brown, laborer, Newington, Ont.

Shortly after six o'clock the construction train, in charge of Conductor Greenless and Engineer Murray, was approaching Embrum station, traveling at a moderate speed. Immediately after crossing the Castor River bridge, the train ran into an open switch leading to a temporary siding, with the result that the locomotive and ten cars loaded with gravel were piled in one mass of destruction, crushing out at least four lives beneath them. Twelve other cars loaded with gravel, composing the train, remained on the track. The remains of Fireman Chrysler will be buried on Monday afternoon with Masonic honors. It is believed boys opened the switch, causing the accident.

A MONTREAL LADY'S EXPERIENCE.

She Wants all Who Suffer from Backache, Swelling of the Limbs, Dizziness and Headache to know DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS are the Remedy.

Mrs. Catherine Burton, 32 Alexander Street, Montreal, Que., says: "I was very much troubled for years with [illegible] over the Kidneys, and backache, dizziness and poor appetite also afflicted me. My limbs used to swell, and the back of my shoulders also swelled up. There was a mist before my eyes, so much so that I could hardly see at times. I was in a miserable state of health generally, and so much run down that I thought I was going to die. All the medicines I took, and they were not a few, failed to give me relief. The doctors also seemed unable to cure me.

"However, on trying Doan's Kidney Pills, relief came to me at once. I improved from the first few doses, and am now thankful to say that I am better than I have been for years. I eat well, sleep well, the swellings having disappeared, and I can state with great happiness that I feel splendid, thanks to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists at 50c. a box, or 3 for $1.25. The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

The Deal Was Off.

We believe that they will give you every satisfaction and trust that you will recommend them to your friends. Kindly send the amount, 6 marks ($1.45), by postoffice order."

The professor replied: "I have the honor to remit to you 12 dissertations, which will no doubt afford you the greatest satisfaction. Choose you will for more I am at your command. The cost is 6 marks each."

By return of post came the reply: "Be good enough to return the cigars. We send herewith the cost of carriage and package. We are returning your dissertations."

A FAMOUS DUEL.

The Fatal Meeting Between Two of America's Most Noted Naval Heroes.

On March 22, 1820, was fought one of the most memorable duels in the annals of the United States. Commodore Decatur and Commodore Barron met on the fatal field near Bladensburg that day. Both participants were wounded, Decatur mortally, dying within a few hours after the encounter. The causes which led to the ill feeling between these two naval heroes have never been accurately determined, but it is generally supposed that Decatur's harsh criticism of Barron on account of the latter not returning home abroad to take part in the war brought about the breach. Certain it is that Decatur's words were repeated to Barron, and a correspondence between the two ensued, which probably resulted in the challenge. The impending duel was kept a profound secret. Only a few of the most intimate friends of the respective participants had even an inkling of it. Decatur was the first to arrive upon the scene. He was accompanied by Commodores Rodgers and Porter and several other friends. Barron arrived a few minutes later. The combatants bowed stiffly to each other and stood waiting for their friends to measure off the ground and make the final arrangements.

"I hope, sir," said Barron as they took their places, "that when we meet in another world we shall be better friends than we have been in this."

Decatur is said to have haughtily regarded his adversary a moment and then replied:

"Sir, I have never been your enemy."

A moment later the word was given and two shots rang out simultaneously. Barron fell almost immediately. Decatur straightened himself, but the pistol fell from his grasp and in a moment he was upon the greensward, writhing in agony. He was raised by his friends and carried nearer the road, where Barron was lying.

"I wish I had fallen in the service of my country," Decatur muttered. Whereupon Barron looked up.

"Everything has been conducted most honorably," he said.

Then, turning his eyes upon Decatur:

"I am mortally wounded. Commodore Decatur, I forgive you from the bottom of my heart."

As Decatur was being lifted into a carriage Bainbridge, whom Decatur had once rescued from a Moorish prison, stooped down and kissed his cheek.

With his head upon Rodgers' shoulder, and in company with a physician, Decatur was driven slowly back to the city and carried into his residence on Lafayette square, where he died a few hours afterward.

The news of the duel spread like wildfire through the city. The following day John Randolph offered conciliatory resolutions in congress, which, however, were promptly objected to, and the press rigorously denounced the practice of dueling.

Barron ultimately recovered from his injury, but it is said the memory of the fatal duel darkened his life ever afterward. He lived until the year 1851 and had charge of several vessels. At his own request he was court martialed upon the charges made against him by Decatur and exonerated.—Washington Star.

When the London Cab Horse Falls.

When a horse and cab come to grief in London, four or five men are certain to appear and to take an enormous amount of trouble to help the cabman out of his difficulties. Some one is instantly found offering to sit on the horse's head, and when the right moment comes three or four more will seize the body of the hansom and heave it up quite regardless of the trouble and labor. They get nothing whatever, as a rule, for doing this and will quite as readily do it for a cabman whose cab was empty at the time of the accident as for one who had a fare who might possibly "stand drinks." As soon as the horse is up and started again the men who have put themselves to very considerable trouble and run some risk of getting a hand or a foot crushed disappear without even waiting to be thanked. They regard it at the right and natural thing to help a man out of a "tight place."

On the continent no such obligation to help seems to be felt by the crowd. They stand by and either stare with stupid eyes or else make sarcastic remarks. The present writer remembers seeing an accident to a Paris cab when no assistance whatever was offered to the cabman by the bystanders. There were plenty of jeers, however, and when the horse in his struggles finally sat down on his haunches, after the manner of Mr. Briggs' horse in Leech's immortal picture, the wag of the party suggested with great gusto that the horse was "un cheval d'Hippodrome" and was no doubt about to perform.—Spectator.

A Shaving Experience.

During a trip through Ireland, a New Yorker one day found himself without his razors, which were in a hand bag he had left behind at the hotel where he had stopped the day before. He accordingly told the landlord to send him a barber. The landlord was doubtful if there was a man in the village who could serve him, but presently sent up a man who expressed his willingness to undertake the job. The New Yorker decided to risk a gash or two.

"Well, sir," said the amateur barber after a little hesitation, "will you please to lie down flat on your back while I shave you, sir?"

Thinking it was probably a custom of the country, the New Yorker stretched out comfortably on his back and nearly went asleep while the fellow shaved him, so light was his touch. When he had finished, the New Yorker arose and said, "I am curious to know why you asked me to lie down to be shaved."

"Because, sir," was his ingenious reply, "I never before shaved a live man, sir."—Argonaut.

A TORONTO CONVICTION

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 81 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

NOTES OF THE WAR.

Paragraphs About the Spanish-American War That Keeps One in Touch With Latest Events.

Word comes from Vienna that Spain earnestly desires peace.

Philippine insurgents are reported to have attacked Manila on Saturday.

General Merritt has now 16,000 troops in sight for the Philippines and wants 20,000.

Spanish reports say regarding Friday's bombardment of Santiago that the attempt to land U.S. troops failed.

Lieut. Hobson and his fellow heroes of the Merrimac are reported well and being well treated.

The auxiliary cruiser St. Louis captured a Spanish merchant ship outside the harbor of Kingston, Jamaica, on Saturday.

The London Times correspondent at Manila thinks peace has been brought nearer by recent events in the Philippines.

The arsenal at Ferrol, Spain, is very active, and men in the dockyards are working day and night.

Twenty thousand Spanish soldiers are in the town of Santiago, and a desperate resistance to the landing of American troops is expected.

U. S. warships Vixen and Suwanee landed 200,000 rounds of ammunition, 500 rifles and 2,000 machetes on the Cuban coast near Santiago.

It is said that the delay in sending troops forward from Tampa is because peace negotiations are farther advanced than the public is aware.

If something has not happened to prevent it, Gen. Shafter sailed from Key West Sunday night with the first division of the U.S. army for Santiago to besiege and capture the town. Thirty transports, with about 16 convoying warships comprise the expedition.

NEW YORK AND OTTAWA R. R.

Proposal to Double Capital Stock to Be Considered at Albany.

Albany, N.Y., June 13.—The State Board of Railway Commissioners has been requested to grant authority to the New York & Ottawa Railway Company to increase its capital stock from $1,480,000 to $3,000,000, and a hearing will be given on the company's application at Syracuse on June 21. The railroad was formed last October by a merging of the Northern New York Railroad and the New York & Ottawa line, and it extends from Tupper Lake through the Northern Adirondacks to the St. Lawrence River. This increase in its capital is desired in order to enable it to acquire the stock of the Ottawa & New York Railway Company of Canada and of the Cornwall Bridge Company. When these corporations are absorbed, it will form a line through to Ottawa, shorter by about 57 miles than the present route from New York.

Moonlight on the sea. There are pictures and dreams and castles in the air for the woman who sits and looks out over it. Pictures of a happy home, dreams of a manly husband, beautiful castles to be built by the willing hands of mutual helpfulness and filled with healthy, happy children.

Almost without exception these dreams might become realities if mothers would only teach their daughters the most common sense facts about their own physical make-up, and advise them how to protect themselves from the perils of the three critical periods of their lives—puberty or maturity, motherhood and the return of life." Women suffer more from irregularities which, neglected, will [illegible] ous diseases and make [illegible] stretched.

The delicate organs that make wifehood and motherhood possible, cannot be neglected with impunity. If they are neglected the result is unhappy wifehood, and motherhood will be a menace of death. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is an unfailing specific for all diseases of these organs. It restores them to perfect health. It promotes perfection of their special functions. It makes wifehood and motherhood. It tones, invigorates and builds up the nerves that have been shattered by pain and suffering.

"For years my wife suffered from what the doctors called prolapsus of the uterus," writes Mr. Henry Chase, of 215 Haskell street, Dallas, Texas. "She [illegible] had cold hands and feet, palpitation, headache, backache, constipation, a disagreeable drain, bearing-down pains and no appetite. She got so weak she could not get around. I am only a laborer, and was already in debt to the doctors, and all for no good, as none of them did her any good. She began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it seemed to work like a charm. She has taken about thirteen bottles and is to-day as stout healthy as any woman in the United Sta[illegible]"

NEGRO HOUSEWIVES.

THEIR THRIFT AND INGENUITY UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Only Excellent Housewives Could Make the Little They Have Go So Far—Patient and Industrious—Clean and Tidy Notwithstanding Their Poverty.

The most notable economists in this country today are the negro women down south, the field workers who keep house against odds, yet achieve creditable results. "I couldn't git hold of no 'lasses nothin to put up peaches in dis year, but I'se got pretty near a bushel of cut apple an peach dry an stew 'em in hogs'," a cabin housewife will tell you.

"Them hams an sides up there?" she goes on. "All both gits is fryin de shotes what I raise on home victuals an leavin's. Day never turn out no lard worth countin, but de meat is sweet."

Another time she will show you her quilts, six or seven of them folded away neatly, one apiece for each of the children, as she says. "When do you do your sewing?" you ask her.

"Mostly in de night time, when de chillen is out de way an de mens is [illegible] or gone huntin."

"But you have no lamp?"

"No, but I keeps a good fire an de splinters an [illegible] knots [illegible] makes a good light to see by. Dere, when I does half [illegible] I work [illegible] de house in de afternoon, [illegible] washin to do [illegible] an one t'ing an anudder. Den, if I has new cloth, I makes breeches or frock, one. Dere's always sewin waitin."

"How do you manage about the cooking when you are so busy in the field?" she is asked.

"I mostly makes de chillen a stirabout or some bread 'fore I start out in de mornin, an every night 'fore I lay down I slip some taters in de ashes to dere slow for dem. Den I gen'ally don't cook no more till I come out de field at sundown. When I git chance, I does make cake an sweetened bread if eggs is plenty."

"But you sell your eggs?"

"Yes. Dey mostly goes for sewin thread, sometimes for a little sugar an coffee or maybe kerosene. I always keeps a bottle of kerosene handy, 'cause it so good to drink for misery in de head or to rub with when your j'ints is painful.

"I does make sharp money out of my butter, too, when de cow ain't gone dry," she adds.

The average negro farmer who plants his little one horse or two horse acreage that he rents barely makes enough income to keep body and soul together. In the [illegible] he owns the equivalent of [illegible] a day. His wife, according to her interpretation, has to "turn swift" in order to make things hold out. She buys as little as possible and makes [illegible] do. [illegible] Even [illegible] is evidenced by the "going dry."

"If we could make out to git flock a mash of cooked peas night an mornin, we would have eggs [illegible] de year," [illegible] "but we can't do [illegible] an' neider, an in de winter de grass what's growin in spare lan' ain't much. You see we got de mule to feed too." Thus she tells of her simple needs. The negro housewife's broom is made of broom straw gathered from the fields and bound securely with strips of homespun. The scrubbing brush, that plays an important part in the weekly cleaning up, is made of shucks from the cornhouse, pegged into a piece of board with sliding handle to it. By cutting off the necks of the gourds that grow with yellow [illegible] eaten, large bowls are made, [illegible] anything [illegible] needs be kept over in the wooden cupboard. For cooking conveniences there are only the crane in the open chimney place and the heavy lidded oven, skillet and big mouthed pots, which are lifted about, no matter how hot or how full they may be, by a bent poker or stout, knotted stick.

The mistress of the cabin does her half acre [illegible] daily. She [illegible] department of field work, from getting the grand early [illegible] in the spring to the harvesting in autumn. Many of these women plow as well. They have little side crops of rice or cotton. Nearly all have young children.

A good many negroes are shiftless and irresponsible; some are dirty, but a majority of the wives and mothers on the plantations are ambitious and make a brave effort to put the best foot foremost and keep things shipshape. They rival each other at [illegible] turkeys and chickens and [illegible] miles to [illegible] up [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

CHURCH UNITY PROBLEM.

REV. HERBERT SYMONDS SPEAKS ON THE SUBJECT.

He Reviews the Subject very Fully—Advantages Pointed Out, Obstacles Considered, and Suggestions Made—Doctrine of Apostolic Succession the Only Serious Obstacle—Hopes Expressed that Differences on that Point Will yet be Reconciled.

Stratford Beacon.

The regular semi-annual meeting of the Rural Diseonal Chapter of Perth was held in the Mitchell Town Hall for the discussion of the subject of "Organic Union of Christendom."

Rev. Rural Dean Deacon occupied the chair, and explained the object of the meeting, expressing regret that several gentlemen were unavoidably absent who had been expected to be present to take part in the discussions, and delivered a very able address on the history of the church.

The Rev. Herbert Symonds was then introduced, who, on coming forward, was received with applause. After expressing pleasure at being privileged to address a meeting in this part of the country, he stated that the proposition he had chosen to discuss differed somewhat from that announced in the programme. He proposed to discuss "The Problem of Church Unity," instead of "Organic Union of the Church." The reverend gentleman is a most fluent speaker and has the advantage of an impressive presence and a free, clear and distinct articulation. The following is an imperfect synopsis of his address, which merits the careful attention and consideration of all Christians: He said the object of Christian Unity was one which had occupied the attention of all the principal Christian communities during the last half of the nineteenth century. The Pope has put forth an encyclical, the Lambeth Conference of Bishops of the Anglican communion, at more than one of its meetings, has given the subject careful attention, church conferences frequently discuss it, not a few societies exist for its promotion, and, whereas only a few years ago the general public and secular press regarded the idea as an amiable fad, to-day it is widely admitted that Christian unity has become or will shortly become a question of practical church politics. Nevertheless, grave difficulties still stand in the way of the consummation of unity. With a general agreement that it is desirable there is a wide divergence of opinion as to what Christian unity is. The Pope, Lord Halifax and Hugh Price Hughes have widely different views as to the principles of unity. Submission is the Papal demand; acceptance of the apostolical succession is the key note of High Anglicanism; federation upon a footing of equality as we stand is Price Hughes' proposal. These are very serious differences and make of Christian unity a problem. No direct attempt will be made at the solution of this problem at the present time, but rather a statement of the agreement in favour of Christian unity, the indication of one or two principles which may aid ono to see that the problem is not altogether insoluble, and the suggestion of some practical steps toward the realization of unity.

By Christian unity Mr. Symonds did not understand uniformity. He did not believe we should ever see uniformity, nor did he believe it to be desirable. The whole question of unity is conditioned by the fact of education and of liberty.

Mr. Symonds went on to argue that the criticism of the present age, instead of being a disintegrating process, was really the necessary prelude to the reconstruction of such elements as pass unscathed through this fiery process, into a unity that shall be vastly more beneficient and more inspiring than anything that had preceded it. This was illustrated by reference to the changes that have taken place in the worlds of philosophy and science, and by reference to human nature as revealed in history's pages.

In the course of a very able philosophic discussion of the origin of society, Mr. Symonds emphasized the individualistic tendencies of Christ's teaching. In the Gospel love is exalted to the place of preeminence. The love of man is declared to be a twin communicant of the love of God. The new commandment of Christ is that ye love one another, and that with the love that characterized Christ. The characteristic virtues of Christ are social virtues—self-denial humility, meekness, long, suffering, forgiveness—virtues which are but forms of love.

Coming to the practical application of the truths before advanced, Mr. Symonds declared that in his opinion the time was ripe for a fresh study of the main divisions that, taking their commencement in the troublesome times of the Reformation, have become stereotyped into strong, growing and influential denominations. Confining himself to the English divisions, he began by quoting the language of a high churchman, Canon Gore, who says: "If you dwell under the rise and progress of Nonconformity, there can be no question at all—it is in fact hardly questioned—that it was due in the past, not to any spirit of schism, but, at least in the great majority of instances, to the fact that the Anglican Church was not behaving as the true mother of the people." Now when we look at this question, not from the merely theoretical, lecture-room point of view, but from the practical and human, when we call to mind how imperative are the religious needs of the human spirit, then I think we have already a justification of division. At all events if sin there be, the sin rests largely upon our own shoulders. Therefore all talk of schismatics, in an obnoxious sense, is not only uncharitable but historically inaccurate. We are the schismatics, at least according to Canon Gore.

Another consideration arising out of the study of English history was indicated. From the time of Charles I to the present reign, the English statute books have received many laws whose tendencies have been the gradual extension of religious liberty and religious equality to all the people. No one of us would vote for the repeal of any of those acts to day, yet we must candidly confess that the Church of England did to a greater or less extent oppose them one and all. Among these the repeal of the Test Act was mentioned. Now that it is seen that these acts were necessary and righteous, surely that should affect at least the mental attitude toward those who in England are styled Nonconformists. When we see how the great political parties of England are very largely composed, the one of the Church of England, and the other of the Nonconformists, Mr. Symonds thought the fact must be recognized that English divisions are by no manner of means the fruit of eccentricity in doctrine or wanton perversity, but that they have their roots in certain strong national differences, and that commonly speaking these religious differences were necessary, and on the whole in the past have been beneficial. In this connection Mr. Symonds recommended an impartial study of the religious history, closely interwoven with the political, of England since the time of Charles I.

Mr. Symonds went on to enumerate the obstacles in the way of Christian unity:

1. The failure to perceive its need. There are countless thousands who in a general way believe that some sort of unity would be good, but are yet very fairly contented with things as they are. They like to hear of unity, general expressions of kindly feeling are appreciated, but so soon as we speak of action, they are appalled by the obstacles and the dangers that are in the way. The evils of division are most appreciable in the foreign mission field, and in the small country villages where struggling churches only live at all on the spirit of rivalry, and where true religion suffers grevious wounds in the house of her friends.

2. The failure to agree upon the essentials of Christianity. Before referring to the steepest of those obstacles Mr. Symonds pointed out that some of them are entirely or almost ensirely removed. The Anglican Church has put forth terms of communion, the liberality of which he thought had been scarcely appreciated by the brethren of other churches. The so-called Chicago-Lambeth Quadrilateral says nothing about the Thirty-nine Articles, or even the Book of Common Prayer. In connection with the sacraments it only stipulates that they shall be administered with the words of Christ's institution. On the other hand, they do not ask of their Presbyterian or Methodist brethren to give up anything. No question is raised with regard to the wearing of any particular robe, or whether the communicant receive the Lord's Supper standing or kneeling. The Methodist is not asked to give up or modify his class meetings or his revivals. Christian organization may be said to consist of three parts—Doctrine, Worship and Government. Of these the Anglican church is prepared, not to give up her own doctrine and worship, but to hold fullest communion with others without imposing any of its details upon others. Mr. Symonds repeated he did not think his separated brethren have quite done justice to the liberality and obvious sincerity which charecterizes these terms of unity.

About one term of Christian unity, however, there was indeed grave difference of opinion. He referred to that commonly called the doctrine of Apostolical Succession. True it is that the Quadilateral in laying down the historic episcopate, imposes no theory of apostolic succession, but this is none the less the real point at issue. On the one hand, a very large proportion of the Anglican clergy throughout the world regard with the utmost sincerity the apostolic succession as of the essence of the Church, and on the other hand, the vast body of Reformed Christendom holds it one of indifference. In spite of the apparent deadlock, Mr. Symonds felt encouraged to hope for the ultimate reconciliation of this difference. He confessed himself one with the High Churchman in the belief in a visible Church, but joined issue on the question of the necessity of an apostolical succession, and thought it not likely that a younger school of High Churchmen may come to separate these two questions. Already the school of Canon Gore hold the doctrine in far less rigourous style than the old Puseyites, and again the recent publication of Prof. Hort's "Ecclesia" shows a visible Church, together with perhaps the most destructive criticism of the idea of apostolical succession yet published. On the other hand the underlying conception of the party opposed to apostolical succession as threatening clerical supremacy and depriving the laity of rights and privileges, is one-sided The battle of liberty has been won. Now the time is ripe for the battle of unity, and if that problem has been solved in the political, surely we shall not be so faint-hearted as to suppose it cannot be solved in the spiritual, sphere.

Mr. Symonds also preceived signs of a rapprochement of High Anglicanism to Protestantism, and vice versa. In England there is a movement among Nonconformists for what is called Free Church Unity, and such noted men as Hugh Price Hughes and Dr. Berry of Wolverton, have delivered strong utterances, which no one can read without feeling that we may yet come to sustenial accord on the subject of essentials and non-essentials.

3. Two minor obstacles were briefly mentioned. The first is the confusion of unity with uniformity. This confusion, however, is gradually disappearing, and few now suppose that the union of Reformed Christendom involves absolute uniformity of either doctrine, worship or government.

The last obstacle mentioned was called denominational esprit du corps. It may be to some extent a mark of loyalty to stick up for and to contend against every reproach against our own body; yet a blind, unreasoning support of every doctrine and every practice, just because it is ours, is loyalty degenerated into bigotry. The men who have truly served their churches have not been of this stamp. The saying of our Saviour is as applicable to societies as to individuals, "Why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye' and considereth not the beam that is in thy own eye?" Whilst the speaker respected the loyal Methodist and the loyal Presbyterian no less than the loyal Anglican he would appeal to all not to allow mere esprit du corps to blind their eyes to what in their heart of hearts they believed to be faults or shortcomings.

The last division of Mr. Symonds' address embodied his suggestions of practical steps in the direction of Christian unity:

(b) It might be promoted, in the first place, by laying emphasis upon our points of agreement rather than upon our points of disagreement. At the Nottingham Church Congress in 1897, Rev. Hay Aitken declared his conviction that "the points of difference between ourselves and our Nonconformist brethren bear no sort of comparison with the points of agreement, either in number or importance."

(b) Since in matters of thought there is so much agreement, means should be sought whereby outward expression may be given to our unity so far as it goes. The questions that forbid complete communion ought not to absolutely separate us. It is not in Canada as in England, where there is a State Church and where the whole question is considerably involved in politics. It was in England that the breaches in unity were made. But in England even, practical suggestions have recently been made which might be discussed here. The High Church Bishop of Salisbury says: "The difficulty of accepting Nonconformist ministers without episcopal ordination touches chiefly the ministration of the Lord's Supper. * * * Supposing, however, other difficulties to be arranged, I can conceive of Nonconformist ministers (if they do not desire such ordination) being admitted in the united church to administer baptism, and to teach and preach in our churches." The law of the Anglican church is well understood with regard to ministrations in that church, but there are no rules to prevent their being invited to lecture or deliver addresses in Anglican school houses. Mr. Symonds believed that if it were understood that such invitations were issued in a genuine spirit of fraternity, they would be accepted in the same spirit and provoke a spirit of goodly concord amongst us. In his own school house during the Lent of 1897, a course of lectures was given on Christian unity, in which both Presbyterian and Methodist ministers took part.

(c) He strongly urged that where ministerial associations existed, Anglican clergymen should join them. From his own experience he felt their presence would be warmly welcomed, and should subjects arise in which they could not take part, as the arrangement of services during the week of prayer, their silence or withdrawal would be quite understood. In spite of the fact that conventions are multiplying, Mr. Symonds thought there was room for the formation of county ministerial associations, with an annual meeting for the discussion of theological or practical questions.

(d) The cause of Christian unity may be promoted by earnest study of its principles and their propagation amongst the society in which we live. There are many aids to this study, as for example, the reports of the Grindelwald conferences, the church unity column in "Church Bells" and of books were mentioned a little volume of addresses given recently by various distinguished Americans in the Union Theological Seminary in New York entitled "Church Unity," and a very helpful volume by Bishop Boyd Carpenter entitled "Christian Reunion." Mr. Symonds also commended the suggestion of the late Archbishop Benson, that the clergy preach on it on Whitsunday.

(e) Mr. Symonds' last suggestion was that those really interested should join the recently formed Canadian Society of Christian Unity. This society is as yet unorganized, but it is the intention to include within its borders all of whatsoever denomination who are willing to study and discuss together and pray for unity. At present the bulk of members are Anglican clergymen, but among them there are also Presbyterian ministers, including Principal Grant, and Methodist ministers, including two professors of Victoria University. It is probable a constitution will be drawn up next fall, and the governing body will in all probability consist of a council equally representative of the episcopal, presbyterial and congregational bodies.

In closing Mr. Symonds remarked the appropriateness of the discussion of this subject at the present season of Whitsuntide, the festival of the Holy Spirit. In Genesis we are taught that confusion and division of the peoples was the result of sin. Sin is the root from which spring division and discord; that is the spiritual lesson of the tower of Babel. On the other hand, when the Spirit of God fell upon the infant church the astonishing result was that the multitude heard them speaking every man in his own language. The miracle of Pentecost foreshadows both the work and the destiny of the church. The fundamental and distinctive doctrines of the church are the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of man. To undo the separating work of sin, to bring together into the fellowship of the Spirit all nations and peoples of the world, that is the goal of the church, and surely her principles and her practices will be governed by the end set before her. There are innumerable types of talent, innumerable forms of activity, yet all can be used for the promotion of this end. As the great Apostle of the Gentiles said:—"There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit, and there are diversities of ministrations and the same Lord; and there are diversities of workings, but the same God who worketh in all."

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Thrown on the Subject of Home Dyeing.

There are dyes—the world-famed Diamond Dyes—that crown our labours and home dyeing work with perfect success, and there are imitation and worthless dyes that bring ruin and disaster whenever they are used.

There are dyes—the chemically pure and scientifically prepared Diamond Dyes that have brought blessings to millions of homes for long years, and there are the vile preparations and mixtures of imitators who, as far as style of package is concerned, get as near the "Diamond" as they dare go. But what shall be said of the contents—the ingredients—that the women of Canada are asked to dye with? Little more can be added to what has so often appeared in the press of the country. These imitation dyes are simply deceptions—they are adulterated and dangerous preparations, hurtful to the hands of the user, and destroyers of valuable garments and materials.

The manufacture of Diamond Dyes is reduced to a science, and to-day they are the only dyes that dare guarantee their work—that dare proclaim certain victory for every user who will follow the plain directions. Diamond Dyes have a widespred popularity; other brands of dyes are hardly known outside of the greedy, long-profit dealers who sell them to the unsuspecting public. Avoid all imitation package dyes as you would avoid spurious coins.

TO FIGHT ON SUNDAY.

Shafter's Army of 15,337 Men En Route to Santiago.

SPAIN'S SANTIAGO STRENGTH

Has Been Heavily Reinforced and a Severe Struggle May Be Anticipated When the Armies Meet—Meanwhile American Marines Are Having a Hard Time of It at Guantanamo—War News.

Washington, June 15.—Lieut.-General Linares, who commands the Spanish garrison at Santiago, has been reinforced by detachments from the divisions of Gens. Luque, Aldare and Maach, in Holguin, Manzanillo, and Puerto Principe. According to the best information obtainable by the War Department, the three divisions named comprise 36 battalions of infantry, 12 squadrons of cavalry, 4 mountain batteries, 6 companies of engineers, 4 companies of fortress artillery and 4 transport corps. Cervera, though in no position to fight his ships, may throw the crews of the warships and the coast guard vessels, numbering together 2,375 men, into the fight. It is believed here that Shafter's army of invasion, 778 officers and 14,564 enlisted men, will have a collision with the Spanish on Sunday, Shafter will have the aid of the 2,000 to 5,000 insurgents in the hills about Santiago.

Three Armies Afloat.

New York, June 15.—A Washington special says: Three armies of invasion are now on the sea, and Secretary Alger has issued hurry orders to put a forth one in motion for Porto Rico, and to begin the assembling of the main army, destined eventually to capture Havana.

The Censorship Raised.

New York, June 15.—A special from Port Tampa to the press announces that the censorship on news regarding the movements of the army of invasion was raised on the departure of the last fleet of transports, which left last night with the military officials, medical corps and about one hundred correspondents.

Fighting Around Manila.

Berlin, June 15.—Advices received here from Shanghai by the Frankfort Zeitung say news has been received there from Manila to the effect that there is fighting every night around the town. The insurgents, it seems, are trying to capture Manila and establish an independent Government before the Americans land. The German Consul at Manila, it is further reported, has 800 German and Swiss on board a refugee steamer in the harbor.

THE SITUATION IS GRAVE.

U. S. Marines at Guantanamo Can Get No Rest Because of Attacks Day and Night.

Camp of the United States Marines, outer harbor of Guantanamo, Monday, June 13, noon, by the Associated Press despatch boat Wanda, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 14.—(7 a.m.)—After two nights of hard fighting the American flag still floats on Cuban soil over the encampment of the Marine battalion.

Thus far, the Marines have had the best of the fighting, but the situation is grave and they are exhausted with repelling almost incessant attacks. They have little chance to rest or sleep, and the time of the arrival of the relieving troops is uncertain. Were it not for the protecting guns of the fleet the little band would be annihilated by the Spanish troops, in overwhelming numbers, from Santiago de Cuba. As it is they probably can hold their position; but, they cannot move forward until reinforced by troops.

It Is Now a Grim Reality.

What first, with the white tents on a bold eminence against the tropic background, looked like a holiday camp, is now grim reality. The tents have been struck and rolled into breastworks, supplemented by trenches around the crest of the hill. The spot is lamentably exposed, on bare ground, while surrounding it on all sides is heavy brush. The least movement in the camp is the signal for instant target practice upon the part of the Spanish sharpshooters, whose rifles carry much further than those of the marines, though their owners very rarely hit anything they aim at. It is impossible to accurately estimate the Spanish attacking forces, but it is numerous enough.

About two-thirds of this force surrounds the camp nightly with a deadly ring, and the spatting of the Mausers makes things quite lively, for the Spaniards are daring enough to crawl up and take a pop shot at the Marines from the bushes about 30 yards from the camp. Every yard of chapparel is an ambuscade, and picket duty is flipping coins with death.

He Was Not Disappointed.

After the first attack on Saturday night, Col. Huntington decided that another attempt would be made on Sunday night, and he caused entrenchments to be thrown up on all sides of the camp, and in the trenches the main part of the battalion, last night, waited for the attack that the Colonel was certain would come. It arrived within a short time after dark, and from that time until daybreak the firing was incessant and at times very heavy. On the American side two men were killed and four were injured. The dead are: Sergeant-Major Henry Goode of the Marines, shot through the right breast; Private Tauman, wounded and fell off the cliff and was instantly killed.

The injured are: Private Wallace, fell off the cliff and sustained a fracture of the leg; Private Martin, shot through the left leg; Private Roxbury, shot through the arm. The above are all privates belonging to Company D. Private Burk, shot through the arm.

The first attack of the Spaniards was made at 8 o'clock, and the last shot fired by them was at about 5 o'clock in the morning.

A Night Attack.

During the night the Spaniards attacked the camp of the Marines on shore, and the Marblehead, believing the Americans had been driven out, threw several shells into the place.

The attack, however, was repulsed by the small detachment of Marines in camp without trouble. The shells of the Marblehead struck among the Marines.

The fight was the first of the war in which the Cubans co-operated with the American forces, and their co-operation was not a glittering success. At one time during the afternoon, when the Marines were firing on a small detachment of Spaniards that made their appearance a short distance from the camp, the Cubans began firing without orders and sent a volley right among the Americans. There were several narrow escapes, but no one was injured.

Fifteen Dead Spaniards.

Lieut. Neville of Company D was sent out on scout duty, and, as on the day previous, he attacked a small stone fort. A hot fight followed, and the Spaniards were driven off with loss. It was during this fight that Wallace Tauman fell over the cliff. Fifteen dead Spaniards, including one lieutenant, were found in the fort.

During the attack several shots struck the ships in the harbor, one penetrating the pilot house of the Associated Press despatch boat Dandy. No one was injured on board her.

The night attack was picturesque and a striking spectacle, the crack of the Mausers, tongues of fire from every bush encircling the camp, the twitter of the long steel bullets overhead, while the machine guns down on the water were ripping open the pickets, and the crash of the field guns could be heard as they were driving in cannister where the fire of the Spaniards was thickest. Then there was the screech of the Marblehead's shells as she took a hand in the fight, and the sharp, quick flashing of the Colt rapid-firing 1-pounder guns from the effectively placed ship launches. It was a night wild and lurid as a tropical storm.

The Dolphin this morning located the Spanish water station on the ocean side of the harbor entrance, which supplied the water for the attacking force. The well was situated in a blockhouse windmill, having a small garrison. It was shelled at 2,000 yards. Excellent practice was made; the station was wrecked and cannister followed the retreating Spaniards up the steep ravine.

The arrival of the fleet to complete the bombardment of the town and its defences is expected this afternoon.

BLANCO OF CUBA.

He Tries to Draw the American Fleet Within Range of the Guns at Havana—Futile Firing.

Key West, June 15.—Captain-General Blanco has apparently not yet abandoned the hope of luring the American warships within range of the Havana batteries. He tried it again on Friday morning last, but with no better success than in his previous attempts.

Yesterday afternoon three of the Havana batteries, the Santa Clara battery and sand batteries No. 1 and 2, deliberately opened fire upon one of the auxiliary gunboats which was cruising closely along the shore. About half a dozen shots were fired, none finding any other mark than the sea, although several dropped too close for comfort. The gunboat made no reply, but hurried out of range, and reported the attack to the flagship of the blockading squadron. No attempt at retaliation, however, was made.

LOSS NOT ALL ON SPANISH SIDE.

The 3-Hours' Fire From U. S. Fleet Did Not Bring Down Spain's Flag.

London, June 15.—The morning papers publish further long accounts of the bombardment of Santiago on June 6, confirming the reports from the United States that Morro Castle and the Estrella battery were both set afire by the American shells and that the Spanish fortifications were immensely damaged. These versions say that the Massachusetts and the Suwanee were somewhat injured by shells.

The Daily Telegraph correspondent says: "The spectacle was one of awe-inspiring grandeur. Nobody who saw it could ever forget it. The lightning flashed and the thunder boomed, drowning the roar of the guns, while a tropical rain poured throughout a perfect deluge. The Spanish shooting was better than the American. The sunken collier Merrimac does not block the entrance of the channel. Admiral Sampson intends to try to force the entrance when the troops arrive. He expects to lose a ship or two, but is convinced that he will succeed."

The Daily Chronicle's correspondent says: "It is surprising that the American losses were so small, as the engagement was very severe. Altogether the bombardment might fairly be claimed by the Spanish as a victory, for, after three hours' firing by the pick of the American fleet, Spain's colors were still floating."

Will Germany Interfere?

Madrid, June 15.—The Spanish press has increased its optimism, based on the belief that Germany intends to prevent a bombardment of Manila by making a naval demonstration. The newspapers urge sacrifices with the view of securing Germany's assistance, and political leaders express themselves in favor of offering Germany the following concessions in return for her "taking the initative in checking America; firstly, naval stations and coaling depots in Spanish Oceania; secondly, Spanish concurrence in the development of Germany's commercial and political relations with Morocco.

Bryan on the War.

Omaha, Neb., June 15.—W. J. Bryan first expressed himself upon the Spanish-American war in a speech delivered at the dedication of the Nebraska building at the Exposition here yesterday. Although approving the war and the manner in which it was carried on, Mr. Bryan disclaimed any intention on the part of the American people to territorial acquisition. The Philippines and Cuba could not be taken possession of by force, and could only become a part of the American Republic at the will of the people of those countries. If the present Government at Washington was actuated to make war by greed and not by a consideration for suffering humanity the people of Nebraska would, if he mistook not, make their disapproval known to Congress.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE AGREED

The Resolution Which Will Carry Out the Decision of the Arbitrators Is Now Law—The London Times Makes Some Flattering Comments on the Subject—Cable News.

Washington, D.C., June 15.—In the Senate yesterday afternoon a House joint resolution, appropriating $474,151 to pay the Behring Sea award, was adopted. The appropriation is carried in the sundry civil appropriation bill, but that measure is still in conference, and the award has to be paid on the 16th inst. The resolution passed the House yesterday, and is now, therefore, law.

Another Gratifying Instance.

London, June 15.—The Times this morning, in an editorial which pretty fairly represents the feeling expressed by the other morning papers, says: "The resolution to pay the Behring Sea award is another gratifying instance of the growth of the spirit of friendship and justice toward England in a quarter where, until recently, such feelings were rarely exhibited.

"It is a proof of the good feelings which we cordially recognize and reciprocate, as well as a good omen for the establishment of the closer and more cordial relations between the two countries toward which the best minds on both sides of the Atlantic have been steadily moving."

CAN EXPECT NO MORE.

British Government Has No Hope of a Modification of U. S. Tariff.

London, June 15.—In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Douglas Cogniill, Conservative member for Stoke-on-Trent, asked if, in view of the improved relations between the United States and Great Britain, the former could not be induced to modify its custom tariff.

The Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, replied, saying Her Majesty's Government would be glad to avail itself of an opportunity for improving the commercial relations between Great Britain and the United States. But, he explained, Great Britain now enjoyed the most favored nation treatment in all matters of commerce and navigation, and the Government had no ground for believing more favorable treatment would be accorded Great Britain.

FOUND DROWNED.

Fred Gilroy Goes Out Fishing and Losses His Life.

Smith's Falls, Ont., June 15.—Last night Mr. Fred. Gilroy, a well known commercial traveler, went up the river alone trawling for fish. At 9 p.m. his boat was found partly filled with water. Citizens with torches searched for the body, which was recovered about midnight.

It is supposed that he fell out of the boat, and, being crippled in one arm and unable to swim, lost his life. He leaves a young widow and two children. He was a member of the I.O.O.F.

Wheelmen Have Rights.

Toronto Junction, June 15.—The decision given by William Burgess, J.P., in the case of Emerson v. Brooks, tried at Blea's Hotel, Humber Bay, on Monday night, is one of considerable interest to bicyclists. The charge was laid under the revised statutes of Ontario, 897, sec. of sub-sec. 2 of chap. 1, 286, and charged Henry Brooks with "refusing to give a portion of the traveled highway to one Arthur Emerton." Emerton was a cyclist, who desired to pass Brooks traveling in front of him with a heavy milk wagon on the lake shore road, and refused to turn out of the beaten road. The magistrate inflicted a fine of $1 and costs or five days in jail.

FRIENDS PREVAILED

A Nervous Toronto Woman Walked the Floor During the Night for Hours at a Time—She Makes a Statement.

TORONTO, ONT.—"I was troubled with nervousness. It was impossible for me to keep still and if the spells came over me during the night I had to get up and walk the floor for hours at a time. My blood was very poor and I was subject to bilious attacks. My feet would swell and I was not able to do my own housework. I treated with two of the best physicians here but only received relief for a time. I became discouraged. One day a friend called and advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I laughed at the advice but I was prevailed upon and procured one bottle. Before I used it all I began to feel better. I took several bottles and also several boxes of Hood's Pills. Now I can eat and drink heartily and sleep soundly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has entirely cured me and also strengthened me so that I now do all my own work. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all sufferers from nervousness, weakness or general debility." Mrs. H. F. Parm, Degrassi Street.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

The results of energetic and effective management are shown in the annual statement of the Ontario Bank printed in another column of this issue which is in every way satisfactory one of the best of any ever issued. This condition reflects great credit upon the General Manager, Mr. Charles McGill, whose appointment a few years ago has been followed by a marked and steady improvement in the affairs of the institution. The net earnings for the past year were $84,648, against net earnings of $74,139 for the previous year. The balance carried over from last year was $17,595, making a total of $102,243. Out of this two half-yearly dividends of 2½ per cent. were paid, $20,000 was added to the rest fund, $5,000 was paid to the officers' guarantee fund, and $5,000 written off furniture, leaving a balance carried forward of $22,243, or $4,648 more than the previous year. The statement of assets shows the bank to be in a very strong position. The amount of its readily available assets, including bullion, Government notes, amounts due by other banks, municipal and other debentures, and call loans on stocks and bonds is $2,276,461.31. There is a very considerable gain in deposits over last year, which shows that the bank is steadily gaining favour with the public. The deposits increased $902,102 during the year. There is an increase in the assets for the year of $1,430,353.

GREATER CANADA.

As the new Ontario has only within the past few years revealed its possibilities, so it is only now that the greater Canada in the Northwest is coming into the prominence its promise of future greatness merits. The Examiner has often contended that the great problem of development of the admittedly great resources of Canada consisted principally in peopling our great Northwest. Though it has been delayed in the past by unwise and careless methods of government and administration, it is now beginning in encouraging earnest. Year by year the fertility of our Northwest and the facilities it presents for affording happy and prosperous homes for millions are becoming better known and more largely taken advantage of Last year's splendid crop in Manitoba was a magnificent advertisement for the country and challenged world-wide attention. The consequence is an influx of immigration that, it is evident, is only the advance guard of old world peoples who will seek homes on our Northwest prairies, of unlimited fertility ond extent. The prospects of a good crop in the Northwest this year are very promising. The Canadian Pacific Railway have issued a crop bulletin, which shows an increase of acreage under crop of over a quarter of a million acres which, with a fairly favourable season, means an increase in crop yield of between four and five million bushels, and an increase in crop value of between three and four million dollars. According to this bulletin, the area this season under crop in Manitoba alone is 2,210,943 acres, consisting of wheat, 1,498,-232 acres; oats, 514,824; barley, 139,058; flax, 14,561; rye, 3,198; peas, 1,504; corn, 1,195; broom, 973; buckwheat, 68; potatoes, 19,791; roots, 3,448; total area under all crops, 2,210,943 acres. Last year's total crop acreage was 1,968,026. Increase in acreage for this year, 238,917. Several new townships have been settled, and there are indications of advance in all branches of farming industry. Manitoba it must be remembered, is only a fractional part of our Northwest wheat area, which lies far north and far west of Manitoba. It is stated on good authority that the Mackenzie basin is one of the richest wheat districts in the world. The Chinook winds from the Pacific sweep northward and moderate the climate to such a degree as to extend the wheat-producing belt very close to the Arctic circle, and hundreds of miles farther north than would be thought possible, judging alone by latitude. There is reason for the growing value that Great Britain attaches to Canada. The material side of England's friendliness to the United States consists largely in the fact that these states are regarded as a valuable source of food supply. If the wheat-growing resources of Canada, whose extent is being increased year by year, were utilized, the northern country would have solved very largely the problem of wheat supply, and the Empire would, in the matter of breadstuffs at least, be self-contained. With Canada, India and Australia developed to full capacity in this regard, Great Britain could afford to be very largely independent of the rest of the world.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The repeal of the Dominion Franchise Act and the adoption of the Provincial lists has given, the Globe points out, from 60,000 to 80,000 young men in Ontario a right to vote in Dominion elections who had none before.

The Tariff is now out of politics. If, says the Montreal Herald, the Liberals had done nothing else to restore the confidence of the business community, their term of office would have been well spent.

Sir Charles Tupper, before leaving for England, had his photograph taken, and has ordered three hundred copies to be distributed "to the Conservative organizations and leading Conservatives throughout the country. This, the Brantford Expositor thinks, is beginning early to prepare for the general election.

The Mail and Empire witheringly denominates Hon. Mr. Taste an offshoot of McGreevyism. He can, rather, be called the shoot-off of McGreevyism. McGreevyism was, it must be remembered, a peculiar Conservative product and Mr. Tarte knocked the bottom out of the business and exposed a lot of the internal economy of Tory boodling in the Province of Quebec. Hence the hostility against Tarte, as he is called by his enemies—"Mr." is seldom attached to his name.

POOR NELSON.

Now if Sampson would take half his fleet run the mines at Santiago, capture Cervera's fleet, take them out of the harbour, and land them in Key West, and occupy the city of Santiago, he would be imitating Nelson a long way off. But for Dewey's full dress parade before half-a dozen old Spanish tubs, gunless and manless, to be compared with Nelson's achievements, is no more ludicrous than a contrast between Whyte's Dam and Niagara Falls—Adapted from Brantford Expositor.

BAILLIEBORO.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Miss Rogers, of Toronto, is visiting her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) McKee.

Excursions are the order of the day. Three Sunday schools have had their annual outing on Rice Lake. The Presbyterian Sunday school is arranging for its on the 21st inst. On the 16th the Sons of England and the C. O. F. run one to Port Perry. On the 18th the Young People's Societies of South Monaghan and Cavan run one to Sturgeon Point.

On Sunday evening last the annual flower service was held in the English church. The church was nicely decorated. There was a good attendance.

Rev. Mr. McIntosh is attending the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod, which is being held in Montreal.

There are several buildings being erected near here. Mr. Bert Perrin's house is nearly completed. Mr. J. Perrin has just finished painting his store and dwelling. Messrs. Levi Byers, Thos. Greer and Johnson are erecting fine new barns on stone foundations.

The country looks grand at present. There has been very rapid growth. The clover, timothy and fall wheat are all headed out and it is a common thing to see fields of peas in bloom.

Rev. Mr. McKee, who has served the Methodist churches of this circuit for the past four years, leaves us this year. It is expected that he will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday. He removes to Fenelon Falls and is to be succeeded here by Rev. Mr. Steele from the same place. Mr. McKee has been a fearless preacher. Earnest prayers and good wishes from many will follow him.

Unequalled

Mr. Thos. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes:—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

MARKED WHEAT SLUMP.

Liverpool Markets Feel the Effects of the Break of Leiter's Corner—A Decrease in the World's Visible.

Tuesday Evening, June 14.

Wheat showed further weakness to-day, but there is a feeling in some quarters that, despite fine crop prospects, prices have touched the bottom. Leiter claims to be able to straighten out his affairs without the aid of a trustee or the interference of the courts. He says that the Chicago trade will be taken care of, the cash wheat business being transacted through the banks. It is said Armour and others have come to Leiter's relief, and that all interested with Leiter will be protected.

Canadian markets show increasing weakness. Shippers are beginning to be uneasy about drafts sent forward for grain already afloat, some of which may on arrival have to be sold at market prices. On the Toronto board, Ontario red sold at 86c to 87c, middle freights, while Manitoba hard hovers around $1 afloat at Fort William.

The World's Visible.

According to Bradstreet's, the visible supply of wheat east of the Rockies has since a week ago decreased 3,405,000 bushels, while the visible supply in Europe and afloat has increased 2,806,000 bushels. Thus, the world's visible during the week decreased 2,805,000 bushels, as against a decrease in the same week last year of 3,-968,000 bushels. The visible supply of corn increased 776,000 bushels during the week, and that of oats 104,000 bushels.

CAN CONSTABLES VOTE?

Important Question to Be Submitted to the Courts by the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council.

Toronto, June 15.—The question whether or not constables have a right to vote at provincial elections will come before the Court of Appeal. The Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council will submit this question for decision, and it is a very important one, in view of the small majority of the Hardy Government. Mr. St. John claims that 69 constables voted for Mr. Hill in the West York election, and in other protests the votes of constables are challenged. The statute provides:

"Any person who has been employed at the election, or in reference thereto, by a candidate or other person as counsel, agent, solicitor or clerk, or in any other capacity, or who has received, or expects to receive, any sum of money or fee, shall not be entitled to vote."

The Government asks if this refers to men appointed by the Crown, and not by the candidate, or appointed for the protection of the public.

Dear Sir,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.98, in settlement of my $3,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring Insurance.

An Ex-U. S. Consul's Tribute

To Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

There is scarcely any remedy anywhere that has received such heart felt praise from all over the land as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Steadily year by year, for over forty years now it has grown in public favour solely on its merits, and is to-day without a peer for the cure of Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer Complaint, Cramps, Colic, Cholera, and all bowel troubles of children and adults.

The following letter from Mr. Edward Young, formerly Consul at Windsor, N. S., speaks for itself:

207 Maryland Avenue, N.E.,
Washington, D. C., Jan. 3, 1898.

Messrs. T. Milburn & Co.,
Toronto.

Gentlemen,—Since my return to this city from Windsor, N.S., where I was U.S. consul for eleven years, I am unable to obtain from our druggist Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which myself and family prize so much. I always kept it in the house when at Windsor ready to use when I had eaten anything that disagreed with me.

Please advise me where I can obtain it here, as I do not know of any medicine so useful as this.

Respectfully yours,
(Signed) Edward Young.

JOE LEITER'S TUMBLE

"Went Up Like a Rocket, and Down Like a Stick."

FOR OVER A YEAR WHEAT KING

Three Weeks Ago He Had a Profit on Paper of $4,500,000—To-Day His Losses Aggregate $9,500,000—Only Man Who Made a Profit of $1 a Bushel on Wheat.

Joseph Leiter, who for a little over a year has been known as the wheat king of the world, is dethroned. In twenty-one days he is shown to have lost $9,500,000. For fourteen months he had the bears in front of his prod, and on Monday they turned on him with their claws. Young Leiter "bucked" the world and got more than his match. He was magnanimous when in power, and it cost him millions of dollars. In December and May, when he could have squeezed the "shorts," he did not do it. Now, those who were indebted to him then, put on the screws. Probably the only living man that ever made $1 a bushel on wheat, he now has the reverse experience of seeing a loss of $1 per bushel. Some wheat which he bought at 64½ he saw advance to $1.85. Some wheat bought at $1.75 sold on Monday at 70c. Apart from straightaway speculation Leiter made money by "turns" in the market, and was clever enough to not only get his wheat carried for nothing, but making additional profits.

Up Like a Rocket, Down Like a Stick.

Following are the dates and figures of Leiter's rise and fall:

Entered field, April 2, 1897.

First purchase, April 2, 100,000 bushels at 70 5-8c.

Cheapest purchase, 500,000 bushels, June, 1897, at 64¾c.

Highest price reached, May 10, 1898, $1.85.

Largest line carried at any one time, 35,000,000 bushels.

Largest interest involved at any one time, $35,000,000.

Total wheat exported, 25,000,000 bushels.

Leiter's profits up to the end of May deal, $5,000,000.

Closing price, May 30, $1.26.

Cash wheat held by Leiter, May 30, 6,000,000 bushels.

Price paid for same, $1.25 to $1.30.

Closing price cash wheat, June 13, 85c.

Leiter's losses on cash wheat, $4,020,000.

Leiter's losses on July and September futures, $2,000,000.

Total losses, $6,020,000.

Net losses, $1,020,000.

JOSEPH LEITER SPEAKS.

His Everyday Simile in Describing the Collapse of His Wheat Corner Deal—The Reason Why.

Chicago, June 15.—Joseph Leiter, speaking of the collapse of his wheat deal, says: "It is a case where the tail has begun to wag the dog. This statement has its illustration in the fact that futures began breaking faster than cash wheat declined. Logically, the condition should have been exactly the reverse. For several days—in fact I may say for some weeks—cash wheat has been slow sale, particularly in the northwest and around milling centres generally. To a certain extent this has been offset by a fair degree of activity at the seaboard in response to an inquiry from the other side, but the local markets have been decidedly inclined to drag. There has been a steady marketing of cash wheat, but I cannot say as to the quantities in which it has gone to home consumption or abroad for foreign use.

"I see no objection to stating that all my holdings of futures have been disposed of. A good deal of gossip has come to me on the general subject of alleged treacherous conduct on the part of northwestern grain interests, which I have always heretofore considered friendly to me in a personal and a business way, but I have nothing to say on this subject. I have no complaints or charges to prefer against those with whom I have been doing business. It is a source of considerable satisfaction to me that my affairs, for the moment more or less tangled, are in a fair way of settlement without the intervention of a trustee, and without invoking the machinery of the court, as would be necessary in the case of an assignment.

"The Chicago trade will all be taken care of; in fact, I may say it has been already protected, for I am even on the market so far as September contracts are concerned. The cash wheat business will be transacted through Alexander Geddes for the benefit of the banks which have an interest in it, and which will act in concert. The June wheat, representing the cash wheat in this market, will be carried by Armour & Company. The treatment I have received at the hands of Mr. Armour is in the highest degree considerate, courteous and complimentary. Nothing could have exceeded Mr. Armour's generosity in his offers of financial help, which were to an extent covering any possible requirement on my part. It is particularly gratifying to be the recipient of this kind of treatment at this particular time, establishing, as it does, the fact that the business and personal relations between Mr. Armour and myself are not as strained as they have been represented to be."

Armour Bought It All.

Chicago, June 5.—P. D. Armour yesterday bought all of Joseph Leiter's cash wheat in the Northwest, amounting to four or five million bushels. Semi-authoritative information is also obtained that Armour will take up all of Leiter's wheat. It is generally admitted that the sale to Armour clears the atmosphere to a considerable extent, and if trustees are necessary to liquidate the rest of Leiter's cash wheat in this city, New York, afloat and in European storehouses, it will not require much time to dispose of the remaining 3,000,000 bushels or more. There apparently will be little difficulty in winding up the deal, inasmuch as it is authoritatively stated that bids have been received for all the cash wheat that Leiter has.

A Panic in Liverpool.

London, June 15.—The collapse of the Leiter wheat corner has caused a panic in the Liverpool market, the heaviest movement recorded in wheat since the excitement began occurring yesterday morning.

"INVITED" TO LEAVE CANADA.

Madrid Says That Du Bosc and Carranza Have Notice to Depart.

Madrid, June 15.—It was officially announced yesterday that Senor du Bosc, the former Spanish Charge d'Affaires at Washington, and Lieut. Carranza, the former Spanish Naval Attache at Washington, have been "invited" to leave Canada, owing to the Canadian authorities having intercepted a letter which Lieut. Carranza addressed to the Minister of Marine, giving an account of the condition of American fortifications.

The Gentlemen Deny It.

Montreal, June 15.—Senors du Bosc and Carranza state that there is not one word of truth in the despatch from Madrid saying that they have been requested by the Ottawa Government to leave Canada.

CABINET CRISIS IN FRANCE.

Premier Meline Defeated and Then Sustained—Great Uproar.

Paris, June 15.—The Chamber of Deputies yesterday, by 295 to 272, passed a vote of confidence in the Government. Later, however, the Meline Ministry was defeated by a vote of 296 to 246, amid intense excitement and an uproar.

Premier Meline was charged with pursuing an undemocratic policy, and, after some heated discussion, the vote was taken.

The members of the extreme Left arose en masse and shouted for the retirement of M. Meline.

M. Berteaux yelled: "Get out, you are defeated." Others, pointing to the Ministerial benches, indulged in a chorus of "Boohs!"

The Socialists vociferated: "Resign! Resign!"

Later on M. Meline accepted an amendment by M. Ricard, and another vote was taken, when the motion as corrected was adopted by 284 to 272 votes, thus sustaining the Government.

The Chamber of Deputies then adjourned until Monday.

In the lobbies of the Chamber the opinion was freely expressed that M. Meline would resign after the Council to-day, though nothing is certain, owing to the contradictory character of the votes.

Castellane Fights a Duel.

Paris, June 5.—Count Boniface de Castellane, who married Miss Anna Gould of New York, fought a duel yesterday morning with M. Henri Turot of the Petite Republique Francaise. Three rounds were fought with swords, and M. Turot was wounded in each round, twice slightly and the third time severely in the right forearm, thus ending the duel.

The dispute which led to the meeting grew out of M. Turot's comments upon an act of infanticide committed by a servant in the Count's household.

APPALLING DEATH

From Kidney Disease Prevented by Dodd's Kidney Pills Only.

"Kidney Disease." Do you know what it means? It means that the kidneys are either rotten, or rotting; the blood is full of poisonous, death-dealing corruption; that the Kidneys can't do their work; that the victim is a walking charnel-house; that his hours are numbered; that the victim must take Dodd's Kidney Pills if he does not want to die.

Have you Kidney Disease? Is your skin hot and dry; memory failing; breath short; urine, reddish, or pale colored; does it scald when passing; is your appetite changeable; do your ankles swell; have you bitter taste in the mouth on getting up mornings; is there a brick-dust deposit in your urine?

Any of these signs is proof positive of Kidney Disease. Will you be cured, or will you die? Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only means on earth that will cure you. They never fail.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will evidently become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and diseases of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and gives the little sufferer rest.

Woodstock Steam Roller Libel.

The new steam roller bought by Woodstock is the innocent cause of a heap of trouble. The Sentinel Review thus explains the newest racket: Some time ago a writ was issued against a member of the council by a citizen, and now a writ has been issued against a citizen by a member of the council. When the alleged Martin disclosures were made statements were going the rounds which reflected on some members of the council. In a grocery store in the East End E. M. Kelly, carpenter, Norwich ave., is alleged to have said in the hearing of others that Councillor Richards received a bribe to vote for the steam roller. This was a serious matter, so the councillor thought, and after allowing it to rest for a few weeks with no satisfactory explanation from Mr. Kelly, a writ was finally issued by Lawyer D. S. Kendal, acting for Mr. Richards, and claiming $10,000 damages.

A Hay Field Relic.

Mr. W. J. Doughty has at his agricultural implement warerooms, Water street, an interesting relic of the early days of the mowing machine. It is a Noxon mower, formerly owned by Mr. William Rosebrough, of Smith, who first put it in use twenty-three years ago. It was one of the first mowers sold in this section of the country. Evidence of the excellence of its construction is shown by the fact that it is still in a good condition and with a little repair could be used still. It has been replaced by a new Noxon mower, because of course in the past twenty-three years improvements have been made in detail though not in solidity of construction. The mower mentioned has the old semaphore style of lever, now done away, and superseded by improved methods. But not a part of the old machine is broken, the gearing is still good and nothing is out of shape much but the box, which is naturally considerably worn by the duty exacted by a large farm for 23 seasons. A good many curious farmers visit Mr. Doughty's warerooms for a look at this "relic of old decency."

Germany's Impossible Intentions.

London, June 15—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: It seems almost impossible that Germany can have the idea of picking a war with the United States by interference at Manilla. Nevertheless it is equally impossible to ignore the significance of the fact that ideas of repeating the successful Kiaon Chou experiment are evident floating in the brains of naval personages whose influence is so great that the matter deserves attention.

LACROSSE.

At a meeting of the Lacrosse Executive it was decided, in pursuance of the policy adapted early in the season, to give the Juniors every opportunity of showing their calibre, and two positions on Thursdays team, which goes to Orillia, will be filled from the ranks of the younger players. The ten old players who go will be Dobbin, Lynch, Brown, Mein, Jim McCabe, King, Glover, Rubidge, Jack McCabe and Lipsett. For the two other positions on the field players will be picked from amongst Rickey, McDonough, Robinson and Hogarth.

In the course of a couple of weeks or so a number of seniors who are not at present in shape to stand a hard match will be available. A two hours match tries the best of players, and unless constant practice is indulged in a man cannot stand the strain. Amongst those who will be eligible for places on the senior team for the next championship match will be Phelan, Borland, Galley, Bolin, Wasson and Mooney.

The two Juniors who will be picked to go to Orillia are to be notified this evening.

At a subsequent meeting of the Executive, held to-day, it was decided that Tom. Robinson and Myles McDonough would be the two juniors selected to play in to-morrow's game in Orillia.

TWO SUDDEN DEATHS.

MR. EUGENE DONOVAN.

Word was received in town this morning of the very sudden and unexpected death of Mr. Eugene Donovan in Toronto.

Mr. Donovan, who has resided in town for the last few years following his avocation as a printer, went to the city yesterday morning to take a position with the Sheppard Publishing Co. He was in good health when he left Peterborough and only the most meagre details of his sudden demise are stated in the telegram which was received. Mr. Donovan was employed on the Mail staff for over 25 years previous to his coming to Peterborough and the Typographical Union has taken charge of the remains.

Deceased leaves a widow but no children. A sister, Mrs. D. Holmes, resides in town and he has a brother John living in Hastings.

Interment will take place in Toronto and Mrs. Donovan has left for the city. For some time the deceased has occupied rooms over Mr. W. H. Wrighton's store.

MISS LIZZIE MALANE.

The community was greatly shocked this morning by the death of Miss Elizabeth Malane, Robinson street, Ashburnham.

The deceased was over in town last evening and appeared to be in her usual good health, but this morning when arising she complained of a pain in her head and retiring to bed again sank into unconsciousness immediately afterwards. Upon Dr. McGrath being summoned be pronounced her to be suffering from apoplexy. Miss Malane never regained consciousness and passed away shortly after her physician's arrival.

The deceased lived with her sister, Miss Maggie Malane, on Robinson street, Ashburnham. Mr. John Malane, painter, of Peterborough, is a brother.

The funeral will take place on Friday morning at 9 o'clock to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

A TRUE BILL AGAINST McDONALD.

HE IS NOW ON HIS TRIAL AT THE SESSIONS.

Evidence of Warden Pearce—Other Cases Before the Court—Black Will Have to Serve Out His Sentence for Assaulting Mrs. Irwin.

In the case of McNeilly vs. Scott, Mr. W. A. Stratton for the plaintiff, asked permission to rectify a typewriter's error in the statement of claim, changing a date from 1897 to 1892. To this Mr. G. J. Sherry for the defendant, would not agree, stating that the change would materially alter the nature of the evidence which he put in. Judge Weller decided that the change asked was a permissable one and allowed the case to go over to the next court of competent jurisdiction in order to give counsel for defendant an opportunity of preparing new evidence. Mr. Sherry asked for the day's costs, as it was not through any remissness on his part that the proceedings had been deferred. Judge Weller reserved his decision on this point.

The appeal case of Black vs. Irwin was then taken up, in which Mark Black appealed from sentence pronounced on him by Magistrate Dumble in a charge of assault brought by Mrs. Irwin. D. O'Connell appeared for the appellant and County Crown Attorney Wood for the respondent.

The evidence showed that Black had called upon Mrs. Irwin and complained that her children were stealing lumber from a house which he was building. An argument ensued in which Mrs. Irwin stated that she would give Black a dollar if he could prove his statement. His reply was most gross and indecent and was followed up by clutching the woman by the front of the dress. She struck him across the mouth and the two clinched and falling to the floor, rolled down the steps into the yard. Black charged that he was then set upon and beaten with a shovel.

In his charge to the jury Judge Weller pointed out that although Black's language was most low and insulting it was not an assault in the eye of the law. If he clutched her dress it was an assault, but if he did not and Mrs. Irwin struck him immediately after he made the said remarks then she was guilt of assault. He left this point with the jury to decide and after half an hour's deliberation they brought in a verdict of "guilty" against Black.

WEDNESDAY MORNING SESSION.

This morning the Grand Jury brought in a true bill against James McDonald, alias Mart Marshall, in the matter of robbing the premises of J. B. Pearce and the Norwood Post Office.

After a jury had been selected to try the case County Crown Attorney Wood addressed them, stating that the prisoner was not a citizen of this country, but comes from Ohio and it behooved all to lay aside everything they had heard of this case and give the prisoner a fair trial. The offense is for breaking into Mr. Pearce's counting house at Norwood and stealing therefrom a sum of money and a quantity of postage stamps. Mr. Pearce is the Warden of the county and as well as conducting a store, is also postmaster, the premises of the store and post office being connected by a door. On the night of the robbery the money and stamps were placed in the vault. In the morning two men named Thompson and Tucker found that the premises and the safe door blown to pieces. Mr. Pearce found out that three men had been in the locality, one of whom was the prisoner. The next day the three men were seen in Havelock. Mr. Pearce was telegraphed for and on going down on the midnight train saw the prisoner enter the car and pluckily arrested him, finding in his possession a satchel containing a "jimmy," and on his person was a large Colt's revolver. The jimmy was taken to the door which had been forced and found to fit into the impressions on the door. A bottle of nitro glycerine was found on his person, which had been examined by a Government analyst and pronounced to be of a most explosive character. On the person of the prisoner there was also found $130 worth of postage stamps, amongst which was a fifty-cent Jubilee stamp with marks on it, exactly similar to the ones that had been stolen.

HAD BEEN ENTERED

These were some of the facts which Mr. Wood stated he would prove to the jury.

Mr. J. B. Pearce, Warden of the County, was the first witness called. He described his premises in Norwood, and produced a photograph of the safe, showing its damaged condition the day after the robbery had been perpetrated. The floor, he stated, was BURNED AROUND THE SAFE.

He first heard of the affair on the morning of April 5th at about six o'clock, when Mrs. Pearce told him that the store had been burglarized and was on fire. He found the vault had been forced open. The safe doors were broken into forty or fifty pieces by the force of the explosive which had been used to open it. In the cash drawer there were $91.04 in i.o.u's and $116.42 in cash, also promissory notes to the amount of $3,700. Railway men, Mr. Pearce stated, that morning found in their tool house the two cash boxes and a number of stamps which were badly mutilated. Most of the notes and a number of I. O. U.'s were also found here. Two crowbars found in the store had been taken from this tool house. He knew the work on his safe had been done by professional crackemen by the manner in which the work was done. Soap had been used to fill up the interstices in the locks, etc. Witness had then inquired as to whether any strangers had been seen in the village during the day and had heard of some men who had been in the hotels. He got a description of the men and telegraphed it along the line. He got a message from Havelock saying there were three suspects there. He went down on and when he jumped on the platform he saw a number boarding the train. He saw the prisoner and followed him. Witness' son called out, "There are the men." The light fell on prisoner's face, and witness recognised him from the description given of one of the strangers who had been in Norwood. As the prisoner was entering the car the witness, assisted by a man named Weese, grabbed prisoner. Dr. Holdcraft stepped up and caught one of prisoner's hands. Prisoner was taken into the station, and witness returned to the car and secured the satchel, which he took into the station agent's private office. Mr. Weese then called out that he had cornered a man in the woodpile, but they were unable to get him. Mr. Weese said that the man had drawn a revolver on him. Witness then returned and searched the prisoner. He took from his person a map of Ontario, a revolver, cartridges, $9 20 in money and a six-ounce bottle of fluid. In the satchel was the burglar's kit described a few days ago in the EXAMINER, and a piece of fuse.

Witness then explained how the various doors leading into his premises had been forced. On the doors were found the imprints into which the jimmy found in the prisoner's satchel fitted exactly. Pieces of the door jamb were produced by the witness, which had been broken out. These also were indented and into the indentations the "jimmy" fitted exactly. A drill which had been found by Constable Cummins, of Norwood, was produced, which fitted bits found in the prisoner's satchel. The manner in which the drill was used on safes was illustrated by witness.

Cross examined by D. O'Connell, counsel for the prisoner, the witness stated that when he went to Havelock he was accompanied by Messrs. Hall, O'Rourke and McGregor. On the train he was suspicious of a Jew and questioned him as to where he was going, telling him his reasons. The Jew told him when he had been doing business for the few days previous. Two men passed him, getting on the train at Havelock. They were too tall to correspond with the description furnished him. Two others passed him whom he recognized as railroad men. When the prisoner came along he spotted him at once. The station master stated that prisoner had purchased a ticket to Tweed. He had purchased two tickets. Witness was positive prisoner carried a grip. Saw prisoner with grip in car. After placing him in the station he returned immediately to get the grip. Mr. Daly, Jas. Graham and Dr. Holdcroft all assisted in holding up the prisoner's arms so he could reach no weapons. Witness ordered the arrest of another man on the platform but he was a citizen of Havelock. The satchel was locked in the station until morning by Dr. Holdcroft. Next day witness took the valise to Norwood. He locked it in his bedroom. He ordered that no one be allowed to enter the bedroom. It had afterwards been inspected by Detective Parkinson.

The case is still on.

TOM PARSONS BREAKS BELLEVILLE GAOL.

He Scales the Wall During the Night—A Daring Escape—Every Precaution Had Been Taken—How it was Done.

At five o'clock Monday morning when Turnkey Marsh went to pay his usual morning visit to the cell in the Belleville gaol of Thos. Parsons, accused of arson and numerous burglaries, he found that the bird had flown. An examination of the premises disclosed the fact that he had picked two locks and got into the yard, carried a table, an empty meal barrel and a bench from the gaol kitchen and piled them one on top of the other. He must then have returned to his cell and secured his blankets and sheet, tied them together and by means of his extempore ladder scaled the wall and was free.

The turnkey saw him last at seven o'clock Sunday night, when he locked him up, but between twelve and one o'clock this morning one of the other prisoners heard a sound as of someone walking. This is all that is certainly known of his movements.

The gaoler is at a total loss to know how he succeeded in forcing the locks, as they were in first-class order. No visitors have ever been allowed to see Parsons, and a strict surveillance was kept on all his movements. The only possible theory is that he picked up a piece of wire somewhere and picked the locks.

The officials all feel greatly crestfallen over the escape, as this is the first in seventeen years. Several criminals who have been confined there have afterwards succeeded in escaping from the Central Prison and the Penitentiary. Parsons was to have been tried on Tuesday.

The following is a description of Parsons :—5 feet 11 inches in height, weighs 165 pounds, slightly built, dark complexioned, black moustache, black hair, black eyes and a shifty, downcast expression. He was dressed in a well-worn dark grey suit, black stiff hat, blue and white (faded) shirt with collar attached, black tie and tan shoes

Every effort is being made to re-capture the prisoner, descriptions of him have been wired to the police at different points. The sheriff visited Parsons' home to-day and Mrs. Parsons informed him that her husband visited the house at eleven o'clock last night. She said he had gone to join the American army, to fight the Spaniards. No credence is given to her story.—Intelligencer.

ST. ANDREW'S Y. P. S. C. E.

A very interesting meeting was held in St. Andrew's on Monday night. Notwithstanding the downpour of rain a large number assembled.

The meeting was under the direction of the Missionary Committee and was most successfully carried out. Miss Wiggins acted as leader and in an effective manner kept the meeting progressing throughout the hour. Miss Nellie Allen gave an excellent paper, narrating the work done at the Point Aux Trembles School in the Province of Quebec. The members were interested in this work as the Sabbath school, as well as an individual class, contributed annually to the work.

Miss Maggie Weddell sang very sweetly "Hold Thou Mine Hand." This was followed by a very neat, direct and practical missionary talk by Miss Mary Forsythe on the text "Go ye into all the world," etc., etc. After the singing of a missionary hymn Miss Millie Rae, convenor of the committee, made a very instructive reference to the actual results of the work amongst our French compatriots, and and mentioned that 160 of the graduates had become ministers, forty doctors and many had entered other professions.

Miss H. Smith and Messrs. P. Kerr, Geo. Miller, Bruce Anderson and others took part in the meeting.

The visit to Peterborough on June 27th, of Dan Godfrey's band of British Guardsmen, will be a memorable event, for this is one of the finest bands in the world, and such an opportunity does not come to the people of this district more than once in fifty years. No one should miss hearing it.

RESTORE THE SNAP,
VIM, ENERGY AND STRENGTH
YOU HAVE LOST.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have been a great boon to my daughter Maggie. Prior to taking them she had been suffering from excessive nervousness for a long time, and her nerves were in a terribly shattered condition. The action of her heart was so weak that it did not have strength to perform its functions, causing violent palpitation and smothering after retiring. Frequently, on account of this suffocating sensation she was afraid to go to bed. Slight exertion exhausted her and caused shortness of breath. Her blood was impoverished and lost vitality, and she had no appetite. She was wasting away and was very hypochondriacal, feeling dejected all the time. Last December she began taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and she improved at once. Her blood became healthy and strong, and in six weeks her impaired nervous system was restored to its normal healthy condition. Her heart responded to the healthy condition of her blood and nerves and resumed its strong and healthy functions. She now sleeps without any of the dangerous, distressing, smothering and choking spells; her appetite is good, and she has gained in flesh. Healthy color has replaced pallor, and she is now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. I thank you, gentlemen, for the remedy that has restored my daughter to health. A. GUNN, Baggagemaster, Grand Trunk Railway, Oshawa, Ont. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. "MARRIAGE SCHOOLS."

Several Reasons Why German Women Make Good Wives.

Finishing schools in England are of doubtful utility. In south Germany, however, writes a London Chronicle correspondent, the institution has been developed on very practical lines. Before admission the girls are supposed to have been thoroughly well educated. They must know the rudiments of arithmetic, must have a fair acquaintance with English and German grammar, and must be able to write and speak their own language properly. They come to the school mainly to learn housekeeping.

The schools generally number from 10 to 20 boarders, each of whom has a separate bedroom. Every morning after breakfast the girl has to make her own bed and dust the room. Once or twice a month she is obliged to alter the position of the furniture so that she may know how to arrange things. Every week she is called upon to take her dresses from the cupboards where they hang and pack them in a box with everything else she may require for a long visit. This done, the mistress inspects it and points out the many ways in which she may save space.

In a school in Baden I visited only 16 pupils are admitted, and two housemaids and one cook are kept. At the commencement of the term the girls are informed by the mistress that four of them are required every week to take absolute charge of the house. They have to rise early in the morning and see to the preparation of breakfast. When this is finished, they make their beds and tidy their rooms, and afterward go around the house to see that the servants have done their work. Then they are told by the mistress what the midday dinner will consist of, and this they have to prepare, though the cook will supervise what they do in the kitchen, giving hints and preventing waste.

One of the four girls will have to sit at the head of the table and serve the soup, carve the poultry or joint and help the sweets. This meal over, those on duty have after a short rest to arrange afternoon tea, which they lay in the drawing room and at which they have to wait upon their companions and any visitors who may happen to call. In the evening there is frequently some music or light recreation, where the four girls have to act as hostesses. They finish up their day's work by arranging supper, but are not allowed to retire for the night until they have left the kitchen in perfect order and have seen that the doors and windows all over the house are properly secured.

The value of such a training as this cannot be overestimated. The girls leave school quite competent to undertake the management of a house. They are good cooks and are able to turn their hand to anything without being dependent on the servants.

The other girls who have not been so actively engaged in the house are taught sewing and the making and repairing of their own garments. In the morning they have their studies and in the afternoon generally go for walks. The mistress of the school I visited is well connected and has many visitors. In the winter evenings dances are arranged, and these are entirely managed by the girls on duty. They see to the preparation of the rooms, engage the musicians, draw up the programmes, etc. This lady told me that 32 of her girls had met their husbands at these dances.

"We mistresses," she added, "are said in Germany to be the proprietors of marriage schools. Don't laugh. It is true, and the term is not quite inappropriate."

Wheat Has Again Taken a Big Tumble—Weakness Felt at Toronto—The Latest Quotations.

Monday Evening, June 13.

The imminence of a gigantic harvest is more than ever assured and on the Chicago board the June delivery to-day fell to 85c, July to 75c, September to 69½c and December to 69c per bushel. There was a slight reaction, but July wheat closed 7c lower than on Saturday, and the September and December options respectively 4⅞c and 3⅝c lower. A reference to the table below will show corresponding declines in all the other United States markets.

Wheat declined on the other side of the Atlantic, July dropped 4¾d per cental, September 2⅝d and December 2¼d. Paris closed about 40 centimes lower than on Saturday.

The universal weakness of wheat was felt at Toronto, where nothing was doing to-day. Holders were offering No. 2 Ontario red around 90c, middle freights, but not more than 85c was bid for export. No. 1 Manitoba hard was quoted close down to the dollar, afloat at Fort William.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 2,985,000 bushels; that of corn has increased 286,000 bushels, and that of oats has increased 756,000 bushels. Following is a comparative statement for the week ending to-day, the preceding week and the corresponding week last year:

	June 13,'98.	June 6,'98.	June 14,'97
Wheat, bu...	19,982,000	22,587,000	22,695,000
Corn, bu....	21,445,000	21,159,000	16,621,000
Oats, bu...	7,113,000	7,869,000	9,736,000

There are on passage to the United Kingdom 22,880,000 bushels of wheat and 7,520,000 bushels of corn. There are on passage to the European Continent 23,280,000 bushels of wheat and 9,360,000 bushels of corn. Thus the total quantities of cereals afloat to-day, with comparative figures for a week ago, are:

	June 13.	June 6.
Wheat, bush—	46,160,000	46,880,000
Corn, bush	18,880,000	18,480,000

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, June 13.—There were about 400 head of butchers' cattle, 200 calves and 80 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but trade was slow, the muggy weather being unfavorable for keeping fresh meat. Besides, the prices asked were so high that the butchers bought as few as possible, hoping for more liberal supplies and lower prices later on.

Choice beeves sold at about 4¾c per lb., and a few were held at higher rates; pretty good cattle were lower in price than on Thursday, and sold at from 3½c to 4½c, and the common stock at from 3c to 3½c per lb. A carload of oxen and large steers, averaging over 1600 lbs., were bought for shipment to Britain at 4½c per lb. Calves were scarce, and anything good sold high. Prices ranged from $2.50 to $6 each. Shippers pay from 3¼c to 3½c per lb. for good large sheep. Butchers pay 4c per lb. for good yearlings.

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 81 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

LESSON FROM THE OYSTER.

Many a Pearl of Wisdom to Be Gleaned From His Life.

The oyster is pre-eminently a creature of leisure, and he consequently has much time at his disposal for thinking and reflection, and, in the absence of proof to the contrary, we are obliged to accept the deduction that he employs that time profitably, though he may keep his wisdom to himself and employ it for his own use. He certainly has reduced light housekeeping to a fine art. He lives right in the water; hence the question of water supply and drainage is one that he never has to concern himself about.

He manages also that the water shall bring him his food; consequently matters of commerce, of supply and demand, the prices of commodities and other questions which worry other members of the animal creation, whether they are quadrupeds or bipeds or whether they walk on the earth, fly through the air or swim in the water, do not concern him. As for his house, as soon as he settles down, after a very brief period of wandering and sowing his wild oats, he builds it himself right out of the material brought to him by the accommodating water, and thereafter he lives a life of ease.

He knows perfectly well that things will come his way. He doesn't even bother with having legs and eyes, for he has no need of transportation. He does not need to see in order that he may gather his food, and he finds no necessity for idly gaping about, and thus uselessly exciting his nervous organization. He sits down under his roof, if not under his own vine and fig tree, and enjoys a life of quiet and dignity. He has enemies, but he does nothing to stir them up, since he eschews all religious and political controversies, and he thus manages to retain the good will of all the denizens of the land and sea. There are many lessons indeed to be gleaned from the life of the oyster that we might learn and follow with profit.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A desperate looking man, with two drawn revolvers, is not a pleasant person to meet at a lonely cross-road. Most men will go a long way out of their road to avoid such an encounter. The same men will recklessly neglect their health and court death in the guise of consumption or some other equally fatal disease. One-sixth of all the deaths each year are due to this most fatal of maladies.

Until very recent years, consumption was considered absolutely incurable. It is now known to be curable. During the past thirty years it has been demonstrated that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease before the lungs are too much wasted, also bronchitis, asthma, laryngitis and all diseases of all the air-passages. It acts directly on the lungs, driving out all impurities and disease germs. It soothes the cough, facilitates expectoration, thus thoroughly clearing the lungs. It purifies and enriches the blood and tears down, carries off and excretes old, inert, half-dead tissues, replacing them with the new, firm, muscular tissues of health. It is the great appetite sharpener, blood-maker, flesh-builder, nerve-tonic and restorative. Thousands who had been given up to die have been restored to complete, robust health by this marvelous medicine. Do not buy from unscrupulous dealers who try to force upon you something beside what you ask for. There is nothing to take the place of it, or, which is "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I had the grip, which left me feeling miserable—no strength and a cough," writes Mrs. C. Maynard, of East Lyme, New London Co., Conn. "As some of my family died with consumption, I was frightened. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. After taking the second bottle I felt much better, and am now well."

A HARD MAN TO BEAT

THE LIVE RAILROAD AGENT IS UP TO ALL SORTS OF TRICKS.

Circus People Are Pretty Cute Themselves, but This Story Shows How One Party Was Cleverly Outwitted by the Hustling Railroader.

"There are people who think you can't beat a circus man, but I want to tell you that the hardest man to do is a live railroad man."

The old sawdust manager had tried it. He continued:

"Know where Purcell is in the Indian Territory? Away down at the jumping off place on the Santa Fe road. The show had been at Purcell and we wanted to get out in the night for a long run. We were going to make a jump to Kansas City. Not far from Purcell is another town, Oklahoma City. At that point a competing road with the Santa Fe runs in. We had 500 people, and of course the railroad men were after us. It was a big haul. Some of our people bought through tickets from Purcell, and they didn't worry. But about 200, maybe more, of the crowd that always baggies over a 10 cent dicker concluded to take the Santa Fe from Purcell to Oklahoma City, pay the short haul, and then take the competing line at Oklahoma, the agents of which were active and full of promises.

"Then the Santa Fe man fixed it so the dickerers couldn't buy any tickets from Purcell to Oklahoma, for the train we were to go on was a special. The dickerers said that was all right; that they would wait for the regular. In less than five minutes a bulletin was slapped on the board of the station to the effect that the regular Santa Fe was 12 hours late. That made the fellows who were dickering for a cheaper rate turn white around their gills.

"In another five minutes I saw a man on a track velocipede scudding down the stretch. Every man to his business. So I thought the railroad people knew what they were doing, and they did. That chap on the velocipede was going down the track to flag the regular and hold it indefinitely. Smart trick, wasn't it? Wait till I tell you. There was a smarter trick than that.

"When the special got ready to pull out, the dickerers asked the agent if they could pay on the train from Purcell to Oklahoma, and he said 'Cert.' So they all boarded the train at Purcell, intending to get off at Oklahoma. Just before the train pulled out the agent walks down to the engine and asks the old man at the throttle how long he had been on the road and about the capacity of his iron horse, and so forth.

"'How many miles an hour can she go at her best?' asked the agent.

"'On a good track, 65 miles.'

"'Is it a good track through Oklahoma City?'

"'Yes, pretty good.'

"'All right. You've got no orders to stop there nor to slow up, have you?'

"'Not yet.'

"'Well, when you get to the edge of the town you let her go. Don't stop for anything—flags or teams or cattle. Scoot through the town at a 65 mile gait, or more if you like, and don't slow up until you strike that strip of desolation about 11 miles t'other side and you smoke a box of the finest cigars in Chicago. Is it a go?'

"'If I don't get no orders 'fore I start.'

"'Well, you are five minutes late now.'

"In a minute, and I calculate it was less, the circus special was under way. It went around curves like a scared snake. It shot across straight lines like a gazelle that had been singed. It whirled the dust of that country into the sky. After awhile we saw a town. Then we went through it like the woman that's shot from the catapult, only more so. One of the dickerers, who was smiling to think the conductor had not yet come round, asked a brakeman as the train was going through the street, 'What town is this?' The brakeman said, 'Oklahoma City.'

"The dickerer's smile faded as it came, as the poet says, and his hair stood up, and turning to the brakeman he says:

"'Jezecriminil! Stop her! Here's where we get off!'

"'She doesn't even hesitate at a town like this,' said the brakeman.

"Well, about 11 miles on this side, in a strip of country where a crow can't live and where an Indian wouldn't be caught dead, the old iron horse began to slow up. The conductor came through just then and said:

"'Tickets!'

"Well, say, that was a funny sight. Them that had tickets showed up and then went to sleep. But the dickerers began to kick. They said they should have been let off at Oklahoma City. The conductor said the train didn't stop at Oklahoma, that it wasn't scheduled to stop there, and that he wasn't going to go back that trip. The leader of the dickerers for cheap fares wanted to know what was to be done.

"The conductor was an old timer. He had a face on him like a woman who never loved anybody. He just told them, 'Pay or get off.' Then they asked him where they could pay to. And he said the train wouldn't stop any more until it got to Kansas City the next morning unless it stopped to put them off. And he reached up and caught the bellcord.

"And every one of the dickerers paid to Kansas City. And, of course, under the railroad law, they paid more than they would have paid if they had bought tickets at Purcell. And the company was that much ahead. And that's what I mean when I say that the hardest man to do is a live railroad man."—New York Sun.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS AGAIN.

Conductor Hogg Tells the Story of His Rescue From Diabetes.

Toronto, June 13—Special—Mr. H. Hogg, the well-known and popular street railway conductor (No. 107) who has been cured of a very severe case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, has written as follows to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited.

"My sufferings extended over a period of three years, and grew worse every day. I could get nothing to cure the Diabetes, nor to purify my blood. Finally, the dizziness so overpowered me, and I grew so emaciated and weak, that I had to quit work.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I laughed at him, for I had tried so many remedies, only to be disappointed that I had lost hope. However I did try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Thank God, six boxes cured me entirely."

THE LANDING NET.

Its Various Uses—Nets That Can Be Carried In a Fishing Rod Case.

A landing net can be bought for 50 cents. One can buy a crab net for 15 cents, but a crab net, properly speaking, is not a landing net. The landing net for 50 cents has a ring and a handle of willow, the handle being from 15 to 18 inches in length. Such a net is used by a man wading in a stream or for dipping up smaller fishes from a boat. Landing nets with handles from 4 to 6 feet in length are used for dipping up fish from the bank or larger fish from the boat. These handles are of bamboo, and the longer handles are jointed.

The rings are either jointed or collapsible for greater convenience of carriage when not in use. Jointed rings are divided, some into halves, some into thirds and some into quarters, which may be folded together. Collapsible rings are made of steel in two parts, which are spread out to form the ring when the net is in use and which lie flat together when the net is collapsed. The handle, unscrews, and the collapsed ring with the net rolled around it is laid alongside the handle. It all occupies but very little space. Collapsible nets with jointed bamboo handles sell from $2 to $7. For $5 the purchaser gets a landing net of the best kind, with a net of braided linen, waterproofed; for $7, one with a net of braided silk, enameled. Such nets are articles of steady sale. A man who buys fine fishing rods, who may perhaps pay $50 or $75 for a single rod, doesn't hesitate to pay $5 or $7 for a landing net of corresponding quality, and he has a place for it in his fishing rod case.—New York Sun.

To Prepare Game For the Table.

Certain birds do not require to be drawn, in the estimation of epicures. These are the woodcock, snipe and golden plover, although as a concession to the prejudice of some the plover is sometimes drawn, but an important point to remember is that game should never be washed inside, but merely wiped with a clean cloth.

With few exceptions game should never be underdone, while if overdone it toughens and is ruined. Wild duck, teal and pigeon are the exceptions, which should be rather underdone. Next to the open fire, the double roasting pan gives it the best result, and frequent basting is imperative.

Slices of fat bacon skewered over the breast will improve most game, and in the case of quails, ortolans and such small birds some cooks add a vine leaf.

In the case of young game there is no better way of cooking than roasting or broiling, but it is often necessary to cook old birds, and from these no end of toothsome dishes can be made in the way of pies, gelatins, ragouts, soups, etc.—New York Herald.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? In Death. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

Takes His Jags In Transit.

"The other day I was coming east on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad," said Mr. H. T. Towns of New York. "In the parlor car in which I traveled were a couple of hilarious New Yorkers, who were spending their money for champagne, or at least one of them was, with a liberality that was nigh akin to recklessness. The number of quart bottles that they consumed was startling, and every time the colored attendant brought in a fresh bottle he was presented with a $1 note. Whenever the contents of one were pretty nearly gone the elder of the bacchanalians shouted out to the waiter, 'Who told you to stop bringing in wine?'

"But along toward evening the supply ran out, much to the disgust of the pair, and they had to be content with high balls, cocktails and other plebeian drinks. These were sufficient, however, to keep up their spirits, and later in the night I could hear them yelling for another round.

"The next day the conductor of the train told me that this couple had been riding up and down the road for nearly a week and that they hadn't drawn a sober breath in all that while. It seemed that it was the odd way taken by the senior member to indulge in a spree. He took the younger man along merely for company and footed all the bills. About once a year the notion took him to go off on a tear, and, not wishing to indulge in inebriation at home, he couldn't think of as good a scheme as riding continuously on a trunk line, where there would be only strangers to wonder at his dissipated behavior. The idea of picking a Pullman as the theater of a protracted jag struck me as decidedly original."—Washington Post.

THE PASSING OF THE MAGI

Upon the shore where sweeps the tide of night
They drew their broad pavilions hung with gold
And purple, whose high star tipped poles uphold
Strange shield and gonfalon. Each lean scar, hight
High duke of Egypt, crouches in affright,
Garbed in fantastic tatters, swart and old,
And strains his hungry eyes across the fold,
Mumbling delirious litanies of blight,

Till at the call some lowering Ethiop form,
Its black limbs shackled with a star linked trail,
Tilts its great urn until the moonlight warm
Pours on the vineyards of the sleeping vale.
But with the flood the chapel's white walls glow,
The tents dissolve, far cymbals clank for woe.
—Thomas Walsh in Chap Book.

Something to Learn.

As Mr. Ruffedge sat down after having elbowed his way back from a between acts trip, he happened to see some Japanese students sitting farther in front.

"A great many Japanese come over to this country to get civilized, don't they?" he remarked. "I suppose it takes them a good while to get used to our ways."

"I suppose so," said Miss Cayenne. "And I don't think those young men have been here very long."

"Why?"

"I haven't seen one of them climbing over the people between him and the aisle every time the curtain went down."—Washington Star.

JUVENILE TEMPLARS' EXCELLENT CONCERT.

A LARGE AUDIENCE ASSEMBLES IN ASSOCIATION HALL.

The Chair Taken by Grand Superintendent F. S. Morrison, of Hamilton—The Programme.

The concert held under the auspices of the Juvenile Good Templars in Association Hall last night certainly proved an unqualified success. The attendance was large and the excellence of the programme speaks for itself. The chair was occupied Mr. F. S. Morrison, of Hamilton, Grand Superintendent of the juvenile lodges I. O.G.T., of Ontario.

After Rev. W. L. Scott, of Ottawa, had led in prayer and the opening hymn—"God Bless our Youthful Band"—had been sung the musical portion of the programme was opened by a brilliantly rendered piano duet by the Misses Doris. A recitation—"Why People Drink"—was well rendered by Miss Aggie Davis, as was a recitation by little Edith Pratt, entitled "Just a Little Piece of String." The "Maple Leaf" chorus, as given by a band of young Templars, was well received, and Master Holden Blackwell met with a most enthusiastic reception at the hands of the audience. After giving "Hello," a most appropriate selection for the occasion, he recited, as an encore number, the French dialect selection "The Canadian Voyageurs." Little Stella Davis' vocal solo—"Rat-tat-tat"—was so well received that she had to also respond to an encore, giving "My Irene" in a most pleasing manner.

Miss Bunton, superintendent of Carswell Temple, of Paterborough, then presented the following report of the work since the organisation of the branch:—

To the Officers and Members of Grand Juvenile Temple:

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS.—Our Juvenile Temple was re-organised April 20th by Bro. Stubbs P.V.T., with only twelve members. A small Temple, certainly, and yet it is Little drops of water,

Little grains of sand,
Make the mighty ocean,
And the beauteous land.

We chose the old but well-honoured name Carswell Lodge No. 69, for our Temple.

Our object is to promote temperance and stimulate and strengthen each other for the work that must come to us in the future, if we are true to the trust which the Master has committed to us.

If the success in the future is not found to be equal to that of the past few weeks, we should prayerfully search out the causes of failure and add endeavour to remove them.

Our Juvenile demands, and should have, our very best thought and effort. He who has said, "Feed my lambs," will hold us responsible for doing our best in the accomplishment of this God-given work. The children are the hope of the Order, of the Church and of the country. Instil into the minds of our children to-day Truth, Love and Purity, and we ensure for our country a glorious and happy future.

Work for the good that is highest,
Dream not of greatness afar,
That glory is ever the brightest,
Which shines upon men as they are.

Offer thy life on the altar,
In the high purpose be strong,
And if the tired spirit should falter,
Then sweeten thy labour with song.

We have held seven meetings and increased to 70 in membership. At each of our meetings we have an attendance of 35 Juveniles and five subordinate members. Our meetings are interesting. We have chosen sides, namely Lillies and Rosebuds, and at each alternate meeting the sides will give a short programme, which indeed interests the children.

Will our juveniles kindly rise and repeat the pledge over after me?

I promise that I will not drink cider, beer wine spirits or alcoholic or intoxicating drink.

I promise that I will not use tobacco in any form.

I promise that I will not use either profane or wicked words.

I promise that I will not gamble.

I urge you parents to permit your children to join our Juvenile Temple, and we will try, under the blessing of God, to lead them in the just and holier path.

We give a very cordial invitation for any one to come and see us.

Our Temple meets on Saturday at 3 o'clock in the Unity Hall, over China Hall.

Yours in Truth, Love and Purity,
M. BUNTON,
Supt J.T.

Peterborough, June 14th, 1898.

Mrs. Scott, of Ottawa, formerly of town, gave a brief impromptu address, in which she referred to the many pleasant recollections she entertained of Peterborough, although many of her co-workers in the George street Methodist church had passed away. She urged the Juveniles to be loyal to their pledge, and loyal to the Biblical truths on which their order was founded. A special word was addressed to the boys, as the speaker took a particular interest in them, through the fact that they were subjected to more temptations than the girls, and also because in the near future the ballot would be in their hands. That the order was now prospering was apparent on the face of things, as in the report just submitted it was shown how since April 30th, the local Juvenile Temple had increased its membership from twelve to over seventy active young workers.

The musical programme was reopened by the contribution of a well executed piano solo by Mrs. Davis, followed by little Gertie Allison's very appropriate recitation. The rest of the programme was of a character which greatly pleased the large audience and called for encores for almost every number. Musical selections were given by Miss Parnell, Miss Grey, Miss Alma Webber, Miss Pascoe and Mr. J. Hetherington, whilst recitations were contributed by Miss Clarissa McClelland, Miss Gertie Bradburn, Master Cecil Succee, Miss Ella Mathieson, Miss V. Munroe, Miss Edna Armstrong and Miss Ruth Anthony.

A HARVEY JUNE WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Maude Boate and Mr. Henry Irwin.

One of the most pleasant social functions of the season took place in Harvey, near Lakehurst, on Thursday afternoon last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Boate, when their only daughter, Maud, was married to Mr. Harry Irwin, of Smith, formerly of Harvery.

Just at six o'clock, amid the sweet strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Purser, of Hall's Bridge, the bridal party appeared upon the scene and took their places under a beautiful arch decorated with evergreens, locust bloom, wild roses and marguerites.

The bride looked her very best in a rich and becoming gown, and was gracefully supported by her cousin, Miss Lillian Little, of Toronto, both ladies carrying exquisite bouquets of pink and white carnations. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Ed. Irwin. Rev. Prosper H. Neville performed the solemn ceremony.

About forty guests were present, including the intimate friends of the contracting parties and a few of the relatives on each side. The wedding gifts were numerous, beautiful and useful, and betoken the high esteem in which the young couple were held by all their friends. The Methodist church here will greatly miss Mrs. Irwin, who has been a good helper in all church and Young People's Christian work. We all join in wishing them both much joy in their new home.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion. You need not expect a clear, beautiful complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for their action on the liver and blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

AMERICAN VICTORY.

One Hundred Spaniards Killed and 200 Wounded

BY BRAVE PARTY OF U.S. MARINES

A Spanish Blockhouse and Important Telegraph Station Destroyed — The Marines Bring in 18 Prisoners, 100 Mauser Rifles and 10,000 Rounds of Ammunition — Another Battle at Close Quarters.

New York, June 16.—A Journal despatch from Camp McCalla, Guantanamo harbor, June 15, says:

The scouting parties of marines which were sent out yesterday returned here at 10 o'clock last night with 18 Spanish prisoners, one of them an officer. The party also captured 100 Mauser rifles and 10,000 rounds of ammunition. The yreport having had a series of engagements with Spaniards, in which 100 Spanish soldiers were killed and 200 wounded. The yalso destroyed a Spanish blockhouse and telegraph station, through which the Spaniards had been keeping Guantanamo and Santiago informed of the movements of American troops.

MARINES AND CUBANS

Put a Spanish Camp to Rout With Much Loss to the Enemy—A Trying March.

United States Camp, East Side of Entrance to Guantanamo Bay, Tuesday, June 14, 8 p.m., by the Associated Press Despatch Boat Wanda, via Kingston, Jamaica, Wednesday, June 15.—(12.30 p.m.)—The United States marines, under Lieut.-Col. Robert W. Huntington, made their first aggressive movement against the Spanish guerillas today, and completely routed the enemy. The force of marines was under Capt. Elliott. The co-operating Cubans were under Col. Laborda. The combined forces razed a Spanish camp about five miles from the American position, destroyed the only well in the city and killed about 40 Spaniards. One American marine was slightly wounded, two Cubans were killed and four wounded. It is impossible to estimate the number of Spaniards engaged, owing to their guerilla methods of fighting, but it is believed there were at least 400. The marines behaved splendidly, their marksmanship being excellent, even under the severe fire of the enemy.

A Trying March.

The captured camp lay about five miles southeast of the rifle pits of the marines, and was an important base for the enemy, as it contained the only well within six or seven miles. Lieut.-Col. Huntington decided on the attack early in the day, and about 8 o'clock the force started across the mountains. The march up and down the steep hillsides under the glaring tropical sun was a severe test of the endurance of the marines, and before the battle ground was reached 22 men had received medical attendance. All were able, however, to reach the position before the fighting ceased.

The marines were compelled to march in single file, following the mountain trail. Meanwhile bands darted backward and forward on the scout. It was from a hilltop at noon that the Americans caught sight of the Spanish camp lying on a ridge below them. It consisted of one large house, the officers' quarters, surrounded by numerous "shacks" and huts, all clustering about the precious well.

The Americans began a cautious advance and were within 200 yards of the enemy before the crack of the rifle from the Spanish lines announced that the Spaniards had discovered them. The troops quickly moved into line of battle with the Cubans on the left flank by the line of morfation affected, but the marines settled down to their work as unconcernedly as though at target practice. Very few Spaniards were in sight. They were lying behind the huts and in the brush, but the puffs of smoke revealed their positions and enabled the Americans to do effective work. For 20 minutes both sides maintained a terrific fire. The Spanish shots were generally wild and spasmodic, while the Americans were cool, aiming carefully and shooting to kill. For the most part, the American firing was done individually, but at times the officers could direct firing by squads, always with telling effect.

The Enemy Gives Way.

It was beginning to look as though a bayonet charge down the slope would be necessary to dislodge the enemy, when suddenly the latter began to break for a thicket a hundred yards further on. Little groups could be seen fleeing from the camp, separating, darting through the brush and zigzagging to escape the bullets. It was then the American fire became most deadly. Man after man could be seen to fall in a vain rush for shelter, and the fire from the Spanish became scattering and almost ceased. Two Cubans lay dead and four wounded, and private Walker, of company D, had to limp to the rear with a slight wound in his ankle.

The easy victory put the command in high spirits. The little black Cuban warriors waved their machetes and howled curses at the Spanish in savage fashion. Their firing has been wild throughout, but they all displayed the utmost contempt for the Spanish bullets, apparently being absolutely without fear.

The Dolphin Opens Fire.

As the enemy began breaking from the camp, the Dolphin, which lay out at sea, was signalled, and began pitching shells toward the thicket for which the Spaniards were making. Meanwhile Lieut. Magill was seen coming with forty men a reinforcements, and Captain Mahoney was on the way with a hundred more. But before either could reach the scene, the trouble was over.

As the Spanish retreated the Americans moved slowly forward, firing as they went, and by the time the camp was reached, the enemy had all got away, taking their wounded and probably many of their dead. Fifteen bodies were found scattered through the bush, but the Americans were unable to examine the spot where their firing had been most deadly. No time was lost in burning the buildings and filling the well with earth and stones.

THE MERRIMAC EXPLOIT.

Uncle Sam Recognizes the Services of Lieut. Hobson's Daring Band—Promotions Announced.

Washington, June 16. — Substantial recognition has been given by the Navy Department to the members of the crew who took the Merrimac into the entrance to Santiago Harbor and sank her across the channel under the very muzzles of the Spanish guns. Official recognition was taken of their valor when Secretary Long signed the orders to Admiral Sampson directing the promotion of all the members of the crew. Lieut. Hobson's reward will come later through Congress.

The men still linger in a Spanish prison, but when they return again to their ships their promotions will be awaiting them.

The orders sent to Admiral Sampson direct the promotion of the men as follows: Daniel Montague, master-at-arms, to be a boatswain, from $50 a month to $1,300 a year. George Cheretta, gunner's mate, to be a gunner, from $50 a month to $1,300 a year. Rudolph Clausen, Osborne Delgnan and —. Murphy, coxswains, to be chief boatswains' mates, an increase of $20 a month. George F. Phillips, machinist, to be chief machinist, from $40 a month to $70 a month. Francis Kelly, water tender, to be chief machinist, from $38 a month to $70 a month.

In addition to the promotions, steps have already been taken towards the presentation of medals to Constructor Hobson and the members of his gallant crew. What new honors await Constructor Hobson, who planned and executed the brilliant coup, have not yet been disclosed.

AMERICANS IN ACERRADEROS.

Sampson Reports That His Troops Hold the Town.

Washington, D.C., June 16.—The Navy Department to-day posted the following bulletin:

"Admiral Sampson reports that he has been reinforced by several hundred Cubans, and that his forces at Guantanamo are in a very satisfactory condition. The town of Acerraderos has been occupied by the troops under General Rabi. The men under General Garcia are co-operating with the American troops.

Dynamite Guns Tested.

Off Santiago de Cuba, Tuesday, June 11.—(8 p.m.)—The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius tested her guns on the Spanish embankments west of El Morro at midnight. Three charges each of 200 lbs. of gun-cotton were fired. The explosions were terrific and great damage was done.

Hobson to Be Exchanged.

Madrid, June 16.—The Government has authorized Governor-General Blanco to entertain proposals for an exchange of Lieut. Hobson and other prisoners taken when the American collier Merrimac was sun.

ANGLO-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

Lord Selborne Pays a Warm Tribute to the Marquis of Salisbury.

London, Jun 16.—The Earl of Selborne, Under Secretary of the Colonies, addressing the Conservative Association at Brampton this evening, said that the rapprochement of England and America was "a work entitling Lord Salisbury to a place in the country's annals."

"I know of no other achievement," said Lord Selborne, "that will tend more to the benefit of the human race.

"Yet, three years ago, Lord Salisbury was denounced for 'knuckling down' to America, just as he is now denounced for a 'weak-kneed Chinese policy.' Let the country have patience. The Chinese question is only at its beginning. If we wish to preserve our commercial rights and privileges in China intact, we must be prepared for a land war on a large scale."

ANGLO-SAXON AMITY.

Toronto Methodist Conference Passes Strong Resolution.

GOD SAVE QUEEN AND AMERICA.

A Charing Cross Farmer Beaten and Robbed—Sentences of Liberty-Loving Prisoners Increased—The San Jose Scale—A Dead Mitchell Man Identified — A Peterboro Printer Dead at Toronto.

Toronto, June 16.—At the Toronto Methodist Conference yesterday, Prof. Badgley read a memorial that was composed by the reader and Dr. Henderson, and carried. The resolution is:

That the signs are multiplying on every hand that international difficulties, instead of being settled by an appeal to the sword, are more being adjusted by the wise and skilful diplomacy of Christian statesmanship.

That in the van of this great and desirable movement we recognize the womanly heart and Christian influence of our beloved Queen and Her Majesty's responsible advisers.

That we rejoice in the growing sentiments of sympathy and brotherhood between the British Empire and the United States, representing as they do two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race.

That we recognize that to these two great powers is entrusted an important mission as leaders in all reform, freedom and progress.

That we devotedly pray that all thought and movement towards these ends of closer union, sympathy and co-operation may be divinely furthered until the last shackle shall be stricken from the oppressed, and political and religious liberty and equality shall be the people's heritage on every continent and in every island of the sea.

After this tribute was carried the National Anthem of Canada, and "America," that of the United States, were sung lustily.

BEATEN AND ROBBED.

A Charing Cross Farmer Unconscious From the Treatment He Received.

Windsor, June 16.—Joseph Labreck, a farmer living near Charing Cross, was found lying in an unconscious condition by the roadside near his home Tuesday night. His coat, shoes and watch were gone and there were dark bruises on the back of his head. Dr. Burton was sent for, arriving an hour later, but up to yesterday morning had been unable to restore the man to consciousness. Labreck left home directly after supper on foot to go to a neighbor's house. He stayed about an hour and started soon after dark. It is thought that he was attacked by tramps who were seen in the vicinity. Efforts to find them have so far been fruitless.

THEIR SENTENCES LENGTHENED.

Prisoners Who Attempted to Gain Their Liberty Will Stay Longer in Jail.

Kingston, June 16.—Yesterday six convicts were tried at the court before Judge Wilkinson for escaping from the Penitentiary. John Treburn, Lewis Lawrence, William O'Connor and David Weese got one year each added to their terms. David Fud had six months put on his present term to run concurrently, and Joseph Fisher, whose term had expired, got six months suspended sentence. James Farwell, for horse stealing in Middlesex, got seven years in addition to his present term, which expires March, 1900.

HE CAME FROM MITCHELL.

Man Killed Near St. Paul's Station Has Been Identified.

Stratford, June 16.—The man killed by the train near St. Paul's Station on Monday evening last has been fully identified as John Redmond of Mitchell. He left Mitchell on Monday for St. Mary's, where he expected to get work. Not having money enough to pay his fare he was put off the train at Sebringville and it is supposed had walked to where he was found on his way to St. Mary's. THE CATERPILLAR PEST.

The reports from northern districts of the Province in regard to a plague of caterpillars and the temporary stoppage of C.P.R. trains as a result of crushing myriads of the pests on the rails should, the Globe says, induce all who have any authority to strictly enforce the provisions of the law for the prosecutlyn of insectivorous birds. The only effective means of fighting insect pests is by sparing their natural enemy. If school teachers and school inspectors would warn pupils against robbing birds' nests of eggs or destroying the young, and at the same time point out how useful the birds are as an ally of the farmer, they would do the community an important service. Certain privileges for the collection of birds' eggs for strictly scientific objects may be secured through the Game Wardens, but it is unlawful to have in one's possession without such a permit, either the eggs or young of any bird, save eagles, hawks, owls, wild pigeons, blackbirds, kingfishers, crows, ravens, jays and sparrows.

The Globe's comments do not seem to apply very pointedly to our town caterpillars. Our local birds do not seem to have developed any ravenous appetite for caterpillars, which seem to be a pest without a single redeeming feature—not even as a palatable food for a crow. There is a good deal of point, however, in the reference to the wanton destruction of insectivorous birds, by robbing their nests especially in the spring. There is an appalling prevalence of this practice amongst young boys—some amateur egg collectors and some moved by pure destructiveness. It is painful to witness the ingrained barbarism that, in this regard, crops out from the thin veneer of christianization. The children are not all to blame. Pious mothers who teach their children their prayers and impress the teachings of the meek and lowly One who notes even the fall of a sparrow, wink at and even encourage the cruel practice of bird nest robbing by these same children. Citizens in high stations, and it is said even those charged with the responsibility of the enforcement of the law regard the predatory practices of the youngsters with indifference. Thousands of birds eggs, and, consequently, thousands of birds have been destroyed in Peterborough this year, and every year, and not a single attempt has been made by the authorities to prevent the practice. The town has spent several hundred dollars to minimize the caterpillar pest, but the authorities passively permit the destruction of thousands of other insects who work in the aggregate greater destruction, by refusing, or, at least, refraining from, preventing, the unlawful destruction of insectivorous birds and their eggs. In regard to the destruction of insects and vermin by birds, it is questionable whether the law is wise in including the pugnacious and persistent English sparrow in its sentence of outlawry against birds. The sparrow doubtless does a great deal of mischief to grain fields, and knocks out the sweet-warbling robin without much mercy, but he is not all bad. The number of grubs and insects destructive to garden and other vegetation which a nesting sparrow and her mate convey to the voracious maws of their callow progeny is surprising and is worthy of being placed in off-set against the other destruction they are charged with. Apart from considerations of humanity the function of bird life in destroying insect life is recognised as a very important one and it should be protected to the fullest in its exercise. We can form no idea of what birds do in this respect unless we should, by some unspeakably sad calamity, be deprived entirely of all our birds. We should in that case be a prey to insect pests that would be the death of every green thing, and compared with the crawling caterpillar would be as a housefly to the plague of Egyptian locusts that rived even the hard heart of the Pharaoh of the Hebrew oppression.

Scott were present as a committee from Asphodel to meet the Norwood council to bring about a more organized state of management for the cemetery grounds. John Breckenridge supplied the needed information and the reeve appointed Councillors Moffat and Rork as a committee for above.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will evidently become chronic. The first application soothes the irritation and gives the little sufferer rest.

"Yesterday afternoon Mr. McWilliams, bookkeeper and accountant of the Sun Life Assurance Company, of this city, was the recipient of a massive and handsome 15 karat solid gold chain and locket, subscribed for by employees of the Sun Life. Mr. McWilliams has been in the company's office for several years and has been promoted to District Agent at Kingston. His kindly disposition, zealousness in the performance of his duties and uniform courtesy displayed to his fellow workers soon marked him out a special favourite.

The manager, agents and other employees of the company assembled yesterday en masse and in a few well chosen words Mr. Willie Grant made the presentation, which was accompanied by an illuminated address. Speeches of congratulation were made by Messrs. Reid, Ingersoll, Burns, O Keefe, Connell, Chambers, Davis and Rheaume. Mr. McWilliams briefly but suitably responded. "For he's a jolly good fellow" having been sung three hearty good cheers given and the proceedings terminated.

Mr. Reid, junior, succeeds Mr. McWilliams as bookkeeper."

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,901.95, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz.: a Paid-up Life policy for $3510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.80, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

North German Lloyd Steamer Ems Cuts the Gypsum Princess in Two—Six Lives Were Lost.

New York, June 16.—The North German Lloyd steamer Ems arrived yesterday afternoon from Genoa v Naples and Gibraltar and brought six shipwrecked s aman of the schooner Gypsum Princess of Parrsboro, N.S., which was sunk at sea June 14. The captain, his wife and four others were drowned. The Ems was moving ahead at half speed during the night of June 14. At 9 o'clock the steamer struck a large three masted schooner from which the crew came tumbling aboard. The engines were reversed and the boats were cleared, but the vessel had disappeared below the surface of the ocean, not three minutes time having elapsed between the collision and the sinking of the unfortunate craft.

The seamen from the wreck reported that their vessel was the schooner Gypsum Princess of Parrsboro, N.S., with a full cargo of plaster from Windsor, N.S., to New York. The steamer cut the Gypsum Princess in half. Four of the crew managed to scramble on board the steamer and two others were picked up by the boats lowered from the Ems. Captain Merriam was lost while trying to save his wife and two children. His oldest son Edgar, who was the mate, and Sanford Murray the cook, whose leg was broken in the collision, were also lost. The Ems sustained no damage.

WAR ENDS WHEN CUBA FALLS.

Great Britain Announces When the Powers Will Step In.

New York, June 16.—A Washington despatch to the World says: Great Britain, through its Ambassador at Washington, has informed Secretary of State Day that when the United States captures Cuba Spain will be forced to end the war. Great Britain looks on the situation in the light that Cuba is what both nations are fighting for, and when Spain has lost the island there will be nothing left for her on which to continue the struggle. Sir Julian Pauncefote has assured Secretary Day that the powers would not permit Spain to continue a hopeless war, to the detriment of their commerce. Great Britain's assurances probably account for President McKinley's orders to prepare an army to move on Havana.

GERMANY AND U. S.

Will She Intervene Against America in the Philippines?

QUESTION CAUSING ANXIETY.

Opinion Prevalent That the Kaiser's Government May Attempt to Repeat the Kiao-Chou Game—Yet the Germans Affirm They Have No Intention of Making Trouble.

New York, June 16.—A London special to The Journal says: H. W. Wilson, England's best naval authority, has made the following signed statement:

"Concentration of the German warships at Manila is threatening. It looks as if Germany intended to seize a coaling station in the Philippines, or in the Sulu archipelago, a dependency of the Philippines, which was recently suggested in Germany and attempted in 1885. Germany may argue that the United States has not yet conquered Sulu, which is separate from Philippines, and may therefore be purchased from Spain. Germany is an honest broker. She generally lays hands on other people's goods when there is trouble around. The erman squadron in the far East includes two third-class battle ships, one first-class cruiser, three second-class and two third-class cruisers. Five of these are at Manila, or have been ordered there. Dewey, with the Charleston and the Monterey, will be strong enough to take the whole lot. It is not likely that Germany will risk a quarrel with America. She may try to bluff the States. She knows that England is to be reckoned with if any mischief is attempted. The British fleet in the far East consists of three battle ships, nine good cruisers and four torpedo destroyers."

Germany Planning Mischief at Manila.

London, June 16.—Information has been received in European capitals that Germany is planning mischief at Manila. The Emperor has sounded Italy to ascertain whether she will join with Germany, Russia and Austria in sending to either check the annexation of the Philippines by the United States or their cession to any other power.

A Nagasaki despatch says that when the German warship Kaiser sailed a few days ago it was currently reported in Japan that she intended forcing Dewey's blockade.

Washington's View of the Situation.

Washington, June 16.—A Cabinet officer declared last night that any interference by Germany in the Philippines means war with Germany. The United States intends to hold them, and will tolerate no interference from any country, he said.

The Administration, it is stated, apprehends trouble, however, and has even gone so far as to secure from the Naval Bureau a statement of Germany's naval strength. This shows that Germany's sea force is somewhat inferior to ours. The presence of thirty British warships in eastern waters, will, it is thought, have a deterrent influence on the ambitions of the Kaiser.

Germany's Threatening Attitude.

London, June 16.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: "It seems almost impossible that Germany can have the idea of risking a war with the United States by interference at Manila. Nevertheless it is equally impossible to ignore the significance of the fact that ideas of repeating the successful Kiao-Chou experiment are evidently floating in the brains of the naval personages, whose influence is so great that the matter deserves attention.

More of It.

London, June 16.—The Berlin correspondent of the Times says: "The Marine Politische Correspondenz, which is often officially inspired, and other papers, express the hope that some permanent result, such as the possession of a harbor, will be the outcome of the presence of the German squadron at the Philippines. "It would be a mistake to attach overmuch importance to these effusions, but the presence of Admiral Von Diedrich's squadron there is certainly significant."

Why the Bourse Was Buoyant.

London, June 16.—A Madrid despatch to the Daily Mail says: Premier Sagasta has informed me that the rise in the Bourse to-day was due to telegrams announcing that the inclination is felt by Russia to intervene in the Philippines.

GERMANY WARNED.

Uncle Sam Has 158 Ships in Commission and Will Brook No Interference.

Washington, June 16.—In the House of Representatives yesterday Mr. Berry, speaking of the Philippine situation, said that while not advocating the retention of the islands, the United States should brook no interference upon the part of Germany, as was intimated as being likely, and said if Germany should attempt to defeat any rights belonging to America, then the United States, with 158 ships in commission and 75,000,000 people would be ready to respond to the demand for resenting any interference. Mr. Berry's remarks in this connection were applauded generally.

GERMANY WILL NOT INTRUDE.

Washington Advised From Berlin Why Ships Are at Manila.

Washington, D.C., June 16.—The State Department has been officially advised that reports that Germany would make an issue in the Philippines are unwarranted. German ships would be on hand at Manila to afford protection to German subjects and property, but Germany had no thought of intervention.

WHEAT RALLIES.

A Better Feeling in Chicago, and Futures Are Higher in Liverpool—The Latest Quotations.

Wednesday Evening, June 15.

The announcement that Leiter's affairs have been so arranged that his cash wheat will not be dumped on the market created a better feeling on the grain market in Chicago to-day, and when a fair demand was reported at interior points a slight rally in prices occurred. June wheat rose 3c, July 2½c, September 1½c and December 1½c over yesterday's closing figures. There are those who predict quite an advance in the cereal for the time being.

On the Liverpool board to-day wheat was irregular, and at the close the July delivery had declined 2½d per cental below yesterday's last figures, the September and December options on the contrary advancing 1d and 1½d per cental respectively. At Paris wheat declined 30 to 90 centimes for the day.

There is very little doing in Ontario wheat. At Toronto No. 2 red sold at 83c and 86c middle and high freights, while Manitoba hard was quoted at about 95c afloat at Fort William.

THE POWERS WILL CHECK GERMANY.

HER MUST NOT MEDDLE IN THE MANILLA MATTER.

Spain Dreads the Threatened Visit of U. S. Fleet to Cadiz—Camara's War Ships Still at Home—The Spanish Government on Dangerous Ground.

Special 3 p. m. dispatch to the Examiner.

Germany Only on the Watch.

London, June 16.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The Berlin press is unanimous in asserting that Germany's attitude in the Philippines is solely one of surveillance of German interests, and that the presence of the German fleet at Manilla is a guarantee that if the Philippines are lost to Spain they will not come into possession of any single power interested in Eastern Asia.

Great Excitement in Cadiz.

New York, June 16th.—A Herald despatch from Cadiz via Gibralter, says:—There is great excitement here owing to fears of the American fleet coming to Spain.

A despatch to the World from Tangier, Morocco, says: The Spanish reserve squadron under command of Admiral Cimera, had not sailed from Cadiz. All the vessels belonging to the squadron were anchored there to-day.

A despatch to the World from Madrid, says: The situation is daily becoming more critical for the Government.

England and France Would Both Object.

London, June 16.—A special to the World from London says:—Neither Russia nor France, still less England, would tolerate any virtual capture of Manilla to Germany's special advantage.

Insurgent Cuban Movements.

New York, June 16.—The Herald says as soon as arrangements can be completed the Cuban Junta will send a ship commanded by Captain Johnny O'Brien to Cuba. A commission of prominent Cubans will be aboard and the ship will carry a quantity of provisions for the use of the insurgent army

London, June 16.—Berlin correspondent of the Standard says:—The Spanish hopes of a general demonstration with Manilla is doomed to disappointment even if Spain were willing to grant Germany a point d'appui (a basis) with a view of inducing her to interfere. It would come to nothing, while others than Germany will undoubtedly claim a point d'appui if Spain loses the Philippines.

A JUNE BRIDAL.

Nuptials of Miss Lizzie Sanderson and Mr. John LeBar.

Yesterday evening at 7 o'clock, at the parsonage of the Charlotte street Methodist church, Rev. D. O. Crossley performed the ceremony that united in marriage Mr. John LeBar, town, and Miss Lizzie Sanderson, daughter of Mr. Robt. Sanderson, North Monaghan. The bride, who was gowned in brocaded blue trimmed with ribbon and chiffon, was assisted by her sister, Miss Cecilia, who was attired in brocaded grenadine, trimmed with blue satin and ribbon. Her bouquet was of pink roses while the bride carried a bouquet of cream and pink roses. Mr. Robt. Baker, jr., Ashburnham, performed the duties of best man. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to Mr. Sanderson's residence, where they joined the guests in a sumptuous wedding breakfast. Among the many beautiful and useful gifts was a fine china dinner and tea set presented by the proprietors and employees of the IXL Laundry. After spending the evening at Mr. Sanderson's up till about midnight, the happy couple drove to their future residence, corner of George and Sherbrooke streets, followed by the best wishes of their many friends for a happy wedded life.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Dr. Bradd spent yesterday with Omemee friends.

Mrs Geo. Shiells yesterday afternoon received a telegram informing her of the serious illness of her son, Mr. Thos. Shiells at his residence, Credit Forks, near Toronto. Mrs. Shiells and her daughter, Lizzie, went to that place this morning.

COUNTY COURT PROCEEDINGS.

McDONALD FOUND GUILTY OF BURGLARY.

John Walker Pleads Guilty to the Theft of Mr. Wolstenholm's Bicycle and Gets Eighteen Months in the Central—Presentment of the Grand Jury.

At the sitting of the court this morning the Grand Jury made the following presentment:—

To His Honour, Charles Alexander Walker:

The Grand Jury of the County of Peterborough beg to present as follows:—

In accordance with your instructions we visited the gaol, which we are pleased to state we found to be clean and well kept and in perfect order.

We paid particular attention to the late unfortunate gaol breaking by the prisoner McDonald and his accomplice, and would suggest as a means of preventing further successful attempts of this nature that the practice of leaving one of the prisoners free in the ward at night for the purpose of giving alarm in case of sickness, etc., to be discontinued and that a simple system of electric bells, with a push button in, or at the door of, the cell be introduced.

It also appeared to us that the kitchen, where a prisoner is employed as cook, is in too close proximity to the front door of the gaol, and that it is a comparatively easy matter for articles, as a file, for instance, to be passed through this entrance to the cook. We would, therefore, recommend that a room on the floor above be set apart for a kitchen, if possible.

It is to be seriously hoped that the House of Refuge referred to by your Honour, may, in the near future, be established in this county, and that some definite action in the matter may be taken by the County Council at its coming session.

The other public institutions in the town having been recently inspected by the Grand Jury, we did not consider it necessary to again visit them.

In the opinion of your Grand Jury the present system of making and repairing the roads by statute labour, however well adapted to the conditions existing in the earlier times, has survived its usefulness, and a more rational system should be substituted therefor. Your Grand Jury would recommend that action in this matter be taken by the county as well as local municipalities.

It is also generally recognized that the use of wide tires on wagons carrying heavy loads would greatly assist in keeping the roads in good condition. In order that the change from the present narrow tires to the wide ones may be made without causing unnecessary loss to individuals, and that the changes may become general instead of being confined to local municipalities, it appears to your Grand Jury that it is desirable that the Legislature should provide by a general act that no draft wagon built after a date to be named should be allowed to be used with tires of less than the width that may be fixed. This would ensure the gradual adoption of the wide tires without loss or inconvenience to anyone.

GEO. A. SMITH,
Foreman.

June 16th, 1898.

His Honour in commenting on the presentment, commended several features of it, and took occasion to call attention to an important omission in the reference to public roads. The jury had omitted to deal with the matter of better roads for bicyclists, a class that had became very numerous and was deserving of attention in the consideration of the subject of good roads. The jury was commended for the prompt and satisfactory discharge of its duties, and discharged from further attendance.

Mark Black was arraigned on a charge of perjury and pleaded not guilt. He was not ready for trial.

John Walker arraigned on a charge of stealing a bicycle from Wolstenholme's livery, pleaded guilty, and also to an associated charge of perjury.

In extenuation he urged that he did not know the nature of an oath. He was sentenced to eighteen months confinement in the Central Prison.

Henry Ross, charged with stealing money from an automatic cash registering gas meter in the Times office, pleaded not guilty, and was put on trial. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Last evening the jury in the McDonald alias Mart Marshall, charge of burglarizing the Norwood postoffice on April 8th, after a deliberation of an hour and a half, returned a verdict of guilty. McDonald will not receive sentence till after the disposal of two other charges, that of causing a dangerous explosion and that of arson, in connection with the burglary.

ROYAL ARCH MASONRY.

Official Visits by the Most Excellent the Grand First Principal Z, and the District Superintendent.

A very large number of the officers and members of Corinthian Royal Arch Chapter, No. 26, G. R. C., assembled in the Chapter rooms, Water street, last evening to receive Most Excellent M. Walsh, of Ingersoll, First Principal Z, of the Grand Chapter of Canada; and Rt. Excellent Comp. A. E. Henry, of Whitby, Grand District Superintendent of the Ontario District, both of whom paid their official visits for the first time to Corinthian Chapter. After the opening the distinguished visitors were received in due and ancient form, after which two candidates were exalted to the sublime degree of the Holy Royal Arch of Jerusalem.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the officers were highly complimented upon the efficiency of their work by the official visitors, who expressed themselves well pleased with the reception they had been given and the satisfaction it gave them to know that the new officers of Corinthian Chapter were worthy successors of those who had brought it up to its present state of efficiency.

An adjournment was afterwards made to the dining room where refreshments were served, after which a very pleasant hour was spent in listening to addresses from the visitors and others.

During the afternoon the visitors were entertained by the officers of the Chapter in driving them around town and showing them its beauties and its many places of interest.

PLEBISCITE MASS MEETING.

The Templars Open the Tilt in the Plebiscite Tournament.

MR. SPENCE'S POINTED SPEECH.

Large Gathering in the George Street Methodist Church—Civic Welcome to the Grand Lodge Visitors—Welcome by Sister Societies—Resume of Yesterday's Proceedings—Summary of Important Reports.

A large audience gathered in the George street Methodist church last evening on occasion of a mass meeting being held under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, for the purpose of hearing addresses and receiving information regarding the prohibition plebescite. The delegates to the Grand Lodge, of course, turned out in force, their bright badges being much in evidence. There was also a large attendance of citizens amongst whom the ladies were largely in the majority.

The class was taken by Rev. Mr. Andrews, Londesboro, a prominent official in Grand Lodge circles. The other officials of the Grand Lodge had seats upon the platform, as did also Dr. Fife, Mrs. Paton, Mr. S. R. Armstrong and Rev. S. J. Shorey.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "God Bless our Native Land," after which Rev. J. S. Shorey led in prayer.

Rev. Mr. Andrews, in making a brief address from the chair, expressed the pleasure it gave him to be associated with the distinguished workers who were seated on the platform with him and it also gave him great pleasure to meet so large an audience interested in the great work to which his colleagues were devoting themselves. He asked for close and prayerful attention to the addresses which were to be delivered during the evening.

By special request Mr. G. W. Mulligan then sang 'The Broken Pinion" in excellent voice and faultless style.

The chairman then read a number of letters of regret at their inability to be present including those of Messrs. Jas. Kendry, M.P., and J. R. Stratton, M.P.P.

On behalf of Mayor Davis, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, town clerk, read the following address of welcome from

THE TOWN COUNCIL:

PETERBOROUGH, JUNE 15th, 1898.

To the Officers and Members of the Grand Lodge of Ontario of the Independent Order of Good Templars:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—I regret very much that absence from town prevents me from meeting you and bidding you welcome to Peterborough, as I was commissioned to do by the town council. We are always pleased to receive as welcome visitors those who come to us as representatives of the Societies of the Province and other bodies of a public or semi-public character. We fancy, too, that Peterborough occupies a situation that makes it a convenient place for such bodies to assemble in, as it is central and is well served with railway connections. And it is not, we are vain enough to think, without attractions for visitors. It has a number of public parks, of which we are somewhat proud and are pleased to have visitors share with us, and the manufacturing industries are of such a character that they are known throughout the Dominion, while some of the public buildings, such as churches, the hospitals and the Young Men's Christian Association building in which you are holding your sessions, are, we think, creditable and repay inspection by those who are visiting town.

We extend a hearty welcome so you as visitors who have come from various parts of the Province, and ask you to feel at home here and make the most use you can of the privileges of the town; and we also welcome you as the chosen representatives of the most active and influential temperance organization of the Province. Your influence has been felt for many years on behalf of temperance and sobriety, and the result of the good work that has been done in this direction in the past is marked. The people have, largely through the efforts of societies organized for the purpose, been educated to see the effects of indulgence in intoxicants, and anyone who is at all familiar with the social habits habits of Canadians for some years past must have seen a marked improvement, voluntary on the part of the people, in this direction. Enlightenment is ever the foe of evil, and this has been demonstrated by the increased and increasing public sentiment in opposition to inebriety. More may be hoped for in this direction from the coming generation, who will have not only the benefit of the active work of the churches and temperance societies, but also the advantages of the physiological education now being given in our public schools. The stability your organizat on has shown and the foremost position it has taken in this work for so many years is evidence of the devotion of its members to the society and the cause it is striving to advance.

We feel sure that you will not regret having again chosen Peterborough for the place of your annual meeting this year, and we hope that, while giving attention to the business of the annual session, you will enjoy your stay here and that when you return you will carry with you pleasant recollections of your visit to our town.

A. L. DAVIS,
Mayor, Town of Peterborough.

MRS. PATON,

of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, next welcomed the delegates to Peterborough and received a very warm reception. In her remarks she recalled the experiences of twenty-five years spent in temperance work. She urged all to begin the work young as the necessary training was then more easily acquired.

Dr. Fife, on behalf of the Royal Templars of Temperance, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors for the sister society. No rivalry, he stated, existed between the two societies except in their efforts to excel in the good work.

The reply to the Kindred Societies was made by Mr. Thos. Lamless. He expressed his pleasure to hear Mrs. Paton present the greetings of the W. C. T. U., a society which the Good Templars were proud to call a sister. No less hearty was his recognition of the greetings of the Royal Templars, as expressed by Dr. Fife. In his subsequent remarks he stated that he had taken the pledge of Good Templarship almost forty years ago in Peterborough.

Mr. Duncan Marshall, organizer for the Dominion Alliance, responded to the address of welcome extended by the civic authorities. He had a double duty to perform, as he was expected to also make an address at the same time on the plebiscite. He was

by the address of welcome received from the civic authorities, as it showed which side the council was on in the great prohibition fight. In visiting some thirty constituencies in the province he realized that the temperance workers were awakened as they never were before. The duty at present was to look after the vote. The plebiscite had not been asked for. It had been given freely and the duty of all temperance people was to see that there should be a national reply given to it. Temperance people should remember that this was the most important question which had ever been submitted to them in this country. The chief opposition to prohibition was caused by the supposition that direct taxation would result from the $8,000,000 now paid in licenses being cut off from the Government. The speaker claimed that the $89,000,000 now spent in liquor in the country would be spent in the legitimate channels of trade, which would increase the imports to as to more than make up the difference in revenue caused by the loss of the $8,000,000 referred to. Direct taxation was not mentioned in reference to any other matter except when the prohibition question came up. Frequent changes were made in the fiscal policy, but by a readjustment of the tariff the change was never felt.

Mrs. Seward, Miss Pascoe and Messrs. Harvey and Squires were then called upon for a vocal selection, and sang a new and appropriate version of "O where is my Wandering Boy To-night," in a most pleasing manner.

Master Holden Blackwell then pleased the audience greatly by his clever rendition of "Hello." In response to an encore he recited "Wilfrid Laurier" in a very spirited manner, which brought down the house.

Mrs. W. Daly was then called on for a vocal solo, and gave that old favourite, "Home at Last," in a manner which invested it with new charms for those who had the pleasure of hearing her pleasing selection.

MR. F. S. SPENCE

received a hearty welcome. He thought that there were few present of whom converts could be made, but as friends they could take counsel together as to how to reach those who had not already grasped the situation. He claimed that Canadians were now closing up in battle array to face a foe more tyrannous than ever a Spaniard was. This was the war of which he intended to say a few words. He prophesied that the temperance workers were going to be the victors. They might not have a majority in the plebiscite, but they would win in the end and wipe the liquor traffic out of the Dominion of Canada. His reasons for this hope were, in the first place, the nature of the movement to which the temperance workers were pledged. The movement had been hitherto misunderstood. Wherever an evil existed which hurt humanity, and where women and men went against it with a God-given desire, a moral reform was instituted which would abolish the evil. This was the case in the present instance. His second reason lay in the history of the movement. There never was a cause in which had made the same progress. Go back seventy years when intemperance was rampant to an extent we know nothing about. Seventy years ago there was not a temperance organization in Christendom. Look how the principles we are agitating are working out in legislation. Canada's consumption of alcohol to-day is less than it was twenty-two years ago. Toronto had cut its licenses in three and only retained one-third of them. Canada used one-fourth less liquor per head than the next best temperance country. In the United States 17 gallons per head were drunk per year, and in England the figures ran up to 36 gallons per head. Temperance people had a grip on the liquor traffic. Every year less was being sold, and it could not be long before it was stifled out of existence. His third reason was the extent to which the business sense of the community was beginning to realize what the liquor traffic was from their standpoint. The liquor men were not going to monopolize the business plank for their platform. The temperance men would fight from that standpoint. There were over 35,000,000 acres of land in Canada and ten times as much more waiting to be occupied. The possibilities in lumbering were also great in Canada. Over a million acres of forest were yet untouched. Eighty million of dollars was realised from the lumber industry each year. As the lumber passes through the different hands it made wealth until from a stump it was manufactured into the furniture which was taken into the home. The mineral and other possibilities of Canada were then dwelt upon in the same manner, it being shown how all added to the wealth of the country and made it richer.

GOD'S UNIVERSE,

UNDER CULTIVATION

What place, asked the speaker, has the liquor business in this kind of a wealth-producing community. It was not a business, it was a traffic. It was no more a business than sheep stealing. The distiller takes the good grain and annihilates its value as an article of food and turns it out as a curse and the country is that much poorer for every bushel of grain destroyed. Does the liquor dealer improve the men he comes in contact with? Will you put him alongside the business men? How does he compare? These fine young men present are the raw material on which the liquor dealer works. The finished material can be found in and yet some people have the impudence to place such a traffic on a level with business.

It had been claimed that if Gooderham & Worts' distillery had to shut down the 13,000 acres of land, which was being cultivated to raise grain for its use, would be idle. On examining the customs reports the speaker had ascertained that the grain used by Gooderham & Worts was even brought from the United States and it would throw 13,000 acres of American soil out of cultivation which would not affect Canada at all.

In Peterborough an average of $20 a day for each of the hotels in Peterborough would aggregate $560 a day altogether, and this would amount to $170,240 in the course of the year. This was an immense sum. If this were spent for clothing, etc., at the end of the year it would represent not $170,240 spent in Peterborough, but just twice that sum, as the money would still be in existence and also that which had been purchased by it, whereas, when the money was spent in liquor there was nothing whatever left to show for it.

The speaker's last reason for thinking the liquor traffic was coming to an end was the agencies that are to-day in operation. Outside the Temperance lodges of Ontario there are 20,000 women who are the bone and sinew of the temperance work. If so much could be done when the hands of the temperance workers were tied, how much more could now be done, when every public school was a temperance society and hundreds of bands of sturdy young workers were assembled under the temperance banner. In the Sunday schools, the churches and Temperance lodges work was the watchword of the hour and victory was assured.

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem and the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. W. S. Scott, of Ottawa.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The afternoon session opened at 2 p.m. with prayer by Rev. W. L. Scott.

Oronhayoteka in a neat speech introduced to the Grand Lodge Bro. Dr. D. H. Mann, P.R.W.G.T., who took the chair.

The minutes of the forenoon session were read and approved.

About forty delegates then took the Grand Lodge degree.

After a discussion on Juvenile Work, a paper was read by Mrs. Moore of Inglewood.

The treasurer, Bro. G. W. Powell, reported.

It was decided to discontinue the official organ.

The mileage will be reduced to 2c per mile. This, it is expected, will place the Grand Lodge on a sound financial basis by the end of the year.

DR. MANN, P.R.W.G.T.

The address of Past Right Worthy Grand Templar, Dr. D. H. Mann of New York, was listened to with great interest by all present. The doctor is a man who wastes no time but talks right to the point. His address was one full of sound advice as well as sparkling with humour. His exemplification of the unwritten work was a revelation to many present and it is certain that many of the lodges will be managed on much better lines than they have been in the past.

Before the close of the session F. S. Spence explained the offer of badges which were made last year. Many of the delegates present had won these badges.

The advice of Dr. Oronhyeteka, P. R. W. G. T. was given on several questions, and was of great assistance, his experience in Good Templary being much valued by the members of the Grand Lodge of Canada.

GRAND CHIEF TEMPLAR'S REPORT.

The following is a summary of the Grand Chief Templar's report presented at yesterday's opening session:

In compliance with the recommendation adopted at our last session, that the district system be extended into unorganized territory, a number of lodges in adjacent unorganized territory were attached to Districts Nos. 1 and 16, and new districts have been organized as follows:—District No. 10 at Peterborough, with six lodges, organized by myself; District No. 14 at Cobourg, with three lodges, and District No. 28 at Owen Sound, with five Lodges, organized by the Grand Secretary. Districts can be organized in North Simcoe and several other localities at an early date. Some of the new district lodges have done good work since their organization, of which the Grand Secretary's report will give particulars. I also refer to his report for the particulars of the organizing and mission work done throughout the Province.

From experience and observation during the year, I am convinced that it is needful to have a capable officer who can and will devote his entire time to the work of extending the Order and upbuilding it where the lodges are weak. I am also certain that there are hundreds of openings all over the country where new lodges can be organized or old ones resuscitated with every prospect of them succeeding, any plan that can be devised or means that can be adopted whereby this work will be effectively done is certain to result in a great addition to the number of our lodges and membership. The conditions for doing such work are much more favourable than they have been for some time. I commend this important matter to your careful consideration.

The system of paying mileage to representatives has undoubtedly had the effect of increasing the attendance at the meetings of the Grand Lodge, and I am in favour of its continuance if it can be done without going into debt or increasing the tax on our subordinate lodges, this is a question requiring your very careful consideration.

Have You Bought Your Wheel

... FOR THE ...

C. W. A. MEET

At Peterborough, July 1st and 2nd 1898,

If not, is it not time to consider what and where you will buy? It is only about two weeks now before the 1st of July—the biggest Bicycle day of the season—and if you are going to buy a Wheel this year, we say buy now, and you will double your interest and pleasure in the Meet. But to get the fullest satisfaction from wheeling, you must have a good, reliable mount—one that you may depend upon under any circumstances. We attribute our success in the Bicycle Department to the Wheels we sell, for they represent the very best that brains and money can produce. We could not afford to sell any others. Our aim has always been to give a little better value in our Wheels than you can get elsewhere; and buying as we do, in large quantities, and for Spot Cash, and handling them in connection with our regular business, thereby reducing the expenses of doing business to a minimum. We believe we have been able to do this in the past, and can guaranteed the same in the future. Briefly told, these are the wheels we sell:—

A MARKED GAIN.

GENTLEMEN,—I have been a great sufferer from nervous dyspepsia, with the usual symptoms of stomach weakness, loss of appetite and flesh, accumulation of gas, sour risings, and heartburn. I used various patent medicines and other remedies without any favorable results. They would give temporary relief sometimes until the effects of the medicine wore off, but Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills overcame all these obstacles. I am better in every way now and have gained several pounds in weight.

THE SHIP'S RUDDER.

Its Two Parts and the Difference In the Strain That Comes Upon Them.

The rudder of a wooden ship is composed of the stalk and the backing, which are so joined together as to form in effect a single piece. The complete rudder is coppered, to protect it from worms, and then, besides being practically all in one piece, it has that appearance also.

The stalk is the part to which are attached the pintles, or pivots, by which the rudder is suspended and held in place, these going through eyes set in the ship's sternpost. The stalk runs up through the stern of the ship, and to its head is bolted a cap to which are attached the ropes by means of which the rudder is controlled. The backing is the blade part of the rudder.

By far the greater strain comes on the stalk, and the greatest strain of all comes on the head of the stalk, the rudder head, where it is held. The stalk is made of the wood most likely to stand the strain, carefully selected, sound, well seasoned oak, while the backing is made of spruce or hard pine. The stalk is of a single, solid, massive piece, stout as an oak tree and indeed of the dimensions of a small oak, something that a man can pin his faith to, if he can have faith in any wood, while the backing or blade is, like many modern wooden masts, built up. It would be difficult if not impossible to find trees that would yield planks big enough for the purpose in a single piece, and the built up backing, made of pieces of selected wood, can easily be made of ample strength to withstand any strain that will be brought upon it.

As to the stalk, stout and solid as the oak may be, the head may be twisted by the force of a tremendous blow from a wave upon the rudder, or, under the repeated strains of long use, the head may split, and so make the stalk useless. Then the rudder is taken out and fitted with a new stalk. A suitable stick is selected and worked down to the proper size and form, and very probably the old backing is attached to it. The life of a rudder stalk would probably be 12 to 14 years. The backing might last as long as the ship.—New York Sun.

The Shilling Trick.

A wandering sleight of hand man was entertaining some loungers with an exhibition of his tricks. After showing a good number of them, he said:

"But I have one good trick that I call the shilling trick."

Of course they all wanted to see that, so he instructed a good number of them to give him a shilling, after having marked it and carefully noted the date. About a dozen of the bystanders did so and he took them all, shook them up, and then showed each man another shilling than the one he had marked, accompanying each shilling with the question:

"Is that yours?"

Each man, of course, said "No," and he strolled away, saying:

"Then they must all be mine."—London Globe.

A PRISON IN MEXICO.

CURIOUS CUSTOMS THAT PREVAIL IN BELEM JAIL.

Musical Instruments In the Cells and a Concert Almost Every Evening by the Prisoners—Dinner Hour Marked by a Curious Spectacle.

Among the various uses to which Mexico has put some of her old monasteries and convents is that of serving for the incarceration of violators of the law. The Convento de Belen at Mexico City has become, in common parlance, Belem, the city jail and prison, accused and convicted persons, men, women and children alike being confined there in different compartments. The building was put up by the Spanish governor in 1680, as an inscription at the head of the main stairway tells. A casual visit paid it by a reporter of The Mexican Herald reveals a condition of prison management in Mexico worthy of passing attention in the days of prison reform associations and international prison congresses.

The Herald said that Belem had been commonly spoken of as a second Black Hole of Calcutta, but the reporter found that the prison was kept in a state of comparative cleanliness; not so, however, the prisoners. Their condition he described as one of disgusting filthiness. Although there was a hydrant in every cell and general bathing facilities in each compartment, the reporter found only one inmate either at bath or with any indication of having bathed within a year. It was explained to him by the prison authorities that formerly the regulations required prisoners to bathe daily, but that this was regarded as such a hardship that the sufferers managed to have it declared a form of cruel and unusual punishment and so to have the rule abrogated. There are in the prison now 3,451 prisoners, of whom 2,983 are men and 80 are minors.

A curious feature found by the reporter was the Spanish regard for the arts, even within prison walls. He found in the south wing the writers of libel, "and the cells reserved for musicians, artists and others of the fine arts." It would seem to be a charitable as well as an inclusive provision, that "and others" (besides artists) of the fine arts. The musicians are permitted, apparently, to take their instruments to jail with them, much as mechanics take into the prison workshop their own tools of trade. "The walls of the musicians' cells are decorated with different musical instruments, and the reporter was told that almost every evening there was a concert in one of the patios."

Men sometimes do in Mexico what in this colder clime they content themselves with wishing done, for the reporter came upon one Adams, under sentence of 20 years "for killing a waiter at the Club de la Opera because he did not bring his dinner quick enough." Adams has the freedom of his galley. There are in each galley three trusties who go about with clubs and preserve order, using the club "only when moral suasion will not do as well."

There were stoics among the 57 men condemned to death. One of these, under sentence for assassinating a man, expressed his serene confidence as to his future, but, "if worst comes to worst"—a shrug of the shoulders and palms up. This man and some others under death sentence had the run of the commandant's offices, notwithstanding there were on the walls, serving as decorations, confiscated weapons of prisoners. Oddly enough, as it would seem in this country, though it wouldn't have been strange in the Italy of Machiavelli, there wasn't a gun among these. The nearest to it was a bayonet, and the rest were poinards, scimiters, stilettos, butcher knives, table knives, penknives, and shoemakers' knives.

The dinner hour was marked by a curious spectacle. The street outside the prison was filled with the "wives, children, dogs and other members of the prisoners' households." These brought baskets of edibles to the prisoners, some of whom were permitted to speak to their relatives through a grating. To the convicts not permitted to come to the grating, their relatives were allowed to send in notes accompanying the dinner baskets. This privilege had given rise to a peculiar way of making a few pennies among persons able to write—"itinerant scribes who for a cent or two wrote messages to the prisoners." One woman bade the scribe to put her message in red ink. She would have none of the "purple stuff."

"Tell him," said she, "that I send him two little tamales and tell him that la perrita died yesterday."

Says the reporter, "And the scribe, leaning under the shade of his umbrella, sitting on a rock, with his bottle of red ink on another rock beside him, worked away assiduously, with an etymology all his own, beginning paragraphs with lower case letters and putting in caps in the most unexpected places, so that it would take an Ignatius Donnelly cryptogram to decipher the meaning of his hieroglyphics."

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 31 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

CHAPLEAU'S ESTATE.

How It Is Devised—Principal Grant Attacks Prohibition in the Presbyterian General Assembly.

Montreal, June 15.—The remains of Sir Adolphe Chapleau, clothed in his knightly robes, lay in state in the large hall of Laval University.

Rumor has it that Sir Adolphe's estate will reach a little over $100,000. Of this sum $6,000 will go to his unmarried sister, to revert at her death to Sir Adolphe's nephews and nieces.

His library, consisting of about $10,000 worth of books, will go to Laval University, while $4,000 is willed to the testator's faithful friend, Mr. Arthur Dansereau, postmaster of Montreal, and $10,000 to the Catholic Church.

The pall-bearers will be Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. F. G. Marchand, Sir A. A. Lacoste, Judge Loranger, Judge Wurtele, Hons. G. A. Nantel, Hon. L. R. Masson, ex-Lieut.-Governor, and Sir William Hingson.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen visited the Presbyterian Assembly yesterday afternoon, and His Excellency delivered an address.

At to-night's meeting of the General Assembly the report of the Committee on Church Work was submitted. It strongly declared for prohibition, and an interesting discussion took place on the question. Rev. Principal Grant of Kingston created a sensation by strongly opposing the clause referring to prohibition, and moving that it be referred back to the committee. He declared that he had opposed the Scott Act, which he claimed had increased drunkenness, and a prohibition act would be equally inoperative. He thought the church should not act as a partizan in a question which was becoming the football of political parties, and that each man should have the right to vote as he pleased. The report was strongly supported by Hon. G. W. Ross of Ontario and others, and was finally adopted by a large majority.

Death Loves a Shining Mark.

"She is an only daughter and only seventeen," writes Mrs. H. H. Conklin, of Morten Avenue, Batavia, N. Y., in a recent letter addressed to Doctor R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. "We began your medicine in May (the 'Favorite Prescription'). My daughter then was very wasted, in fact we did not think she could live long. She had profuse menstruation which was of long standing; also a bad cough. We had spent a great deal of money and worried a great deal. When she began taking your medicine her weight was only eighty-seven pounds. She now weighs from ninety-eight to one hundred all the time and is well. Is cured entirely of her difficulty, has no cough at all, and all for eight or ten dollars. It had gotten to be a serious question with us. We had done all we could for her. We are truly grateful to you for all your kind advice and sympathy in the matter. We feel that you are a personal friend."

No living physician has a wider practical experience or enjoys a higher reputation in the treatment of diseases peculiar to women than Dr. Pierce. In cases of this nature he will send by mail careful professional advice without charge, and instructions whereby the most obstinate ailments may be entirely overcome. His "Favorite Prescription" is the only proprietary remedy ever designed by an educated, authorized physician specifically to cure women's diseases. It is the only medicine which makes motherhood perfectly safe and comparatively easy and painless.

A LADY FREEMASON.

HOW MISS ST. LEGER HAPPENED TO BE INITIATED.

The Tradition as Told All Over the World Now Said Not to Be True—She Did Not Intentionally Secrete Herself to Steal the Secrets of the Order.

In Dr. Brewer's "Dictionary of Phrase and Fable" the following sentences occur under the heading of "Freemasons:"

"The lady Freemason was the Hon. Miss Elizabeth St. Leger, daughter of Lord Doneraile, who, says the tale, hid herself in an empty clock case when the lodge was held at her father's house and witnessed the proceedings. She was discovered and compelled to submit to initiation as a member of the craft."

This tradition has had worldwide acceptance, but it now appears, according to a correspondent of The Standard, who has been investigating the subject, that, although clocks are usually contained in cases, there was no clock in this case. The correspondent in his search after truth has come across evidence collected by the Masonic historian, Brother Edward Conder, which disposes once and for all of what is a Masonic myth and a tradition which has no solid foundation. By the kindness of Lord Doneraile, Lady Castletown of Upper Ossory, Colonel Aldworth of Newmarket Court, Mr. James St. Leger and other members of the family Brother Edward Conder has fortunately been able to piece together a history of the incident which may fairly be accepted as an authentic account of what actually transpired.

It would appear that the father of Miss St. Leger—Arthur St. Leger, first Baron Kilmayden and Viscount Doneraile—together with his sons and a few intimate friends, were accustomed to open a lodge and carry on the ordinary ceremonies at the family mansion, Doneraile Court, County Cork. On one occasion, during a period when the house was undergoing certain internal alterations, Viscount Doneraile with others met for Masonic purposes. The lodge was held in a large room on the ground floor of the house, and in front of this room was a small library, divided from the back room by a partition wall. From a plan of Doneraile Court, supplied by a member of the family, it is evident that the rooms to the right on entering the hall are probably the ones in question. The doors of these two rooms both open into the entrance hall and are not far apart. The alterations having required the removal of some of the panelling from the larger room, the wall was in places undergoing repair. A portion of this had been taken down and the bricks loosely replaced without mortar in the position they were ultimately to occupy. Against these loose bricks the oak panelling had been temporarily reared. On this particular afternoon Miss St. Leger had been reading at the library window, and, the light of the winter afternoon having failed, fell asleep.

The sound of voices in the next room restored her to consciousness, and from her position behind the loosely placed bricks of the dividing wall she easily realised that something unusual was taking place in the next room. The light shining through the unfilled spaces of the temporary wall also attracted her attention. Prompted by a not unnatural curiosity, Miss St. Leger appears to have removed one or more of the loose bricks, and thus was easily enabled to watch the proceedings of the lodge. For some time her interest in what was transpiring was sufficiently powerful to hold her spellbound. The quietness of her mind remained undisturbed for a considerable period, and it was not until she realised the solemnity of the responsibilities undertaken by the candidate that she understood the terrible consequences of her action.

The wish to hide her secret by making good her retreat took full possession of her thoughts. For it must be fully understood that, although she was perfectly aware that her father's lodge was held at the house, she had no idea on entering the library that on that evening a meeting was about to be held in an adjoining room.

Her passage into the hall was easy, but it happened that the doors of the two rooms were close together. Outside in the hall the tyler was on guard, and from this point her retreat was cut off. Miss St. Leger, realizing that the tyler, Lord Doneraile's butler, well knowing the condition of the temporary wall, would at once, from her frightened appearance, grasp the situation, screamed and fainted. This old and trusted family servant, divided between his affection for his young mistress and the duties he owed to the lodge, hesitated whether he should call for aid from the household or alarm the lodge. Fearing, however, to leave the door unguarded, he decided to summon his master. This course brought Miss St. Leger's father, with her brothers and other members of the lodge, into the hall.

Having carried the young lady back into the library, and she being restored to consciousness, they learned what had occurred. Leaving her in charge of some of the members, they returned to the lodge and discussed what course, under the circumstances, they had best pursue. The discussion was prolonged for a considerable time, after which they returned, and, having acquainted Miss St. Leger with the great responsibilities she had unwittingly taken upon herself, pointed out that only one course was open to them. The fair culprit, endowed with a high sense of honor, at once consented to pass through the impressive ceremonies she had already in part witnessed and became a Freemason. The circumstances as above recorded took place at a time when Miss Leger was a young girl and unmarried. The year was probably 1710.—St. James Gazette.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS AGAIN.

Conductor Hogg Tells the Story of His Escape From Diabetes.

Toronto, June 13—Special—Mr. H. Hogg, the well-known and popular street railway conductor (No. 167) who has been cured of a very severe case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, has written as follows to the Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited.

"My sufferings extended over a period of three years, and grew worse every day. I could get nothing to cure the Diabetes, nor to purify my blood. Finally, the dizziness so overpowered me and I grew so emaciated and weak, that I had to quit work.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I laughed at him, for I had tried so many remedies, only to be disappointed that I had lost hope. However I did try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Thank God, six boxes cured me entirely."

YOUNG MARRIED PEOPLE.

It Is a Sad Mistake For Them to Begin Life In a Boarding House.

Edward W Bok, editor of The Ladies Home Journal, always a stanch and uncompromising advocate of the home, asserts that a home, however humble, is a million times better place for young married couples to live than in the most luxurious hotel or best boarding house in the land. "It is always a sad thing," he says, "when a young married couple begin life in a boarding house or hotel; sad because they start life practically outside of themselves. The furniture around them is not their own. The young wife may bring with her all the trifles she chooses. She may add a touch of her own here and another touch there. But the things in the room are not theirs, and sooner or later she realizes it.

"During the day the wife is alone. No duties call her. Nothing is there in her life to exercise her ingenuity or develop her womanly talents. She cannot prepare any little pleasure for her young husband, for things are prepared for her. When her husband leaves her for his office, she turns back into the room and wonders what she can do during the day; how she will employ herself, where she will go. There is nothing in her room to appeal to her to stay there. No home duties confront her. So she goes out and shops perhaps for awhile; runs around to her mother's; calls upon some friends; goes back to her room to practice a little, if she is musical and has a piano, or, if she is fond of books, she reads. There is nothing in her life—two-thirds of herself lies dormant. She is glad when the time comes for her husband to come home; glad to feel that she has some one to whom she can talk; glad of company. And he? What can he do to express himself to his young wife? Nothing around him is his. Everything is by lease his for a time, for so much money. And after he is through paying for it he leaves it behind. The end is the same as the beginning. That is why boarding house or hotel life is so injurious to young married people. It makes them practically homeless."

Long Vacation.

M. D'Artout, who filled more than one important post under the French government, was a man of easy going disposition, which was taken advantage of by those subordinate to him. He never punished and rarely reproved, and the result was a lax discipline, notwithstanding the energy which he infused into his own department through the exercise of his own influence and ability.

In "La Vie a Paris," Villemot relates that when M. D'Artout was at the head of the ministry of the interior there was a clerk in the bureau who could write a remarkable hand with as remarkable speed, and the minister always kept him in his own offices as private secretary.

One day the minister missed his secretary and inquired where he was.

"He is not here today. His father is dead."

D'Artout bowed and said nothing. A month afterward the minister again called up the chief and asked him the same question.

"He is not here, monsieur," was the answer, "for his father is dead."

The minister bowed again in silence, but went away with a puzzled expression in his eyes. Three weeks later the same thing happened once more. Upon receiving the same answer, D'Artout spoke up rather sharply.

"What!" said he. "Is he going to stay away from the office all the while his father is dead?"

A Mismanaged Compliment.

"I consider it an insult," said Miss Passolgh.

"You don't refer to that immense bunch of roses?"

"I do. It's a birthday remembrance, and the card on it says 'May each of these beautiful flowers represent a year of your life.'"—Washington Star.

A LIFE SAVER TO MANKIND

is what Mr. George Benner, Wiarton, Ont., styles Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Not that I am at all fond of having my name put in public places, but as a life saver to mankind, I hereby state what Dr. A. W. Chase's K.-L. Pills did for me. For nearly four years I was greatly troubled with Constipation and general weakness in the kidneys, and in my perilous position was strongly advised to use Chase's Pills, and to-day I can safely and truthfully state that they have saved my life.

TWIN TORTURERS!

Lumbago and Rheumatism made Harmless by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Lumbago and Rheumatism cause endless pain and suffering. Every man and woman who runs chances of getting wet, or catching cold, is liable to suffer from one or both. Our hospitals are full of sufferers from these diseases; none are more painful. Every nerve is on fire; every joint is a centre of agony; every muscle an area of torture. To move hand or foot makes the victim shriek with agony.

Rheumatism makes more cripples than all the railroad accidents that ever happened. Twisted, mis-shapen caricatures of humanity, who cannot walk without misery, are to be seen every day. The kidneys are to blame. If they are healthy you needn't fear Rheumatism or Lumbago. Dodd's Kidney Pills keep the kidneys healthy and cure Rheumatism and Lumbago.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ALWAYS CURE.

The Price of Liberty.

The white headed old darky approached one of the northern congressmen at the foot of the capitol steps, removed his hat and said: "Ize cum all de way f'um Nottoway county, cap'n, to see whut yo' kin do fur me. I paid $2,700 for my liberty, en ain' heerd nuthin f'um de promises o' de gubberment."

"You mean to say, uncle, that you bought your liberty?" the congressman asked in surprise, thinking to humor the old man.

"It's a fac', cap'n, en twenty-seben hundred wus de price."

"I thought eternal vigilance was the price of liberty, uncle?"

Scratching his head for an understanding, the ex-slave replied doubtfully, "Waal, cap'n, dat must be de case wid de white folks, but de pooh nigger has ter pay cash."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

"Now," said the intrepid explorer after he had shown the guileless native the inside workings of the brass watch and had noted his naive wonder at the mysteries of the mechanism, "I will let you have one of these for two tusks. Then you can be the envy of the tribe."

The native gentleman yawned. Then he said:

"I exchanged a secondhand war club for a bushel of those things when I was in London last summer, and there was not one of them that went for more than a week."—Pearson's Weekly.

BABY'S CAT.

Want th see me, hey, old chap?
Want to curl up in my lap,
Do yer, Jim?
See him sit and pur and blink.
Don't yer bet he knows I think
Lots of him?

Little kitten, nothin more,
When we found him at the door,
In the cold,
And the baby, half undressed,
Picked him up, and he was jest
All she'd hold.

Put him up for me to see,
And she says, so cute, says she,
"Baby's cat."
And we never had the heart
For to keep them two apart
After that.

Seems if I must hear the beat
Of her toddlin little feet
Round about.
Seem to see her tucked in bed,
With the kitten's furry head
Peekin out.

Seems if I could hear her say
In the cunnin baby way
That she had,
"Say good night to Jimmie, do,
Cos if oo fordetted to
He'd feel bad."

Miss her dreadful, don't we, coy?
Day don't seem to bring no joy
With the dawn.
Looks 'a night was everywhere;
But there's glory over there
Where she's gone.

Seems as if my heart would break,
But I love yer for her sake,
Don't I, Jim?
See him sit and purr and blink.
Don't yer bet he knows I think
Lots of him?

ship in our Order which were adopted at the last session of the I. S. L. to some extent annulled the portion of our by-laws referring to the suspension of members. Your Executive Committee decided that till this season Section 5 and 6 of Article 11, Grand Lodge by-laws should be interpreted as follows:

The per capita tax shall be payable on the whole number of members appearing on the roll, at the opening of the first meeting in the quarter, who have not been removed from the list of active membership as hereinafter provided.

A lodge may remove from the list of active members any member whose dues are in arrears for two full quarters and their lodge shall not be liable to pay tax on such members, but until a member has been so removed from the list of active members the per capita tax must be paid on them.

It is therefore needful to now amend these by-laws in conformity with the resolutions of the I.S.L., and also to otherwise provide for the working out of the principle affirmed in these resolutions referred to if possible to do so.

An act has been passed by the Dominion Parliament, called "The Prohibition Plebiscite Act," providing for the taking of a vote of the electors of Canada on the question of the total prohibition of the traffic in intoxicating beverages. The passage of this long expected measure imposes a great responsibility upon all friends of the temperance cause. It is expected that voting will take place early in the coming fall, and on the result will depend the character and extent of legislation against the liquor traffic by the Dominion Parliament and the Provincial Legislatures for many years to come.

It is gratifying to note that in placing this matter before the electors, nothing is to be submitted on the ballot paper but the plain question: "Are you in favor of the passing of an Act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirits, wine, ale, beer, cider and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages," and that the Government did not adopt the suggestion of the liquor party that the question of revenue should be coupled with that of prohibition.

The voters of Canada are face to face with the greatest responsibility that ever devolved upon them. Christian and temperance people are awakened to a realization of the destructive death dealing character of the traffic in strong drink. The eyes of the world are on Canada in this contest and all Christendom will rejoice at our success if we succeed, as I believe we will.

As a pioneer in the field of moral reform our order has been the means of educating hundreds of thousands of those who to-day hold the most advanced opinions and influential positions in parliament, legislature, church and society. Good Templary sowed the seed, the harvest from which is now ripening for the sickle of legislative enactment. As we have led in the advance in the past, we must now take our place in the front ranks of the general army, doing our utmost to make victory as complete as it can possibly be made.

In the present crisis it is a cause for congratulation that never before was there so much harmony and so little friction between the different detachments of temperance workers. There is an absence of sectional antagonism with an earnest determination to stand shoulder to shoulder against the common enemy.

The next session of the International Supreme Lodge of our order will be held in Toronto, commencing on the fourth Tuesday of June, 1899.

THE REPORT OF THE GRAND SECRETARY was in part as follows:

Another year has rolled around and we are again permitted in God's good providence to meet in convention to review the work of the year now drawn to a close and to lay out plans for the advancement and prosperity of our great Templar army, that we may be able to successfully cope with the great evil with which we have to contend, and to soon bring about that glorious time when all means of intoxication shall be banished from our land, and thus remove the primary cause of so much of the misery, poverty and crime that casts a blot on the fair name of Canada.

The progress of our Order during the past year has not reached the full height of our expectation, yet when we take into consideration the adverse circumstances, and the difficulties with which we have to contend, we have reasons to feel encouraged and congratulate ourselves upon that measure of success that has attended our efforts in an earnest endeavour to build up and strengthen the Order to which we as Good Templars are so devotedly attached.

The temperance sentiment of to-day seems to be ripe for prohibition, and as a vote on the plebiscite will likely be taken early in the fall our Order ought to be found at the front and thus prove themselves to be an important factor in the moulding of public thought, and educating the masses in the soundness of the doctrine of the total prohibition of the liquor traffic. Literature bearing directly upon the the question should be judiciously distributed, homes visited, meetings held, the agitation kept up, until every home and person within the reach of a Good Templar Lodge should be so informed on the question of this evil in our land, and the great benefits to be derived from its extermination from the community, that when the call came for an expression of the people's wish at the polls, a tremendous majority will be rolled up in favour of the entire prohibition of the sale and manufacture of intoxicating liquors as a beverage.

THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.

From Toronto Globe, June 8, 1898.

BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We the undersigned certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest.

J. W. McLAUGHLIN, M.D.
A. BEITH, M.D.
L. HOLLAND REID, M.R.C.S., etc.

This Interview Tells It.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector of St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ont., during the progress of a church function recently and was compelled to comment on the great change for the better in the rector's physical appearance since he had met him before. It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, said the reverend gentleman.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and until recently could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. A tonic which I had been using seemed to do me little good, and three of our medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system to its former healthy condition, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time by pure accident Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice, and suggested as the remedy I needed. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now so good that I do not hesitate to recommend these pills, and, in fact have done so in many instances. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

This is a straightforward testimony to the worth of a medicine. It is not a vain boast. It is a proven fact that appeals with irresistible force to all the brain-worried, nerve-tried and weak-debilitated men and women of the land.

If you need health, strength and energy the pathway is pointed out.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 6 boxes for $2, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria street, Toronto. Book of information free.

BIRDS AND THEIR LITTLE NESTS

Natural Science Association Spends a Pleasant Evening With Mr. Elcome's Birds' Nests.

An interesting meeting of the Natural Science Association was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Elcome, who very ably dealt with his subject, "Birds' Nests," under the headings (1) Situation, (2) Materials, and (3) Styles. Birds build their homes in many odd places from the ground itself to the great height of 100 ft., where may be seen the strong structure of the Bald Eagle. Mr. Elcome, with the assistance of Masters Walter and Millard McGuire had procured a number of this year's nests, which were on exhibition.

The collection included nests of the crow, reed wren, cat bird, barn and chimney swallows, house wren, cuckoo, cherry bird, red-winged blackbirds, phoebe, oriole, and three varieties of wood-peckers — the red-headed, golden-winged, or high-holder, and the downy. The nests themselves were interesting studies, witnessing as they did the remarkable ingenuity and instinct almost bordering on reason, which birds possess, and as specimens of the feathered workmen were placed beside the structures of varying size it greatly enhanced the interest.

A lively discussion followed which elicited many observations which Mr. Elcome has learned from his long experience and which, as yet, cannot be obtained from books, no complete work relating to the habits of birds of this district having been published.

By request the paper will be repeated at any early date. All are invited.

Cure of the Complexion.

It is a well known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion. You need not expect a clear, beautiful complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for their action on the liver and blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

DENIAL OF A FALSE REPORT.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you permit me through your valuable paper to contradict a false report that was raised about the steamer North Star on the 9th of June. To say the least of it, it was unkind as well as false, for no gentleman who had any regard for the people that were at home would raise such feeling of horror in the minds of their friends as to say that the steamer North Star had sunk in Rice Lake with all her crew and passengers on board. Now, sir, what I want to say is that the North Star was not sunk, but she was the first boat landed at Jubilee Point on the 9th of June, and she was the only boat that landed her passengers on time according to her bills, notwithstanding that she had about eighteen miles longer run than any other boat that day.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am,

A STAMPEDE AT TAMPA

3,000 Horses and Mules Make a Wild Dash Through Camp.

SLEEPING MEN WERE TRAMPLED

The Camps of Several Regiments Were Destroyed—5,000 Spaniards Desert to the Cuban Insurgents—The Brick Fort Caimanera Levelled by the Battleships Texas, Marblehead and Suwanee.

Tampa, June 17.—A stampede in which several lives may have been lost occurred here last night among the horses and mules belonging to the army, corralled near the camp of the Second New York, Fifth Maryland and First District of Columbia volunteers. The camps are near the business part of the city. At midnight it could not be ascertained if any men were killed or how many were wounded. The night is very dark and the camps are in great confusion. The stampede started from some mysterious cause about 10 o'clock. More than three thousand mules and horses made a wild dash, breaking the fences of their corral and charging through the camp. Most of the men were in bed, and before they could receive the slightest warning many were under the feet of the animals. The soldiers attempted to break the stampede by firing a volley of shots, but this only made matters worse. The camps of the several regiments were destroyed.

SANTIAGO AGAIN BOMBARDED.

The Usual Result, Heavy Loss to Spaniards. None to Americans.

Off Santiago de Cuba, Thursday, June 16—Noon—via Kingston, Jamaica, Thursday, June 16, 9 p. m.—Rear-Admiral Sampson's fleet bombarded the batteries at Santiago de Cuba for the third time at daylight this morning. For hours the ships pounded the batteries at the right and left of the entrance, only sparing El Morro, where Lieut. Hobson and his companions of the Merrimac are imprisoned.

The western batteries, against which the main assault was directed, were badly wrecked. One was utterly destroyed. In others many guns were dismounted.

At first the Spaniards replied passionately and wildly, but impotently. Then most of the guns were deserted. Not a ship was struck nor a man injured on the American side.

It is believed that the enemy's loss of life was heavy.

THEY DESTROYED CAIMANERA.

Brick Fort and Earthworks Battered Down by the Texas, Marblehead and Suwanee.

Camp McCalla, Guantanamo Bay, Wednesday, June 15, via Kingston, Jamaica, Thursday, June 16.—The brick fort and earthworks at Caimanera, at the end of the railroad leading to the city of Guantanamo, were demolished to day by the bombardment of the Texas, Marblehead and Suwanee. The warships opened fire at 2 p.m., and the bombardment lasted one hour and thirty minutes.

The Texas steamed slowly up the channel leading to the fortifications, followed closely by the Marblehead. The Texas fired two shots as range finders, both falling short and to the right. The Marblehead stood off to the east side of the channel and opened with her five-inch guns on the fort, knocking down part of the wall. The Texas then threw in some 12-inch shells, tearing down the wall of the fort and throwing the brick and mortar 80 feet in the air.

After badly damaging the fort the Marblehead stood farther in to shell the earthworks and barracks at the west end of the harbor. She knocked them into the air, and when the Spaniards fled from the fort they were shelled by the St. Paul and driven into the bushes. The Spaniards fired only five shots, which did no damage.

After the ships stood out into the harbor the Spaniards in the bush opened fire on the Marblehead's launch, which replied vigorously. The Suwanee then turned back and shelled the bushes, driving the Spaniards inland.

FOOD SUPPLIES FOR CUBA.

Kingston, Jamaica, Made a Base for Supplying Both Cuban Armies.

New York, June 17.—A despatch from Kingston, Jamaica, to the Evening Telegram, says:

"A heavy cargo of food supplies has been landed here by the steamer Castle Edin, from New York. The cargo bears similar marks to that of the cargo of the City of Kingston, which has been transferred to the Purisima Concepcion.

"The cargo on the Castle Edin was shipped by the same people—Llera & Roca, of New York—who furnished the cargo for the City of Kingston.

"The Purisima Concepcion will sail probably to-morrow. She has obtained an English captain, Alexander Rennie, who will take command. Her bill of sale is registered to Captain William Hunter of Montego Bay, the pilot who brought the ship around. The Purisima's officers say that a Spanish naval officer was aboard the Twickenham, but had landed at some port before her capture. Strong protests have been made by Mr. Dent, the American Consul, against Jamaica being made the base for the shipment of provisions and supplies to the Spanish troops in Cuba.

"Many Spanish ships which have called recently have been allowed to change to British register, and to take on cargo for Cuban ports. These, in many instances, have been landed at Batabano and sent by railway to Manzanillo, consigned to private persons, but later sold to the Spanish commissariat.

"The British cruiser Talbot sailed today for Nassau. She will go again to Havana to take off refugees, at the request of Mr. Golian, the British Consul."

Spanish Troops Deserting.

New York, June 17.—A Key West despatch says: Junta advices from the headquarters of the Cuban Civil Government at La Guanaja, in Camaugey, report that more than five thousand Spanish volunteers and many regulars from Puerto Principe and Nuevitas garrison have deserted to the patriot army. The immediate cause of desertion was the fear of the American fleet. Santa Cruz del Sur has been invested by the Cubans and communication by sailboat has been established with Jamaica.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE.

Spanish Hopes in This Direction Deemed to Disappointment.

New York, June 17.—A despatch to the World from London says: Neither Russia nor France—and still less England—would tolerate any attempt to turn America's gallant overthrow of the Spanish fleet and virtual capture of Manila to Germany's special advantage. International jealousies guarantee that America will not be troubled by any interference in the Philippines. This is the opinion in high political quarters here, where the fulminations of the Berlin Chauvinist press are treated as of no account.

The arrival at Manila of Admiral Diedericha, the German naval chief in the Pacific, is said, on the best authority, to be due simply to a desire to witness the operations of Admiral Dewey's squadron for naval reasons, not with any political object.

A PEG HAS BEEN PUT IN.

Joseph Leiter and His Father Can Now Estimate Their Losses.

Chicago, June 17.—The following are estimates of the position of the Leiter wheat deal:

Cash wheat in all positions, 17,000,000 bushels.

Value if laid down in Chicago, $15,300,000.

Interests of the banks, $13,000,000.

Proceeds at Armour's supposed guaranty, $12,500,000.

Possible Leiter cash wheat loss, $2,300,000.

Estimated net loss aside from cash wheat, $500,000.

Total loss to the Leiters, not allowing for contingent profits on cash wheat sales over the Armour guaranteed price, $3,300,000.

It is pretty well established in the minds of people not in touch with the wheat market that the Leiters have effected an arrangement by which they can figure their extreme losses.

Leiter and Armour admit that a "sale" has been made. Armour starts with a good margin of protection below the present comparatively low level of prices, and, with the co-operation and financial support of the Leiter interests. His position is strong, and the prospects are good for a campaign, which will not only prove profitable to him, but will result in a material reduction of Leiter's losses.

"A Man and a Brother."

Seattle, Wash., June 17.—An important event in the history of Free Masonry in this state occurred at the session of the Grand Lodge. It was in effect the recognition of negro lodges, and their authority to confer Masonic degrees. The recognition is limited to negro lodges holding charters from the Grand Lodges of England. This is the first recognition of negro Masonry by any Grand Jurisdiction in the United States.

Sealing Claims Settled.

Washington, June 17.—The claims of Canadian sealers arising out of seizures made by the United States in the Behring Sea were finally settled yesterday by the payment to Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Ambassador, of approximately, $473,000, being the full amount of the claims as settled under an agreement between the United States and Great Britain.

Blueness Growing in Loyalty.

Halifax, June 17.—For the first time since Confederation the Nova Scotia Council of Public Instruction, otherwise known as the Provincial Government, has decided that Dominion Day shall be an authorized holiday in the public schools of the province.

Death of Lady Meredith.

Quebec, June 17.—The death of Lady Meredith, widow of the late Sir William Collis Meredith, Chief Justice of Quebec, took place yesterday morning after a painful illness of several months duration.

BAD FIRE AT BELMONT

McKellar Building and Several Stores Burned.

SEVERAL NARROW ESCAPES.

A Tavistock, Ontario, Man Kills Himself Because He Could Not Find Work in Detroit and Which He Had Failed to Secure in Canada —Canadian General News.

St. Thomas, June 17.—A disastrous fire occurred in the village of Belmont early yesterday morning. E. S. Fonger's grocery was found to be in flames. This building was owned by Mr. Archie McKellar. Above the store lived a family named Winegarden, and in the south end of the same building Dr. Arkell had his office and bedroom. Efforts to save this building were seen to be of no use, as the fire had made such headway. The Winegardens escaped only in their night clothes, without saving a thing. Nothing was saved of Fonger's, and Dr. Arkell got out nothing but his bicycle and one case of instruments. To the south of the McKellar building and very close to it were O'Doan's shoe shop and a cottage occupied by Mr. John Taylor and daughter, both of these buildings being owned by Mrs. James Campbell. Both buildings were burned to the ground, but most of their contents were saved. On the north side of the McKellar building is a shop owned by W. T. Nugent, and at present occupied by Mr. E. Copeland as a carriage and implement shop. This was burned, but the contents were saved. All the buildings were of frame, and burned fiercely. A. McKellar's insurance was $300, Fonger's $800, Mrs. Campbell's $500, while Dr. Arkell and Mr. Winegarden had no insurance.

FAILED TO FIND WORK

And Shot Himself Through the Heart at Detroit—A Tavistock (Ont.) Man's Despondency.

Detroit, June 17.—John Herman Wenzel of 1164 Canton avenue arose from his breakfast table yesterday morning and told his wife that he was going up to his workshop for a time. He left her and three little children still eating. He went upstairs, loaded a shotgun with a big charge, set it in a vise, picked up a long iron rod with a crook in it and stood in front of the gun, his heart almost against the muzzle. The little children down below at the breakfast table were laughing when he pushed the trigger.

Mrs. Wenzel knew in a flash what had happened when she heard the explosion and the fall of a heavy body. She screamed and then sat trembling. She would not go upstairs, so little Louise, eight years of age, made the trip. She came down almost in hysterics and rushed to her aunt's house a few doors away for aid.

Wenzel was a mechanic 52 years old. Six weeks ago he and his family left Tavistock, Canada, where they had lived eleven years, in the belief that times were less hard in the United States and that he could get work at better wages. They moved near his married daughter, Mrs. Albert Buelow. Wenzel traversed the town in search of employment every day. Last week he secured work and earned seven dollars, but this week he could get nothing. He frequently remarked to his wife that some day he would be gone. He had worked hard all his life and grew frightfully despondent over his inability to support his family. He left behind him only the $7 check he had earned last week for their support. He had no debts and his rent was paid. Wenzel leaves, in addition to his married daughter and the three little children, three sons. Walter Wenzel of Detroit, Herman Wenzel, now in Mexico, and Otto Wenzel, furniture finisher of Windsor.

ACCUSED WERE ABSENT

When Court Opened to Try Them at Brampton—The Melanethon Case.

Brampton, Ont., June 17.—The County Court was ready yesterday morning to resume the trial of the Melanethon perjurers, but the accused, Hamilton, Small, Sammons and Loudon, failed to appear. It will be remembered that the proceedings came to a stop at last County Court here, on a question of jurisdiction.

Judge McGibbon announced when the court opened that he would try the accused. The Attorney-General's Department advises that the Judge McCarthy order is all right. Justice Meredith, at Orangeville Assizes, held the same thing.

Coleman, who was found guilty but not sentenced, is here.

Detective Greer left at noon for the north, to bring down the quartette of accused. The excuse given by their counsel, who said he appeared "for charity's sake," was that Hamilton, Small, Sammons and Loudon had no money to pay their way or that of their witnesses. The Crown is to bring all the people wanted. At last court the prisoners had high-priced counsel, but this time the junior counsel on that occasion is acting. Mr. Clute of Toronto is here for the Crown.

The Preacher Wouldn't Pay.

Halifax, N.S., June 17.—A clergyman of the Methodist denomination was yesterday dropped from the ministry and expelled from the church by Nova Scotia Methodist Conference for failing to meet his obligations to business people. The guilty man is David Walker, who was stationed in Sydney District.

Whitby Meat Diseased.

Toronto, June 17.—That diseased meat is sold in the town and vicinity is the complaint of the townsmen of Whitby, sent in yesterday morning to Dr. Bryce. The citizens asked the inspector to investigate the complaint, and suggested that a municipal abattoir be erected in the town.

German Steamer on the Rocks.

Managua, Nicaragua, June 17.—The German merchant steamer Desdemona has run on the rocks 30 miles north of Corinto, on the Pacific side of Nicaragua. The passengers and crew have been saved.

Left Prostrate

Weak and Run Down, With Heart and Kidneys in Bad Condition—Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I was very much run down, having been sick for several months. I had been trying different remedies which did me no good. I would have severe spells of coughing that would leave me prostrate. I was told that my lungs were affected, and my heart and kidneys were in a bad condition. In fact, it seemed as though every organ was out of order. I felt that something must be done and my brother advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I procured a bottle and began taking it. Before it was half gone I felt that it was helping me. I continued its use and it has made me a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly." MRS. SUMMERVILLE, 217 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ontario. Get only Hood's, because

FRIDAY, JUNE 17, 1898.

ENDORSED IN ENGLAND.

The announcement that Sir Louis Davies has obtained the nomination of a commission to settle existing contentions between Canada and the United States has been as well received in England as in Canada. The Statist says it is "the first fruits of the better feeling that has grown up of late between all parts of the English-speaking world, and we trust that it will speedily result in such a satisfactory treaty as will not only put an end at once to existing disputes, but will provide the means of settling amicably and quickly such differences as may arise in the future." The Speaker says: "The Canadian Liberals are to be most heartily congratulated on the success of Sir Louis Davies at Washington. A joint Commission to discuss all questions open between Canada and the United States is not the same thing as a settlement of all questions, but it is a step in the right direction. The fact that the Commission is to meet at Quebec or Ottawa and not at Washington is significant of a new temper in American politics, while it is also incidentally a graceful recognition of the independence of the Canadian nation, possessing capital cities fit to be international meeting-places. Thre are two free nations on the North-American Continent, north of Mexico, both ruled by lawyers—neither of whom, by the way, is an Anglo-Saxon, though both speak English—and there is no reason why they should not settle their differences by friendly negotiation and lawyer-like compromise." And the Times opens an article discussing the differences between the two countries, with the statement that: "In this country, no less than in Canada and the United States, great satisfaction is felt at the news that a definite agreement has been reached for the creation of an international commission for consideration of all subjects of controversy between the United States and the Dominion. It is the first step towards the settlement of certain disputes, not in themselves of cardinal importance, but capable of producing a disproportionate amount of irritation."

In the unanimity of these expressions it is easy to discern, remarks the Montreal Herald, the pleasure with which the people of Great Britain regard any movement in the direction of better relations with the United States. The Times recognizes that irritation might very readily be engendered by a continuance of differences comparatively unimportant, and accepts with satisfaction the idea that British projects looking towards amity will not be subject to disturbance on Canada's account. There is in all this food for reflection on the part of those who persist in the belief that the natural attitude of Canada towards the republic is one of hostility. If in England they are content to forget past quarrels and to look to the future with new hope, it is not for us to stand in the way by being more British than the people of Great Britain. We have our own grievances against the United States, it is true, but it is better business policy, as the Speaker suggests, to get together and make an end of our differences than to go on harping upon them forever. In England they have persisted, for years, in spite of severe provocation to the contrary at times, to regard points of identical interest as of more moment than those which have invited contention. We in Canada might with advantage devote ourselves to the cultivation of a similar disposition. We have everything to gain by being on the best terms with the United States, and they can derive no inconsiderable advantage by pursuing a similar policy towards us. Happily, all the indications point to such a condition from this time forward.

THE Hamilton Herald remarks that Hon. Geo. E. Foster's critical power does not seem to have been impaired by the wearing work of the session. His Parthian shot at the Government on Tuesday, just before prorogation, was one of his most vigourous efforts. But the edge was taken off his criticism of the Government's financial record by his his necessary admission that the general rate of taxation has been reduced since the Liberals came into power. The people will be likely to forgive extra expenditure that does not entail additional taxation.

CONGRESS has appropriated $474,151 to pay the Behring Sea Award. The tardiness of the action may be overlooked, says the Montreal Herald, in view of the gratifying evidence supplied of the improved temper of the two Houses towards England. If the coming conference at Quebec approaches the various subjects it will have to consider in the same spirit of international friendship that now so clearly animates the two nations, we may expect a settlement of existing differences that will be comprehensive in its scope and honourable to both parties—a settlement that can readily be endorsed by the several legislatures interested.

THE MONEY RAISED.

The Broadway Tabernacle in Toronto Saved to the Methodists.

Under its agreement with the English company, holding a mortgage on the church, the congregation of Broadway Methodist Tabernacle has engaged to raise $10.000 within a few days. The congregation has raised $5,000 and made an appeal to outside Methodists for $5,000 more, carrying the appeal into Conference. This morning the following subscriptions were announced in Conference: Chester Massey, $1,000; Senator Cox, $500; Timothy Eaton, $500; J. W. Flavelle, $500; Mr. Phelps, $200; H. A. Massey, $100; Mrs. Massey-Treble, $100; Edward Leadley, $500. In response to Rev. Dr. Stone's appeal H. M. Peterson led off with $100. Numerous other smaller subscriptions were given, and during a lull in the responses Edward Gurney subscribed the balance of $470, making the second $5,000 complete.

CIRCULAR TO FRUIT MEN.

Ontario Government Issues Information of Importance to Farmers.

The Ontario Government has issued the following circular to the fruit-growers of the province:

For five weeks agents of the Ontario Department of Agriculture have been giving instructions in the spraying of fruit at thirty orchards in different parts of the province. Reports sent to Mr. Orr, superintendent in charge of this work, have just been received at this department, to the effect that fungus is now appearing upon apple and pear trees, and threatens to do extensive injury to these crops unless checked at once by spraying. Insect enemies also are more numerous than usual this year. Apples, with the exception of the Spy, have set well, and where properly cared for there is promise of a good crop. In spraying apple trees to check or prevent the spot use the Bordeaux mixture, made as follows:

BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

Copper sulphate (pound)	4
Lime, fresh (pounds)	4
Water (gallons)	40

Suspend the copper sulphate in five gallons of water. This may be done by putting in a bag of coarse material, and hanging it so as to be covered by the water. Then mix the two, and add the remainder of the forty gallons of water.

Warm water will dissolve the copper sulphate more readily than cold water, if the lime is at all dirty strain the lime solution.

WARSAW.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dixon were in Peterborough Saturday last.

It is said that a binder contest will take place here in the near future as a result of the keen rivalry of the local agents. We understand that the following firms will be represented: Noxon Bros.' Mfg. Co., Massey-Harris Co. and the Sylvester Mfg. Co. Make your bets, gentlemen.

The city fathers had a group photograph taken at their last meeting. We hope they are a fair sample of the good looking people of Dummer.

Messrs. B. Earle and R. J. Kidd, of Peterborough, were in town on Monday last on business. They represent the Sun Life Assurance Co.

We are pleased to learn that Mrs. S. R. Payne, who has been ill for some time, is much improved.

It is now getting nearly time for the dog and shotgun club to begin talking deer hunt.

The Moosback football team of Warsaw is thinking of taking in the South Dummer picnic on the 24th inst, and propose to demolish their team. It will be a very swift game likely.

Unequalled

Mr. Thos. Brunt, Tyendinaga, Ont., writes:—"I have to thank you for recommending Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for bleeding piles. I was troubled with them for nearly fifteen years, and tried almost everything I could hear or think of. Some of them would give me temporary relief, but none would effect a cure. I have now been free from the distressing complaint for nearly eighteen months. I hope you will continue to recommend it."

STRANDED AT GLENORA.

Effect of Mackenzie & Mann's Withdrawal From the Road—Two Thousand Miners Hold Mass Meetings and Call on the Government for Prompt Relief.

(Special Despatch to the Globe.)

Glenora, June 10, via Vancouver, June 15—The cessation of all operations by Mackenzie & Mann and their withdrawal from this place of their outfit has created profound sensation and disgust on the part of over two thousand men bound for the Yukon and the Klondyke. Indignation meetings were held and were attended by almost everyone. Resolutions were proposed and carried unanimously on behalf of the two thousand stranded here, condemning the Federal and Provincial Governments for the existing conditions of the trail and transportation facilities. There is a strong feeling favouring the chartering of steamers for conveying passengers and outfits to Skagway. An influential committee was appointed to communicate with the Ottawa and Victoria Governments, urging immediate action in aiding Mackenzie & Mann in constructing a waggon road to Teslin Lake, only fourteen miles of which was built and is now abandoned. This would give employment to hundreds who will otherwise be destitute, and many of whom are certain to starve. Mackenzie & Mann have ceased giving the men supplies. The situation is critical. Unless action is taken at once this will prejudice the all-Canadian route and throw the traffic into American channels. The Yukon force on the seventh were out thirty miles and report it to be good for traffic. This is the advance company.

Baby Eczema and Scald Head.

Infants and young children are peculiarly subject to this terrible disorder, and if not promptly arrested it will evidently become chronic. Dr. Chase made a special study of eczema and diseases of the skin, and we can confidently recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure all forms of eczema. The first application soothes the irritation and gives the little sufferer rest.

A YOUNG GIRL'S ESCAPE.

Saved from being a Nervous Wreck BY MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS.

For the benefit of Canadian mothers, who have daughters who are weak, pale, run down or nervous, Mrs. Belanger, 126 Bideau Street, Ottawa, Ontario, made the following statement, so that no one need suffer through ignorance of the right remedy to use: "My daughter suffered very much from heart troubles at times. Often she was so bad that she could not speak, but had to sit and gasp for breath. She was so extremely nervous that her limbs would fairly shake and tremble. Frequently she would have to leave school; and finally she grew so weak that we were much alarmed about her health. I gave her many remedies, but they did not seem to do her any good.

Then I heard of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and got a box of them, and they have indeed worked wonders with her. I can recommend them very highly as the best remedy I ever heard of for complaints similar to those from which my daughter suffered."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills never fail to do good. They cure palpitation, faintness, dizziness, smothering sensation, weakness, nervousness, sleeplessness, anaemia, female troubles and general debility. Sold by all druggists at 50c. a box or three boxes for $1.25. T. Milburn & Co., Toronto, Ontario.

Wm. McCabe, Esq., Managing Director, N. A. L., Toronto:

DEAR SIR,—Please accept my thanks for your cheque just handed to me, for $3,261.96, in settlement of my $2,500 Fifteen Year Endowment Policy in your Company. Such a result as this, after the risk on my life has been carried for fifteen years, beginning from forty-five years of age, argues one thing strongly, namely, that the management of the North American Life must be in competent hands. The other options you have offered me, viz: a Paid-up Life policy for $6510.00, or a Life Annuity for $401.90, are, I presume, equally liberal, and it affords me much pleasure to recommend your Company to my friends or any desiring insurance.

"SHOULD WOMEN SMOKE"

isn't half such an important question as the query "Should women ride cheap, hard running bicycles."

Your doctor will tell you that the cheap bicycle is responsib'e for no end of trouble among womankind.

Cycling should never become violent exercise. While it should exhilarate and invigorate it should never tire.

With the new '98 Lady's Red Bird Special, with its caged bearings and entire absence of friction, cycling becomes so delightfully easy that it saves doctor's bills instead of making them.

The price is $100, but it is certainly the cheapest in the long run as it almost saves its cost in repair bills. A post card brings our catalogue.

CANADIAN PACKERS' ASSOCIATION.

They Hold a Special Meeting and Size Up the Situation.

Toronto, June 17.—A special meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association was held at the Walker House yesterday. President W. A. Ferguson, Delhi, occupied the chair, and the following were present: D. McCully, Picton; William Wright, Picton; J. R. Donaldson, St. Catharines; W. A. Carson, Belleville; A. McKillop, West Lorne; J. Nairn, Aylmer; W. C. Brecknridge, Hamilton, and W. P. Innes, Simcoe.

The meeting was called principally to fix the prices for the coming season's pack. Owing to the increased cost of raw material and produce, it has been found necessary to quote higher prices.

The reports received from the fruit-growing districts were as follows: The peach crop this year would be small owing to the excessive bearing in the Niagara district last summer. Plums, likewise, will be scarce, and the apple crop good. Regarding vegetables, complaints were general. The corn and tomato crop this year will not be large, the tomato plants being almost destroyed by insects, and the corn crop will be almost a total failure, owing to the use of imported seed.

BODY ASHORE AT HAMILTON.

An Unknown Dead Man Picked Up at the Beach.

Hamilton, June 17.—The body of a man drifted on the beach near the water works late yesterday afternoon. There was not a thing on or about the clothing to lead to the identity of the dead man, who appeared about 50 years of age. His clothing was very good, and consisted of a rich black corded suit, cream colored shirt, black four-in-hand tie, underwear and heavy shoes. The man was about 5 feet 11 inches in height, and would weigh about 200 pounds. A few American coins were found in his pockets. It is supposed this is the body seen floating near Oakville on Monday by the captain of the steamer Macassa. Coroner Griffin will open an inquest at Fitch's Hotel this afternoon.

CANADA'S FREEZE-OUT

Gern.an Trade Policy Resp°cting the Dominion.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER'S VIEW.

The Kaiser Will Exclude Canada From the Most Favored Nation Treatment—Other British Possessions Favored—An Imperial Protest Expected—Sir Richard Cartwright's View of It.

London, June 17.—It is officially announced at Berlin that the Federal Council, in the exercise of powers conferred by the special law of May 11, 1898, concerning commercial relations with the British Empire, has resolved to accord the most-favored-nation treatment to imports from the United Kingdom and all British colonial possessions with the exception of Canada. This provisional arrangement will take effect after July 31, when the present treaty of commerce between Great Britain and Germany expires. Imports from Canada will thus be subject after July 31 to the scale of duties contained in the German autonomous tariff. It is semi-officially stated that measures will be adopted at the various German custom houses to prevent goods of Canadian origin from being represented as coming from any other source. The inference here is that Germany is attempting to avenge herself upon Canada for daring to upset the Anglo-German treaty, but Mr. Chamberlain is not likely to allow Canada to suffer for her Imperialism. Nobody supposes that Germany will persist in such a petty exclusion in the face of a determined British protest. Such a protest will come from the British Government if for no other reason than because what is called here the Laurier plan has been made the keynote of British policy in South Africa and in view of future co-operation with the United States in the event of the latter entering upon colonial expansion.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's View.

Montreal, June 17.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier was seen yesterday afternoon in regard to the special cablegram concerning the new German tariff. "Well, sir," he said, "the matter is very simple. If we are excluded from the treaty—I have not seen it yet—that is just what we desired. We asked for the denunciation of the German and Belgian treaties because we were included."

Sir Richard Cartwright's View of It.

Ottawa, June 17.—The decision of Germany to exclude Canadian products from the most favored nation clause is far from unexpected here, and has long been known in Ministerial circles.

Sir Richard Cartwright, on being shown a copy of the despatch yesterday, said: "We do not complain. It was only what we might expect. If we won't give Germany the benefit of our most favorable clauses, we cannot expect her to give them to us. After all, the trade with Germany is very one-sided, and it will not hurt us at all. In 1897 we bought from them direct, exclusive of what came through Great Britain, which was considerable, I expect, goods to the amount of $6,498,000, whilst our sales to them were only $1,045,000. As far as Germany is concerned, they will look after their own interests. The most favored nation clause never was any use to us, and certainly, as far as we are concerned, there is no complaint at the present action."

Imperial Protest Probable.

London, June 17.—The Daily Mail, in an editorial regarding Germany's exclusion of Canada from the benefit of treaties with England, says Britain must see that Canada does not suffer for her self-sacrifice on behalf of the Empire. The St. James' Gazette, commenting on the same question, affirms that the action of Germany gives Canada a free hand in making treaties with England and other nations. Apropos of this suggestion, the Gazette quotes from Kipling's "Daughter am I in my mother's house, but mistress in my own."

Canada's export trade to Germany, as told by the figures in the Trades and Navigation Returns (1897), is of considerable importance, being considerably in excess of our exports to any other European country, with the exception of Great Britain. The exports of Canada to Germany are as follows:

	Canada.	of Canada.	Total.
Ontario	$338,922	$ 11,044	$349,966
Quebec	404,298	249,639	653,937
Nova Scotia	21,210	20,160	41,370
Manitoba	159	.....	159
	$764,589	$280,843	$1,045,432

For purposes of comparison it may be mentioned that Canada's exports to the British Empire total $82,288,093, to the United States $41,933,792, to France $690,696, to Australia $1,418,989, to China $761,975, to Italy $108,627.

The grand total of Canada's exports, as told by the same returns, is $130,510,573.

Convicted of Burglary at Elora.

Guelph, June 17.—David Irvine, alias Howard, was convicted at yesterday afternoon's sitting of the court here, on the charge of burglarizing the Grand Trunk Station and Boswell's store at Elora on March 12 last. Mr. Carscallen of Hamilton defended the prisoner, while Mr. Peterson conducted the case for the Crown. His Honor Judge Chadwick charged strongly against the prisoner, who will receive his sentence to-day.

A TORONTO CONDUCTOR.

Saved From the Agonies of Diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, June 6—The Toronto Street Railway provides another case this week, to strengthen the mighty chain of proof that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only cure on earth for Diabetes.

Mr. H. Hogg, 81 Fuller street, conductor No. 207, has been completely cured of an aggravated and long-standing case of Diabetes, by Dodd's Kidney Pills, after other so-called "cures" had utterly failed.

Mr. Hogg suffered for three years with Diabetes and impure blood. He had to quit work, on account of dizziness, loss of flesh and increasing weakness. All other remedies that he used having failed, he agreed, to please a friend, to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Improvement began at once, and six boxes effected a thorough cure.

Biliousness.

For the past few years I suffered a great deal from bilious attack but after using two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I consider B. B. B. an invaluable remedy." DANIEL SCHWAHN Newdale, Man.

ALBANIANS ATTACK CHRISTIANS.

Burning Nine Villages—Sultan Appealed to for Protection.

Vienna, June 17.—Further details of the sanguinary conflicts between the Albanians and Christians in the Uskub district of European Turkey, northeast of Salonica, show the Albanians have attacked and burned nine Christian villages, consisting of 450 houses, in the vicinity of Baraho, near the Montenegrin frontier, up to yesterday. The inhabitants have fled to Montenegro, whose representatives at Constantinople have made strong representations on the subject to the Sultan.

Select Knights Suing.

St. Catharines, June 17.—A case that is exciting a great deal of interest among insurance people is the action before F. W. Macdonald, Master-in-Chancery, with regard to the liquidation of the affairs of the Select Knights of Canada. The case hinges on this dispute: When the Select Knights Benefit Society went into compulsory liquidation, there were a large number of persons who had dropped out of the society, one, two or three years, and the receiver of the society is suing these delinquents for six months' assessments. The case is still in progress.

Dead Infant Found.

Hamilton, June 17.—Last evening Solomon Hart, a driver for John French, handed the police the body of an infant, which he said he found in a night soil barrel, which was emptied on a farm near the city. He said the barrel was from No. 283 Hughson street north. Dr. Woolverton examined the remains, and said they were of a child about a week old. He thought the child had been dead about a week. An inquest will be opened to-day.

Why Midland Is Proud.

Midland, June 17.—The new steel steamer Superior City, launched this spring, length 464 feet, beam 48 feet, cleared from Chicago for Midland at 10.30 p.m., June 13, with 267,000 bushels of corn—nearly 7,500 tons—for export via Montreal. She arrived in Midland at 11.30 a.m. June 16, and in thirty minutes after arrival at the G.T.R. elevator, she was discharging the largest cargo ever carried in fresh water. Midland is to be congratulated on having such a fine harbor. Boats drawing 20 feet can enter without difficulty.

HUMAN SACRIFICES

On the Altar of Diabetes, Saved by Dodd's Kidney Pills, Only.

Hardly a family in the country is free from Diabetes. Great thirst, failing sight, numbness in the thighs, bleeding gums, swollen ankles, emaciation, nervousness, pale or turbid urine, loss of sexual power, decaying teeth, pains in the loins or small of the back, are all positive signs that Diabetes is in the system.

Do you know how it ends? In DEATH. A premature, horrible, agonized, pitiful death. The victim has no peace, no ease in life. His days are filled with tortures. His nights are waking dreams of agony. He longs to die, yet fears the terrors of his end. He dies, a bloated, fetid, repulsive mass of corruption. That is the only end of unchecked Diabetes. Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They drive it out of the system thoroughly, create new, clean blood, rebuild the diseased kidneys, and restore robust health.

SUNSHINE BRINGS SALES

Vigorous selling has characterized June's business on account of our retailing at Wholesale Prices, and less. There has been a general rush for Light Headwear. Those who refrained from buying early in the season are benefitting by the riper Bargains which our Mid-summer Reduced Prices naturally bring.

TRIMMED HATS. This store's immense success has been earned by showing the prettiest of Trimmed Hats. Our captivating White Effects has influenced June sales remarkably. A new lot of Nobby Sailors going fast at Late-season Prices. Pretty Leghorns and Flower Hats, picked up quickly.

VEILINGS. No woman can look at our Veilings without being convinced that our Styles, Fabrics and Fancy Combinations are very taking. Brisk sales have encouraged us to replenish with some of the latest Novelties out.

RUN ON RIBBONS. Our Stock represents all the late Ribbon Ideas—Plaids, Stripes and fancies. Special values in Roman Effects, pure silk, choice colours. An easy matter to buy Ribbons at a price, but not always easy to get high qualities and latest patterns such as shown here.

CORSET VALUES. Our customers are getting Popular Corsets at prices marked down to quicken sales, but without any expectation of profit. Fine makes of Summer Corsets, faultlessly framed.

It is quite evident that Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons are famed all over for reliable goods of their own special manufacture. A few days ago an official request came from Washington for full information as to their capacity for turning out Turner's tents, and the number they could supply per day, evidently for military purposes. Turner's name has also the call for waterproof waggon covers. To-day an order was received from Toronto for fifty of Turner's improved covers for waggons, which was followed by another order from Victoria, B. C. for the same goods. Another earnest of the Yankees for closer relations also comes to hand. Messrs. Turner & Sons have an order under way for the Tift House, Buffalo, for two large British ensigns. STILL ANOTHER BOMBARDMENT.

A Few Unfinished Blockhouses are Knocked About—Great Generosity. Merrimac "Heroes" to be Exchanged for Common Spanish Captives—A German View of the War.

Special 5 p. m. dispatch to the Examiner.

More Bombardment.

New York, June 17.—World despatch from Key West says:—An auxiliary cruiser reports a bombardment near Cardenas this morning. The Americans were determined to destroy three or four block houses which were being erected. The American ships went close in and battered the block houses, which did not respond. The bombardment did not last long.

Exchange of the Merrimac Prisoners

New York, June 17.—Washington special says: Capt. Nicoll Ludlow, commander of the Monitor Terror, sailed from Key West this morning for Havana on a tug flying a flag of truce to arrange for the exchange of Lieut. Hobson and the crew of the Merrimac. General Blanco has been authorized to exchange Americans for Spanish prisoners.

Uncle Sam's Children Unsafe in Spain.

New York, June 17—A Madrid despatch says the position of the American residents and correspondents is becoming critical. The press has thought fit to denounce them so persistently as spies that the authorities are said to be on the point, in this matter, as in so many others, of giving way to the declamations and outcry of the press. The expulsion is the mildest step threatened, while severe repression is coolly insinuated.

A German view given vent to says:—President McKinley never wanted the war nor did any member of his cabinet want it. It was the politicians, the jobbers behind the scenes and some philanthropic persons who dragged the president into the war and have forced him as far as he has gone. The taking of Manilla by the Germans would enable him to say to the war party: "What did I tell you? Are we going to try conclusions with the Germans, the Russians and probably the French? No, it would throw the development of the United States back too far to do so.

Germany Will Avoid a Conflict in the East.

Berlin, June 17.—A Shanghai despatch to the Frankfort Zeitung says:—It is believed there that Germany will avoid a conflict with the Americans, but that if the Philippines question arises she will expect to be considered.

Spanish Indignation.

London, June 17.—The Gibraltar correspondent of the Daily News says:—There is great indignation here at the American threat to bombard Cadiz. As for the rumour that Spain has sold the Philippines to Germany there has been so many irregularities in the war that one more would not matter, so say the Spaniards.

The Cause of the War.

A German Admiral Sent to Manilla.

London, June 17—According to a special from Shanghai, Admiral Von Diedrichs, it is semi-officially asserted, left Nagaska, Japad, for Manilla on receipt of instructions from Berlin to prevent Admiral Dewey from bombarding the city and also because Captain General Augusti offered the German consul the Caroline Islands a coaling station in case operations should be undertaken against Manilla.

Spanish Cadiz Fllet Cruising.

Gibraltar, June 17.—The captain of a German steamer which arrived here this morning, reported having sighted the Spanish Cadiz fleet off Canta, North coast of Africa, about opposite and fifteen miles off Gibraltar yesterday evening. The warships were going in an easterly direction.

McDONALD'S BURGLAR'S KIT.

Deposited in the Ottawa Gallery of Criminal Paraphenalia.

The burglar kit, captured on McDonald, described in the EXAMINER of a few days ago, and exhibited at the trial on Tuesday, was taken to Ottawa to be deposited, with suitable labelling, in the Dominion Museum of criminal curiosities, by Detective Parkinson, of the Dominion force. He says that he has seen many devices for safe blowing, but he has never seen one so complete and constructed with so much mechanical skill as that most unwillingly contributed by McDonald to the museum. Detective Harrison, of Toronto, who was down to give evidence in the Mark Black perjury trial, also examined the kit with great interest. They have seen numerous kits for similar purposes in Toronto, but none so finely finished and so effectively constructed for the felonous work of opening safes.

BISHOP SWEATMAN'S RESIGNATION.

The Head of the Diocese of Toronto Gives the Synod an Unpleasant Surprise.

At the Synod of the diocese of Toronto yesterday afternoon Bishop Sweatman abruptly announced his resignation. His reasons for taking the step seem to be that he has not received financial support and moral support in the schemes of the church. The financial difficulties was not the reason of his taking a course he had meditated for some time. The matter was referred to a special committee.

Care of the Complexion.

It is a well known fact that a torpid liver produces a sallow hue and a dull yellow complexion. You need not expect a clear, beautiful complexion if the blood is rendered impure by a sluggish action of the liver, which cannot properly perform its function of purifying and filtering all impurities from the blood. Ladies, Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills is an invaluable remedy, for their action on the liver and blood they promote true beauty by rendering the blood pure. This is the secret.

McDONALD SENTENCED TO 28 YEARS.

14 YEARS FOR BURGLARY AND 14 FOR ARSON.

The Sentences are to Run Concurently and After They Expire the Prisoner Will be Re-arrested and Tried for Gaolbreaking.

McDonald entered a plea of "guilty" yesterday to the charge of causing damage to property by a dangerous explosion, and the Crown dropped the charge of arson against him, offering no evidence before the jury which formally acquitted him. On the two charges of burglary and causing damage to property by a dangerous explosion, Judge Weller sentenced McDonald to 14 years in the Kingston penitentiary in each case, the sentences to run concurrently.

On being asked if he had anything to say prior to sentence being pronounced, the prisoner stated that he was too confused to attempt to speak, but he had written a short address, which he would ask his counsel, Mr. O'Connel, to read. The address was as follows:

"Everything has been said by my attorney that I would say if I had the same power. I was certainly handicapped, without money and without friends. I have no fault to find with the court, nor the court's rulings. I have been found guilty, and my future destiny lies in your Honour's hands. Some people would like to see me harshly punished; other considerate and Christian people would prefer to give me a chance. To some it means nothing, to me everything—probably death—anyhow long years of separation from my own parents, father, mother, brothers and sisters, wife and child. I wish to kindly thank Mr. O'Connell for the warm interest he took in so ably defending me, without any remuneration. I hope your Honour will be as merciful to me as he has been kind. In conclusion I will say that I have discovered that the way of the transgressor is by no means a bed of roses, and will console myself the best I can by always thinking it's never too late to mend.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES MCDONALD."

Sentence was pronounced after the address had been read.

This morning Deputy Sheriff Fred Hall and Police Constable Stewart left with McDonald to take him to the Kingston Penetentiry, the prisoner being shackled hand and foot.

In the case of the Howell appeal the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty, thus quashing the conviction of the Police Magistrate.

Mr. E. B. Edwards conducted the prosecution and Mr. D. O'Connell appeared for the defense.

Judgment was given in the appeal of Charles Legros against a conviction by Police Magistrate Dumble for selling cigarettes to minors. Judge Weller reversed the Magistrate's decision. Mr. W. A. Stratton appeared for the appellant.

The jury is now out with the case of Mark Black charged with committing perjury in the police court in reference to his testimony as to being struck with a shovel at the time of the Irvine assault and in swearing that he never appeared in the police court before, except as a witness or spectator.

The jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown and Mr. D. O'Connell for the defense.

BETTER POSTAL CONVENIENCES.

Under Hon. Mr. Mulock the postal services of the country have been greatly improved, the expenses lessened, conveniences increased, and the public interests better served. There is another little thing he might do to earn the gratitude of a large number of people, and that is the establishment of a daily mail route to Burleigh Falls, instead of the tri-weekly service now in force. The summer population of Stony Lake and vicinity, including Burleigh Falls, is about 1,000. True, a daily mail serves Juniper Island post office now, but while this is a convenience to many of the cottagers, there are a large number of cottagers in the near vicinity of Burleigh, as well as the tourists at the Falls, who would be greatly benefitted by a daily mail. They include many business men, who would much more enjoy their holidays if they were placed in daily communication with their business, especially in case of emergency, by means of a daily mail. Arrangements might be made with the steamers that now carry the daily mails to Juniper to extend their trips to Burleigh. The additional expense would not be very great for the season, while the convenience, which is a simple matter of justice, would be greatly appreciated. If the Postmaster-General would take this matter into consideration he would no doubt see the justice of extending the daily mail service to Burleigh.

There is another inconvenience that also needs attention and whose remedy has the merit of costing nothing. Great annoyance and inconvenience are experienced through the fact of a post office on the main land, not far from the lake, being designated Stony Lake. Outsiders, not familiar with the local topography, address letters to friends dwelling at the lake, simply "Stony Lake," not knowing that the post office for the summer lake dwellers is Juniper Island. These letters naturally and inevitably go to Stony Lake post office on the mainland, and the persons for whom they are intended receive them only after long delay, if they ever receive them. It is suggested that the name of the "Juniper Island" post office be changed to "Stony Lake," and "Stony Lake" to "Robb," in remembrance of Mr. James Robb, who was postmaster for so many years.

SEATS FOR GODFREY'S BAND

The Plan Opens on Monday for the Advance Sale of Seats.

The visit to Peterborough of Lieut. Dan Godfrey and his famous band, which has been playing to such large and delighted audiences throughout Canada, is exciting great interest, and there will undoubtedly be a general eagerness to welcome the celebrated British Guardsmen. They will be here on the evening of Monday, June 27th, and will give their concert in the Charlotte street rink under the patronage of the officers of the 57th Battalion.

The plan for the advanced sale of seats will open at Ormond & Walsh's drug store on Monday evening next. The floor of the rink will be seated, and a single row of seats will be placed around the gallery. All these seats are reserved and are placed at $1, one seat being as good as another. Those desiring to secure reserve seats mark them early, as this chance of a lifetime to hear the finest band in the world, should not be missed by anyone. The general admission will be 50 cents.

The arrangements at the rink will be such as to allow the band to be heard to best advantage. Reserved seats should be marked early.

THE DOURO PICNIC.

The Annual Success of Rev. Father Kelly's St. Joseph's Picnic.

The annual picnic in connection with St. Joseph's church, Douro, was yesterday held at O'Brien's grove, a beautiful spot about half a mile south of the church. The weather was beautiful and this, with the respect of the parishoners for their church and priest, called out a very large attendance, including many outsiders. Rev. Father O'Brien, Norwood, was present, and there was noticed from Peterborough Dr. McGrath and Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald and many others. There was an excellent dancing platform, which was diligently used by the younger parties, while the elders engaged themselves in more staid enjoyment. Merry-go-rounds were provided for the juveniles and the means of enjoyment provided were ample and amply used. The excellent dinner, sumptuous and appetizing, provided by the ladies, was also duly enjoyed. Not the least pleasing feature of the annual picnic was the satisfactory financial outcome.
